In district court yesterday, the case of Dickey vs. city of Council Bluffs was con-cluded. The plaintiff sued for $2,500 damages, the result of a change of the grade of Lower Broadway. The jury retired at 11 o'clock, and after being out five hours, returned a verdict for the city. No other cases in the day's assignment were ready for trial, and no business was transacted during the afternoon.

More Indictments Returned. The grand jury has returned six more indictments. One is against James Mc-Intosh, two against David Dunkle, two against Dunkie and McIntosh jointly, and one against another party, who is not yet arrested for forgery. The cases against Dunkle and McIntosh are also for forgery. It is charged that they made false returns on wolf scalps, forging the affidavit of a justice of the peace, and securing bounty on scalps that were not in their possession. Both parties are well known in the city and adjacent country. McIntosh is now in jail, and Dunkle out on bail.

The other party against whom an indictment was returned is very well known in the city and moves in good society, and the news of his fall will come as a surprise to many. His name can not be given until he is placed under arrest.

NO WARNING REACHED HIM.

A Deaf and Dumb Boy Struck by a Train.

HIS DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS.

He Turned His Head a Second Too Late-A Dispute As to Who Owns the Mint.

Killed on the Rail.

The incoming limited train on the Northwestern, due here at 9:17 yesterday morning, struck and killed a man near the rip raps, three miles north of the city. The accident occurred on a sharp curve, and the man was not seen until the engine was within three car lengths of him. The whistie was blown, but the man was apparently deaf, as he paid no attention to it. He turned his head just before the train reached him, and attempted to get out of the way. He stepped over the rail, and another step would have landed him in safety, but the end of the bumper struck him on the hip, knocking him several feet.

The train was backed up and the body of the unfortunate man taken aboard, as he was dead when the trainmen reached him. Death was undoubtedly instantaneous, as his back and leg were broken, and the shock of concussion was severe.

Coroner Waterman was summoned, and an inquest held. The verdict was that the deceased came to his death from being struck by engine No. 686, belonging to the North-western Railroad company, and that no blame could be attached to any of the em-

The name of the deceased, as indicated by certain papers in his possession, was Richard Kiser, and it is quite certain that he was deaf and dumb. He was apparently about eighteen years of age and was dressed in or-dinary working clothes. He wore dark checked pants, dark vest, brown coat, brown flannel shirt, blue tie with polka dots and a linck slouch hat. He was smooth-faced and weighed about one hundred and thirty pounds. In his pockets were found the following scraps of paper:

"September 18, 1889.—To conductors:
Please help this poor boy over the road. He is deaf and dumb and wants to go to Omana. He has a brother on the Union Pacific.

This was indorsed. "To conductors: I think this is straight. This boy has a brother that is conductor on the Union Pacific named Kiser. If you can do anything for him you will greatly add to his thankfutness. Crn. Ames."
On another piece of paper was the follow ing: "My brother is on the Union Pacific

He lives in Omaha." And another scrap contained this: "I came from Fort Wayne, Ind. I worked in a candy factory. Do you know Lewis Fox! He is the superintendent of the candy factory."

The remains were taken to the undertaking establishment of Field & Estep, where

Last evening witnessed the close of the Eiseman opening. The attendance was even larger than the previous evenings, and it is estimated that one-third of the people were from Omaha. There were many new features among the displays that had been arranged during the day. Dalbey's band gave a concert, and among the numbers were several new pieces by Mr. Daibey.

After the closing of the store the Messrs Eiseman banqueted their clerks at the Pacific house. There were sixty of the young ladies and gentlemen present, and covers were laid for one hundred. Mint, and seeks a writ of injunction against a place which has thus far proved invulnerable, owing to certain logal technicalities, involving the ownership of the property. In support of his motion he has filed a batch of affidavits which purport to set at rest all dis-pute as to the ownership. Charles Ailen swears that Dan Carrigg is the owner, and alleges that on a certain oc-casion he heard Carring state that he would pay $2,000 to aid in closing all the other sa-loons in the city except the Mint. The city council met in adjourned session Monday evening, with the mayor and a full oard present.

A number of estimates were submitted by the city engineer of amounts due contractors, and duly allowed. Alderman Knepher moved that the mayor's veto be read, but no second was received and the matter was passed. Petition of property owners on Platner street against new grade of said street was

Wagner property, known as the "Red Front," on South Main street, was read, and city marshal ordered to notify owners to re-move same within twenty-four hours. Protest of property owners against the grading of property covered by the mayor's veto, and covering property south of Broad-way and west of creek, was referred to comnittee on streets and alleys. A resolution ordering the grading of North First street to its terminus was adopted. The city clerk was ordered to advertise for bids for furnishing coal for the ensuing year for the use of the city. An amended resolution, in reference to the Pierce street motor line extension, was adopted and the previous resolution rescinded. It provided that every other Omaha motor train, and every other Main street train, should pass around the loop instead of every Omaha train as previously provided.

Claim of the Council Bluffs Gas company for erasure of an erroneous assessment, was eferred to finance committee. Report of city engineer, as to bad condi-tion of railroad bridges obstructing Indian creek, was referred to Hon. George F. Wright.

The committee reported adversely on th proposed widening of Pierce street, and the eport was concurred in. The committee on hydrants on Benton street extension and along Avenue B re ported favorably, and report was concurred in and hydrants ordered.

A number of sewer bids were opened and referred to the city engineer for tabulation.

Alderman Knepler again called for the mayor's yeto of a grading resolution covering property southwest of the Northwestern depot, and it was taken up. It was moved to lay it on the table and pass the original resolution, but a spirited debate resulted beween the aldermen and the mayor.

Alderman Lacy; then presented a comomise resolution for the consideration of e council, but they would have none of it, and the veto was finally knocked in the head, and the original resolution passed. The mayor was evidently greatly disappointed, and announced that it was the first time since he had been in the council that the aldermen had acted in direct opposition to the wishes of the property owners, and that it would entail a cost of over $250,000, and that the bonds would never be paid. A resolution was passed, ordering the paving with hard burned bricks, of Fourth street to Eleventh avenue, and Eleventh avenue from Fourth to Main. The city engineer reported on tabulated

Q. R. Mitchell was awarded the contract for doing grading work. W. A. Moore was awarded the contract for artificial stone curbing Broveg Bros, were awarded the contract for plank sidewalk. Thomas Gaivin was awarded the contract for brick sidewalk. Bids for paving were received, but there was a jangle as to what was required by the specifications, and a technicality regarding the matter was referred to the city engineer. Alderman Weaver wanted to award the contract for cedar block to E. A. Wickham, and for brick to Mr. Miller, Wickham ciaimed to be the lowest bidder for both. Alderman Lacy moved to reject all bids and readvertise, but it was lost. Finally it was referred to the city solicitor.

On motion the mayor was authorized to employ John Wagner to assist in preparing the tax lists at the court house. The ten days' lay off resolution recently passed granting the firemen that length of vacation each year, was rescinded, and the former rule adopted in its place.

A Groundless Rumor.

For several days past it has been rumored that certain parties in the city claimed to be possessed of certain facts regarding the death of William Spears, which would shift the responsibity for the murder to other shoulders than those on which it now rests. A woman living in the vicinity of where the murder occurred, dropped the remark that she was acquainted with Brown, the alleged murderer, had known him, in fact, since he was a little boy, and would not see him hung. She alleged that a third party was implicated, and remarked mysteriously that if the police could find him they would have the man who killed Spears.

Officer Cusick took up the clue, and yesterday morning located the woman at her home, corner of Avenue A and Eighteenth street. She proved to be an aunt of the suspected man, and her name is also Brown. A searching examination proved that she knew nothing whatever about the case. The officer was satisfied, when he learned of the relationship, that the woman was not pos-sessed of any information that would lead to any new developments in the case, still be continued his investigations, with the result stated. It transpires that her sympathy for her nephew led her to declare that he was innocent, and suffering for another's crime, while in fact she knew nothing whatever of the case.

The case now stands as heretofors, with nothing to indicate the part others may have played in the tragedy. Brown is still in confinement, and the grand jury is investigating the case. The examination of wit-nesses has been going on for two days, and is not yet concluded.

The New City Hall Site. The following bids have been received for the location of a new city hall:

George Metcaif, corner of Vine and Bryant streets, $7,000; E. S. Platner, Broadway and Glen avenue, $16,000; E. I. Woodbury, Pearl and First avenue, $20,000; George F. Wright, Pearl street, $4,960; E. C. Cole, the old James & Haverstock corner, no figures; George Maxwell, Pearl and Fifth avenue, $18,000; John Bennet et al., property on Ban-croft street, $100 per foot; G. W. Chamber-lain. Bancroft street, $6,000; N. P. Dodge, residence, $6,000; E. S. Jackson, Main street, $150 per foot; G. Metcalf, Broadway and Seventh, $7,000; L. S. Amy, Bryant street, $50 per foot. The finance committee was di rected to prepare a proposition to be sub-mitted to the people to vote bonds for the erection of a new city hall and to purchase the site to be later determined upon. One of the sites above mentioned will undoubtedly be chosen, but the aldermen firmly refuse to voice any preference in the matter.

Prospective Oil Magnates. Colonel Wells Cook has returned from Carbon county, Wyoming, where he went to look after the interests of the Producers' Consolidated Land and Petroleum company, of Omaha, of which he is manager, and the Hawkeye Coal and Oil company, of this city, of which Le is superintendent. He reports finding everything in a most promising condition, far exceeding even his most sanguine expectations. A good flow of oil was struck at a depth of 215 feet, and the companies are only waiting for adequate facilities for transportation to go deeper, and are confident that they will strike "gushers" that will rival the great wells of Pennsylvania. The field is very extensive, and Colonel Cook predicts that the result of the strike will be of great moment to the entire western country. The assessment work for 1889 on the numerous quarter sections comprising the property of these two com-panies has just been completed, and all is in readiness to proceed with the development of the fields as soon as the necessary rail-road lines can be built. Colonel Cook brought home with him some very rich oil sand, which burns like coal, and oil experts say that it indicates a very rich field and oil in unlimited quantities. As may be sup posed, the stockholders are jubilant, and the indications are that Council Bluffs will shortly be the home of a score of second editions of the once famous Coal On Johnny, of Pittsburg.

They Seem Able to Foretell the Com ing of an Earthquake. lower animals are said to be greatly terrified by earthquakes, and their excitement beforehand is sometimes sufficient to tell the event. No doubt they know well enough that something terrible is taking place. Prof. Milne, a student of volcanic phenomena, has recently given various instances of their behavior at such times, says the Youth's Companion. During the Tokio earthquake of 1880 cats ran about the houses trying to escape; foxes barked, and horses attempted to kick down the boards confining them in their stables. In the Lisbon earthquake of 1749 roach and other fish in a canal showed signs of confusion and fright, and fish have been known, after an earthquake, to rise to the surface dead and dying.

Most interesting of all are the observations showing that animals are disturbed just before a shock. So well known is this fact that for a while after the great Calabrian earthquake, the neighing of a horse or the cackling of a goose was sufficient to send the terrified inhabitants flying from their homes in expectation of another shock. Ponics have been known to prance about their stalls, pheasants to scream, and frogs to cease croaking a short time before the earth trembled. The Japanese say that moles show their agitation by burrow-Birds bide their heads beneath their wings, and act in an unusual manner. Sometimes immense flocks of sea birds fly inland, as if alarmed by an oceanic disturbance. Before the shock of 1885 in Chili, all the dogs are said to have escaped from the city of Talcahuano. The most probable explanation of this apparent foreknowledge is that animals are sensitive to the slight tremors which precede nearly all earthquakes. More over, in volcanie districts poisonous gasses sometimes emanate from the ground, and animals are supposed to be
