THE WONDERS OF OSIRIS THE MYSTERY OF CHELKA GIR.

Herod, Emperor of Persia B. C. 700, becoming alarmed at gradually losing his power through the superstitious belief of his people in the Maspians, (wizards or magicians); after consulting the seven Princes permitted to see his face (Who see the King's face, Ezra, VII; 14), determined to exterminate them, and so retain his powerful ascendancy; and consequently issued an order that on the third full moon all the Maspians should assemble at the Chasm of Bokhara, where he commanded his soldiers, to force them (some hundreds of Maspians) at the point of the scimitar to jump into the chasm; and that there should not be one left, the initials of each magician were engraved on a stone, (Graven with iron in the rock forever, Job, XLII, 24.) and on the last one, (Osiris), being placed in position for the terrible death leap, he uttered a malediction, the last words of which were: "My body will perish, but in that stone to which I now bequeath my magic Art, my spirit shall live for evermore;" and with one unearthly shriek, Osiris the last and greatest of all the Maspians, disappeared in the chasm.

Now Herod, being troubled at these words of Osiris, to which he attributed a fearful significance, and as an effort to counteract the supposed power conveyed by this stone by Osiris, ordered to be built the Temple of Persepolis, using this engraved stone, (afterwards named Osiris), as a corner stone.

Hundreds of years after, when the Temple became a ruin, (as it exists today), this stone was presented by the present Shah's father to France, on the occasion of the coronation of Napoleon Bonaparte as Emperor. And it is still on exhibition at the Palace of the Luxembourg, Paris, at the present time, where it is viewed with much interest by tourists.

The initials of the Maspians, as they were arranged on the stone of Osiris, will tell you your ruling planet, the tribe of Israel you descend from, and your principal characteristic, and will also answer questions concerning your future Business Prospects, Luck, Wishes, (whether to be granted or not), Wealth and Marriage.

On application at our store we will present free of cost, (up to date as under mentioned), a fac-simile impression of the great stone of Osiris, with directions how to work it, so that you will be enabled to tell your own fortunes and that of your friends.

A GIFT!

To each and every purchaser at our store we give, with our compliments, a fac-simile impression of the great stone of Osiris with solution, which enables you to tell your own fortunes and those of your friends.

In past ages when superstition reigned supreme, the prophecies of the great Osiris stone were regarded with silent awe and veneration. The modern mind will find in this legacy of ancient lore a rich mine of amusement and highly interesting research.

SMOKING AFFECTING LABOR.

Great Decrease in the Number of Cigars and Cheroots.

POWER IN AMALGAMATION.

Increased Demand for Laborers and the Force of Men Now Required by the New Electric Railways, Etc., Etc.

Labor and Smoke.

According to reports by the Associated Press the International Cigarmakers' union is not in a condition to be desired by the members. President Stossor's report made on Wednesday last is to the effect that employment is gradually decreasing. While there is an increase for the year 1888-89 in the number of cigars and cheroots manufactured that increase is much less than the increase of 1886-87. The astounding information is promulgated that in New York City alone there has been a decrease in cigar manufacturing of 21,678,782 as compared with the fiscal year previous. The order holds its own as regards membership, the figures being 19,000 in round numbers.

Regarding the decrease in production one of the members of the Omaha union says: "In the first place foreign competition has much to do with it. The smoking habit is divided into two classes, the wealthy who can afford an expensive smoke and the middle and lower classes who indulge in the cheaper grades of cigars. The former smoke a great deal more than the latter as a matter of course. The cigars smoked by the former are imported from the East and are of a higher quality than those manufactured here. The latter smoke cigars made in this country instead of abroad. This would help us. The labor unions could materially assist us if they would. They could create a demand for union-made cigars simply by going into stores where they are not kept and asking for them. I know of an instance where a dealer who at one time refused positively to handle union-made goods now handles no other. Some of the boys notice that all his cigars were of such manufacture. Then they organized and went for him. Every day three or four members in a bunch would go in and ask for a cigar. When he would set up his box they would hunt for the union label, and not finding it would refuse to buy. Now he only handles union-made goods, and says he would not sell any other."

"As a rule, the second class saloons are our best friends. They all sell union-made cigars. The away-up places do not. Of course their imported cigars are not, neither are the domestics. We don't ask them to forego imported cigars, but if they would handle union-made cigars it would be a great thing for us. The Omaha unions are helping us all they can, and we appreciate their efforts."

"Speaking of the union the annual meeting of which is now in session in New York city, a new arrangement regarding representation has been under consideration for some time, has at last been accomplished, and the Brotherhood of Engineers which meets in Denver October 15 will have a chance to ratify or reject the action of the Union Pacific engineers, as it sees fit."

"The movement is nearly a western one and will, no doubt, vigorously opposed by Chief Arthur's supporters who still adhere to his principle. No antagonizing alliances with other trades. Western men, however, who are opposed to his re-election, will advocate a ratification of the movement."

IMPOSTERS ON THE ROAD.

How They Deceive the Iowa Farmers With Medical Remedies.

A BOGUS MEDICAL INSTITUTE.

Officers of the Law Placed Upon Their Track and a Reward Offered For Their Arrest and Conviction.

Beware of Them.

A dispatch was received here yesterday, stating that parties, claiming to be leading physicians of a large medical establishment in this city, were trying to sell notes at Odebolt, Ia., which they had obtained there from farmers under the representation that they were connected with the institution in question. They had printed matter, circulars, etc., which were in imitation of those used by the Omaha Medical and Surgical Institute, of this city, and which would lead the unsuspecting to suppose that they had been gotten up by that institution. Inquiry at the institute, however, showed that the notesellers had no connection with the institution. The proprietor stated that he had been annoyed repeatedly by parties claiming to hail from the Omaha Medical Institute. He accordingly telegraphed at once and notified the police that he had offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of parties claiming to represent him.

Later dispatches from the city marshal of Odebolt gave a clue to their identity. A reporter of The Bee, following the clue, uncovered the number of their circulars, and discovered their headquarters in this city. The former set forth that they possessed a large infirmary, located at the corner of Fifteenth and Howard streets, in the Shively block, and the lawyers, business men, and other occupants of which will learn for the first time through The Bee that they reside in an institution of that kind. The circular also proclaims that they have a large faculty of physicians, accommodations for boarding patients, etc., etc.

In reality, they have simply a couple of cheaply furnished rooms, destitute of apparatus and facilities for doing medical business. The names of the proprietors of this alleged establishment as set forth in their circular are H. P. McCoy and T. H. Enser. M. D. Many complaints have reached this city before in regard to the operations of such parties from their victims, scattered throughout the country. A druggist on Leavenworth and Seventeenth streets states that they formerly purchased medicines of him, but as they failed to pay for the same, and caused him trouble by their numerous victims writing to him on account of his labels being on their bottles, he refused to have anything more to do with them. The expediency to which they have now resorted shows, in the estimation of those who know them, that they are unable to prepare for a grand raid upon the farmers of Iowa and Nebraska, taking advantage of the well-known reputation and extensive advertising of Omaha's only medical establishment, and thus selling persons living at a distance from the city. They are also putting themselves in the way of a term in the penitentiary, because by representing themselves as having an institution which they have not, and extorting money under false pretenses. They will undoubtedly be prosecuted, as it is understood a large number of farmers have already combined for that purpose. When last heard from they were at Odebolt, Ia., under the watchful care of the city marshal.

The circular of this outfit is a brazen steal from that of the Omaha Medical Institute in both matter and appearance, while on it is also placed as manager a party boasting the name of McMenamy, which is also the name of the proprietor of the Omaha Medical Institute.

These adventurers are still in Iowa. They are as fearless as such people usually are until exposed, when the good sense of the intelligent public and the fear of the penitentiary drives them to some other quarter of the earth to prey upon the credulity and profit by the desperation of poor suffering human beings.

The Omaha Medical Institute, both in protection of itself and in the interest of the farmers of both Nebraska and Iowa, has flooded those states with circulars setting forth that Dr. Maria Howard and McMenamy and those with numerous other names are taking notes and sending them to the banks. The circular further states that the Bank of Ute bought some of these notes on which farmers' names were forged. The circular further states that these people are frauds, and that they have no right to represent the Omaha Medical Institute, which has no agents in Iowa and which is the only medical institute in Omaha. The circular further asserts that because of these men the institute has been compelled to withdraw its representatives from that state. Lastly, the institute requests every bank to telegraph when these people offer it paper for sale so that the bank may be notified in time to detect the fraud and the protection of the bank as well as of the honest farmers who do business with it.

HONEY FOR THE LADIES.
 Colored glass for tabware is much in vogue. The waiter girl is different from the poet. She is not born; she is made to order. It is calculated that during a London season the average amount spent in flowers daily is $5,000.

Aspirants for favor in the hairpin field come disguised as fencing-sticks with incriminated gold tips and pointed ends. Queen Victoria has the largest bound book of hair made. It is eighteen inches thick and weighs six-and-a-half pounds. It contains the jubilee addresses of congratulation.

A recent caprice in hair ornaments is a double-pronged hairpin topped by a ball of gold wire, the latter supported at each end by pearl-wipped uprights.

It is said that Mr. Gladstone has undertaken a tour of the world in the year of twenty years ago, "Inventus Mundus." One statement is that he will rewrite the work.

Alum water will restore almost all faded colors. It is rubbed on the hair and then alum water, and the color will usually be much brighter than before.

A toothpick stand has been devised that for quaintness must take precedence over all others. It comprises what looks like a white broom handle with a brush base. Into the hollow portion of this article the sticks are placed, and give it the appearance of a broom.

Miss Kate Field, so far from regretting her want of personal beauty, has a sublime contempt for a woman whose only recommendation is a pretty face. Certainly, the most brilliant women have not been the most beautiful—Madame De Stael, Lady Morgan, George Eliot, for instance.

The city was full of blue coats to-day, members of the state militia returning from the annual encampment at Beatrice. Mrs. John Edmunds, wife of the B. & M. station agent at Reynolds, was found lying on the sidewalk at Thirteenth and O about midnight last night in an insensible condition. At first it was thought she was dead, but investigation simply proved her to be unconscious. She was taken to the police station and Dr. Vrits administered restoratives, when she partly regained her reason. She then stated that she had been visiting friends in Lincoln and that yesterday she had been stopping at Mrs. Jay's boarding house, at 219 N. In the evening she had gone to bed, and when she awoke she had suddenly become unconscious. The doctor attributes her ailment to heart troubles. Her husband was telegraphed this morning of the affair, but up to 9 o'clock nothing had been heard from him. The lady had a similar trouble in this city last winter.
