THE POT BEGINS TO BOIL.

Manifested Anxiety and Increased Activity Among Politicians.

DISTRICT JUDGESHIP GOSSIP.

Hon. Richard Berlin Throws Himself Into the Breach-Jeff Magcath's New Happiness- Pointers on the Situation.

Local Politics. The contest over the brogans of Judge Groff has created quite a stir and buzz among the lawyers. The elevators in the New York Life building are kept running every ten seconds with messengers, and whispering caucuses are being held in every corridor.

The bar association meeting to discuss the merits of claimants will be held on Saturday evening. Up to Monday night only four candidates were in the field, viz: Lee Estelle, C.F. Breckenridge, H. J. Davis and George W. Ambrose, Yesterday morning a new candidate was sprung in the person of Jospeh E. Clarkson, who, it is said, has been persuaded to allow his name to be used in this connection. This may complicate matters very much

With the bar association divided among five candidates no one is liable to receive a mapority or even a respectable plurality. If the bar association splits up the fight will be transferred to the party conventions with a reasonable propability that if the republicans do not nominate a man of fair standing and ability an independent candidate will be forced into the field with a fair prospect that such a candidate will be elected. The probabilities are that if the bar agrees upon an available and competent republican of good character he will be endorsed by all conventions. There is a possibility that Governor Thayer may have something to say with regard to Judge Groff's successor, but it is doubtful whether he will do anything until he hears an expression of the bar asso-

The fight over the collectorship of customs at this port is still waxing warmer. Intrigue and underground work are the order of the

T. C. Bruner claimed that he had a "sure thing" on the vacancy that would be created by Collector Jordon's resignation, conse-quently the surprise thrust upon him when he read in The Bee that W. H. Alexan would undoubtedly be recommended for the appointment almost set him wild.

There are doubts, however, about Mr. Alexander's chances. Senator Manderson said the other day that he favored him, and Congressman Conneil thought a majority of the delegation would be willing to recommend him for the place, but at that time they did not anticipate that the matter would develop into a red-hot fight. Mr. Phillips, who was an aspirant for Jor-dan's place, has dropped the fight and agreed dan's place, has dropped the fight and agreed to accept the deputy collectorship.

With this state of affairs to take advantage of the Hon. Dick Berlin has boldly leaped into the breach and declared himself an aspirant for Jordan's job. In doing this the handsome Richard necessarily takes himself out of the race for register of deeds; consequently, Jeff Mageath's nappines has been increased. It is reported, also, that Jeff and Dick had a mutual underalso, that Jeff and Dick had a mutual under-standing before the latter fully made up his mind to seek the government sit. Berlin's withdrawal leaves J. B. South-ard a clear field for the republican nomina-tion for register of deeds, unless there are candidates who have not made themselves known. Mageath imagines he will have no trouble to defeat Southard.

But there are no signs indicative of an absolute certainty that Richard will capture the collectorship.

Just where the main fight in the impending campaign will center is difficult to predict. It may be on the office of sheriff both before and after the conventions. Billy Coburn the present incumbent, wants a third term, but Mike Lee is bitterly opposed to breaking down what he terms an established precedent and is doing everything in his power to se-cure the republican nomination. Mike Maul has also been mentioned in this connection. Maul's candidacy depends on the wish of his partner, John Drexel, who desires the democratic nomination, though it was stated that he did not care to go in unless the re-publicans select Lee. If they renominate Coburn, Drexel throks he can get along two years more as coroner.

Councilman John Boyd is another dominating spirit in the democratic ranks anx George Heimrod and John Groves are the only republican aspirants for treasurer, while the opposition talks about Adam Snyder, Truman Buck, Euclid Martin, W. A. L. Gibbon and Jacob Hungate.

Jim Allen, of the Eightn ward, and Arthur

Briggs, would like to try their hands in the county clerk's office. Mike Roche contends that he will be renominated by his party, though Pat Ford argues strongly against him.
Pat wants his son-in-law, John O'Brien, to have that office, and will consent to any kind of a trade to get him there.

The county judgeship seems to be in disrepute, though there has been some talk that

Louis Berka desires promotion from the foul smelling precincts of the central police station to more congenial and better quarters. It is altogether probable, therefore, that Judge Shielus, who is sure of the democratic nomination, will have an opportunity to measure strength with "his honor," Then comes the election of commissioners in the Second and Fourth districts, now held by Mount and Corrigan, democrats, both of whom want to be re-elected. Maybe they will, and maybe they won't. Ben Knight of the Ninth ward, it is thought will be put up by the republicans to down Mr. Mount. Over in Corrigan's district, Jim Walsh, Pat McArole, John Eicke and John Lempke, have designs on his scalp.

The coroner prediction forecasts a very pretty fight for that office. It will be a battle with physicians and coffin dealers arrayed against each other, and may be fought with an immense amount of cutting, slashing and embulming. The doctors argue that a great many inquests can be prevented by holding post mortems. On the other hand, the undertakers assert that a post mortem costs the county three times as much as an inquest, but the coffin snop has had the coroner patronage so long that they ought to give the doctors a chance for at least two years. William Nove, of the Second ward, will go into the democratic convention against Mount for the commissionership. John Paulsen's death created a vacancy in the Sixth senatorial district, which must be filled at the coming election. Senator Manderson dictated a letter yesterday, recommending W. H. Alexander for appointment as collector for the port of Omaha, which was forwarded to the presi-

UNWARRANTED ARREST.

Peter Goos Called to Account for a Mistake. Peter Goos was very much surprised at noon yesterday, when Detective Pat Horrigan slapped his hand on his shoulder and remarked: "You are my prisoner." Goos Is the proprietor of a hotel, and is an old citizen. On the 20th of this month he gave City Treasurer Rush a check for $804, and received a city tax receipt. Hush held the check for about twenty-four hours, and after deposit ing it learned that it was protested as Goo had no money in that institution-the Bank Goos says that at the time he wrote the check he had over $13,000 on deposit, but that the next day he drew a check for $13,493.90. "I did not know," said Goos to a BEE reporter, "that the Rush check had not been paid. In fact did not think of it after giving it out. The first not think of it after giving it out. The first indication I had of the affair was when I went home at noon. Rush had been there in the forenoon and told my wife that if the matter was not fixed up by noon, he would have me arrested. I only had $250 in cash in my pocket and I immediately sent that up to Rush, telling him that I would pay the balance this afternoon. The response was a policeman. I will settle the matter at once.

Goos was arraigned and gave ball in the sum of $1,200 until to-day. In the after-noon Goos returned the receipt to Rush and the prosecution was dropped.

A Wreck on the Burlington.

An accident occurred on the Burlington at Falis City, Neb., yesterday morning. Train No. 75, with freight for Lincoln, was crossing the Missouri Pacific track when one of the cars in the center of the train jumped the track, and five cars loaded with stoves were reduced to atoms. In consequence, both the Missouri Pacific and Burhneton roads are blocked, and will require fifteen hours in which to clear them. The damage will reach $4.500.

Almost a Duel. A scene which is witnessed only where the desperado revels on the plains was witnessed vesterday morning in the northern part of the city. It attracted the attention of many people and it was thought for a time that nothing would avert bloodshed.

A herder named Henry Robinson, mounted, was quietly watching near the intersection of Sixteenth and Corby, a number of cows which he daily tends for people resid-

Across the prairie came a buggy, rolling heavily and laden, it is alleged, with three boozy mortals who had been over to Cut-Off sland on a dual eugagement of drinking and hunting.

When they approached young Robinson they deliberately drove off the road and into

Robinson put spurs to his horse and gal-

He flew to his house, procured two loaded revolvers and started to find his pursuers. "I want to meet them now," he said, "and we'll see who'll get the worst of it."

The others, meanwhile, tried to track him. They drove up and down Sixteenth, Fif-teenth, Ohio, Lucas and Corby streets, down on the bottoms and all through the vicinity, but failed to find him.

At the same time he was seeking them, without the same success.

HAVE WE A BOODLE BOARD?

A Question the Grand Jury Attempts to Answer.

THE COUNTY BOARD'S WORK.

Charge of Judge Hopewell and the Necessity of Making a Thorough Investigation-Stone for the City Hall-Other Items.

Burrowing for Boodle. Judge Hopewell impaneled and instructed the grand jury in the district court yesterday. H. G. Clark, H. B. Coryell and E. E. French appeared in answer to a special venire to fill vacancies caused by the excusing of three members of the original panel. Judge Hopewell appointed Mr. H. G. Clark as foreman of the jury. The members of the jury as now constituted are: Lewis McCoy, Robert White, A. Lyons, Alex. McGavock, Mike Hirt, George Ellett, John Parrott, H. T. Leavitt, James Donnelly, jr., Charles Mack, John O'Connor, F. H. Goddard, S. L Valentine, Hugh G. Clark, E. E. French and H.

B. Coryell. The following is the substance of Judge Hopewell's instructions to the jury:

"Formerly a grand jury was impaneled at each sitting of the court, whose duty it was to make inquiry concerning all violations of our criminal laws, and no person could be prosecuted for the commission of a crime amounting to a felony until he had first received consideration at the hands of a grand jury, and a true bill had been returned against him. But, as the law now stands, the county attorney is permitted to file an information against anyone charged with crime. Such information takes the place of the indictment by grand jury, and the party is put upon his trial in that way. Since the enactment of this law by the legislature in 1885, prosecutions have been almost wholly by information. Very few grand juries have been called; practically they have been un

"It will be your duty to inquire particularly into these charges. Your examination should be painstaking and careful. You should give them a most thorough and searching investigation to the end that the truth may be known. If wrong has been done by public officials the people ought to know it, and the guilty parties be brought to speedy trial. If there is no foundation in fact for the charges that have been made, then com-mon justice demands that it be so declared by your action.

The charges closed with the usual instructions relative to the examination of witnesses and the manner of returning bills.

County Attorney Mahoney is highly pleased with the personnel of the grand jury. "There are no professionals on the list this time," said he, "but a body of business men who will attend to the matters before them

The petition is very lengthy, and sets forth that the relator entered into a written contract with the defendant to grade Twenty fourth street from A to Wyman streets, in the city of South Omaha, the work to be paid for with warrants; half to be drawn from the general fund, and half to be drawn from a special fund created by a special assessment. The portion to be taken from the general fund was paid by a warrant on the county which the county commissioners refused to pay in full, leaving $647.14 unpaid. The amount to be paid by special assessment, amounting to $2,445.67, has not been paid, the council refusing to order a special assess ment for the payment of the amount, and issue warrants to the relator for the same. The petition therefore prays that a writ of mandamus issue, compelling the defendants to issue warrants for the payment in full of the amounts stated.

Criminals Arraigned.

Assistant County Attorney John Shea arraigned twenty-eight prisoners before Judge Hopewell yesterday afternoon, on a variety of charges, to which they all plead not guilty, with the exception of Mary Larsee, a young Swede girl, who was charged with grand larceny in stealing a gold chain and some jewelry, valued at $69, from D. W. Dodson. The court asked her if she understood the penalty of the crime which she acknowledged, to which she re-plied that she did. The judge then directed the prosecuting attorney to produce evidence to prove the value of the stolen articles, in order that the proper sentence might be passed in the case.

Z. T. LINDSEY,

1111 HARNEY STREET,

BISHOP VINCENT.

He Delivers an Address Intended for Methodist Ears Oaly. Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., the Methodist divine, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has gained such a wide reputation as a Chautauqua leader, and who was appointed a bishop about one year ago, and now has charge of the western conference, addressed a large assembly at the First Methodist church in this cily Monday evening. When the visiting bishop-a large, kindly-looking gentleman with a very bald head-arose to speak he was greeted with great and prolonged applause. When silence reigned, he said that he purposed discussing some questions interesting strictly to Methodist Episcopal church mem-bers, and he would like to remind others that such was really the case. After throw-ing out this pointer, the bishop paused. "Oh, well!" continued the bishop, with a "Ob, well!" continued the bishop, with a nervous rub of his hands, "I of course do not wish to be understood as being narrow-minded," and he immediately proceeded with a quickly-worded disquisition on the sin of narrow-mindedness. He said that it was a bad thing for a man to desert a cause by reason of a dislike for the personnel of its leader. He had his opinion of a man who would so back on the United states because yould go back on the United states because Benjamin Harrison occupied the pres-idential chair. The moral quality of a man who gives when likes the preacher and withholds when it is otherwise, he thought to be bad, very bad. It should never be insisted that the social line be identical with the denominational line. The only church he could love was that of humanity, that takes humanity and lifts it up to God. The bishop said he loved the Presbyterian church. He married a Presbyterian, "and so I saved a Presbyter-ian," he added. The most brilliant and schorlarly young man he ever met was a Baptist. "After all," said he, "what is most needed is Methodist Episcopal loyalty. The world is made up of two classes," he continued, "those who move and those who are moved. The petition of the Omaha Street Railway ompany to Chief Galligan to put up ever head wires on the various new electric lines projected has been granted, and work is to commence immediately. The first work will be done on the Thirteenth street line, which commences at Syndicate park in South Omaha, will run north on Twentieth street to Vinton, then take in the Thirteenth and Cuming street line, running west on Cuming to Thirty-sixth street. It is the intention to have this line running by January 1. The be the next line to be built, which will start at Sixteenth and Cuming, run north one block, west two blocks and extend north on Eighteenth street to the fair grounds. The Farnam street line, which will also be an electric line, will extend west ou Farnam to Spring street, instead of Lowe avenue, as first projected, as the latter thoroughfare will not make as solid a road for trackage as is desired. Work will be carried on all win ter on these lines, and employment will be given to a large force of laborers. Will you suffer with dyspepsia and liver complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is

"No, he is not my husband, but we lived together in Florence, Kan., and in Kansas City for about ten years." This was the statement of a saddle-colored wench, with coal black eyes, hollow cheeks and a crooked, thin form. Her "sun" nuf" and a crooked, thin form. Her "sun" auf" name, she said, was Bettle McCullough, but everybody cailed her Bettle White because she had lived with Jenks White all those White is a scar-faced coon waiter. He was arrested last night for mopping up the back yard of a Capitol avenue domicile with Bettle. Jenks followed the woman from Kansas City. When they met here he went to the house with her, and after a wrangle of words, pounced upon his almost toothless mistress and struck and kicked her shame fully. For the same offense White served several months in jail in Kansas City, Judge Berka gave him thirty days in the county with six of them on broad and water.

An Unrequited Lift.

Ernest Croft was to be an auspicious attendant at the Ninth ward democratic club Monday night. Securing a coach down town the cabby and Ernest rolled hurriedly away for Lowe avenue, near Hamilton street. When the vehicle was within a block of the hall, the driver met the democrats going home. He drew up the lines and cried out to his passenger: "I guess dese are de fellows you is lookin for," and then he opened the door of the hack, but to his great surprise Croft was not there. "Mine Got! he's gone," shouted the cabby, and then all the gaug gave the driver the horse-laugh and he drove away. He had not only lost his passenger on the road, but was minus his fare. Croft has not been heard from since.
