TWO RUNAWAYS.

Two People Injured by Being Dashed to the Pavement.

As Mr. Aaron Chadwick and his brother inlaw, Mr. Rodney D. Weils, of St. Louis, were out driving about 10 o'clock yesterday morning their horse took fright at a locomotive near the motor power house on Nineteeath and Nicholas and ran away, throwing Mr. Wells out on the motor rails. The horse's hoof struck his head and the wheels of the buggy passed over him. He was picked up bleeding and unconscious and carried to a lumbor office near by where medical aid was summoned. It was some time before he re-covered consciousness. The physicians did not think his injuries serious, although he was injured internally and suffered from con-cussion of the brain. He was taken to his sister's house at 1604 Nineteenth street.

At Fourteenth and Harney streets the animal became fright-ened and threw Carter to the pavement, iouse, at No. 801 North Sixteenth street, was in the closet at the time of the accident. The stove, which contained a log fire, fell on top of him and came near burning him to death alighting on his head. The horse ran away and smashed the carriage into kindling wood. Dr. Chadwick took Carter into his office and dressed his wounds. before he was carried out. His recovery is doubtful, although he has been taken to his home, where the best of care will be given Consummate Scoundrels Terrify Three Well Known Citizens.

One of the boldest cases of "hold-up" that has occurred in the vicinity of Omaha for many moons occurred Monday night on the quiet streets of Bellevue. Oscar Kayser is the proprietor of a gen eral store at that place. At 8:30 o'clock he closed up his establishment for the night. He had turned out all his lights except a small hand-lamp, and had locked the door. A rattie at the latter called him to the front to let in a customer, as he supposed. A couple of revolver muzzles were thrust in his face and the command, "Throw up your hands!" sent those members aloft. He was then commanded to turn around, and was relieved of his pocket-book containing $16 in cash, a railroad check for $33, and several notes. Kayser was so completely taken by surprise that he did not think of resistance.

The robbers then commanded him to turn about and accompany them to Wright's store, the supposition being that that store would be closed. Mr. Wright, however, had not locked up and was astonished to see his neighbor Kay-ser walk in with his hands up and a couple of masked men at his heels. Mr. Wright and his ron, who was also in the store, had their hands up in a trice and were in turn relieved of their property. Young Wright was deprived of a gold watch and chain and $4 in cash, and the father of $2. The latter had presence of mind enough to throw his pocketbook under the counter when ho saw he robbers enter and thereby saved $200.
