

HELP YOURSELF TO ALL THE WORLD'S BEST THIS WEEK

PRICES WASHED TO ATOMS.

Entire surplus staple stock to be cleaned out at one fell swoop. Going to turn the house into the Great Holiday Headquarters, for all Christendom. Got to have room to do it. Surplus stock must go. And with this Herculean effort we "let go." All the world may clothe itself at about half price, at Barr's this week.

Dress Goods.

Slaughter of elegant French pattern Robes only a few of each kind, the latest novelties. Handsome French Robes $3-45. Handsome French Robes $7-68. Handsome Camels Hair Suits $10-87. Handsome Embroidered Cloth Suits $16-43. Paris Novelty Suits $19-74. Every suit in this lot is worth 75 per cent more. It is room and not money that we want. Hence these prices.

BLANKETS.

Our fine California Wool $9 Blankets, slightly soiled, for $4.50 Monday. 12-4 White Blankets, slightly soiled, original price $6.50, only a few pairs left $3.15 a pair. 11-4 Fine all wool Red Blankets, extra heavy, for $4.98 pair, regular price $6.

FLANNELS.

5 pieces blue and grey mixed Shaker Flannel, regularly sold for $5, our price for Monday 26c yard. All our 40c plaid and striped Flannel for skirts and house dresses will go Monday at 43c yard. Striped Flannels for boys' waists and shirts at 21c yard, worth 30c yard.

Silks, Silks.

Great closing sale of Silks, all silks marked down, stock must be reduced. Black Silks worth $1.50, go at $1.05. Black Silks worth $2, go at $1.19. Colored Silks worth $1.50 and $2, go at $1.15. Silk Plushes worth $1 yd go at 49c. Regular staple Silks sold at slaughter prices.

House Furnishings.

In order to make room for our holiday goods now daily arriving, we will make prices on our house furnishings this week that will close them out. Every housekeeper ought to avail herself of this golden opportunity of buying these goods cheap. Wash Tabs at half price. Step Ladders at half price. Office Chairs at half price. School Bags at half price.

FUR TRIMMINGS.

This week we give our greatest cut in Fur Trimmings, Finsel and Silk Galeons, also Passementerie. 4-inch Black Coney Fur at $1.25 a yard, worth $1.50. 2-inch Grey Fox Fur at 65c yard, worth $1.25. 75 pieces of Galeon and Passementerie Trimmings, worth 60c yard, special price 25c.

Gloves.

Here's a bargain for you. 100 pairs Perrin's Black Undressed Kid 4 button Gloves, at 98c a pair.

NOTIONS.

Goodyear's Dress Shields, Nos. 1, 2 and 3, at 11c a pair. Pure Glycerine, 4-oz. bottles, worth 20c for 1c a bottle. Quadruple Extracts, 1-oz. bottles, best odors, your choice, 16c bottle. Glycerine Soap, 8-oz. cake, for Monday morning, 12c. Let Hair Brushes, 9 row bristle, worth from 45c to 85c, your choice 27c. Ammonia, pint bottle, Gold Medal brand, superior to all others, 3c bottle.

Gents' Furnishings.

Men's fine all wool Scarlet Underwear, medicated, all sizes, shirts and drawers, regular price $1.50, for $1.19 each. Men's Night Robes, "Fanthless," good muslin, neatly trimmed, 75c quality, special price for this week only 57c. 50 dozen Gents' Cashmere Half Hose, assorted colors, seamless, worth 35c, for 25c a pair.

Linens, Linens.

Linen Novelties for the Holiday season. 12 doz. Sideboard Scarfs at 52c each. They are 2 yds long, fringed with pink, light blue, ecru, brown and old gold centers, worth $1 each. 50 bolts Stair Crash, all linen, this week 14c a yard. 75 doz. Bleached Satin Damask Towels, with drawn work, colored borders and knotted fringe, at 24c each, these towels are excellent value at 35c each.

DOMESTICS.

We have about 2,000 yards of 58-84 Unbleached Ulica Sheeting, worth 20c yard. This week we place it on our domestic counter at 13c a yard. As everybody knows, this is an old standard brand and the above price about two-thirds value. Our 15c Unbleached Cotton Hannel this week 12c a yard.

Shawls.

48 all wool Shetland breakfast shawls at 50c each, worth $2.00. Devon Valley Shawls only $1.87 this week. Reversible Velvet Shawls for $2.08 each.

HANDKERCHIEFS.

Something wonderful in Handkerchiefs. We place on sale this week 200 dozen Ladies' and Gents' Linen Handkerchiefs, being a manufacturer's line of samples, at half their actual value. 9c for choice of Ladies' or Gents' H. S. Handkerchiefs, colored borders, warranted fast color; cannot be bought elsewhere for less than 15c. 11c buys a fine Sheer Lawn Handkerchief in Ladies' or Gents' H. S., hand printed borders, fast colors, good value for 20c. 11c for choice of Ladies' or Gents' Embroidered and H. S. Handkerchiefs, in white and colored borders, cannot be duplicated for less than 30c.

Cloaks.

At prices to make every woman that hath two, buy a third. The greatest chance of your life to buy either a plain or an expensive garment at half its value come and see for yourselves.

Hoods and Fascinators

Your choice of 100, all kinds, this week for 50c each.

Knit Underwear.

Special bargains in Ladies' and Children's Underwear this week. All odd lines to be closed out at nominal prices.

Ladies' extra fine natural wool Jersey Fitting Vests, high neck and long sleeves, and high neck and sleeveless, also Jersey Fitting Drawers in white and scarlet, regular price $2 and $2.25, price for this sale only $1.49.

Children's Medicated Scarlet (Vests only), sizes 18 to 34, worth from 50c to 90c. Choice of any size for this week only 45c each.

Children's Fine Merino Combination Suits (Norfolk and No. Brunswick) full regular make, in white and shetland gray, sizes 20 to 30 inches, worth up to $2.25, any size for $1.69.

Millinery.

Enormous reductions in Ladies' and Misses' trimmed school Hats, all colors, at 50c each. Misses' neat'y trimmed school Hats only 35c each. Ladies' and Children's stylish trimmed Hats and Bonnets for $2.98 each, worth double the money.

COUNTRY PATRONS

Are requested to order promptly and carefully, as no goods will be exchanged during the surplus sale. Every article and price is exactly as represented. Address all orders to the

WM. BARR DRY GOODS CO

16th and Douglas St., Omaha, Neb.

Don't Let Anything SHORT OF DEATH KEEP YOU FROM THIS SALE.

DOORS OPEN AT 8 O'CLOCK Tomorrow a. m.

A DREAM OF FAIR WOMEN.

The Brilliant Ball By Mrs. Carter at the Millard.

MID THE MAZES OF THE DANCE.

Omaha's Social Stars Lend Light and Beauty to the Occasion—Mr. Linsinger's Concert—Teas and Reception.

"Faint Heart N'er Won."

At a dance it was, and she looked so sweet. He lost his heart in her yellow hair, His pulses kept time to her fairy feet, But to tell her the secret he did not dare.

And more, he was bashful. A woman's smile,

Would bring the red to his unburned face, With never a look to return, the while, He admired her beauty and winsome grace.

After a waltz, with its measure of bliss,

She stepped in the shadow to button her glove, He, moved by the music, imprinted a kiss On the round white arm that was just above.

Then, trembling, he dared not raise his eyes,

So much he feared he could disdain; All these gone forever, as sunlight dies To gladden the same day never again.

At last her voice broke the icy spell

With "Waiter, I'm sorry to trouble you, dear, But you fastened that one so snug and so well, Can you button the other while we are here?"

Mrs. Carter's Ball.

The Millard hotel, which has a time-honored reputation as a favorite hostelry for balls, on Wednesday evening went the way of all the Omahas who that happily could and donned a spick, span new dress for Mrs. Carter's party.

The guests were surprised to find on arriving that where once was an unbroken, inhospitable stretch of hall is now a cozy, inviting little room to render waiting fairly a pleasure. The astonishment repeated itself above stairs. The parlors in which the visitors were received were found to be newly and tastefully furnished with carpets, hangings and furniture, making their first pretty appearance before the public. Mr. Swobe certainly left no gold valued stone unturned to make the first ball a success, and the well represented 400 did the remainder up to supper time, when Mrs. Carter's efforts again made themselves manifest in the good things of life.

The decorations of flowers were simply bewildering. At the landing above the entrance stairs was a restful arrangement of green in all the various shades, and ferns filling the open grate and covering the mantle piece. An entrance under the stairs was filled with palms and potted chrysanthemums while the entire was veiled with trailing ivy. In the parlors the window recesses, dresscases and walled pieces were literally replete with flowers, while the fine rooms used in conjunction were made to assume a holiday air by great jars of chrysanthemums in every available place.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter, assisted by Miss Cox, Miss Richardson and Miss Hinesford, received the guests in the parlor and after a pleasant reception all adjourned to the ball room. Here the picture made up of brave new dresses and smiling faces shouldered, bare-armed, from the beauties, gowning, with eyes riveted to the diamonds they wore with grace to turn the staidest heads of the beaux from years ago to the measure of at least one tulleful waist.

The program was banners of blue satin, with the dances in gold lettering and the belles found difficulty in keeping the order and engagements out of tangle in their pretty heads. The gowns were a wonderful mixture of color with a kaleidoscopic effect that was engaging to the eyes.

Among those present were: General and Mrs. Broome, General and Mrs. Wheaton, Colonel and Mrs. Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Harton, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Cowin, Mr. and Mrs. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Dietz, Mr. and Mrs. Colpetzer, Mrs. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Vost, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson, Mr. and Mrs. Haller, Mr. and Mrs. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Garreau, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, Mrs. Nye, Dr. and Mrs. Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. Cline, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ringwalt, Mr. and Mrs. Nesley, Mr. and Mrs. Cuddey, Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Swobe, Madame Haeckel, Mr. and Mrs. McKenna, Mr. and Mrs. Condon, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Russell Hinesford, Doctor Jones, Mr. Warren Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Burroughs, Mr. and Mrs. Burrier, Mrs. Yost, Miss Hoagland, Miss Laura Hoagland, Miss Dundy, Miss Leni Dundy, Miss Luddington, Miss Orchard, Miss Sherwood, the Misses Harlow, Miss Sammers, Mrs. Corning, Miss Mabel Smith, Miss Pringle, Miss Brown, Miss Alford, Miss Richardson, Miss Woolworth, Miss Grace Chambers, Miss Gertrude Chambers, Miss McKenna, Miss Halcobie, Miss Wakley, Miss Peck, Miss Brown, Miss Alford, Miss Richardson, Miss Woolworth, Miss Grace Chambers, Miss Gertrude Chambers, Miss McKenna, Miss Halcobie, Miss Wakley, Miss Peck, Mr. Cray, Mr. Remington, Dr. Lee, Arthur Wakley, Mr. Fairchild, Mr. Squires, Mr. Arthur Smith, the Messrs. Jones, Doctor Jones, Mr. Warren Rogers, Mr. Cornish, and many others.

Mrs. Cattin wore a handsome gown of black lace with a front of black and white brocade.

Mrs. Meday wore an artistic gown of gray embroidered with silver.

Miss Luddington, who is one of the sex beautifuls, looked as though she were in a gown of pink silk trimmed with white lace.

Miss Haeckel wore a black net embroidered with white over black satin, American blue roses.

Mrs. Edward Peck wore an extremely becoming gown of soft gray, trimmed with white lace and pink satin and carried pink roses.

Mrs. John Halley, a very striking gown of blue satin with a contrast train, full sleeves and broadened front, lace and diamonds.

Mrs. D. S. Harlow looked extremely well in a white brocade gown with white lace.

Mrs. Galsbury, whose coloring is something marvelous, looked very lovely in a gown of white faille and crepe with trimmings of white satin and diamonds.

Mrs. Cowin wore a very becoming gown of black faille and net with the bodice cut square.

Miss J. R. Ringwalt wore a beautiful gown of white brocade with a slight of white feathers in her hair.

Mrs. McCord, whose shoulders and arms are beautiful, wore, in fact as they are well shaped, wore an extremely becoming gown of white faille with a second skirt of duchesse lace, decollete bodice, trimmed with the same lace.

Mrs. Nathan Shelton wore a very handsome white silk gown elaborately braided and trimmed with gold.

Mrs. Colpetzer wore a handsome gown of mauve brocade velvet, trimmed with pearl embroidery, mauve gloves and diamonds.

Miss McKenna looked charming in a pink silk gown, over pink faille, trimmed with pink roses, a decollete bodice, tan gloves and a bouquet of St. Francis roses.

Miss Thompson wore a very becoming decollete gown of black lace, trimmed with jet, and carried an enormous bouquet of American beauty roses. Miss Forrepaugh is a very pretty woman, with lovely neck and arms, and Miss McKenna.

Miss I. E. Congdon an effective gown of red velvet and white silk.

Miss Pratt, who is visiting, Miss Clara Brown wore a pretty white India silk.

Miss Annie Millard, one of the prettiest buds, wore a white tulle decollete gown with Hermit roses.

Mrs. L. M. Bennett wore a handsome black velvet with exquisite lace and diamonds.

Mrs. Haller wore a handsome gown of white silk elaborately embroidered with gold.

Mrs. Keller a lovely shade of blue brocade with white lace in the V shaped throat.

Mrs. Clarkson wore a white silk gown trimmed with lace.

Mrs. Smith looked very pretty in a decollete white crepe gown.

Miss Florence Yates was lovely in a pale green tulle gown, corsage decollete and without sleeves.

Mrs. Fred Davis was an exquisite picture in a pink crepe gown with the low corseting bunches of pink roses and white pink hydrangeas and green leaves.

Miss Halcobie looked beautiful in a blue embroidered crepe gown, the decollete bodice trimmed with deep red coral and a red rose pat Spanish-wise in her hair.

Mrs. Fred Nye wore an exceedingly becoming gown of white crepe with deep face of lace about her shoulders, which stood the test of white against white very bravely; her hair is a beautiful color and was arranged in a very pleasing combination.

Mrs. S. P. Morse wore a very handsome gown of black velvet brocade with white and trimmed with point lace, black gloves and diamonds.

Miss Richardson, whose beauty does not need the assistance of even that permissible "make up," rice powder, wore a gown of black net, decollete, the decollete bodice trimmed with jet, a string of pearls about her throat, black gloves and a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Russell Harrison looked very captivating in a black lace gown made decollete and trimmed with olive satin ribbons and black net, the decollete bodice trimmed with jet, a string of pearls about her throat, black gloves and a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Garreau, whose loveliness would receive the award of any amount of golden apples, were it put to the test, looked simply radiant in a white faille gown, decollete and elaborately braided with gold.

Mrs. J. R. Chambers, whose distinctive beauty is the envy of half the woman-world of Omaha, was very handsome in a decollete gown of white satin covered with black net embroidered with gold.

Mrs. Benjamin Smith wore a decollete gown of white satin and crepe, white feathers and diamonds.

Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Hitchcock were awfully pretty in short waisted picture dresses, Mrs. Bradford of white and green striped silk, decollete and with short puffed sleeves, Mrs. Hitchcock whose gown was trimmed with blue ribbons and pearls about her throat.

Mrs. Swobe wore a very pretty gown of blue and black silk, a front of blue silk with pleated trim and black moire ribbon over it, in French and diamonds.

Mrs. Rutie Powell wore a pretty gown of white crepe.

Madame Powell looked very handsome in a black silk gown with soft lace at throat and wrists and a cap of white crepe lace.

Mrs. H. S. Hollis wore a beautiful green silk gown with a green satin stripe cut V shape and wrist sleeves, tan gloves and pink roses.

Miss Smith wore an extremely becoming gown of pink tulle, with a pink satin stripe decollete pink roses and tan colored gloves.

Mrs. Carter looked beautiful in a lemon colored brocade satin in combination with brown colored crepe, decollete, the front of the gown and the bodice covered with trailing ivy.

Mrs. Cox, whose neck and arms are lovely, wore a pink and gray crepe gown, the bodice decollete, tan shoes and carried pink flowers.

Mrs. Hinesford wore a dove colored faille, decollete bodice, her handsome shoulders framed with an exquisite braiding of silver, and gray shoes and gray gloves completed the dainty costume.

Mrs. Yost wore very becomingly attired in a handsome black silk and lace gown with point lace.

Mrs. Squires wore a beautiful and effective gown of black satin, rose colored, satin and rose and black brocade made with a tall and square cut corsage.

Miss Sherwood, who is very handsome, looked extremely well in a gown of gray shantung dotted tulle over gray faille.

Mrs. Wheaton wore a handsome black satin gown with a square cut corsage and some evening lace.

Miss Miller, a pretty white crepe gown.

Mrs. Estabrook, a steel blue plush with pink and blue in the Mariecurie sleeves.

Mrs. Connell, a white India silk with roses scattered over it, combined with white crepe and rose colored veil.

Mrs. Wesels, a handsome gown of black velvet with pink roses.

Mrs. Bierbower, an effective gown of white silk and red velvet.

Music for Charity.

Music grave and gay holds an invitation to be busiest among us to stop a bit and listen and good music is always alluring! Last Tuesday evening an admirable concert given at Mr. Laniger's handsome residence for charity proved a lodestone of attraction for any number of people. Many undoubtedly had the interest of destitute women and children at heart, many were drawn by the promised sweet strains, while others were inclined to a pleasant evening in a delightful house, and there was yet a balance of young men who had heard abroad in the land that pretty women were to sing coffee.

Whatever the motives that brought them, the house was well filled and the receipts will carry blessings throughout the winter.

The program was admirable and admirably rendered. The unusual feature of the happy play by Miss Nash was most favorably received. The organ and the artists did themselves entire justice, which leaves no room for complaint.

Mrs. Wincotte's Luncheon.

Mrs. Charles Wincotte gave a delightful luncheon on Saturday with a box party afterward at the matinee in honor of Mrs. Miller, who is visiting Mrs. Wheaton at Fort Omaha.

Mrs. Wincotte is a captivating hostess, pretty and vivacious with an ingenuously that is particularly fetching. It goes without saying her luncheon was a success, and the amount of fun deduced from the rather merry play at Hoy's left a question in the minds of her guests as to whether it was a triumph or a tragedy. In any event the afternoon was of the nature that leaves a most agreeable taste in the mouth.

The guests were: Mrs. Wheaton, Mrs. Halse, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Lander, Miss Miller, Miss Orchard and Miss Jones.

High Tea.

Miss McKenna's "tea," given Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Forrepaugh, was something wonderfully cultivating in flowers and flower-like women. Never did the buds appear prettier nor more becomingly gowned. It was a combined chrysanthemum and beauty show.

Miss McKenna in a decollete gray crepe gown made Greek-wise and trimmed with silver, Miss Forrepaugh in a pink embroidered gown with the bodice cut low, Miss Forth in a cream silk gown brocade and bouquets of posies with white fringed net at the open throat and sleeves, Miss Basie in a white silk tulle with satin trim, Miss Luddington in a green and white silk gown with a big bodice bouquet of St. Francis roses, Miss Gertrude Chambers in a bouqueting gown of blue crepe, Miss Florence Yates in a white crepe delicately trimmed with lace and Miss Mabel Halcobie in a short waisted, wide sleeved gown of blue crepe, a bouquet of chrysanthemums and trailing vines. In the library tables with some croquet, Miss Florence Yates in a white crepe delicately trimmed with lace and Miss Mabel Halcobie in a short waisted, wide sleeved gown of blue crepe, a bouquet of chrysanthemums and trailing vines. In the library tables with some croquet, Miss Florence Yates in a white crepe delicately trimmed with lace and Miss Mabel Halcobie in a short waisted, wide sleeved gown of blue crepe, a bouquet of chrysanthemums and trailing vines.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. A. P. Hanchett and Mrs. H. W. Titton of Council Bluffs entertained a goodly company of their lady friends in a very happy and rather novel manner. The invitations, imprinted with an open book and a bar of music, gave a delicate intimation of the character of the entertainment. The company numbered about eighty, including a number of Omaha ladies. While the guests were being received, and seated, pleasing melodies were to be heard, proceeding from a large music box, embedded in a bank of flowers. The parlors of Dr. Hanchett's residence were the scene of the entertainment. The room was decorated with flowers, plants and vines. Fairly lamps of varied hues added to the pleasing effect.

The guests were favored with a literary and musical program of high merit. The program was opened with a piano solo by Miss Rockwell, who gave a charming number. The ladies encouraged enthusiastically, but all modestly declined to respond except by a graceful recognition of the honor.

Miss Anderson of Omaha, was then introduced. She gave a recitation, was then introduced by Mrs. Evans, who by her maiden name of Mrs. Jones, has won such high praise as a poetess, and with her attractive personal appearance, and with her pleasing sentences it became a pleasure to all that she had her educational talent and training. Her recitation delighted all, and in response to the persistent clamor of the audience she gave a short, humorous selection.

Miss Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.

Mrs. Jones of Omaha, was next introduced and gave a recitation. It was a strong selection, touching on the tragic, but with her fine physique and well-rounded voice she portrayed the varied emotions as so fairly as to give the audience a thrill of sympathy.