Bassett Bored By a Bullet.

A case of accidental shooting occurred at the Neumayer hotel about 11:30 o'clock yesterday forenoon. A couple of young men, Gust Russ and Dan Bass-tt, were examining a revolver, which the former was trying to sell, when the weapon was discharged, the ball passing through the front of Bas sett's leg, about four inches below the groin. It was merely a flesh wound, but it excited quite a stir for some time. Russ was locked up at the police station and his bail fixed at $1,000 by Judge Aylesworth. Bassett was removed to his room in the hotel and Dr. Bellinffer summoned. The wound was dressed, and the doctor stated that the patient would be around as usual in a few days. Bassett is an employe at Green's packing house, and had but recently become a boarder at the Neumayer. Russ, who works for Captain Kirsent, is also a regular boarder at the hotel. The first report in regard to the affair was that it was the result of a quarrel or drunken brawl, but investigation proves that there was no trouble whatever, the shooting being purely accidental.

What Woodward Has to Say. Wade Woodward, the young man recently ndicted for forgery, an account of whose peculations has already appeared in these columns, states that THE BEE has done him a great injustice. He was seen yesterday at the county jail, and solicited to give his side of the matter. "Well, I don't know as I want to give my side," said he, "but I don't want to be roasted the way you gave it to me this morning. I don't like to see either side in the paper, and I would rather have nothing said about it. I don't say that you made up any personal roast, for I suppose you heard all these things somewhere. "What was there in the articles that was not true !' "There was a good deal. I never went to any Omaha wholesale house or mercantile agency and tried to injure the credit of Parks & Son. Dun's man came to me and wanted to know how they stood, and I told him to ask them, which he said he had done, and they told him about the same as last year. Meyer & Raapke's man and I had some talk about their standing, but I did not have any list of creditors, and did not try to njure their credit. They are at the bottom of this prosecution and want to get out of the way, because I know how they do busi-

"I suppose my gambling was one thing that led to this, and that was something for them to go on, for I don't deny that I gam-bled a good deal. As for these checks that are declared forgeries, I admit that they passed through my hands, but they we paid in to me at the store for goods, and don't know who gave them to me. I couldn't tell who the parties were or where they lived, or whether I would know them again if I was to see them. I cashed the checks, supposing them to be all right, and I can tell you that my friends baye not all gone back on me either."

How about that watch that you bought from Miss --, on First street, and pawned without paying for it?"

"That is all right. I bought the watch on monthly payments, but I couldn't pay for it and had to pawn it."

"How about the revolver belonging to Parks & Son, that you took from the store and pawned?"
"Well, that is up here now in a pawn sho

"Well, that is up here now in a pawn shop. They knew I had it a long time ago. I didn't try to get away. I have not tried to dodge the police. I was at the bazaar two nights inst week, and I was on Broadway several times. No. I don't know what my bond is fixed at, and I don't care. I have not asked anybody to go my bail, and I do not propose to. I haven't any attorney yet, and don't know what one I will have. Parks & Son are doing me dirt, and I may have something to say after a while, but I want to have a to say after a while, but I want to have a talk with Frank Parks. He was behind in a number of things and put me up to some of them. I won't tell all I know just yet, for I want to see how things are going."
Woodward neglected to state why it was that he redeemed the forged checks as soon as possible, if, as he claimed, they were passed in regular business transactions.

Well Merited Success. In justice to the public a brief recapitula tion of the advancement St. Peter's parish enjoys is due. Less than three years ago the lot on the craggy cliff was purchased. By the united efforts of a handful of people an elegant church edifice has been erected, modern in every particular, well furnished and fitted to carry on any service the grandeur of the Catholic faith may demand. Little by little the possessions have been added to until a handsome property has been accumulated, i. e., a church, rectory, parish school and sisters' home, amounting in all to $30,000.

It might be said that this has been miraculous achievement, for many obstacles have presented themselves, that for the time seemed unsurmountable. Willing hands, staunch hearts, true to the cause they espoused, and implicit faith in God have guided this little crew to a safe har-energy of the parishoners, but not all, as able assistance has been rendered by public-spirited citizens, irrespective of the faith. For this the parish is truly grateful.

Three fairs have been held during the past two years, and have been liberally patronized by the public in general.

With visions of all sorts of horrible accidents conjured up before their active imaginations, a couple of reporters took up the trail and overtook the objects of their chase at the foot of the stairway in the Beno-Shugart block, where the aforesaid burden was deposited on the sidewalk, where she stood on one foot until her animated conveyance could recover her breath, it then developed that the young lady passenger was a paralytic, who had been brought over from Omaha to attend the meeting of the Christian Scientists, who were trying to effect a c-re in her case. Her mother had simply carried her from the motor to the stairway. The scribes assisted motor to the stairway. The scribes assisted the young lady up stairs to the rooms where the exponents of faith cure bold forth each Sunday afternoon. It was learned that the patient, Miss Evans, has been a helpless paralytic from early childhood, but the faith cure folks took up the case about a month ago, and now she is able to stand alone, and can move a short distance. Her friends are very honeful of her case, and inclined to very hopeful of her case, and inclined to think that permanent restoration to health will result.

No bids could be secured for any of the animals indi-vidually and they were sold in a bunch. As the price obtained was just sufficient to satisfy the attachments, and there being but one bid made it is supposed that the pur chase was made on a by bid in the interest of Mayne, or the property would not have been allowed to go so low. The house was built in 1640 for the Rev. Henry Whitfield, a minister of the Church of England, a non-conformist. The stones for it were brought on bar-rows from a ledge a long distance from the site. The cement used was brought from England, and is now harder than the stone itself. At times it was used by the early settlers as a kind of fort to defend themselves against the incursions of hostile savages, and the first marriage in Guilford was solemnized

One Lady's Recipe for Cleaning Her Soiled Gloves.

Cucumber Peel Found to be Very Effective-The Proper Treatment of the Feet-Ragged Collars Saved -Seasonable Suggestions.

So Tired. Velma C. Mellville in Daughters of America. "So tired, so tired!" she bitterly sighed, As broom and brush she wearily plied; Tired to death of work and worry, Tired of all this rush and flurry; Longing for even an hour to read, Longing for time earth's beauty to heed, Longing to paint that service for tea, Or better still you thrush on the tree; Longing for music, rest and fame, Longing to teach the world my name, Longing to rise to a higher sphere Than simply toiling and drudging here.

"So tired, so tired!" she bitterly sighed, Yet now no broom or brush she plied, Not tired now of work and rush, Plenty of time for painting thrush; Time all written lore to read, Time all nature's wealth to heed, Time for music, rest and fame, Time to teach the world her name; Time to rise to any sphere, No need for toil or drudging here; A row of mounds on the billside bare Had removed forever the need of care,

For Soiled Gloves. A lady called for this mixture at lrug store: One quart of deodorized benzine, one drachm of sulphuric ether, one drachm of chloroform, two drachms of alcohol and just enough cologne to make it pleasant. When she had gone the clerk remarked to a spectator: "Do you know what she wanted that preparation for? You would not be far out of the way if you guessed that she was going to wash some soiled gloves. That is one of the best and cheapest preparations for cleansing that I know of. You pour a little of the mixture into a clean bowl and wash the gloves in it as you would wash anything with soap and water. When the dirt is about re-moved rinse the gloves in some clean Usually one rinsing is enough but if the gloves are very much soiled rinse a second time. If the gloves are of a cheap kind it is best to dry them on the hand, but a fine glove, after having been rubbed with a soft cloth to smooth out the wrinkles, may be hung on a line to dry like an ordinary garment, The preparation is an excellent thing to have handy not only for rejuvenating loves, but for removing grease spots from clothing and carpets and for spong-ing coat collars and felt hats. The ladies in this town could save considerable noney by following that one's example. To Kill Cockroaches. A correspondent of the Confectioner's Journal writes as follows: I beg to for ward you an easy, clean and certain method of eradicating cockroaches from dwelling houses. A few years ago my house was infested with cockroaches (or "clocks" as they are called here) and I was recommended to try cucumbe peeling as a remedy. I accordingly immediately before bedtime, strewed the floor of those parts of the house most infested with the vermin with the green peel, cut not very thin, from the cucumper, and sat up half an hour later than usual to watch the effect.

Before the expiration of that time the floor where the peel lay was completely covered with cockroaches, so much s that the vegetable could not be seen, so vo raciously were they engaged in sucking the poisonous moisture from it. adopted the same plan the following night, but my visitors were not nearly than a fourth of the previous night. On the third night I did not discover one, but anxious to ascertain whether the house was quite clear of them I examined the peel after I had laid it down about half an hour and perceived that it was covered with myriads of minute cockroaches, about the size of a flea. 1 therefore allowed the peel to remain till morning, and from that moment I have not seen a cockroach in the house. It is a very old building and I can assure you that the above remedy only requires to be persevere in for three or four nights to completel eradicate the pest. Of course, it should be fresh cucumber peel every night.

Ladies whose feet have become misshapen from excessively narrow boots can do much to remedy the diffculty by care and pains, says Demorest's Monthly. Select easy, roomy shoes, and stockings of soft fabrics. Bathe the feet in water comfortably warm, never allowing it to grow cold enough to fee chilly, and wipe them thoroughly dry with a soft towel-coarse crash is almost poison to sensitive skins, and often causes irritation and a small eruption like rash. Then rub into them thoroughly about the joints or in jured parts, either cold cream, or, what is better, glycerince, perfectly pure, and mixed with double the quantity of water. Especially should it be diligently applied to the joints of the great toes if they are enlarged or painful. Wipe off with a damp cloth and dry carefully, after which powder the eet thoroughly with rice flour powder. Brush off all that comes away easily and put on the stocking, beign careful that no semblance of a seam comes over the sensitive joints. Adjust the shoe carefully—never "jump into" any article of wearing apparel—smooth the boot over the foot and ankle if it is a high and be certain that it is comfortable. These cautions may seem trifles, but the feet are ill, and all conditions of recovery must be observed. Take care that they do not become very coldor in the least damp. The ankle should be so protected by gaiters or leggins, if there is any necessity for going out in wet weather. The difficulty is an inflammation of the joint membranes, and has had many serious results. At night the feet may be wiped off with a damp cloth, and the glycerine and powder re-peated. Ladies who adopt this plan, will never find soft corns coming between the toes.

For hard corns there is nothing better than a little judiciously applied caus-tic, which should just touch the hardened part of the corn, never the surrounding flesh. Repeat every other day, first soaking the feet in warm wa ter, and gently scraping the surface of the corn until it will finally come out together. Great care should be taken to keep the caustic from the whole flesh, and the foot should never be damp, as the application will spread rapidly. Such a course of treatment persisted in, has in several cases restored to quite passable shape and com-fort feet that were considered hopelessly deformed.

Helps to Cleanline s. If the children's flannel dresses are al greasy add borax to the water in which you wash them. Dissolve a large table spoonful of borax in a pint of boiling water; put about a third of it in the first suds in which the garment is to be washed (you should never rub soap di-rectly on woolen goods), another third in the next water; shake the garments thoroughly before hanging them up to out of the carpets and they are put down again they can be very much freshened by sprinkling forn meal mixed with coarse salt over them and then sweeping it all off again.

The best way to clean out lead pipes without the expensive aid of a plumber is to pour a strong solution of concentrated lye down them, says the Woman's World. The lye will dissolve hair, lint, indeed all animal and most vegetable matter, and so open the pipes.

About as good a way as any to clean black silk is to take ammonia and alcohot-one part ammonia to three of al-cohol-add half as much hot water, and laying the silk over an old sheet folded in four thicknesses, rub with a black rag or a sponge dipped in the mixture. Have ready some old broom handles, curtain poles or other round, smooth sticks and wrap the silk on them as tightly and smoothly as possible; it will need no ironing.

To clean straw mattings, wash them with salt water, but not brine. Soap turns them yellow.

An old broom, with the straws trimmed evenly makes a good floor

Air the Mattresses. A great deal of attention should be given to the proper airing of the mattress every morning, and at least once a week a stiff brush should remove the dust which will accumulate, even in the best ordered house, and under the tufts of cotton or bits of leather, or whatever is used to tack the mattress with. At tention should also be directed to the edge of the mattress, where the braid is sewed on, for dust sifts under that. Where the bedroom is also the dressing room, dust cannot be avoided, but it may at least be changed, and it need not be allowed to accumulate.

Seasonable Suggestions. The keeper of a large and stylish boarding house in Lexington avenue, New York, has out meal porridge put on the table for all the boarders at breakfast every morning, and he says it is regularly eaten by every boarder of both sexes in the house. A very large number of the boarding houses of the city now provide oatmeal porridge as a breakfast dish and it is favored by all hands, young and old. Yet it would have been a curiosity for most of the boarders twenty years ago. For sandwich rolls the bread should be baked the day before, but very thin, not buttered, but spread with beef or ham chopped fine as if grated, and mixed with salad dressing.

Delicious Waffles.—Half a pint of cold boiled farina, half a pint of rice flour, two tablespoonsfuls of wheat flour, one pint of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, two eggs, well beaten. Frozen Brown Bread .- Toast and dry four thick slices of brown bread; pound and sift through a fine sieve; boil a pint of cream; sweaten with a half pound of sugar; pour in a pint of fresh cream and let cool; when cold turn into a freezer and let freeze; when frozen beat in the brown bread; take out th darker; repack the tub, cover and stand aside to harden. Biscuit Glaces .- Put a quart of cream on to boil. Beat half a pound of sugar with the volks of six eggs together until very light; stir them with the boiling cream, and stir over the fire until it be gins to thicken. Take from the fire and put aside to cool. When cool flavor with vanilla and freeze. Whip a pint of cream very stiff and stir in the frozen mixture. Fill paper cases with the biscuit, pack in salt and ice and freeze.

Travelers' Tales By Phonogram. Mr. Edison, when he returns from Europe, will furnish all his friends with the phonographic story of his travels. will be the fashion very soon. Nothing could well be more amusing and instructive. While a letter describing journeys, to be enjoyed by read aloud by one of the number, the phonograph tells the tale exactly as the narrator would tell it were he present putting in all the reflections, the ac cents and peculiarities of voice which make up the narrator's personality. A phonogram giving an account of one' experiences must be prepared with care since it will be telling the tale long after one is vanished and in the dust, just as one's human lips told it.
