

BOYS' OVERCOATS, BOYS' SUITS, BOYS' REEFERS

Monday, in our Boys' Clothing Department, we shall offer some bargains in Overcoats, Suits, &c.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, $3.50.

Good warm Storm Overcoat, 6 to 18 years, worth $5; reduced price $3.50.

Boys' Cape Overcoat,

$4.

Ages 3 to 9; made of heavy All Wool Highland Cheviot, full size cape that can be removed; worth $6; our price $4.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, $7.

Scotch plaid, heavy Farmer's satin lined, worth $10; reduced to $7.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, $15.

Fine Chinchilla Beaver, ages 14 to 18 years, has silk velvet collar, in every way worth $28; our price $15.

BOYS' SUITS, $4.75.

Another lot of these popular suits, all wool, very warm and heavy, $4.75; worth $6.

BOYS' SUITS, - $5.50

BOYS' SUITS, - $6.50

BOYS' SUITS, - $7.50

Usually sold at 50 per cent more.

BOYS' SUITS in all ages, all sizes, largest variety to be found.

ODD PANTS.

Plenty of Odd Pants 50c, 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75. Second floor - Take elevator.

S. P. MORSE & CO. - S. P. MORSE & CO.

THE CAPITAL CITY CRIST.

How City Engineer Gardner's Salary was Increased.

SOME CITIZENS ARE GROWLING.

Gossip Gathered at the State House - A Teacher On Trial - Supreme Court Matters - Lincoln Town in Brief.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE, 1029 F STREET, LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.

The charter of the city of Lincoln provides that the city engineer can be paid the sum of $1,800 per annum and no more. A short time since Engineer Gardner resigned, and in tendering his resignation suggested to the city council that his services were worth $300 per month. It appears that the members of that body thought likewise, and an ordinance creating the office of special engineer was thereupon passed and Mr. Gardner was appointed to fill it at a salary of $3,600 per year. Some of Lincoln's citizens object to this, and they will attempt to prevent the payment of the extra money in the future.

Supreme Court Proceedings. To-day's court proceedings were as follows:

Mustagh vs Thompson. Referred to clerk to compute interest and case submitted; South Omaha National bank vs Druse. Leave to file additional transcript given. The following causes were argued and submitted: Bowen vs Fross; Smith vs Railroad; Brusa vs Sandwich Manufacturing company; Burns vs Fairmount; Donisthorpe vs Railroad; Morse vs Stainrod; Stovens vs Carson; Cornell vs Harlan. Unfiled cases from Fourth district were transferred to Sixth district docket.

Court adjourned on Wednesday, November 6, 1890, at 5:30 o'clock a. m.

State House Gossip. Attorney General Leese, Auditor Benton and Secretaries Gilchrist and Garter went to Omaha to-day to attend the conference called by the Trans-Missouri Railway association, relative to coal reduction rates, which took place at the Paxton hotel, Omaha, at 10:30 o'clock.

Governor Thayer reached home to-day via Omaha. He occupied the "executive chair" this afternoon. The work of involving the state's property in the office of the clerk of the supreme court is progressing as rapidly as can be expected. It is said, however, that comparisons cannot all be made short of two weeks.

Commissioner Steen went to Wahos to-day to spend Sunday with his family. He was from his post most of the week looking after the state's institutions and buildings.

City News and Notes. A certain class of voters in this city are trying to play a double game on the politicians this year. They want pay for going to register and will want pay for going to the polls to vote.

The republican county central committee held a meeting at Chairman Hamilton's office this afternoon, which was attended by all the candidates. The object of the meeting was to put the finishing touches on the campaign. Everyone interested went out to rush in the boys to register.

The docket of the county court will not be called until Wednesday. Complaint was filed in the county court to-day against H. N. Hullinger, a fruit tree peddler, by the proprietor of the Tremont house, charging him with an attempt to beat a board bill.

The Paul Witz Four habes corpus case was continued until next Wednesday. Alta E. Loomis sued the American Building and Loan association, of Minnesota, for $40 for a failure to live up to a contract to purchase a loan.

Health Officer Bartram reports but twenty-three deaths in the city during October, the ages ranging from eight months to eighty-eight years.

Mrs. J. P. Lansing sent fifty woolen garments to Elder Howe for distribution among the poor children of the city to-day. They were made of woolen cloth, but are white and clean. They are simply those that were outgrown by the children. Elder Howe would be glad to see a number of other ladies who would be so charitable.

Passenger train No. 5, which arrives in this city at 10 a. m. from the east, was five hours late to-day.

The county teachers' association met in the rooms of the business college to-day. The B. & M. put on a new passenger train on the Falls City line last night. It leaves this city at 9:30 p. m., and arrives at 7:30 a. m.

The Relief and Aid society will hold its annual meeting at the St. Paul M. E. church Sunday evening. Governor Thayer, Rev. John Hewitt, Elder Howe, C. J. Ernst, Dr. Dorris and others will speak to the people. The official reports will be read and acted upon.

John Ryan and Mary Collins, of West Lincoln, were granted a marriage license this afternoon.

Miss Anna Boeher, one of the teachers of the Anna or high school, was on trial in Justice Snelling's court to-day on the charge of assault and battery. The is a fragile little lady and appearances are very deceitful if it be not by some one who would suffer very much from a willow weeded by her right hand.

DOCTOR ON UNDETAKE?

An Appeal to the Citizens of Omaha and Douglas County.

We, the undersigned members of the medical profession, recognizing the importance of the coroner's office being filled by a reputable physician, which will place the office where it belongs, and in the hands of men who, by their profession, are best fitted and qualified to fill it; do hereby cordially and heartily endorse Dr. C. P. Harrigan, the nominee of the democratic party, for coroner of Douglas county.

We further appeal to the citizens of Douglas county, regardless of views or beliefs, to give evidence to what they know to be right and just by voting for a man qualified to fill the office, which, for its nature, should never be held by anyone but a member of the medical or legal profession.

Oscar S. Hoffman, J. W. Galbraith, Ritchard Moore, J. C. Donnie, Joseph Naville, F. Grossman, James H. Peabody, W. O. Bridges, A. F. Jones, J. P. Crammer, W. P. Wilcox, Levi F. McKenna, George Tilden, Charles Rosewater, A. A. Parker, V. H. Coffman, P. M. Chadwick, E. W. Lee, H. Gifford, D. C. Bryant, W. S. Gibbs, Augustus E. Sussdorf, J. P. Lord, A. B. Summers, H. C. Van Gieson, P. S. Koor, E. E. Wornsey, Robert Gilmore, A. W. Edmonston, Ewing Brown, John D. Peabody, F. A. McCrea, J. J. Kolman, H. S. McLaughlin, E. H. Ward, Clark Gapey, Andrew W. Ely, T. M. Mason, Charles Impey, W. B. Hoge, J. H. Vance, John C. Davis, R. E. Hamilton, George F. Wilson, C. M. G. Birt, Fredrick Bacon, R. McDonald, Alfred Raymond, James Hackett, A. Crofford, J. E. Briggs, H. E. Johnson, R. S. Kanold, L. B. Gillette, J. T. Matthews, W. W. Hittling, W. H. Slagbaugh, M. Kirtpatrick, M. J. O'Rourke, Harvey Link.

Let the Editor Explain. ARAPAHOE, Neb., Nov. 1.—To the Editor of THE BEE: By this mail I send you a copy of the Arapahoe Pioneer and Mirror dated October 31. The Mirror has, for some time been abusing our candidates, and, as you will see, our so-called republican paper makes no defense, neither makes any mention of our candidates, manifesting no interest whatever in the result. Can you inform me what is the matter with the editor? As a delegate we voted for our candidate and now abusing our candidates, and the editor does not support his own choice. Yours truly, P.

In a Quandary. Washington capital. The married man with troubled life. Sit down and sadly sighs "alack!" His pocketbook divided in two. 'Twas overcoat and scales in sacque.

S. P. MORSE & CO

BABY'S WARM CLOAKS,

$2.90.

A special lot of Elder Down Cloaks for Infants, neat tan and gray mixtures, $4 quality, at $2.90.

BABY'S WARM CLOAKS,

$4.00.

BABY'S WARM CLOAKS,

$5.00.

Both bargains, in nice new goods.

WARM BEAVER SHAWLS,

Our special importation of Scotch Beaver Shawls. The Genuine Goods will be placed in sale Monday, AT THREE PRICES.

Beaver Shawls,

$6.45.

Beaver Shawls,

$9.85.

Beaver Shawls,

$11.69.

LADIES' BEAVER

NEWMARKETS,

$20.00.

A Rich Handsome Black Beaver Garment trimmed with the Newest Paris Applique Embroidery, worth $35.00. A Bargain at $20 each.

HEAVY STOCKINET JACKETS,

$8.35.

A Bargain for Monday in warm tight fitting double breasted Stockinet Jackets $8.35; worth $12.00.

S. P. MORSE & CO

TWIN-BROTHER OF STEAM.

How the Electric Current Moves the City Pullmans.

TWO NEW MOTOR SYSTEMS.

A Description of the Magnets, Armatures Motors of Each, With the Means of Supplying Big Power.

S. P. MORSE & CO

THE SUBTLE CURRENT.

As a couple of men stood on Sixteenth street yesterday watching the beautiful motor train as it went whizzing by, one of them asked the other if the cars were not propelled by the friction of the trolley-wheel on the overhead wire.

"Oh, no," wisely replied the other, "the overhead wire is in constant motion like the cable, and it draws the cars along," and he assumed the important air of a man who has imparted some valuable information.

Many citizens enjoy the comfort, speed and beauty of the electric cars, but know little about the workings of the subtle fluid by which they are propelled. They know that somehow there is a current of electricity which causes the locomotion, but at that point their knowledge ceases.

There are two power houses in Omaha, each representing a different system, the Sprague and the Thompson-Houston. The principles of both are essentially the same. The power house on Nineteenth and Nicholas, where is generated the propelling force for the Hancock Park and North Twenty-fourth street line represents the Sprague system.

A study of one of the dynamos there gives an insight into the workings of the whole system, and is much more simple than many people imagine. The dynamo is really an immense horse shoe magnet, with the prongs extending upwards. The prongs are wrapped with wire until they resemble colossal spoils. The curved part of the magnet is termed the pole piece and it is suspended by the ends of the prongs. A series of iron disks around an axle and the outside of these are wrapped with four or five thicknesses of fine wire extending lengthwise instead of around the disks. Each disk and all the wires are insulated. On the axle of this armature are a number of narrow copper plates, insulated from each other with still narrower strips of mica. This covering is called a commutator. The immense horseshoe magnets have had a current of electricity passed through them before they were sent from the factories, and there is a residuum of electricity left in them, although it is only apparent by the use of a delicate magnet.

The machinery causes the armature to revolve 600 times per minute, and these revolutions, with the residual electricity in the pole piece as a starter, cause a constant current of the electrical fluid. The electrical fluid flows into a chamber and is caught by strips of carbon called "brushes" pressing against the commutator in its revolutions.

Two wires are attached to these brushes. One is known as the positive and the other the negative wire. The positive extends to the overhead wires, and the negative connects with the tracks. All the tracks are good conductors of electricity, they answer the purpose of the negative wire. The only thing necessary to complete the circuit between the positive and negative wires is some conductor of electricity between the overhead wires and the tracks.

This is effected by the trolley and a wire extending to the wheels.

The motors in the car are under the floor. They are really small dynamos, being exactly like the dynamo in the power house only they are much smaller. They have armatures, commutators and brushes like the dynamo. There are two of them, and they are directly connected with each other by a copper wire.

The circuit is made complete or is broken by the turning of the switch bar at either end of the motor car. When the armature of the dynamo at the power house is put in motion and the motor on the car turns the switch bar completing the current, the arma-

S. P. MORSE & CO

FLORENTINE SILK

CURTAINS,

7.50 per pair.

We shall offer several lots of Florentine Silk Curtains, all the new delicate shades, $7.50 a pair; actual value $12.

SILK CURTAINS

$10.00.

Several styles of Florentine Silk Curtains that sold early in the season for $15 and $17.50, in one lot at $10 a pair.

Stupendous Bargains.

IN

Real Irish Point

Hand-made CURTAINS

WITH

Brussels Lace Centers,

Buttonhole Edges.

$40 per pair.

Reduced from $65 a pair, on sale Monday.

PORTIERE CURTAINS,

$7 per pair.

WORTH $10.

PORTIERE CURTAINS,

$10 per pair.

WORTH $15.

WINDOW SHADES,

75 Cents.

7 feet long, worth $1.25.

Specialty of Artistic Drapery.

S. P. MORSE & CO

WHERE GRIM DEATH APPEARS

Remarkable Discovery of the Funeral Directors of America.

SEPTEMBER ALMOST EXEMPT.

How the National Staff Association Which Meets in Omaha, Selected a Time For Their Annual Gathering.

Death in Life.

At the recent session of the Association of Funeral Directors of America it was decided to meet next year in Omaha. Heretofore the organization has done all its deliberating in the east, but within the past few years western memberships have increased so rapidly that it has been decided to make the place of meeting more central.

The history of this society is a story by itself. It was organized in the state of New York several years ago. At its first session but a handful of those who earn their living by placing defunct persons in their respective chambers in the silent halls of death were present. It was then known as an undertaker's society, but as it grew in membership the more euphonious title of funeral directors was adopted.

The society to-day numbers almost every undertaker of prominence in the country, and over four hundred delegates were present at its last meeting. It has for its objects the advancement of undertakers' interests and the promotion of improved methods of burials.

Preservation of bodies is an important factor in the discussion of funeral directors' regime, and each new anti-septic preparation is discussed in all its bearings. The latest fad in coffins and caskets, and the newest designs in burial robes, form competent subjects for argument.

The first meeting of the undertakers was held in spring time, as was the second. Then came a change. It was at the latter meeting that one of the delegates arose and remarked that he thought it best to convene later in the season.

"And this is the time of year," remarked the gentleman of melancholy aspect, "when people get wet feet, and quick consumption ensues, for one lives in a low marshy country, and cannot afford to leave my business to come here, and I am sure there are others who feel the same as I do. I move that this meeting adjourn until next year from next June."

"Cries of no, no, no, arose and amid the din a member from the opposite side arose and remarked:

"Does the gentleman forget that it is in June the little green apple gets its work. Mr. Chairman, I live in a fruit country, and I think that we should agree on a season that suits all of us. I move that July or August be selected."

"Well," chimed in another, "I beg leave to state that in those two months boys go in swimming, and rabid dogs bite freely. As an amendment I propose December."

"Does the gentleman forget," remarked the exclaiming, "that there are numerous cases of boys skating through air holes in December?"

"And has he read the last statistical report from Minnesota regarding the number of people frozen to death during the last fiscal year?" interrupted a member.

"I withdraw," shouted the mover of the motion.

Then it was settled that September was the best month and the meeting adjourned. Since that time September has been the month in which to meet.

The funeral directors have as organs of their body two journals, The Casket and The Shroud, two papers published weekly solely in the interest of those who lay up a way to rest. Every one containing everything of interest to the people who interest it represents and in the days of conventions the columns of both teem with reports of the deliberations. The humor expressed is of a rather ghastly order, but humor nevertheless. For instance: Under the report, "Prospects for Busi-

S. P. MORSE & CO

Ladies' Jersey Ribbed,

Balbriggan Vests,

35c

1 case winter weight Jersey Ribbed vests, shaped to fit, worth 65c, 35c each.

CHILD'S ENGLISH

CASHMERE

AND

HEAVY WOOL ROSE.

35c, all sizes, worth 65 to 80c.

Foster's

KID GLOVES.

5 hook William Kid Gloves, 80c, regular price $1.00.

5 hook "Fowler" Kid Gloves, $1.25, regular price $1.50.

7 hook "Fowler" Kid Gloves, $1.50, regular price $1.75.

5 hook Fosterina Kid Gloves, $1.50, regular price $1.75.

7 hook Fosterina Kid Gloves, $1.75, regular price $2.00.

Ladies' Australian

Lambs Wool Vests,

$1.25.

The finest white Undervests made, pure white Australian wool, $1.25 each, reduced $1.75.

We are agents for Butterick's Patterns. S. P. Morse & Co.

Boys' Undershirts, 50c.

A special bargain for next week; made by the Medlicott Hosiery Co., to sell for $1.00. Boys' undershirts, white or colored, our price 50c.

S. P. MORSE & CO

WHERE GRIM DEATH APPEARS

Remarkable Discovery of the Funeral Directors of America.

SEPTEMBER ALMOST EXEMPT.

How the National Staff Association Which Meets in Omaha, Selected a Time For Their Annual Gathering.

Death in Life.

At the recent session of the Association of Funeral Directors of America it was decided to meet next year in Omaha. Heretofore the organization has done all its deliberating in the east, but within the past few years western memberships have increased so rapidly that it has been decided to make the place of meeting more central.

The history of this society is a story by itself. It was organized in the state of New York several years ago. At its first session but a handful of those who earn their living by placing defunct persons in their respective chambers in the silent halls of death were present. It was then known as an undertaker's society, but as it grew in membership the more euphonious title of funeral directors was adopted.

The society to-day numbers almost every undertaker of prominence in the country, and over four hundred delegates were present at its last meeting. It has for its objects the advancement of undertakers' interests and the promotion of improved methods of burials.

Preservation of bodies is an important factor in the discussion of funeral directors' regime, and each new anti-septic preparation is discussed in all its bearings. The latest fad in coffins and caskets, and the newest designs in burial robes, form competent subjects for argument.

The first meeting of the undertakers was held in spring time, as was the second. Then came a change. It was at the latter meeting that one of the delegates arose and remarked that he thought it best to convene later in the season.

"And this is the time of year," remarked the gentleman of melancholy aspect, "when people get wet feet, and quick consumption ensues, for one lives in a low marshy country, and cannot afford to leave my business to come here, and I am sure there are others who feel the same as I do. I move that this meeting adjourn until next year from next June."

"Cries of no, no, no, arose and amid the din a member from the opposite side arose and remarked:

"Does the gentleman forget that it is in June the little green apple gets its work. Mr. Chairman, I live in a fruit country, and I think that we should agree on a season that suits all of us. I move that July or August be selected."

"Well," chimed in another, "I beg leave to state that in those two months boys go in swimming, and rabid dogs bite freely. As an amendment I propose December."

"Does the gentleman forget," remarked the exclaiming, "that there are numerous cases of boys skating through air holes in December?"

"And has he read the last statistical report from Minnesota regarding the number of people frozen to death during the last fiscal year?" interrupted a member.

"I withdraw," shouted the mover of the motion.

Then it was settled that September was the best month and the meeting adjourned. Since that time September has been the month in which to meet.

The funeral directors have as organs of their body two journals, The Casket and The Shroud, two papers published weekly solely in the interest of those who lay up a way to rest. Every one containing everything of interest to the people who interest it represents and in the days of conventions the columns of both teem with reports of the deliberations. The humor expressed is of a rather ghastly order, but humor nevertheless. For instance: Under the report, "Prospects for Busi-

EIDERDOWN BED COMFORTS.

On account of the extremely warm fall we fear that our importation of Irish Eiderdown Comforts is too large, and on Monday we shall make prices to close them out at a loss.

S. P. MORSE & CO.

EIDERDOWN

BED COMFORTS

$7.50

Worth $12.

50

EIDERDOWN

BED COMFORTS

$10

Worth $15.

Eiderdown Comforts, $12.50

The finest quality made. We imported these this season through the Omaha custom house. They are as good as any ever sold before for $20. Are filled with Genuine Irish Down, enclosed in Double Weight Satine, $12.50; worth $20.

DRESS GOODS, 50c.

1500 yards finest quality 40-inch wide French Wale Colonial Serges, worth $1.25 a yard. We have only staple colors—navy, brown, garnet, &c., and will offer them at 50 cents a yard—don't miss them Monday.

MAIL ORDERS

</