Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 27.—[Special to The Bee.]—The prohibition capital will make a bold break for the present season, but will we get there? Judging from last year's experience one would be inclined to answer in the negative. But all joking aside, Manager Moulton has given up the idea of a more than creditable reorganization in Trullay and Molloney, catcher; Hart, coach; Summers and Clark, pitchers; Flannery, first base; Dillan, second base; McArthur, short stop; Fawcett, third base; Brimbleton, right field; Walsh, center field; McKeon, left field; and they will make a subber fight for first honors. Halverson Will Join. COLEBROOK, O., Feb. 27.—[Special to The Bee.]—Jack Crooks arrived here unexpectedly today. Gray, a new catcher, signed by the Phillies, arrived here yesterday and leave for Philadelphia to join the team today. Mulvey's return to the fold has been the source of great satisfaction to all lovers of the game here. He says he never has had the least regret in leaving the Omaha club, and that the National league is good enough for him. The Suit Against Frank Ewing. NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The papers in the suit against "Doc" Ewing, filed today, do not state the fact of his contract with the New York league club and that Ewing has said he would not comply with its terms. He had been under contract for 1889. He appears a note sent to Ewing last October notifying him of his release for the season 1890. Ives Wins a Brilliant Game. Will Ask for a Typical of the Confederation if Orangeism Continues. MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The French press continues to be particularly violent over the abolition of their language to the northwest and the Orange bill. La National says: "If salvation against the rising tide of English proscriptions can be had by no other means than the maintenance of our American neighbors we would not hesitate to ask that the line of demarcation between the two countries be struck off the map of North America, and that the English language be expunged from the continent." Let it be said openly everywhere that if Orangeism is to continue to exist, we will ask for the repeal of the confederation. Lowell's OK. Industrial Associations in France. There are in France 877 associations of completely voluntary workmen, and 597 of farmers. The workingmen's associations, which were formerly political organizations, have become for the most part purely mutual benefit societies of late years, says the Tradesman. The agricultural societies do not agitate politically like our grangers. They are to a large extent co-operative and technical. The Farmers' association near Fontainebleau, for instance, owns a large tract of land, and the members have their own cattle killed at very low prices. This and similar co-operative devices of the French farmers, associations show that the French peasant is not so stupid and helpless as he is generally supposed to be. A WIFE MURDERED.
