

IT WAS THE DAGO'S BLADE.

Struck Terror into the Heart of Little Jackie Dyball.

FELL OVER AN EMBANKMENT.

And then, From Internal Injuries and With a Disordered Imagination, The Little Boy Expires in Pain.

He Was Killed.

The death of little Jackie Dyball at twenty-six and a half months is a terrible blow to his mother and her family, and a sad lesson to the young readers who in a measure are responsible for his death.

These boys have been in the habit of handling an Italian fruit peddler, calling him "Dago," and putting him with stones and bricks. Four weeks ago last Saturday little Jackie, who was only ten years and nine months old, was playing on the vacant lot west of his home with Frank Vancin, when the Italian peddler passed. A gang of boys across the street hooted and threw stones at him. The peddler finally lost his patience, and drawing a long knife ran toward the boys, who fled toward the spot where little Jackie and his cousin were playing.

The Italian peddler, mistaking Jackie for one of them, started savagely toward him. The little fellow fled but just as he reached the edge of an embankment twelve feet high, the Italian seized him. One glance at the long knife was enough and in terror Jackie jerked himself away from the Italian and tumbled over the embankment. As soon as he could get on his feet again he ran clear to Park avenue before stopping.

The fright, the fall and the long run resulted in the rupture of a blood vessel and other fatal internal injuries. It was not known for two or four days of the matter with him. The best of medical attendance was given him, but to no purpose. At eight he died in the arms of his mother, screaming out "that big knife."

Recovery and at fifteen minutes to 1 o'clock, Monday morning, died in his mother's arms. The little fellow was a bright, cheerful, and well-behaved child, and his untimely and tragic death has aroused considerable indignation among the people living near Hanson park. On Tuesday the remains were interred and a profusion of floral offerings were presented by sympathizing friends.

The Italian who used the little fellow to his death is described as a thin-set, malicious-looking fellow with a sandy beard and is often seen in the southwestern portion of the city peddling his wares. His residence is ordinarily in Thirteenth and Farnam streets.

THE COURTS.

A Variety of Demands on Judge and Jury.

Judge Davis gave a decision in favor of N. J. Burham against Bernard Sachse for $15 for professional services.

The case of Peterson vs. Renegold, a replevin suit, growing out of the night of Hansen, a South Omaha grading contractor, was decided in favor of the plaintiff by a jury in Judge Davis' court.

A slander suit is the attraction in Judge Davis' court. Guska Carlson sues J. W. Gerswald, for damages for alleged disparaging remarks as to her character.

Diedrich Kunnepan has filed a petition in the district court, in which he claims that he was duped by Gustav Kessner of Elkhorn, out of about $100 because of his inability to read English. He and Kessner agreed to pay the costs and half of the amount, in all $130.

In the written agreement, Kunnepan alleges Kessner left out of the "costs" item and only agreed to pay one-half of the original claim. The plaintiff asks that the document written by Kessner be declared void and that the plaintiff be entitled to the full judgment, $74 and costs.

When the testimony for the prosecution in the case of P. J. Cleary vs. Kessner vs. Kunnepan made a motion that the court instruct the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty, as there was not sufficient evidence to constitute a case. The jury was so instructed and the verdict rendered. The defendant was discharged.

Judge Dundy held a very short session of the United States court yesterday. After taking a verdict in the case of Mary Clark against the Northwestern railway company for $1,900 damages he adjourned until 2 o'clock, at which time Superintendent Chase of the Indian school at Genoa was put on trial under a charge of embezzlement and the making of false vouchers. Indictments were found against him by the grand jury last spring. Mary Clark was defendant and will have to pay the costs in her suit.

In the case of Ward vs. Cochran before Judge Dundy yesterday a motion to set aside a verdict was overruled and a judgment was entered for the defendant. This is an important case. It involves the possession of a tract of land near the premises of the Omaha Fair and Exposition association valued at $30,000. Ward is a resident of Kansas City and seeks to gain possession of the ground, but the judgment gives Cochran the title. The case will go to the United States supreme court.

A verdict was rendered in the case of John Fitzgerald vs. Fitzgerald, Mallory & Company for $24,948.12 in favor of the plaintiff. The case is an old one. The firm of Fitzgerald, Mallory & Company was composed of John Fitzgerald, Richard Mallory, Jay Gould and Russell Sage. The firm constructed a railroad from Council Bluffs, Kan., and from Colby to Pueblo. When the line was finished it was turned over to the Missouri Pacific company. In the meantime Fitzgerald had furnished supplies to the line and had acted as general manager for the amount of $24,948.12. The firm refused to pay and this suit ensued. The court held that the claim was a just one and also overruled a motion for a new trial and also one to set aside judgment.

purchased produce of farmers for which he paid and at the same time sent in vouchers to the interior department for an amount considerably in excess of the actual sums paid. The collecting about two hundred affidavits Misset recommended Chase's removal, and in February, 1889, he was deposed. This case was called in May but continued.

As soon as Judge Dundy returns the matter will come up. A number of Indians are now in the city awaiting a chance to testify.

Mails an Imposter. J. S. Miller writes from Spoorville, Mo., for information of one A. V. Miller who travels through the country representing himself to be an agent for the Omaha medical college. The matter was placed in the hands of Officer Ellis who reports to Chief Seavey that Miller is a fraud. That he has stolen at several places for obtaining money falsely.

While in Omaha Mails forged Dr. McManis's name to a check on the Omaha national bank for $22 but was discovered and skinned out before being arrested. He is now supposed to be somewhere in Missouri.

A Raising Voice. When Howard Christianson's name was called in the police court yesterday the young man responded "here!" in a tone that fairly rattled the rafters of the court room. Howard is a soldier. He was arrested in last night in a very intoxicated condition. He pleaded guilty and was fined the usual amount, but later Judge Herkness suspended the sentence and Howard walked back to the fort.

BEAT FATHER AND BROTHER.

Eddie Gould Downs Jay and George on Wall Street. New York, Dec. 5.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Eddie Gould reappeared in Wall street and made stock market bears glad. Dreary tales have been current to the effect that this interesting young man had reformed and was pledged to his fund father never more to buy in the stock market, or at least never to be so wicked as to "sell short" that fond parent's rattle-trap railroad stocks. But out came the revelation that the wiles of the world had overcome him. It happened lately that Jay Gould's oldest son, George, had organized a pool in Missouri Pacific stock, proposing to buy it. Jay himself not only approved the scheme, but took a personal "interest" in it. Funds were deposited, brokers were hired, and all the manipulation machinery was put in readiness for vigorous action. "Somehow the boom failed to materialize. The clique worked hard and heavily. They lifted the market by means of a long two or three points above 70, buying most at the top. A year later the price got down to 66. The more the pool seemed willing to buy the easier it has seemed willing to come out. Now comes up Eddie Gould, who glazes in an unruly fashion over the Missouri Pacific big pool's distress. George is routed, Jay is undone, and Eddie, as wicked as ever, can afford to do enough sniffling for the whole family, with an average profit of five full points on 35,000 shares of stock, or $125,000, as the profits of a single week.

BURNED BY MOLTEN METAL. Fatal Explosion in a Pittsburg Iron Mill. PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 5.—At 8 o'clock this morning a red-hot top slipped from the hands of a workman in Phillips, Nimick & Company's mill and dropped into a small pool of water. A terrific explosion followed, protruding the workman by its force and scattering a shower of molten iron throughout the mill. Patrick O'Brien, a laborer, was literally incased by the splash of the liquid metal and was burned in a horrible manner. He will die. Other workmen were badly and perhaps fatally burned.

Cruciated in a Hotel Fire. EAST TAWAS, Mich., Dec. 5.—A portion of the Miner house was burned this morning, the fire being caused by a defective flue. Two charred bodies were found in the ruins, and it is supposed that one is that of Ed Reney, clerk, but it is not known who the other is. Five men received injuries, including the flames. The house was old and not very valuable.

Another Family Cruciated. KINGSTON, Ont., Dec. 5.—John Madden and his wife and child were burned to death last night. Their home took fire, and while they were trying to extinguish the flames their means of escape was cut off.

A Magnetic Young Man. BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 5.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The scientist connected with Johns Hopkins university are engaged in investigating the peculiar powers possessed by the fingers of Louis Hanburger, the twenty-one-year-old son of Philip Hanburger, a well-known merchant of this city. When the hands of this young man are thoroughly dried and touched to any polished object, they hold it like a magnet. He can thus raise up a quantity of pins, which will dangle from them, his index fingers possessing the quality more than any of the others. He also raises up a glass tube suspended by a six-penny weight. Prof. William Simon has him in charge and proposes to give some of the results before the Johns Hopkins scientific association.

A Monster Waterworks Reservoir to Cost Half a Million.

ANOTHER BOOMLET FOR 1890.

The Excavation Will Have a Capacity of One Hundred Million Gallons and be Made At most Immediately.

A Big Reservoir. The American waterworks company has taken the initial step toward expending $500,000 in improvement of its service in Omaha.

The company has invested nearly $4,000,000 in Omaha already and last October completed improvements in the plant at Florence which will cost over $1,000,000 and gave Omaha the best water service of any city of its size on the continent.

The new improvement contemplates the construction of an extra supply reservoir on the highest ground in the city with a capacity of 100,000,000 gallons of water. The company has closed a deal by which it becomes the square inch of the hydrants in the business part of the city.

The capacity of the reservoir will equal the combined capacity of the five monster reservoirs just completed at Florence. Water will be pumped to the reservoir from a 4-8 inch pipe along Boulevard avenue from Thirtieth street.

Plans are being completed and work will be commenced some time during the coming year. The improvement will require the expenditure of more than half a million dollars.

The object of the sale is not, as some have asserted, to get rid of our old stock for the best of reasons, we have none. Nor is it a holiday scheme to get the trade—but it is as advertised, to close the retail department of our jewelry business which we have been desirous of doing for many months, and having failed to find a customer to purchase the stock entire, and to put the stock into our wholesale department not being feasible, we have determined upon an auction sale of our entire stock of diamonds, fancy goods, art goods, and all. Without limit or reserve of one single article. We invite all to attend these sales, which will be held daily for the next thirty days (if not disposed of before) and see if this statement is not a fact. MAX MEYER & BRO.
