THE FRAUDS IN MONTANA.

In view of the alleged frauds in the late election in Montana, which was held under the Australian ballot system, the advocates of the system will have to qualify their claim that it is a certain preventive of ballot corruption.

It is apprehended that the contest growing out of the alleged frauds in Montana will exclude her from the president's proclamation, expected at an early day, admitting the new states.

It is possible the president may wait a reasonable time for a judicial revision of the canvassing board's action, as he may do without embarrassing any of the new states, but the chances are that the admission of Montana will be delayed.

It is possible there are some among the republican leaders of Montana who would have the temerity to make a request of this kind of the president, there is not the least probability that it would receive a moment's favorable consideration at Washington.

After the result of the Inter-American congress is known and if it should be so favorable as to warrant the belief that our South American trade will be increased, it may prove feasible to adopt in part at least the plans advocated by Mr. Cramp.
