

THE OMAHA BEE.

COUNCIL BLUFFS

OFFICE NO. 12 PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier in any part of the city...

MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. P. Co. Glissen coal. Council Bluffs Chamber Co. coal. Thatcher coal, see advertisement.

The Good Temporal will entertain a basket social tomorrow evening at No. 400 Eighteenth street.

The Improved Order of Red Men meets this evening. Work in initiation and chief's degree.

Sunday's snow fall has spoiled the skating at Manawa, and the Manawa motor trains, which were running for those who desired to visit the lake for winter sports...

A well known firm of architects has just completed the plans for a $12,000 fashionable boarding house, which will be erected in the spring in the central portion of the city.

Plans for a $40,000 residence to be erected in the city the coming summer have just been completed. The structure will be a fine imposing one, being 100x65 feet...

Dr. H. S. West, guarantied dentist, No. 12 Pearl st., over Union office.

Sacrifice Sale of Hair Goods. Mrs. C. L. Gillette will reopen her hair goods store...

Dr. W. P. C. certain open letter, recently from the pen of one of the ministers of the city, seems to have raised the question, abroad, where we are not known.

The regular monthly meeting of the ministerial association of this city was held yesterday morning in the study of Rev. Dr. Phelps of the First Presbyterian church.

Resolved, That the ministerial association of Council Bluffs, in the regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association of this city, desire to say to all men everywhere...

The attorney case against Dan Carrigan was yesterday set for trial in Justice Barrett's court next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The gambler case against Dan Carrigan was yesterday set for trial in Justice Barrett's court next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Woodbury has removed their dental office to 101 Pearl street, upstairs.

S. M. Williamson sells the Standard and Domestic sewing machines, 107 Main street.

J. G. Tipton, real estate, 326 Broadway.

Hush & Gert's pianos, 538 Broadway.

attempts were made to start, but they invariably resulted in the blowing out of fuses, and it was abandoned.

It was surmised that a wire of some kind had come in contact with the overhead wire supplying the motor current, or the latter had fallen to the ground, but no such place could be found.

The break was not located last night, and as everything worked as usual after the new machine was started it is highly probable that the trouble was in the dynamo and not in the motor.

Cold feet bring influenza. Go to the Bankrupt Boot and Shoe Store and see their warm winter footwear.

Dr. C. H. Fowler, 536 First ave. Tel. 223.

Dr. H. S. West, guarantied dentist, No. 12 Pearl st., over Union office.

Sacrifice Sale of Hair Goods. Mrs. C. L. Gillette will reopen her hair goods store...

Dr. W. P. C. certain open letter, recently from the pen of one of the ministers of the city, seems to have raised the question, abroad, where we are not known.

The regular monthly meeting of the ministerial association of this city was held yesterday morning in the study of Rev. Dr. Phelps of the First Presbyterian church.

Resolved, That the ministerial association of Council Bluffs, in the regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association of this city, desire to say to all men everywhere...

The attorney case against Dan Carrigan was yesterday set for trial in Justice Barrett's court next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The gambler case against Dan Carrigan was yesterday set for trial in Justice Barrett's court next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Woodbury has removed their dental office to 101 Pearl street, upstairs.

S. M. Williamson sells the Standard and Domestic sewing machines, 107 Main street.

J. G. Tipton, real estate, 326 Broadway.

Hush & Gert's pianos, 538 Broadway.

The Manhattan sporting heads' 415 E. W. C. H. stand by, 1013 Broadway.

drawing toward the close of the day. A cold wind blowing from the southwest, and the heavy black clouds that were gathering in the northern sky...

Selecting a spot which promised both to be a safe and a profitable one, the men drew the wagons into a semi-circle, and unhitched and picketed their horses...

"You'll have to get out of this," he shouted one of the gang as they rode off, "the red devil is on his march, and if they shouldn't happen to find you, this rain will raise the river so rapidly that you'll stand a mighty good chance of being swept away before morning."

One of the families, a Mr. Harris, his wife and their only child—a fine lad of thirteen—was from Ohio. They were bound for the Sappa, where a small settlement had been formed ten months before.

"We were well provided with arms and ammunition, having taken the precaution to procure them at the first opportunity of Indians being abroad."

"The night was very dark, the rain fell heavily, and the Indians were so numerous that it was difficult to see them."

He quietly aroused his wife and Harry, and cautioned them to watch carefully, but on no account to leave the wagon.

"I think it is only a tuff of grass waving in the wind," said his mother.

"I don't believe they can see the wagons if it is Indians," said Harry, "but it looks more like Indians."

He said that the storm had increased rapidly in violence after they left, and that in an hour the campers were apprised by the rush and roar of the waters that the river was rising, and all hands had to be on their feet to move the wagons to higher ground.

Harry did not hear his mother's exclamation, and when he had finished winding up the rope, turned round to go to the wagon.

"Hello!" he said under his breath, "I didn't know there was a log there."

"Run for the wagon, mother," he shouted, as he struggled frantically with his captor.

At the sound of his voice, his mother turned her eyes slowly from the sight of the Indian, who was holding her, and held her head to the spot, to see Harry, within a few feet of her, in the hands of another.

Although she had felt very brave as she clambered from the wagon with the log in her hand, she had entertained no thought of the log.

It proved to be a company of cowboys, who checked their speed on perceiving the wagons drawn up around the fire, and shouted to the travelers that they were to be killed.

"You'll have to get out of this," he shouted one of the gang as they rode off, "the red devil is on his march, and if they shouldn't happen to find you, this rain will raise the river so rapidly that you'll stand a mighty good chance of being swept away before morning."

One of the families, a Mr. Harris, his wife and their only child—a fine lad of thirteen—was from Ohio. They were bound for the Sappa, where a small settlement had been formed ten months before.

"We were well provided with arms and ammunition, having taken the precaution to procure them at the first opportunity of Indians being abroad."

"The night was very dark, the rain fell heavily, and the Indians were so numerous that it was difficult to see them."

But do not propose to stay out, and here we are, ready for business, at 33 South Main Street. Our Black Powder Soap is not excelled by any on the market.

SAPP & KNOTTS, Fuel Merchants, No. 33 Main Street.

and turning the horses we ran for our lives, and had hard work to keep ahead of the flood, as it was."

On hearing that it was Mr. Harris' intention to go to Wa-Keeney, Mr. Leonard concluded to go with him, and wait there till the excitement had abated.

A terrible scene of ruing and desolation met their eyes. Smouldering heaps showed where happy homes had been, but two days before. Here and there lay the bodies of the dead, and a smoldering pile where charred bones gave token that the inmates as well as the houses had been destroyed by fire.

"I was ploughing at some distance from the house," he said, pointing to a heap of ashes some twenty rods distant, "you can see all that is left of it—when I was surprised by the Indians."

"We were well provided with arms and ammunition, having taken the precaution to procure them at the first opportunity of Indians being abroad."

"The night was very dark, the rain fell heavily, and the Indians were so numerous that it was difficult to see them."

"I don't believe they can see the wagons if it is Indians," said Harry, "but it looks more like Indians."

He said that the storm had increased rapidly in violence after they left, and that in an hour the campers were apprised by the rush and roar of the waters that the river was rising, and all hands had to be on their feet to move the wagons to higher ground.

WE WERE BURNED OUT!

The ideal fuel is gas. It gives the greatest degree of heat, is always under control and is absolutely without dust and there can be no accidents from its use.

EVERY DESIRABLE QUALITY. ECONOMY, READINESS FOR USE. ABSOLUTE SAFETY, GREATEST HEATING CAPACITY, NO LOST HEAT. CALL AND EXAMINE.

No. 210 Main St. MERRIAM BLOCK, No. 211 Pearl St. COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA.

is not alone in making this mistake. A clergyman, not, of course, of the Roman Catholic church, a few Sundays ago, in alluding to the Angelus in the course of a sermon...

A Lake of Soapbuds. The extraordinary characteristics of the Lake Mono, in Nevada.

UNADILLA, Nov. Jan. 18.—To the OMAHA BEE publishing Co gentlemen I learned from your BEE that there lived in Mississippi a lady by the name of Lily McCready...

THY, Here's Your Man. UNADILLA, Nov. Jan. 18.—To the OMAHA BEE publishing Co gentlemen I learned from your BEE that there lived in Mississippi a lady by the name of Lily McCready...

NERVE IN LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS. A Pennsylvania railroad man says young men are selected as the drivers of locomotives on fast trains because old men do not have the nerve to stand the strain of the terrible speed of these trains...

SPECIAL NOTICES. COUNCIL BLUFFS. FOR SALE AND RENT. FORT TRADE—300 acres of clear Kansas land...

CITIZENS' STATE BANK. Paid up Capital $150,000.00 Surplus 35,000.00 Liability to Depositors 335,000.00

F. M. ELLIS & CO. ARCHITECTS AND SUPERINTENDENTS. Room 3, Opera House Block, Council Bluffs, Iowa.