Owing to the recent illness of the secretary,
the yearly report of the Woman's Christian association has not been published. To enter into a full detail of all the work which has been done, and enumerate the many donations that have been received, would require time and considerable space in our city papers. Consequently we will omit per sonal mention in a degree and give a brief sound mention in a degrees and give a brief synopsis of the whole. To the city editors who have so kindly donated their daily publications most of the time since the foundation of our hospital, to the city waterworks company for the free use of water, to upward of one hundred ladies who have so promptly responded to the call for baskets of provisation, to the many individuals for shounding of a formital, to the givers of cash money, and to Mrs. Crawford for the valuable donation of a city lot, we extend our sincere thanks, trusting by our figures to show that their confidence has not been misplaced, Number of patients admitted to the hospital during the past year: Males, 32; fomales, 13; tirths, 11; deaths, 5; total, 51.

A GREAT LIGHTHOUSE.

The M musofh Structure to Be Kreeted Off Cape Hatteras.

Bids will be opened in the office of the lighthouse board July 1 for the creeties of a lighthouse que the Outer Diamond shoul, off Cape Hatteras, North Carolina. The total cost of the structure is limited by act of congress to $590,000. The Diamond shouls, which lie southensterly off Cape Hatteras, have always been dreaded by mariners as the most exposed and dangerous locality on the entire Atlantic const, and a large number of vessels have been wrecked there annually, involving enormous losses of life and property. A lighthouse on the outer sheal would have undoubtedly saved many of these vessels, as the nearest light on Cape Hatteras is invisible in bad weather. A light has never been erected on this shoul before on account of the extraordinary engineering difficulties in the way, and the work now contemplated will be the greatest undertaking in the time of lighthouse building in the world, says a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, that can be at all compared with it. These are the Rothersand light, at the mouth of the Weser river, Holland, in the North sea, and the fourteen-footlight at the mouth of the Delaware bay. The tower is to be light in the lantern. It will have to be light in the lantern. The M mmoth Structure to Be Erect sand light, at the mouth of the Veser river, Holland, in the North sea, and the fourteen-foot light at the mouth of the Delaware bay. The tower is to be 150 high from low-water mark to the light in the lantern. It will have to be of great strength to withstand the action of the sea, and will have to rest on solid rock beneath the ever-shifting sands of the shoals. To obtain this solid foundation and get the structure to such a height that the first rough weather will not destroy it utterly is the great problem that the builders will have to solve.

The lighthouse board does not specify what method shall be adopted, but it is generally understood that an immense caisson eighty or 100 feet in diameter, with a hollow iron cylinder projecting from its center, will be built at the most convenient port. This will resemble a gigantic iron panturned upside down, with a tube running from its center. This caisson will have to be towed out to the site, being lifted on the way over a bar where there is but eight foot of water at high tide. When it is finally at the site it will be sunk rapidly until its cutting edges rests on the sands of the shoal. Then the work of excavation will be begun and carried on as fast as the most modern appliances will admit. As the sand beneath the cassion is excavated and carried up through the rock the entire caission and tube will be filled with concrete to a height of thirty feet above the sea until finally bedrock is reached. When all the edges rest firmly on the rock the entire caission and tube will be filled with concrete to a height of thirty feet above the sea level converting it into a solid block and column of sione almost as firm as a granite monolith. The action of the seas and the constant scouring of the seas and the constant scouring of the sand might soon wear away the iron shell, but the concrete will be practically indestructible. It will be practically indestructible. It will be practically indestructible. It will be protected, however, by a riperap packing of granite blocks weighing not less than two tons each. Above this solid structure will be an iron and steel tower divided into ten stories, including the watch room and the lantern.

After get ing the caisson tower out of its final resting place the contractors will have to work night and day, without a moment's intermission, until it rests on its foundation and the concrete is filled in, for, if a storm should arise before the work was done, everything would be destroyed. At the Rothersand light, which was built on this principle, the caisson was thus destroyed, and the contractor was financially ruined by the loss. In this lighthouse the first floor will be devoted to stores, the second to the fog-signal machinery. The third floor will be a fire-proof storehouse for oil for the lamps. The next four floors will contain the living rooms for the keeper and his assistants. The eighth floor will be the service room, and above it will rise the watch room and the lantern. Work is to be commenced within one mont from the date of the approval of the contract, and the contractor is to fix the time within which it is to be completed. No payment is to be made until the lighthouse has been in successful operation a year. Notwithstanding the usual difficulties in the way of large engineering irms will probably bid, and it is thought there will be no difficulty in outcast.

Extending N Street.

At Monday night's exact meeting an ordinance was passed which is the first of its kind that has gone through the council manic mill in South Omaha. It was the measure which declares the necessity for appropriating private property for the extension of N street from Twentieth street west to the Missouri river. That the method of procedure in cities of the first class, such as South Omaha is, may be fully understood, the substance of the law governing such cases is given. Extending N Street.

of procedure in cities of the first class, such as South Omaha a, may be fully understood, the substance of the law governing such cases is given.

After the ordinance is passed the city flies a potition in the county court, praying for the right to exercise the privileges of eminent domain. The county judge abjoints six disnibilities appraisers to assess the dimingres and determine the benefits accruing to the afflicted property owners. The appraisers report is filled with the county judge. If any property owner is not satisfied with the award he has the right of appeal. In all respects the proceeding is the same as that governing concentration of property for right of way or other purposes.

Now that the opening of N cast is set on foot, there are many in South Omaha who profict an increase in the value of property judging in the territory anticent to the proposed thoroughfare. When the street is opened as far east as the B. M. tracks it is thought the Hurlington propio will erect a passenger depet on the castern side of the city. At present the Barlington road does no passenger begins to the castern side of the city. At present the Barlington road does no passenger begins to the castern side of the city. At present the Barlington road does no passenger begins as the South Omaha. With the location of Fort Omaha at Balleyine, a driveway will be created leading from Omaha across Natrost and on to this south. With the opening of N street a groat deal of this travel will come into South Omaha room Thirteenth and twentieth streets. The proposed extension runs through two plated the river.

The ideal fuel is gas. It gives the greatest degree of heat, is alwaysunde control and is absolutely without dust and there can be no accidents from it use Scientific investigations have shown that food cooked by it retains 20 per con more of its nutritive properties than if cooked in the old way. You never ate a good steak unless you have tried one cooked by gas. The Council Bluffs Gas and Electric Light company have made it desirable in point of economy to use gas for cooking and heating. It will pay you to investigate this. Their new gas heaters and cookers are the greatest success as modern times. They combine

Being unable to locate the young woman, Mrs. Stilen applied to the police to assist her. Their efforts so far have been fruitiess. Mrs. Stilen is of the opinion that her daughter has cloped with a man named William Thomas, whose home for some time has been at Florence.

cute Sam Moore on the charge of forgery. ecuto Sam Moore on the charge of forgery.

About one year ago Moore was employed in Bouquet's barn. While there, it is alloged, he stole some clothing and forged Bouquet's and Ed Davis' name to checks and succeeded in getting them cashed. The amounts were $15 and $16 respectively.
Yesterday Officer Ellis ran across Moore out on Saunders street and placed him under arrest.
