Yesterday Vice-President Holcomb and Director Millard of the Union Pacific, returned from Boston, where a meeting of the directorate had been held. As a result of that gathering the following circular made its appearance over the signature of Charles Francis Adams, president of the Union Papific, to take effect November 1:

Union Pacific Railway Company, Presi-General Order-The following changes in organization are hereby ordered;

All the lines in Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado, including so much of the main line as lies east of Cheyenne, but excepting the St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad company, the Kansas Central Railroad company, the Leavenworth, Topeka & Southwestern Rail road company, and the Leavenworth branch will be operated as one division, and be known as the Missouri River division. 2. The office of the general manager of the Union Pacific is hereby abolished.

At a meeting of the directors of the company held in Reston on the 18th inst. T. I. pany held in Boston on the 18th inst., T. L. Kimbali was elected third vice president. CHARLES F. ADAMS, President.

Mr. Thomas L. Kimball has been in the employ of the Union Pacific for about quarter of a century. He has worked his way up from ticket agent to the envisole position of third vice president. He is one of the great traffic men of the railroad world, and his opinion on traffic arrange-ments has always been considered the best. In his new position he will be relieved of a great deal of responsibility and brain-racking

Edward Dickinson, who is clevated to the general managership of its lines east of Cheyenne, is also one of the ablest railroad men in the country. He is considered to have few if any superiors as an operating man, and, during a service of over a score of years on the Union Pacific, has labored un-thringly to build up an excellent service. During his career as general superintendent of the road he made a record of which but few men in his position can boast.

C. S. Mellen, who has been appointed general traffic manager, has spent over a score of years in active railroading. He is an obliging and courteous gentleman, is one of the representative traffic men of the United States, and a very hard worker.

C. H. McKibben, who will succeed Mr.
Mellen as general purchasing agent, has in reality performed the duties of that department since his appointment as assistant general purchasing agent. He is a young man and from the mechanic's bench he has climbed to the position in which he will soon be installed. J. S. Cameron, who is made chief of the

J. S. Cameron, who is made chief of the constructive department at present fills the position of assistant to President Adams with headquarters at this point. He is an untiring worker. The position of chief of the constructive department is a new creation. It does not interfere with the position of chief engineer.

Better Accommodations. The Missouri Pacific, owing to the increased natronage, has placed fourteen instead of ten-section sleepers on its through train between this city and other points.

Unsettled as Yer. The question now is, since the result of the Boston meeting of the Union Pacific directors has been made known, what will become of T. M. Orr, assistant to the general mana-ger. It is thought that Mr. Orr. will be re-tained as assistant to Vice President Kim-Impurities of the blood often cause

A DILAPIDATED CEMETERY.

Prospect Hill in a State of Neglect and Decay.

Prospect Hill naturally is a beautiful and picturesque spot, commanding as it does an entrancing stretch of scenery off to the north, to the east and south; the hazy bluffs and silvery sinuccities of the river, making a picture that never fails to awaken grateful feelings and loftier aspirations.

But the condition the cemetery is in to-day is hardly in keeping with the surroundings. A BEE reporter made a tour of inspection out there yesterday morning and could hardly credit the evidences of the carelessness and inattention that abound upon every hand.

The report that the sacred grove has been incontinently abandoned is justified by the appearance of things. Commencing with the roadway leading to the main entrance on the east, you continue on until every drive, every walk, every entrance, every exit and every lot has been included, and you see nothing but signs of dilapidation and neglect. The roadway spoken of is like the dry arrays in the mountains with the contract of the cont

The picket fence surrounding the southern portion of the grouds is the merest excuse for a fence, every other panel is missing and those that remain intact, hang by a single call and flap idly in the winas.

I large, unless it is afforded by the vigilance of the janifor, who was nowhere to be found. The walks and driveways show no evidence of care, are cut up by deep ruts and littered with the rubbish. Thickets of scraggy cottonwood sprouts choke the lawns on either side, while the lots themselves are perfect hot-beds of fox-grass, rag-weed and Spanish needles. Slanting slabs glisten grimly 'midst a blind of exuberant undergrowth, while iron fences and railings are completely hidden from sight by flourishing grasses and weeds. Of course, there are some exceptions, where lots are watched with loving tenderness and kept clean and trim by gentle hands. These, however, like oases in the desert, make the contrast all the more striking.

Herculean Strength Continually on the strain, or overtaxed at in-tervals, is far less desirable than ordinary vigor perpetuated by rational diet and exercise, and abstention from excess. Professional pugilists and athletes rarely attain extreme old age. As ordinary vigor may be retained by a wise regard for sanitary living and for the protection against disease, which timely and judicious medication affords, so timely and pidicious medication affords, so also it may be lost through long sedentary labor, uninterrupted mental strain, and fooi-ish eating and drinking, the chief and most immediate sequence of all four being dyspep-sia. For this condition thus, or in any way induced, and for its offspring, a failure of muscular and nerve power, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the primest and most genial remedy. Not only indigestion, but loss of flesh, appetite and sleep are remedied by it. Incipient malaria and rheumatism are banished, and kidney, bowel and liver com-plaint removed by it.

Davis or Clarkson-Which? OMAHA, Oct. 21.-To the Editor of THE BEE: I read Mr. Fred Nye's letter in Sunday's Bee in which he discusses the district judgeship, with much interest. I desire to add one or two additional thoughts and suggestions.

Previous to any call for a bar meeting I had occasion to talk with a number of democratic lawy ers as to who should be the successor to Judge Groff. Every leading democratic lawyer with whom I talked (and I know they voiced the sentiments of the rest of the democratic lawyers) conceded that Judge Groff's successor should be a republi can; and they agreed to support any republi can chosen, provided he should be personally and professionally unobjectionable. But notice the sequel.

It is a matter of common knowledge that at the bar of Douglas county the democrats are in the ascendancy numerically; therefore, not satisfied with having named the present democratic members of the bench of this district, they proposed to, and are now attempting, to dictate who shall constitute the republicans of that bench.

The support of Mr. Clarkson at the bar meeting was largely among the democratic lawyers, the republican members of the bar being, generally, favorable to either Judge Davis or Mr. Estelle. The object of that meeting was, as was clearly expressed in the call therefor, to ex-press the preference of the bar for a candi-date to succeed Judge Groff; but, it is pertinent to ask, how, so far as that bar meeting was concerned, was any candidate to be named! The bar meeting (not representing the people) recognized its own impotency to nominate a candidate, and the unpropriety of such a course, by appointing a committee of several gentlemen to ask of the conventions of the republican and democratic parties that they nominate Clarkson, thus placing the responsibility for a nomination where it of right belonged.

The committee of the bar meeting obeyed the instructions it had received, but neither party convention submitted to the dictation of the Clarkson faction; the republican convention, as is well known, nominated Judge Davis, and the democratic convention merely endorset Mr. Clarkson.

It was, too a very interesting body—that democratic judicial convention. I venture the assertion that few people outside of Mr. Clarkson and the chairman of the democratic county central committee knew that the Douglas county delegation was named by the Douglas county delegation was named by Mr. Clarkson's strong supporter, a democratic lawyer, who happens also to be the attorney of Mr. Martin; and that is how there came to be more than thirty lawyers in that convention who insisted on Clarkson, when the graceful thing to have done would have been to accept the action of the republican convention as a settlement of the question.

Talk about a non-partisan judiciary—the democratic members of the bar are strongly in favor of it if they can name the judges.

In the contest between Judge Davis and Mr. Clarkson, there is in issue, as I see it, merely the question whether the republican party, having a majority of at least 2,500 in this district, shall be compelled to submit to the audacious dictation of the democratic politice-lawyers of Omaha, or whether the party, having made a splendid nomination, party, having made a splendid nomination, shall not proceed to elect Judge H. J. Davis by such a rousing majority as shall cause Mr. Clarkson to question when the votes are counted whether he ever really was a candidate before the people of this district.
