The testimony of the witnesses at the inquest.

GAD STORY OF THE MOTHER.

A Movement to Raise Funds to Defray Burial Expenses and Erect a Humble Home for Her.

Nobody Would Risk It.

The inquest on the remains of the three Schupp babies who were burned in the fire Thursday morning was held at Coroner Drexler's office yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The members of the jury were George Medlock, L. E. Reed, C. S. Connors, J. H. Conklin, W. P. Welch and Henry Piomb.

The first witness was Assistant Fire Chief Sailer. He testified that when the department reached the house the building was a mass of flames and that it was impossible to save the building.

When the fire broke from the kitchen, the firemen tried to get near the building, but it was so hot that they could not get within ten feet of the building.

TRACY'S STORY.

What a Brother of the Wounded Man Has to Say.

Last night T. S. Tracy, a stock dealer of St. Louis, Mo., and brother of James Tracy, the man who was stabbed on Christmas, arrived in the city.

As published, Jim Murray had separated from his wife. One of the causes which led to the estrangement was the fact that his wife permitted her sister, to whom she calls James, to come to her home.

On Christmas the latter, who has been living in Lincoln, Neb., received his house to get some articles of wearing apparel.

The original abietine ointment is only put up in large two-ounce tin boxes, and is an absolute cure for old sores, burns, wounds, chapped hands and all skin eruptions.

Remembered by His Friends. On Christmas day the operators of the Western Union telegraph company presented Mr. J. B. Twiford, their chief, with an elegant gold watch as a token of their esteem.

UPS AND DOWNS OF AN EDITOR.

He has His Trials as Well as His Triumphs.

THE CONCENTRATED POPULACE.

From Greeley Down to the Present Remarkable Newspaper Development—Editorial Qualifications and Growth.

The Modern Journal.

I am tempted to write of "The Trials and Triumphs of the Editor." I suspect my friend, Horace Greeley, as on the eve of distinguished honors he finds himself suddenly halted and halted by the ghosts of old manifestoes which once in cold type will never fade, could tell us something of the trials, as he certainly knows much of the triumphs of his craft.

There will be a clean sweep in the county treasurer's office. Each of the five members of a European tour during the coming year and farther than that has no definite plans.

What changes his retirement from the board will make as yet all a matter of speculation. Each of the five members of that body is a candidate for the chairmanship and the organization for the next year is, at present, one of the unsolved problems.

Personal Paragraphs. Dr. Henry of Neill is at the Millard. S. E. Taylor of Lincoln is at the Casey.
