Testing the Plant.

J. B. Staddard, representing the Sperry Electric Light company, of Chrogo, and James Riley, traveling expert for the same company, are in the city to see that the new Sperry lights and dynamos work satisfactority. The work of setting up the machiners and erecting the new lines and lights was done under the direction and personal supervision of Superintendent Harry Evans instead of Mr. Cook, as inadvertently stated by Tim tier yesterday morning. Mr. Evans and Mr. Ridey were both employed by the Brush commany about sieure years are and their meeting here yesterday was a matter of aurprise to both of them. It was a source of great satisfaction to Mr. Evans that the work had been so perfectly done that Mr. Ridey had no changes to suggest. The new lights have given satisfaction in every resuct, and, as nearly as can be decided without an exact test, the light furnished is fully as strong as is given by the old lights. The only change that remains to be made is to "cut in" the three new towers to the arceids already in operation. One of the new towers located at the corner of Avenue Band Twenty-thrid street is nearly completed, the remaining work being delayed on necessaries desired in the tower raining machinery could be removed until that tower was campleted, the tower arising machinery could be removed until that tower was campleted, the work was stopped for about weaty-four hours. It is expected that both of the other towers will be in position and ignted by the last of next weak.

The surface of the lake is as smooth as gass and the superb skating uttracts many pleasure seekers from the city. Colonel Reed will today resume running trains to the lake and they will leave the corner of Broadway and Ninth street at 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 o'clock during the afternoon. They will be continued as long as the natronage is sufficient to warrant it. It is the intention to make Manawa an attractive winter as well as summer resort.

The order of the court to remove the scales rom the junction of Pearl and Main streets is creating considerable discussion in the southern portion of the city. A number of the merchants on South Main street insist the merchants on South Main street insist that scales are needed in that portion of the city, and there is talk of securing a lot to which Mr. Hown may remove his scales. Judge Ayloswort's ruling was that the city council had charge of the streets and alleys, but had no right to put anything in the street unless said street was first vacated, as the street unless said street was first vacated, as the streets belong to the public, and cannot be divested for individual or private uses. They must be removed within thirty days, but it is probable that they will be relocated near by.

The Scheme Bangs Fire. The members of the union depot commit-tee went to Omaha yesterday to hold a long expected meeting with the milroad officials regarding the erection of the proposed new union depot in the Bluffs. T. J. Evans, George F. Wright and Judge W. C. James represented the union depot company, and representatives from all the roads centering here, with the exception of the Rock Island and Milwankee, were present. The fact that these two roads were not represented served to put a damper on the meeting and a resolution was passed stating that nothing could be done, as it was imperative that all the roads should signify their willingness to join the project.

The Prohibitionists' Finiti.
Chief Engineer Birkenbine of the water-works company has just completed his annual report for the year 1889. It shows that during the year 1890 tans of coal were consumed, and that the pumps were pumping to the city 299% hours, and pumping from the river 977 hours. The total amount of water furnished to the city was 456,789,895 gallons, an average of over a million and a quarter gallons per day. The Docember consumption amounted to 51,685,003 gallons, which is an increase of over twenty million gallons over Docember 1888, and there is every indication that the Yearly consumption for 1895 will exceeds 750,000,000 gallons. It required St7 gallons of oil for the machinery during the year. Extra pumping pressure was given in response to fity-three fire alarms.

In 1889 there were 345 clear days, 89 cloudy days and 33 stormy days. The average monthly temperature, as taken at 7 o'clock in the morning and avening, was as follows: January 15 18-43. February 17 1-18. March 22 33-34, April 40 14-15. May 35 11-31, duos 69 11-39, dup 17 3-31. August 79 9.3, Soutember 57 1-5, October 43 3-51, Novomber 28 14-15, December 31 35-31. The average ovarie temperature was 45 35-100 se compared with 49 8-100 for 1888. It will be seen that November was considerably colder than Documber, and the fact finat he average of 1883 was normly four dispress warmer than 1889, while the winter was colder, shows that the summer was very much warmer. The weather in 1888 was more extreme, both in summer and winter, than 1 was in 1889.

A Promising Partnership
A co-partnership that is destined to result favorably to both parties is that of Mr. S. E. Maxon, the well known architect of this city, who has just associated himself with Mr. Hourgeols, a French architect and graduate of Des Bourse Arts of Paris. Mr. Hourgeols is well acquainted in Omnha on account of his connection with the new Commercial National bank, corner of Sixteenth and Parnami, which has been erected from his design and details. Mr. Hourgeols has just returned from a four months' trip to Europe to take charge of the lasted decorpations of said bank, which is to be completed by May I. It is needless to speak of Mr. Mixon's ability, as he has an enviable reparation. With the practical knuwledge of Mr. Maxon the firm is bound to win deserved success.

HER FIRST BUILL FIGHT.

A Baltimore Girl Gives Her Impres-A Baltimore Girl Gives Her Impression of the Brutal Sport.

A Baltimore girl, who faints at the sight of a catapillar, turns green at the flow of blood, and is in every way of most gentle and kindly nature, thus writes home about her visit to a builtight—the occassion being the farewell to Paris of the prince of matadors, Louis Mazzantini:

to Paris of the prince of matadors, Louis Mazzautini:

"At last I have seen my first builtight, and I trust my last. You could not have borne it five minutes, and I scarcely know how I did.
"Imagine an immense arena, with 22,000 people pecked in circles, while above mocent little white clouds floated over an intensely blue sky. At times the tender-hearted clouds shut the sky entirely off from all view of what was going on beneath in the arena, while frequent short April-like showers of tearss [?] fell from them, and it is to be hoped soothed the wounds of the six enraged buils that succeeded each other to death. The occasion was Mazzantini's farewell to his Parisian public, which has made such a hero of him. Not only had fatted calves been killed in his honor in appreciation of the fatted bulls which Mazzantini had killed with such glory, but hats and handkershiefs waved presents of silver of rold.

Not only had fatted calvees been killed in his bonor in appreciation of the fatted bulls which Mazzantini had killed with such glory, but hate and handkerchiefs waved, presents of silver, of gold and jewels were thrown to him after his little speech of farewell and flowers, in forms of wreaths, bonnets and hearts, soon covered the gore-stained ground. Of all these gifts the only one this Spanish grandee noticed at all was a simple bunch of violets. This he stooped to pick up, and lissed in the direction of the fair dame who had thrown it. His two valets raised the more valuable gifts from the dust, while Mazzantini himself never deigned to even glance at the rich jewels scattered at his feet.

"It was a wonderful sight, exciting past belief. I am glad to have seen it, for I learned something, but the one lesson completes the course. I'll see no more built fights. The orchestra played the music of 'Carmen' as we came out, and I stopped to study the faces of the audience that a few minutes before were in the extremes of excitement, shouting and hissing, when the poop bull, terrified and smarting, tried to save himself instead of showing the proper amount of fight, and remembered that I, too, at the moment had risen to my feet and rejoiced when a well plauted lance, which I thought was costing the picador his life, as he stood directly in front of the buil's horns, pierced the buil's shoulders justas he lowered his head to strike. Then the marvellous Mazzantini leaped over the head and stood quelty waiting until the now maddened creature turned on him with sufficient ferceity to satisfy the most exacting hisser.

"Nothing can express to you the intense artistic aspect of the performance. One has to see it to understand the science of these superb men. They walk with the dignity that princes are supposed to have, in and out of the hust with the dignity that princes are supposed to have, in and out of the inwo

One has to see it to understand the science of these superb men. They walk with the dignity that princes are supposed to have, in and out of the jaws of death—a lean not any higher or less caim than just enough to keep them this side of eteralty. The little scarlet cloak, their only defensive weapon, and with this alone, they lead the infuriated animal to the exact spot where they wish to kill him, and then kill him, not at any haphazard moment, but only at the signal given by the president. In Paristhey do not kill the bull in the arena, but when the signal to kill is given, the maiador's personal danger is all the greater for not killing, as he must touch the bull in the vital spot above the head between the shoulders. must touch the bull in the vital spot above the head between the shoulders, just as the bull lowers his head to gore him, thus going through the form, after which the bull is taken out by oxen and killed out of sight. Each bull, which is of a very high breed, belongs to some well-known Spanish senor, and is worth a good many hundred dollars. But they say it cannot light twice, as it must be put an end to; the honor of the family to whom it belongs is at stake by the way it lights.

put an end to; the honor of the family to whom it belongs is at stake by the way it lights.

"A wonderful sight, and always shall it live in my memory how the artistle superceded the human side of it is my eyes. I had to grasp the smelling salts in one hand, for you know how I turn sick at the sight of blood, and to see those poor blindfolded horses raised on the horns of those maddened bulls made me turn faint for the moment, while the next I was fascinated by a wonderful science that turned life into a plaything. The costumes and all the mise en scene are the most picturesque things imaginable. In fact, everything is done to make it, endurable. Fierce feelings that I never imagined I had rose up and took possession of me, and I could scarcely realize my own lack of heart. For once and the last time I have seen this relie of a past barbarism and I am glad to have had the experience."

The Wife as Chattel.

Four thousand pounds were awarded last week to a husband for the loss of his wife. That any damages can be obtained by a nusband against a "Co." is regarded on the continent of Europe as being on a par with the right of a husband to sell a wife, says the London Truth. It is considered that it reduces the wife to a chattel. In this continental opinion is right. If the "Co." merits a preuniary punishment, then the fine ought to go to the state. In these matters it is generally as much the fault of the wife as of the "Co."—six of one and half a dozen of the other—so that, strictly and togleally speaking, if the chattel theory be correct, and the husband has a right to exam damages of the "Co." then the "Co." ought to have a right to exim damages of the husband as responsible for an act of his wife that has enused the "Co." pecuniary loss.

MANNERS IN CHURCH.

MANNERS IN CHURCH.

How to Be a Lady and a Gestleman Senday.

The Rev. Dr. Deoms: If your pow be rented and some stranger be in it never show him out, nor allow your countenance to eathbut the least regret at his being in your seat. In your heart thank God that he is there, and no matter in what rags he comes keep him there, and have no member of your family take his place. Find a seat among those who know you.

If it be a free church put yourself in the hands of the usher and say not one word. Sit down where he seats you. He has studied the church and congregation and knows best. If you insist on scatting yourself you may enter a pew in which you will leave only one vacancy; then if a man and his wife come in and which to sit together you separate them.

In dressing for church prepare yourself to throw off your wrannings when you enter your pew. If you have no clothing to protect you against the cold and then enter a church warmed with stove or register you will soon become unconfortable or restless. Do not let any false molesty prevent you from rising to pull off your overcoat or sucque or shawl.

Then take care how you use fans.

any false modesty prevent you from rising to pull off your overcoat or sacque or shawt.

Then take care how you use fans. Nine-tenths of fanning is unnecessary. You would be more confortable if you would sit still and keep quiet. I have often heard the remark: "I got little goed of the sermon yesterday because of the indy next to me, who fanned me until I was almost in a shiver." What would you think of your minister If he should fan himself while preaching? Conform to the usages of the congregation; stand when they stand; kneet when they kneel. If you are a stranger do not make haste to change your position. Do not rise, nor sit, nor kneel until you discover what is done in the congregation. In your church it may be different. You may be accustomed to kneel just after the singing of a hymn. But some Sunday may find you in a church where the congregation might, after the singing of the hymn and before the prayer, continue standing until they had repeated the Creed. Be attentive to strangers. If you are settled in a church keep a supply of hymn books and biles and hand them to those who are strangers. Extend your hand to the strangers. Extend your hand to the strangers. Extend your hand to the strangers. It is no excuse for you to say that "you do not know him." That is the very reason for speaking to him in church.

Lastly: Do not commence to gather up your outer garments until the entire service has been concluded. A short time since, in one of the best known churches in America, the popular pastor closed the service by saying: "Now let us close by singing the long-measure doxedogy, pronounce the benediction, and resume our overcears." The programme struck me as correct and its intimation as practical, but I greatly recreat the state of church manners

SHE KILLED THE BABY.

A Servant Girl Who Wishel to Pass

Her Life in Prison.

One day recently a nurse in Budpesth took her charge—a baby two years old—for an airing. Being absent an unusually long time, search was made and the girl found, her clothing being wet and soiled. She explained that while walking with the child she felt that a petity theft she had committed would soon be discovered, and rather than be punished for such a little thing she thought she had better do something that might keep her in prison all her life. She had been very haupy in prison when there before, she said, and hoped to spend the rest of her days there if she threwher master's child into the river. She bought the child some cakes and made her laugh by helding her over the water on the bank of which she stood. Then suddenly she dropped the baby, and the current caught her and carried her off. Before the child had floated many yards she saw her sink. The servant girl did not show the least repentance, but carefully inquired whether she was rearly to be locked up for life. The mother hoped that the girl had lost the child, and that her declarations were unirue; but the river side was searched with torches and the body of the little one found.
