women are professionals, and besides arranging matches, sell love policos and charms of various kinds. In Greece there is a rule, always ob-served, that when an old woman is the bearer of a proposal she must wear stockings of different colors. As they also wear their skirts rather short, the purpose of the old lady is at once ap-parent to the whole community. Hence there is a modern Greek rhyme: She has an stockings of two colors. Methinis we shall have an offer. If the proposal is rejected the appli-cant is said to "cat gruel." The mean-ing of the saying seems to be unknown. One thing which tends to make at least one daughter in every family an eligible partle is the peculiar law property, to the exclusion of the other bound the saying seems to be unknown. One thing which tends to make at least one daughter in every family in eligible partle is the peculiar law property, to the exclusion of the shab upon which she says her prayers in church. In some parts of Greece the girl can never find a husbind until she has a house of her own. This makes a largo family of girls a peculiarly heavy bur-den to the father of the family, in such cases the proposal comes from the bride's family and the bridgroom makes as good a bargain as he can. In the Urkraine the maiden is the falls in love with a man she goes to his house and tells lim the state of her factings. If he reciprocates all is well and a formal marriage is duty arranged. If, howver, he is unwilling, she re-mains there, hoping to coax him into a better mud.

In nowyer, hoping to coast him into a better mind. The poor fellow cannot treat her with the least discourtesy or tarn her out, for her friends would be sure to avenge the insult. His best chance, therefore, if he is really actermined that he wont, is to leave his home and stay away as long as she is in it. This is certainly a very peculiar way of turing a man out of house and home. On the lathmus of Darien, either sex and the courting with the natural result that nearly averybody gets married. There is not quite the same chance where the girl has to bide the motions of a hesiting and bashful swain. There is a curious containing custom in Oud Beierland, Holland. in Oud Beierland, Holland. Cetober is the auspicious month for such an enter-prise and the first Sunday is always the appointed time. On that day the lads and insees, attired in their best, prome-nade the village separately, staring ench other out of countenance. Hence this is called "review day." On the Second Sunday of the month the men go to the girls of their choice and try to learn whether they are re-garded with favor or not. This, there-fore, is decision day, probably because at that time the men make up their minds. On the third Sunday (called the day
