For Nervous Prostration. Use Hoffman's Acid Phosphate. Dr. W. Graves, Northfield, Minn., says: "I have used it in cases of nervous prostration, and also in combination with other remedies in induration, it has proved as satisfactory as could be expected."

A Sprinter Burglar. A burglar entered the residence of C. F. Hackley, at Twenty-third and Pacific streets Sunday night, and stole the gentleman's pants, which contained about $10 in cash.

For Coughs and Throat Disorders. Use Brown's Bronchial Troches. "I have never changed my mind respecting them, except I think better of them which I began thinking of," says Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. Sold only in boxes.

Tired of Her Spouse. In Justice Hart's court Nick Obrack, colored, and Mary Green were held to the district court on the charge of adultery. The charge was preferred by the girl's mother, who claimed that her daughter has a husband living. The girl admitted the charge but claimed it was a man whom her mother had forced her to marry in Washington county, Missouri, some time ago.

Beobahn's Plus acts like magic on a weak stomach. A Nicked for Baby. Too. A gentleman, his wife and their three-year-old child boarded a motor car at Phil Sheridan street yesterday. The husband paid two fares and refused to pay for the baby. The conductor informed him that he would have to pay for the child. After some lively words, which at one time threatened a fight, the man and his family left the train.

Pozoni's Complexion Powder produces a soft and beautiful skin; it combines every element of beauty and purity. The Wrong Woman. Mrs. In Lia Bankhart, a widow who runs a saloon at Fort Omaha, shot a drunken grader named C. H. Bajjone, who attempted to create a disturbance in her place yesterday afternoon.

The grader made his appearance at 3 o'clock and began to raise a row. Mrs. Bankhart appealed to Aurst Ham-bach, a butcher who lives next door, and the grader was ejected from the place. He returned in a few minutes and burst in the door and made an assault upon Mrs. Bankhart with a shovel.

He struck her once over the head, a glancing blow that did not inflict a very serious injury. Mrs. Bankhart at first made a bluff at Bajjone with a revolver which was not loaded. He defied her to shoot and was decidedly boisterous.

Finally the woman locked the door. Bajjone was endeavoring to force it open when the woman stepped out of a side door and fired two shots. The first did not take effect but the second one struck Bajjone in the left wrist. As soon as the shot was fired he fell to the pavement and the woman ceased firing and walked leisurely back into the house. She did not know whether or not she had killed her victim until after the police and reporters arrived and told her.

The grader's confusion prevailed. The police and the city physician were summoned. Dr. Ralph took charge of the wounded man and had him removed to the city jail.

Hayne has been employed by a grading contractor named John McManon, and shortly before the shooting McManon bought Hayne a pint of whiskey in Mrs. Bankhart's place. Hayne was angry because the woman refused to trust him for drinks.

When the police arrived they did not place Mrs. Bankhart under arrest. Bajjone was taken to the police station and attended by the city physician, but no charge was placed against him.

Mrs. Bankhart has been conducting a saloon at the fort for years and has been successful several times.

OMAHA'S PRIVILEGES.

They Will Henceforth Be Respected by the Railroads.

The new freight rates for Omaha will go into effect today unless something new now anticipated should occur. The schedule sheet, on which half a dozen clerks from the various general freight offices have been at work for nearly two weeks, was completed Saturday evening and will be ready for distribution today.

The meeting of the adjusters in Chicago, last week, failed to approve these rates, but that fact will not be permitted to interfere with the action of the Nebraska roads. The managers of the latter say they propose to stand by the written and signed agreement entered into by them and the Omaha merchants regarding the Chicago, the freight association, or anything else. This time it happens that the two Chicago roads having Nebraska lines are together in the stand taken, consequently Chicago has no string to pull as a means of forcing a compliance with her demands for further discrimination against Omaha. Hereafter, as a consequence, the merchants of this city will have an equal show with the jobbers of Chicago and St. Louis on business west of the river and there is no reason to believe that hereafter they have virtually been driven out of their own territory because the Burlington and Northwestern roads could not be induced to give up what they called the advantages of a long haul and make such rates as would give Omaha jobbers an equal showing.

The report published exclusively in The Her on Saturday that G. M. Cumming, general manager of the mountain division had been asked to resign is well founded, and Charles F. Henshaw will succeed him. While the officials are reticent regarding the matter, they no longer deny that such a change is to take place. It is not known whether Mr. Cumming will be retained in any other capacity with the company, though the opinion abounds that this removal lets him out entirely.

"Who will succeed Mr. Resseguie?" is the question propounded today to which came the reply: "We can't tell yet. The matter has not been given any consideration."

The fact that Engineer Rogue of the Union Pacific has arranged for the settlement of his family in San Francisco, lends strong confirmation to reports heretofore published in these columns that this road will be the first to discontinue its line to the city as a competitor of the Southern Pacific. Tracklaying will be begun at once on the surveyed line from Frisco, Utah, to Pioche, Nev. From Pioche it is announced the road will be built down through Los Angeles, reaching tide-water at Redondo beach. There is good reason for the belief, however, that this announcement is a mere bait to cover actual plans for rushing the road straight across Nevada, from Pioche to Sierra, and in an almost straight line to San Francisco bay. All the surveys have been made through Union Pass, in Mono county, and thence down to the great valley, as the road can be built through a collection of animals, as the board says, as was ever selected for the service. As a consequence, the gentlemen who made the selection feel delighted over their work. They refer to the fact that a similar board in the department of the Missouri was compelled to adjourn without accomplishing the purpose for which it was created. The latter examined 200 horses of which it selected only twenty-six.

The other board, however, by the contractor with the view of disposing of them to the government, were returned to him with the effect of breaking him up in business. Dr. Tempany leaves for Fort Johnson today and Lieutenant McAnany on Wednesday.

Johnson and His Checks. Tom Johnson has again been placed under arrest on the same old charge—passing bogus checks. His method is to write out checks on a bank where he has no money on deposit and then go into some store and purchase about $2 worth of goods. He then rests in cash. Johnson lives at 1812 North Twenty-seventh street. He has been arrested before on the same charge. His case was postponed until the 11th inst.

The Milwaukee city ticket agent has issued a price list table, giving the arrival and departure of all trains, with the connecting routes among business men. It is a very convenient article and will fill a long felt want.

Assistant General Freight Agents Tebbets and Warrick have finally got settled in their offices at Union Pacific headquarters.

H. B. Jago, general eastern passenger agent of the West Shore road, New York, is in the city.

It is expected that the Milwaukee's new fast train between Omaha and Chicago will run on next Sunday.

STRICKEN UNFORTUNATES. The Deplorable Condition of the In-mates of the Open Door. Mrs. G. W. Clark returned from the bedside of her sick daughter in Chicago on Saturday and found additional cares at the Open Door, of which institution she is the manager.

There were six more unfortunate girls who had sought a refuge there since her departure and five of them were prostrated with malarial fever. One of the girls is in a dying condition and it is not believed that she can last many hours. She has received a letter telling of the flight to Washington territory of the young man who deceived her, and does not care to live. The others, it is believed, will recover with proper care. This disease is contagious only with women in childbirth and a physician can carry the virulent germ in his beard, hair or clothes from one confined patient to another.

The first case at the Open Door developed two months ago, and through the mistake of the physician in charge, the patient was treated for a cold. As a result, the contagion spread to other girls confined, and five were stricken with it before the discovery was made.

Efforts are being made to disinfect the place and protect the remainder of the inmates from the contagion. One of the girls soon to be confined, has been sent to the poor house.

Mrs. Clark says that if any of the other girls had friends who would send them to the poor house, but none of the unfortunate have anybody to whom they can look for a refuge during the period of their distress. For more girls are confined and Mrs. Clark says that she must get another house for them to save them from being attacked.

"The Open Door is over-crowded at best," she says, "and many of the girls have to sleep on the floor. They do so very cheerfully, however, and are content to sleep in a house. The girls making application for admission cannot be turned away as many are in a critical condition."

Why can't some rich citizen who owns more suburban lots than he knows what to do with donate one to the Open Door so that we can have a place on which to build apartment houses?

One Fact is worth a column of rhetoric, said an Omaha statesman. It is a fact, established by the testimony of thousands of people, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, and other diseases or affections arising from impure blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.

The Sarsaparilla Mrs. Woolworth's. The Women's auxiliary, St. Agnes Guild and the Guild of the Holy Cross will hold a sale at the home of Mrs. J. M. Woolworth on St. Mary's avenue this afternoon and evening. The articles will be both useful and ornamental and of every description. All of them have been donated by the ladies. In addition to the usual assortment, Mrs. Woolworth extends a most cordial personal invitation to all who are interested in All Saints' church or its members to come and avail themselves of the advantages which the sale offers for the purchase of Christmas gifts and the pleasure of its novel entertainment.

Uncertainty may attend business ventures and enterprises; but it never attends the prompt administration of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

My son was taken ill last night and my wife refused to be comforted. "Poor fellow" of course it did. Pity, he couldn't get Salvation Oil. Only 25 cts."

AN ACCOMMODATING MAYOR. How His Henchman Kent Secured a Clerk. Street Commissioner Kent has a clerk. His name is H. L. Seward, and he is drawing $3 per day from the public crib. There is no authority for his employment, or his position. Such offices are created by resolution of the city council, but City Clerk Southard has looked over the records and says that the council has never passed any measure allowing such an appointment.

City Comptroller Goodrich says that Seward is drawing his $3 per day with unfailing regularity. He also says that it is customary for the comptroller to receive a copy of the resolution creating the position before the appointee receives his pay. But he has received no such paper. Instead, Mayor Henshaw has presumed to order the comptroller to pay the salary, and on this authority, Seward is drawing his wages from the city's funds.

It is intimated that Kent intended to ask for an assistant, but feared that the council would deny the request. He accordingly took the shorter and less troublesome method of getting the mayor to order the payment of the assistant.

METTLISOME STEEDS. They Will Be Assigned to the Ninth Cavalry Immediately. The horse board of the Ninth cavalry, consisting of Dr. Tempany, veterinary surgeon, Lieutenant McAnany, and J. C. Hughes of the quartermaster's office has completed its work and adjourned.

It has been in session about six weeks. In that time it examined about fifty-five horses, of which thirty-five have been selected. In color they comprise bays, blacks, sorrels, and grays. They average four and a half years of age, 1093 pounds in weight, and fifteen hands and one inch in height. The price was $125.00 per head, and the board has a collection of animals, as the board says, as was ever selected for the service. As a consequence, the gentlemen who made the selection feel delighted over their work. They refer to the fact that a similar board in the department of the Missouri was compelled to adjourn without accomplishing the purpose for which it was created. Catarrh

In a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Bogg, Holliston, Mass., N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was almost discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom he had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 115 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $2 a bottle.

Some Children Growing Too Fast become listless, fretful, without energy, thin and weak. But you can fortify them and build them up, by the use of SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITES OF Lime and Soda.

They will take it readily, for it is almost as palatable as milk. And it should be remembered that AS A PREVENTIVE OR CURE OF COUGHS OR COLDS, IN BOTH THE OLD AND YOUNG, IT IS UNEQUALLED. Avoid adulterations.

It is intimated that Kent intended to ask for an assistant, but feared that the council would deny the request. He accordingly took the shorter and less troublesome method of getting the mayor to order the payment of the assistant.
