

THE SENSATIONAL SALE OF THE SEASON OF THE ENTIRE STOCK OF "WILLET FARM"

J. L. BRANDEIS & SONS, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510 S. 13th St. Corner Howard. We must have room and lots of room, for the immense purchase made of James A. Flack, sheriff of New York county, New York, which has already been packed and shipped and is expected here the latter part of this week. To get this room we have marked down everything in the building.

DRESS GOODS

These Prices Will Make Room for Us in Our Dress Goods Dept. At 9c Double Fold Side Band Henrietta, all newest colorings; at 15c former price 15c. At 15c Double Fold Side Band Henrietta, all newest colorings; at 15c former price 25c. At 22c 120 pieces, 38 inches wide, Newest Side Band Suitings, all new shades, 22c; former price 35c. At 25c 250 pieces, 38 inches wide, All Wool, Ladies' Cloth, Habit Cloth, and New Tricot Mixtures, all new Fall shades, at 25c; same selling elsewhere at 40c. At 29c 3 cases 40-inch Silk Striped Brilliantines, elegant goods, at 29c, worth 50c. At 39c 50 pieces 40-inch wide All Pure Wool Henrietta, in every new Fall shade, 39c, regular price 60c. At 50c 72 pieces 42-inch wide All Pure Wool Silk-finished French Henrietta, in the latestest-dow shades of old rose, copper, willow, rose, mahogany, olive, sorrel, gamboge, green, navy, cardinal, myrtle, seal, nickel, etc., at 50c; selling elsewhere at 70c. At 73c 70 pieces 48-inch wide All Pure Wool Genuine Marguerite German Henrietta, in the latestest new Fall shades, at 73c; price elsewhere $1.00. At 83c 100 pieces 54-inch wide Imported French Broadcloth, in every new Fall shade, best value in the city at 83c; really worth $1.25.

Black Dress Goods. At 18c 10 pieces 36-inch Black Brilliantine cut down to 36c; regular price 50c. At 39c 7 pieces 46-inch Black Brilliantine cut down to 39c; regular price 50c. At 45c 8 pieces 40-inch Black Brilliantine cut down to 45c; regular price 60c. At 65c 8 pieces 40-inch Black & Turkish Mohair cut down to 65c; regular price 80c.

SURAHHS. For the very finest grades of SATINS. All colors; worth 75c. An extra quality of fine wide. SURAH SILK. Goods that are generally sold for 85c. J. L. BRANDEIS & SONS, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510 South 13th St.

CLOAKS

Our sale of Cloaks has been something phenomenal in the last few days, we never before had such a trade. We do not claim the largest stock in the country, nor the largest room, nor the largest factory; but we do say we have thousands of Cloaks and sell them cheaper than they can be found elsewhere. All we ask is, Come and see them. To make room in this department we make the following cut for to-morrow: Ladies' All-Wool Newmarkets. That were $5; marked down to $3.75. That were $6.50; marked down to $4.98. That were $7.50; marked down to $5.98. That were $8.50; marked down to $6.48. That were $10; marked down to $7.48. That were $12.50; marked down to $8.98. Ladies' and Misses' Jackets. That were $3; marked down to $1.78. That were $4; marked down to $2.88. That were $5; marked down to $3.48. That were $6.50; marked down to $4.98. That were $7.50; marked down to $5.98. That were $10; marked down to $7.98. And so on throughout the entire stock. Children's Cloaks, Biggest Cut of all. That were $2.75; marked down to $1.78. That were $4; marked down to $2.70. That were $5; marked down to $3.48. That were $6; marked down to $4.98. That were $7.50; marked down to $5.48. That were $10; marked down to $7.98.

J. L. BRANDEIS & SONS, 502, 504, 506, 508 and 510 S 13th St.

UNDERWEAR

4 cases Ladies' Natural Wool, All Wool Scarlet and One Camel's Hair. UNDERWEAR, 49c Worth up to $1.00. All our Very Finest Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Zephyr Knit Underwear, 75c Worth $1.50. Big Lot Children's Fine Merino and Wool Scarlet UNDERWEAR, 12 1/2c Worth up to 50c. Children's and Misses' Finest All Wool Scarlet Underwear 50c Worth up to $1.25. J. L. BRANDEIS & SONS, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510 South 13th St.

HOSIERY

400 dozen Misses' and Ladies' English Imported All Wool WORSTED HOSE, 19c Worth 50c. Ladies' Imported French CASHMERE HOSE, 25c Worth double. M'ses' Extra Length All Wool RIBBED HOSE, 16c Worth 35c. Infants' Fine Cashmere ALL WOOL HOSE, 7c Worth 15c. J. L. BRANDEIS & SONS, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510 South 13th St.

BASEMENT

Here is where we must have the most room, and these prices will do it. 400 Pieces Cotton White EIDERDOWN FLANNEL, 12 1/2c Worth 25c. 5 cases Half Wool (Striped and Plaid) DRESS FLANNEL, 8 1/2c Worth 20c. 3 cases Very Best Gravel BLEACHED MUSLIN, 6 1/4c Regular 10c quality. 4 cases Best STANDARD CALICOS, 3 1/2c Worth 7c. 2 cases Elegant Striped Flannelette, 10c Regular price 25c. J. L. BRANDEIS & SONS, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510 South 13th St.

SPORTS IN INDIAN SUMMER.

The Very Latest Intelligence From Base Ball Circles. THE FOREST, FIELD AND STREAM. A Rowing Association—Polo Affairs—The Fistic Arena—Wheel Gossip—National Shooting Affairs and Miscellaneous sports. And This Goes. President J. S. McCormick is in New York city in attendance at a meeting of the minor leagues, during which it is to be hoped they will take a stand for themselves, and map out a course to pursue in the future, looking to their own protection and advancement. McCormick will remain in New York until Wednesday next, when the committee on arbitration meets, and to which he will submit his grievances relative to the recent sale of Cooney and Nagle to Chicago by ex-manager Seale. Mr. Seale-Cormick, however, can make up his mind that this august body will have "nothing worth a cent, at least, until after the brotherhood meeting in January, and then if the brotherhood and league amicably adjust their affairs, Omaha will probably get her pet back, but if the brotherhood determines to launch forth for themselves, then Cooney and Nagle will be awarded to Chicago, and all McCormick will then have to do is pocket his $3,000, lie still and sulk. And this goes.

THE AMERICAN SHOOTING ASSOCIATION.

Ever since the formation of the American Shooting Association there has been a project on foot by prominent sports to place a combination of cracks upon the road to tour the principal states and give either exhibition shooting or five men team matches, after the order of base ball associations in the various cities. It is thought such a scheme would do much toward increasing the interest in trap shooting and shooting generally than by the holding of tournaments in the principal cities as has been determined upon. Farmers, Danmore and other local shots prefer the tournament scheme, as they hope to secure one of the national tournaments for their own sport. This tournament system, however, it seems from an unbiased standpoint, can only breed jealousy and dissatisfaction. The cities that fail to secure these tournaments will feel sore and dissatisfied, and so it goes. The American shooting association is something the lovers of the gun have longed for. It is a grand thing, and its support it has already received goes to prove, it is in fact a necessary foundation on almost an inviolable financial basis. The association, in command and disposal, to make trap shooting as much a national sport as is today racing and base ball. Good business men are at the head governing and managing the organization, who, if the object of the association is at all feasible, will make it, as it virtually and practically has already become, the American trap-shooters' national union. Two traveling teams, however, have been selected and will make a tour of the country next season. These teams are as follows: EASTERN TEAM. Mr. Harvey Macduchey, Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. H. W. Egan, Boston, Mass. Mr. J. Whitney, New York City. Mr. J. W. Phillips, Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. J. Dickey, Boston, Mass. WESTERN TEAM. Mr. C. W. Hudd, Des Moines, Ia. Mr. R. O. Heikes, Dayton, O. Mr. H. E. Sheldon, Cleveland, O. Mr. J. H. Stone, Omaha, Neb. Mr. A. J. Hande, Cincinnati, O. SUBSTITUTES. Messrs. S. A. Tucker, Meriden, Ct.; W. Perry, Boston, Mass., and W. Fred Quimby, New York City.

THE DUCK SHOOTING STILL CONTINUES.

The duck shooting still continues to run out poorly and gunners might as well make up their minds that this fall will witness no improvement in this line of sport. Fred Fuller again won the Schutzenverein club's trophy for the month of October, and such a long lead that the probabilities are that at the close of the season it will become his permanent property. Tom Conners, the champion match-as-catch-up, has secured the management of the club's game nothing by it in the long run. Kansas City is evincing some meanness on the score of Sunday games next season. The manager of the club, Mr. Conroy, can never hope to remain in the American association. Swartz, Harns, Pickett, Gosson and Lane, have all signed with the Kansas City club for next season. Elmer Smith, the Cincinnati rover, has also put his John Hancock to a cowboy contract. In all the talk of the Brotherhood it is a noticeable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE REPORT SENT OUT THAT JOHN P. CLOW IS DYING AT DENVER WITH CONSUMPTION IS UNTRUE.

The report sent out that John P. Clow is dying at Denver with consumption is untrue. Clow is in Detroit, and is on the rapid road to thorough recovery. Jack Davis, the St. Paul heavy weight, is organizing a boxing combination to tour the principal states and give either exhibition boxing or five men team matches, after the order of base ball associations in the various cities. It is thought such a scheme would do much toward increasing the interest in trap shooting and shooting generally than by the holding of tournaments in the principal cities as has been determined upon. Farmers, Danmore and other local shots prefer the tournament scheme, as they hope to secure one of the national tournaments for their own sport. This tournament system, however, it seems from an unbiased standpoint, can only breed jealousy and dissatisfaction. The cities that fail to secure these tournaments will feel sore and dissatisfied, and so it goes. The American shooting association is something the lovers of the gun have longed for. It is a grand thing, and its support it has already received goes to prove, it is in fact a necessary foundation on almost an inviolable financial basis. The association, in command and disposal, to make trap shooting as much a national sport as is today racing and base ball. Good business men are at the head governing and managing the organization, who, if the object of the association is at all feasible, will make it, as it virtually and practically has already become, the American trap-shooters' national union. Two traveling teams, however, have been selected and will make a tour of the country next season. These teams are as follows: EASTERN TEAM. Mr. Harvey Macduchey, Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. H. W. Egan, Boston, Mass. Mr. J. Whitney, New York City. Mr. J. W. Phillips, Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. J. Dickey, Boston, Mass. WESTERN TEAM. Mr. C. W. Hudd, Des Moines, Ia. Mr. R. O. Heikes, Dayton, O. Mr. H. E. Sheldon, Cleveland, O. Mr. J. H. Stone, Omaha, Neb. Mr. A. J. Hande, Cincinnati, O. SUBSTITUTES. Messrs. S. A. Tucker, Meriden, Ct.; W. Perry, Boston, Mass., and W. Fred Quimby, New York City.

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-

THE BROTHERHOOD IS A UNDESIRABLE FACT.

The Brotherhood is a undesirable fact that not one single suggestion has yet been made toward the election of a new president. More and more, every day, the whole affair smacks of a rank bluff. Duke, the wonderful Minnesota twirler, is wintering in Columbus, O. The Beckey club has a crack outfit, played rather poorly to its next season's roster, but Sam Morton refuses to part with him. Among the very best players in the National league and American association, to-day, are the crack of the Western association, viz.: Telleus, McAlister, Long, Holliday, Crooks, Bellows, Burns, Quinn, Staley, Swatton, and a score of others. All ball players are taking it easy at present, promising themselves that at the first of the year they will pull up and go into training. Some of them do, but more frequently they wait until the opening of the season to get down to hard work. Should the National league, American association and minor leagues form an alliance against the brotherhood, it would probably have a salutary effect on the independence of many players. There is more than one way to make the far fly and the gained jade wince! Tom Loftis says that McAlister was by far the best pitcher in the league this season. The only player who came any way near making as good a record was Emory of the Philadelphia. Johnson, Boston's crack outfielder, played rather poorly ball. He fell into bad ways. Mrs. James Brown Potter has been quoted abroad as a champion of the American national game, and even Mrs. Langtry says that it is much more exciting than cricket. A few more such advocates abroad and the English athlete will be compelled to take up our national pastime. Nagle is a striking example of what a catcher can do when kept regularly behind the bat. If he hands hold out, he will do better work by playing every day than he possibly can by catching once or twice or even three times a week. Of all the players on a team who must be kept in constant practice, that man is the backstop. Herman Long the German shortstop of the Kansas City club, is one of the most prolific gate players in the profession. When the club was in Cincinnati at its last trip Herman had over $500, but before the team left Louisville he was forced to draw on Man-