INTRODUCTORY SERMONS.

Two Omaha Congregations Listened to Them Yesterday. Rev. W. K. Bean, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, Twenty-first and Binney streets, delivered his first sermon since his new appointment, yesterday. All the seats in the cosy auditorium were occupied. His subject was: "Who is Sufficient for These Things!" It was more of an introduction of himself to his flock than a sermon, although the gentleman gave out some bright ideas and suggestions. He outlined his opinion of the duties of a minister, and suggested that important duties devolved upon the members of the church as well as upon the minister. Each expression was listed to with great attention, and when the gentleman had concluded his talk nearly every person in the room stepped forward and shook his hand with a complimentary remark.

Eleven years ago Rev, Bean was the pas-tor of a small Methodist church on Eighteenth street in this city. He remained here but a brief period at that time. During the last year he made a phenomenai success at York, this state, increasing his congrega-tion 200 inside of nine months. Rev. Bean is thirty-eight years of age and is married.

After the sermon those who desired to remain had a feast of song, prayer and experi-

Rev. P. S. Merrill. Rev. P. S. Merrill, the new pastor of the First M. E. church, appeared before the members of his new charge yesterday morning for the first time and made a most favorable impression on the congregation. Every available sent was filled.

Mr. Merrill is a man in the prime of life, He is of powerful physique and has a face considerably like the late William H. Van-He is of powerful physique and has a face considerably like the late William H. Vanderbilt, his flowing burnside whiskers helping the resemblance. He has the pale face of the close student. He is a forcible, plain spoken preacher and expresses himself in vigorous Anglo-Saxon. His figures of speech are apt and his manner of talking carnest and sympathetic. His talk is extemporaneous. He believes in preaching "Jesus Christ and Him crucified," and allusions were constantly made to the Messiah throughout the sermon. He was assisted in the service yesterday morning by Mr. J. H. Haynes. Mr. Merritt took for his text John xiv:1, "Let not your heart be troubled." The speaker insisted that the only royal road to happiness was through belief—belief in God, in Christ, in the Holy Ghost, in prayer and in work. Nobody can be happy who does not believe in God. Nobody can be unhappy who loves Jesus, the divine Savior and brother of humanity. Can anybody be unhappy with the Holy Ghost dwelling in his heart? Christ told us that we would find joy only through the Holy Ghost. Christ knew the new of languages as well he did not find joy only through the Holy Ghost. Christ knew the use of language so well he did not misapply it. He always used the right word in the right place. The doctrine and privi-lege of prayer is another wellspring of pleasure. It is there that Jesus sheds the oil of gladness on our heads. I believe in the doc-trine of work. It was Christ's doctrine for the cure of heavy souls. When I see so many inactive lives in the church I cannot wonder that there are so many Christians with unhappy faces and doleful expressions. Their sourness of visage is due to laziness. No man in idleness can be happy. Joy comes only to the workers.

A year ago last March Dr. R. G. Wright, a popular and prosperous dentist of Tonawanda, N. Y., near Niagara Falls, took a trip to California to visit his sister and other friends, and while at Oakland met and was charmed with the grace and beauty of Miss Eva Beardsley, a dashing young lady of the brunette type. #### THACKERAY STRUCK.

William Makepeace Knew What His Productions Were Worth. The following letter was written to ames Fraser, the proprietor of Frazer's Magazine, and was copied by a lady from the original in the collection belonging to Mr. Fraser's sister: "BOULOGNE, Monday, February. "My Dear Fraser: I have seen the doctor, who has given me his commands about the hundredth number. I shall send him my share from Paris in a day or two, and hope I shall do a good deal in the diligence to-morrow. He reiterates his determination to write monthly for you, and to deliver over the proceeds to me. Will you, therefore, have the goodness to give the bearer of check (in my wife's name) for the amount of the contributions for the last two months. Mrs. Thackeray will give you a receipt for the same. You have already Maginn's authority,

"Now comes another, and not a very pleasant point, on which I must speak. I hereby give you notice that I shall strike for wages. You pay more to others, I find, than to me, and so I intend to make some fresh conditions about Yellowplush. 1 shall write no more of that gentleman's remarks, except at the rate of twelve guineas a sheet, and with a drawing for each number in which his story appears—the drawing two guineas. Pray do not be angry at this decision on my part; it is simply a bargain which it is my duty to make. Bad as he is, Mr. Yellow-plush is the most popular contributor to your magazine, and ought to be paid accordingly; if he does not deserve more than the Monthly Nurse or the Blue Friars, I am a Dutchman. I have been at work upon his adventures to-day, and will send them to you or not, as you like; but in common regard for myself I won't work under prices Well, I dare say you will be very indignant, and swear I am the most mercenary of individuals. Not so. But I am a better workman than most of your crew, and deserve a better price. You must not, I repeat, be angry, or, because we differ as tradesmen, break off our connection as friends. Believe me that, whether I write for you or not, I shall always be glad of your friendship and anxious to have your good opinion. I am ever, my dear Fraser (independent of £ s. d.), very truly yours, W. M. THACKERAY."

English as She is Spoke. Among current mispronunciations says the Ladies' Home Journal, is that of putting the accent on the syllable of "exquisite" instead of on the first, of omiting to pronounce the final syllable of "bona fide," and pronouncing the word as if it were spelled "bons led," of saying voilet and voilence for violet and violence, of saying yeaph for yes, and Gawd for God. The latter word should have the o short as in the German "Gott," though some people fancy that it shows greater reverence to drawl the word, one cannot quite understand why. A mistake very often made is that of saying "Bookase" for 'book-case." Note-paper is a stumblingblock to people who also speak rapidly, and they are inclined to call it "not-"fellow," 'earry' for "earry," 'ridiklus" for 'ridiculous," 'preceive' for 'perceive," 'et'n'ouse' for 'reating. house." One of the most unpleasant varieties of mispronunciation is that of certain class of New Yorkers who run all their words together, and slide a letter or a syllable wherever they can contrive to do so. "S'Nichlas" for "St. Nicholas," "Ay'noo," "cloes" for "clothes," "munce" for "months," "diff'nt" for "different," "N'Yawk" for New York" are familiar instances of this slovenly method of enunciation.

not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladles. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich .: -

Centre, Mich.:—
"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving reall. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."
