The springer production to adjoint, Mr. Springer—There are no rules for the bouse. The Sprinker—There are rules for the bouse.

The Speaker-There are rules for the house. Mr. Springer-Where are they! The Speaker-The rules that govern par-immentary assemblics, and those rules most distinctly declare that a motion to adjourn is not debatable of which the gentleman is per-fectly aware. The motion to adjourn was lost-yeas, 135; mays, 162-and the question recurring on the demand for the previous question, the yeas and mays were ordered. The democrats again pursued their pelicy of not voting; and the speaker once more pursued his method of jot-ting down the names of members present and not voting The speaker then declared the demand for the previous question carried-yeas, 100; mays, 0-amind lowd protests from the demo-crats.

The speaker then declared the demand for the provius question carried—yeas, 100; nays, 0—amid loud protests from the demo-crats. The Speaker—The previous question is ordered and the question is on the approval of the journal. Mr. Hynum of Indiana moved to adjourn, but the speaker declined to recornize him, and azain put the motion on the approval of the journal. Mr. Hand demanded the yeas and nays (which were ordered), and pending this moved to adjourn. But the speaker was deal to the motion, which called forth a declara-tion and in the house could not be in a moved to adjourn. But the speaker was deal to the motion, which called forth a declara-tion could be the the set spraner declaration from Mr. Hand that it fore or nour demoralized condition than the speaker. The roll was then called on approval of the journal, and the old tactics were brought into juay. The vote compliated, the speaker ave the last to the clerk to record. Mr. Hynum approaled from the domains of the taker.
