SMART YOUNG FLORIDANS.

SMART YOUNG FLORIDANS.

The Ship-Builders and Navigators of Rob Roy's Roset.

There is living at a point on East bay a remarkable family of five boys, one of whom is a young lady, says the Penaxcola News. They are thus all called bays because the boys consider their sister to be one of themselves, she being in nearly every respect as handy as a boy should be, and sharing the iabors of her brothers a great deal more than she should be expected to. But she does it in spite of any protest which the boys might make, and which, to do the latter justice, they are continually effering. But they find her very useful and are very proud of her. The boys are G., E., H. and B. S., and the young lady is Miss Margaret Axelson. Together they are a team that cannot be beaten in any country. Coming of old Norse stock, they possess that situitiness common to their ancestry, and also that conversation characteristic of their race. their ancestry, and also that conversation characteristic of their race, of which a life-time spent on the shores of this harbor always bristing with the marks of a lowared age has not robbed them. Their, place of regidence they have named Rob Roy's Rosst. They are known the country through for their bospitality, and the stranger is ever velcome at their door.
They have fought the battle of life almost alone, having been left orphans at a comparatively early age. And they have fought it successfully, now possessing a competentey that shuts out the shadow of a want so far us the necessaries of life may be concerned, and they are daily adding to their little fortune. They can draw the lines of a ship, hew the timbers, build and launch her, and then sail her around the world. They have done it. They are doing it. The schooner Axeli; a fine little vessel which they have built, is now somewhere on the gulf under command of Captain G., one of the brothers who is a most expert mivigiter. The other brothers and sasters are now engaged in building another and a larger vessel which is well under way, and which when completed and launched, will probably be the staunchest craft sailing the Mexic sea. The draughtsman who furnished the lines upon which she is being constructed is one of the brothers, the carponters who are building ler are the draughtsman and his brothers and sisters and the master who will sail her will be one of the brothers, who may are the draughtsman and his brothers and sister, and the master who will sail her will be one of the boys, who may take the remainder of the family for his crew. For miles and miles in all directions from the Roost the boys have scoured the forests looking for natural crooks to be used as timbers, a great many of which they have found and used as such. The work has so far progressed that the stern will be put in a few days, when planking will be in order. The vessel will be fastened after the most approved pattern, and she will measure, when inished, eighly feet over all, have a beam of twonty-four feet and has now a keel seventy-one feet in length. She will be rigged as a schooner, and long may she float and rich may her returns be to her plucky designers, builders, owners and navigations.

A Mine in California in Which There

In descending toto the mine nothing unusual occurs until a depth of eighty or ninety feet is reached, when the frozen territory begins and continues for over two hundred feet. There are no indications of a thaw summer or winter.

for over two hundred feet. There are no indications of a thaw summer or winter.

The whole of the 200 feet of frozen walls is surrounded by massive rocks. The miners, being unable to excavate the frozen material with pick and drill in the usual way, found that the only way to mine in this pectian lose was to kindle a huge fire against the "face" of the tunnel and in the morning take out the ore that had been thaved loose during the night.

In fact, this was the only mode of mining used while going through the frozen belt some ten or diffeen years since. The tunnel is now many hundred feet deep, and still there is no diminution of the frost. There is, as far as can be seen, no opening or channel through which the frost could possibly have reached such a depth from the surface. Hesides this there are many other mines in the same vicinity in a like frozen state.

The theory is thus the rock was deposited in August lines, when there was years.

The phenomenon is not uncommon or inexplicable when openings can be found through which a current of air can pass; but cases which, ilic the Stevens mine, show no opening for air-currents, must be referred to imbedded icebergs of the glacial period.

Aaron flurr in Georgia.

In March. 1807, Aaron Burr, while under guard, crossed the river near Fort Hawkins. Burr and his guards were drouched and chilled by the freezing rains when they reached the river, says the Macon Evening News. He was captured below the Tombigbee river in Alabuma, and was required to ride on horseback at the rate of forty miles per day. The guards, with their prisoner, crossed the river in cances, in which their camp equipage was placed and by the side of their cances their borses swam until they reached the Oconec, where at Fort Wilkinson, they crossed in the first ferryboat they had seen in the whole roots; and a few miles beyond that river they were sheltered by the first roof—a house of outrtainment kept by Mr. Bevan. The house is standing at this day near Milledgeville.

Recovery of Old Treasur.

The Ephemeris of Athons reports that a number of coffers containing 60,000 gold and silver Spanish pieces of the year 1996 have been hauted out of the sea near the island of Andros. Six bronze cannon were found near the coffers, and it is concluded that the whole came from the wreck of a Spanish manof-war.
