This decision was not arrived at without considerable hesitation, for there is a strong follow hesitation, for there is a strong feeling among a section of the opposition in favor of accepting the proposition of the govern-ment as it stands. Something in the nature of an express declaration vindicating Par-nell and his followers from the serious charges was thought accessing, and incre-fore the ministerial resolution will not be allowed to pass without a challenge. We have reason to believe that Salisbury has taken the course in reference to the German emperor's invitation which he adopted in recharges was thought necessary, and there

The Murderer Caught. KANAAS CITY, MO., Feb. 20.- (Special Telegram to Tan BER.- Last Tuesday evening a young fellow giving the name of Caton was arrested here on a charge of stealing eleven cows from two dairymon maind Green and Hoorer, who live hear Argentire, a Kansas saburb of this city, Te-night he is strongly believed to be the man wanted for the nurder of Allan and Dorothy fones on the Pinney farm, near Omnha, three weeks ago.

county, Kansas, jail on Use charge theft, stoutly denies that he knows anything of the murder, but his manner does not inspire be-lie; in the truth of what he says.

Caton is a dudish looking young man-about five feet seven inches tall, and weigh-ing probably one hundred and fifty-five pounds. He may be twenty-four yours of age, and is quite sprightly in appearance. The first thing leading to the present ac cusation against the young man was the fact that he had stolen cattle, and that the mur-that he had stolen cattle, and that the mur-derer of the Jones couple had also taken a bunch of cattle with him. It appeared that a man should be experienced in the busine as of hundling cattle before he would think of such a theft, and the fact of a young mus of Caton's description being ar-rested here on such a charge made the case look case. look easy. Caton at once disposed of his theft here.

rested here on such a charge made the case look casy. Caton it once disposed of his theft here, proceeding is a businessilic manner. It was while he was finishing the deal that the cat-tle owners came up and caught the thief. Caton told conflicting stories, and finish con-fossed that he was the thief. He gave no ac-count of himself further than that he was meeding money. Persons who remembered him from descriptions published Weinesday morning say that they had seem the young man about the Fountain theater, a low re-sort, for several days, and that he appeared they plenty of money to throw away on the wine girls and actrease. Being pushed for his story, Caion said that by came from Oriants, and that he had worked on a farm near that city. Among his effects were four pawn tokets on Kansas City slops. Each ropresented a gold watch. The pawn tickets were all made out in the man of Livingstone, a circumstance which he could not explain. When asked how he came by so many watches, he said that timepieces were his hobby, and that he bad worked hard for them on the Omaha farm. Inquiry at disreputable recerts by The Bar-oreapondent dovelops that Caton was seen a great doal among the tough eight a doal and a thourd profession. The distocilyos put Caton's various stores togetor as best floy would fit, and gotting the facts connected with the Jones murder they thought they had a tangible clue. They plearned that the nuclerer was known to have bought witches in Omaha, and it was also learned that 'Dr. Caton Livingstone of h Huff street, Kansas City," was an ad-dreas the murderer has given to some one, the fact that the young cow his fave the name of Caton, and that he pawned his watches in She name of Livingstone of h Huff street, Kansas City," was an ad-dreas the murderer has given to some one.

The fact that the young cow thiof gave the name of Caton, and that he pawned his watches in the name of Livingstone, makes the case against him look vory bad. Bluff street here runs no further down than Fifts, and of course there could be no 108 of that street. The directory does not give the name of Dr. Caton Livingston. Caton is not an unbleasant follow at first moting. He wears gold eye giasses with a chain attached, much after the fashion of a person not in such habit long. One plain gold rung deco-rates one of his left fingers, walls his hunds show evidence of hard work. He has a restless eye that will not stand a gase of thirty seconds, and his general manner car-ries with it a such suggestion of cuoning. His talk is quick and course course in quils good English. His manner is not had, and rather more suggests that of a collogo brod man than of an unclucated person. This afternoon, before the sheriff had heart of the acouston of murder, ho was talking with Catou of the big Onata crime. The prisoner looked at the floor reflactively, and said: "Yourset Jonest Let me see. Yee, I hourset Jonest Let me see. Yee, I
