

ALLISON WILL BE RETURNED.

He is Elected Without a Dissenting Republican Vote.

END OF A REMARKABLE CONTEST

Plots and Conspiracies to Encompass His Defeat Prove of No Avail—Larrabee Got Eight Votes.

Iowa True to Allison. Des Moines, Ia., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—The general assembly decided today that William B. Allison should represent the state of Iowa at Washington for the next seven years, electing him without a dissenting republican vote for the term beginning one year from today.

The contest just closed is one of the most remarkable on record, considering all the circumstances. When the returns of the last election showed that the republicans had but six majority on the joint ballot, the opposition thought that Allison could be defeated and began work at once. They assailed every republican from the granger districts, and when the caucus was held they expected that enough republicans would stay out to hold the balance of power; but the caucus showed that every republican vote in the legislature was given to Allison on a voluntary secret ballot. A few scorned and disappointed republicans entered into a conspiracy with the democrats to secure his defeat. Knowing that it could not be accomplished with a democratic candidate, they tried to do it with Governor Larrabee. The two parties were flooded with requests to get up petitions asking for his election. A few ringleaders who think they can carry the vote of the Farmers' alliance in their pockets attempted to manipulate that organization for that purpose. The machinery of the democratic party was turned loose to help on the scheme. Democratic workers canvassed the state, drumming up signatures from the rank and file of the democratic party, and the democrats, by the legislature, purporting to come from republican farmers opposed to Allison. The conspiracy of the democrats was so successful that the abundant opportunity to find out what the real feeling was throughout the state. They had plenty of time for collecting democratic names and for circulating petitions, and several thousand were reported with the hope that some republican member might be intimidated into breaking faith with his party, but in no case did the republican line remain unbroken.

The election in the house was held at 11 a. m. today. Every republican in the assembly except Myers of Lucas county, who was away on account of sickness, Representatives Walden and Chase nominated Allison, and the vote showed a unanimous republican vote. Governor Larrabee, who had been boomed so enthusiastically by the democrats, received but a few votes, and the regular democratic candidate, Mr. Bestow, received the race.

Every republican in the senate, twenty-eight in number, present and voting, straight. Governor Larrabee received two votes and Howat twenty. As Allison had a majority in each house no election will be necessary in the senate, and the honor will be secured by the republican majority.

There is great rejoicing among the republicans today. The Mayor Downed Him. MARYSVILLE, Ia., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—A big burly tramp was arrested here this morning, and taken before Mayor Ames for trial. Being left in the office alone with the mayor, who is a physical dwarf in comparison, and an invader besides, the tramp started to escape. The mayor gave him a good talking, and the fugitive, a lively tussle ensued. The tramp tried to knock the mayor down, but the latter dodged and got in one from the shoulder before the mayor could get a grip on him. The mayor then seized him by a grip on his throat that soon induced him to beg for mercy and an attendant.

Attempted Suicide. MASON CITY, Ia., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—Alfred Magood, a promising young man of this city, attempted suicide last night. From what can be learned he had been drinking heavily during the day, and about 10 o'clock said he was going to bed. About fifteen minutes later he was found on the floor in his room, blood oozing from under his head. A physician was summoned, the wounds dressed, and his life for a time at least saved. He is now in the hospital, and has as yet assigned no cause for the rash act.

License Won. DAVENPORT, Ia., March 4.—The town of La Clair, this county, yesterday elected Captain J. W. Rambo mayor on the citizens' independent ticket. The voters of the town are in favor of saloons and the license party won.

NOLAND SUSPENDED. The Books of the Missouri Treasurer Badly Tangled. ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 4.—No new developments have been made today regarding the affairs of State Treasurer Noland. The cashier who has been assisting Governor Francis in examining the books stated that up to this evening no shortage has been discovered, and he believed the accounts of the treasurer and the money in the treasury would be found all right.

Chairman Mudgett of the state democratic committee today announced that the money of the state is divided into sums for the expenses of the different branches and departments of the state government, must as the law provides, be drawn from those respective funds. According to the reports which have been made in the past, Noland's using the money belongs to one fund for the purpose of another and through his deviation from the prescribed methods of handling the money got his accounts into a tangle.

A Jefferson City special says: Governor Francis' late this afternoon formally suspended Treasurer Noland from office. Telegrams were sent to all depositaries of state funds by the governor, notifying them that he had taken charge of the office. Governor Francis said: "My investigation into the affairs of the treasury department is not complete, but I have discovered some irregularities which I cannot permit to stand. Just what a deficit it is a small one." Quo warranto process has been issued, and it is stated before the supreme court, which convenes next Monday. Rumors on the street place the amount of the treasurer's shortage between $20,000 to $40,000.

Another Naval Heist. SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—The investigation of the charges of cruelty and misconduct against Captain Healy of the revenue cutter Bear began today. The master-at-arms of the Bear testified that last summer at Oahu the master of the bark Estrella's crew brought two of these sailors on the Bear and tried them up with their toes touching the deck for seven minutes. They were let down and handcuffed to the mast. The master-at-arms of the Estrella's crew, on Healy's order, brought two of these sailors on the Bear and tried them up with their toes touching the deck for seven minutes. They were let down and handcuffed to the mast.

Lincoln's Condition Unchanged. LONDON, March 4.—The condition of Master Abraham Lincoln shows no improvement this morning.

THE REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

Opening of the National Convention at Nashville, Tennessee.

PADDOCK ENTERS A DISCLAIMER

Not Responsible for the Bill He Introduced Repealing the Haul Clause of the Interstate Commerce Law.

WASHINGTON HERALD THE OMAHA HEE. | 513 FOURTEENTH ST., | WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4. | The republican members of the house committee on ways and means have struck a snag in the sugar question. Messrs. Burrows of Michigan, La Follette of Wisconsin and Gear of Iowa insist that raw sugar shall be admitted free of duty and a bounty of 3 cents paid on all domestic sugar produced.

The other republican members of the committee are understood to be opposed to any bounty whatever, and to favor a reduction of the present duty on sugar to the extent of 10 percent or more. The contention over the two propositions will likely result in a further delay upon the report of the bill for probably a couple of weeks.

A DISCLAIMER. Senator Paddock says that he is not responsible for the bill which he introduced yesterday, proposing a repeal of the long and short haul clause and the pooling sections of the interstate commerce law. He introduced the bill by request.

IRIGATION OF ARID LANDS. "While I do not expect to see a general appropriation made for the purpose of irrigating the arid lands, I am confident that besides an appropriation for the purpose of making surveys and local plans to locate irrigation that an appropriation of about $100,000 will be made to locate the arid lands in the south-western part of the United States to your correspondent today. "Irrigation is very important to the people in the great north-western part of the United States, and we can easily and cheaply secure all the irrigation we need by simply leasing the land, and that the appropriation of $100,000 will be for actual wells to be used in irrigation which will be practical experiments and not theoretical investigations. The geological survey believes that the source of our artesian power lies in the Black Hills, but I think that it is in the arid region of the north-western part of the United States, and that the sub-surface belt of the Dakotas. A stoutly built, quiet looking man of medium height, with clean shaven cheeks and a mustache, and a pair of eyes of a pinkish color, the top of his head, and a few glasses over the bridge of his nose, came into the room and took a seat at the head of the table. He was dressed in a suit of dark clothing, and taking a seat at one of the desks wrote a letter to the secretary of the house, asking that a court of inquiry be appointed to investigate the conduct of the late Senator Paddock in his official conduct in the newspapers. This was Commander Howard H. McCalla, who returned home on the corvette Enterprise from a very stormy cruise in the Pacific Ocean.

The secretary of the house reported a disagreement on the committee on appropriations upon the direct tax bill, and the measure was referred to the committee on agriculture upon Senator Paddock's bill transferring the Bureau of Land Office to the department of the agricultural department.

A FAVORABLE REPORT. It is rumored in army circles tonight that Colonel Gibson of the pay department will be promoted to major general. The promotion is understood to be a result of his successful command of the 10th Cavalry at the battle of Wounded Knee. The promotion is understood to be a result of his successful command of the 10th Cavalry at the battle of Wounded Knee.

A BITTER FEELING AGAINST COLORED PEOPLE IN OKLAHOMA. GUTHRIE, I. T., March 4.—The reports concerning the alleged assault on Colonel Okla-homa and make a negro state of it have aroused the settlers to a high pitch of excitement. At Down, twenty miles west, a negro named Hawkins, who had been in the territory for some time, was seen to be in the neighborhood of the settlement. The settlers were highly indignant, and a party of them went to his house and severely whipped him. During the whipping Hawkins, his son, and a negro named Hawkins, who had been in the territory for some time, were seen to be in the neighborhood of the settlement. The settlers were highly indignant, and a party of them went to his house and severely whipped him.

NEBRASKA, IOWA AND DAKOTA PENSIONS. WASHINGTON, March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—New York Herald Cable—Special to THE HEE.—Many prominent Americans arrived in Paris today from Havre, having been passengers on the Gazelle. The voyage was most disagreeable and stormy. The first day out the ship was laid up five hours from leakage. After that it was seized by very rough weather.

A SODID SPIRITUALIST. KEARNEY, Neb., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—A man representing himself to be Charles Slade, the world renowned medium, gave a performance at the opera house Sunday night. His advertisement was a flaming paper calling attention to the fact that he would be performing on the opera stage. The house was packed with people expecting to see a real spiritualistic seance. To the surprise of all the audience, however, he gave an ordinary sleight-of-hand performance. The committee that he invited to the stage to corroborate his manifestations swore out a complaint against him, charging him with charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. After considerable parleying in police court, he gave an ordinary sleight-of-hand performance. The committee that he invited to the stage to corroborate his manifestations swore out a complaint against him, charging him with charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses.

A POPULAR DEMOCRAT. LONDON, March 4.—The election in North St. Pancras division, London, resulting in the return of Mr. Gladstone by a safe majority, is regarded as a popular endorsement of the liberal position regarding the Parnell commission report.

IRISH LAND BILL. LONDON, March 4.—The Irish land bill, which will be introduced by the government, provides for state-aided emigration and abolition land courts and land commissions.

REGULATING THE AUCTIONEERS. BRATTLENE, Mass., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—The city council passed an ordinance last evening fixing the license of auctioneers and peddlers at from $10 to $50 per day.

TRARD WILL HESITATE. PARIS, March 4.—Prime Minister Tirard is said to will resign.

MAY DELAY THE TARIFF BILL

Clede Fleming Seizes Out a Warrant for His Arrest.

COMING AFTER ORMSBY.

Nationalist Harrington Startles the Government.

ANOTHER FOUL CONSPIRACY.

A Serious Charge.

LONDON, March 4.—In the commons today Lockwood (home ruler) resumed the debate on Gladstone's amendment to Smith's motion that the house adopt the report of the Parnell commission. He said he supported the amendment because it was literally true.

Matthews, home secretary, contended that the amendment was only partly true, stated with passionate and inflammatory adjectives. The government simply proposed to record its findings both for and against the Parnell commission. He said he supported the amendment because it was literally true.

Harrington (nationalist) said while the commission was sitting a conspiracy was in progress in which the ministers were deeply involved to obtain perjured evidence to destroy the character of the Parnell commission. He said he supported the amendment because it was literally true.

Then you were betrayed by your colleagues, said Harrington. "These telegrams were a conspiracy deeper and fouler than anything proposed against the Parnell commission." Proceeding to show the government was behind the attack, Harrington read a telegram addressed to one Johnson in New York to the effect that the British consul was authorized to give him the names of the persons who had established the authenticity and was offering as much as $50,000 as a bribe for perjured testimony.

THE LORDS. LONDON, March 4.—In the house of lords today Lord Salisbury, replying to a question asked by Lord Beauchamp, said: "As the report of the Parnell commission deals with important matters members of the house of commons should be satisfied that the report should deal with it first. As an act of courtesy we will allow the commons to take the report in the first instance, and then we will make any amendments."

A GREAT CARD. All Rome Turns Out to See Buffalo Bill's Performance. (Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.) Rome, March 4.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE HEE.]—All Rome is excited today over the trial of Buffalo Bill's company on wild horses furnished by the Duke of Sarmalese. For several days the Roman authorities have been superintending the erection of barriers to keep the savage steeds from reaching the audience. The animals came from the duke's famous herd on the Pontine marshes and he declared that no cowboy on earth could ride one. The cowboy caught at his head, and then the duke dared them to mount on one of six. Every man, woman and child in Rome expected that two or three men would be killed in the experiment. Over two thousand carriages were driven to the Prati de Castello and an audience of 20,000 people braved a driving rain, and Lord Dufferin and many other diplomats were present.

Among the crowd were the wife of Premier Crispien, Duc de Torlonia, Mme. Depretis, Princess Colonna, Countess Antonelli, Baroness de Rongis, Princess Bronzocci, Count Gianrotto, and the scions of all the noble houses. Two of the wild horses were driven into the arena. They had neither saddle nor bridle, but the duke had arranged that they would be contered in five minutes. The cowboys issued, saddled, bridled and mounted the horses. They leaped into the air, whirled, bucked and reared madly, all in vain. In five minutes they were ridden easily around, while the vast crowd, unmindful of the rain, roared and shrieked with delight. Buffalo Bill's own darlings are to ride the bucking bronchos.

AMERICANS IN PARIS. (Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.) Paris, March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—Many prominent Americans arrived in Paris today from Havre, having been passengers on the Gazelle. The voyage was most disagreeable and stormy. The first day out the ship was laid up five hours from leakage. After that it was seized by very rough weather.

HEALING WATER. BRATTLENE, Mass., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—Bills for the construction of the new Gage county court house were passed by the board of supervisors this evening. There were thirteen bidders, representing Omaha, Lincoln, St. Joseph and Kansas City. The bids ran all the way from $20,000 to $100,000. The lowest bid was $20,000, and it was made by M. T. Murphy of Omaha for $20,500 and unconditionally. It is the lowest bid ever made in the city.

RECOGNIZING THE CUT RATES. NEW YORK, March 4.—The trunk line passenger conference today decided to quote transcontinental or through rates, based on the cuts made daily west of Chicago.

CROWDED THE CHAPLAIN. CHARLESTON, S. C., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—At Lincoln college today Prof. W. D. Treville (colored), co-edited J. N. Carsons, the colored chaplain of the institution. The affair caused great excitement and led to a riot, which was, however, suppressed by President Dutton.

SURVEYING CONTRACT LET. KEARNEY, Neb., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—The contract to survey the Kearney, Hutchinson & Gulf line from here to the Kansas line was let to George Coo, a civil engineer of this city. The surveying party will start out the first of next week.

Taubner's Condition Dangerous. WASHINGTON, March 4.—ex-Congressman Taubner, who was shot by Correspondent Kieacid Friday last, is now dangerously ill, his case having changed for the worse. His physicians said that Taubner's life was not despaired of, though his condition was critical.

Resigned for a Better Position. FAIRBURY, Neb., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—J. C. McClellan, for some years connected with the St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad as live stock agent, has resigned to accept a similar position with increased salary on the Rock Island. An shipment of ten car loads of fat cattle was yesterday made from here by him to Chicago.

THE DEATH ROLL. CLEVELAND, O., March 4.—Judge Daniel H. Tilden, aged eighty-four, died at his home this evening.

IN BRITAIN'S PARLIAMENT

Nationalist Harrington Startles the Government.

ANOTHER FOUL CONSPIRACY.

A Serious Charge.

LONDON, March 4.—In the commons today Lockwood (home ruler) resumed the debate on Gladstone's amendment to Smith's motion that the house adopt the report of the Parnell commission. He said he supported the amendment because it was literally true.

Matthews, home secretary, contended that the amendment was only partly true, stated with passionate and inflammatory adjectives. The government simply proposed to record its findings both for and against the Parnell commission. He said he supported the amendment because it was literally true.

Harrington (nationalist) said while the commission was sitting a conspiracy was in progress in which the ministers were deeply involved to obtain perjured evidence to destroy the character of the Parnell commission. He said he supported the amendment because it was literally true.

Then you were betrayed by your colleagues, said Harrington. "These telegrams were a conspiracy deeper and fouler than anything proposed against the Parnell commission." Proceeding to show the government was behind the attack, Harrington read a telegram addressed to one Johnson in New York to the effect that the British consul was authorized to give him the names of the persons who had established the authenticity and was offering as much as $50,000 as a bribe for perjured testimony.

THE LORDS. LONDON, March 4.—In the house of lords today Lord Salisbury, replying to a question asked by Lord Beauchamp, said: "As the report of the Parnell commission deals with important matters members of the house of commons should be satisfied that the report should deal with it first. As an act of courtesy we will allow the commons to take the report in the first instance, and then we will make any amendments."

A GREAT CARD. All Rome Turns Out to See Buffalo Bill's Performance. (Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.) Rome, March 4.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE HEE.]—All Rome is excited today over the trial of Buffalo Bill's company on wild horses furnished by the Duke of Sarmalese. For several days the Roman authorities have been superintending the erection of barriers to keep the savage steeds from reaching the audience. The animals came from the duke's famous herd on the Pontine marshes and he declared that no cowboy on earth could ride one. The cowboy caught at his head, and then the duke dared them to mount on one of six. Every man, woman and child in Rome expected that two or three men would be killed in the experiment. Over two thousand carriages were driven to the Prati de Castello and an audience of 20,000 people braved a driving rain, and Lord Dufferin and many other diplomats were present.

Among the crowd were the wife of Premier Crispien, Duc de Torlonia, Mme. Depretis, Princess Colonna, Countess Antonelli, Baroness de Rongis, Princess Bronzocci, Count Gianrotto, and the scions of all the noble houses. Two of the wild horses were driven into the arena. They had neither saddle nor bridle, but the duke had arranged that they would be contered in five minutes. The cowboys issued, saddled, bridled and mounted the horses. They leaped into the air, whirled, bucked and reared madly, all in vain. In five minutes they were ridden easily around, while the vast crowd, unmindful of the rain, roared and shrieked with delight. Buffalo Bill's own darlings are to ride the bucking bronchos.

AMERICANS IN PARIS. (Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.) Paris, March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—Many prominent Americans arrived in Paris today from Havre, having been passengers on the Gazelle. The voyage was most disagreeable and stormy. The first day out the ship was laid up five hours from leakage. After that it was seized by very rough weather.

HEALING WATER. BRATTLENE, Mass., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—Bills for the construction of the new Gage county court house were passed by the board of supervisors this evening. There were thirteen bidders, representing Omaha, Lincoln, St. Joseph and Kansas City. The bids ran all the way from $20,000 to $100,000. The lowest bid was $20,000, and it was made by M. T. Murphy of Omaha for $20,500 and unconditionally. It is the lowest bid ever made in the city.

RECOGNIZING THE CUT RATES. NEW YORK, March 4.—The trunk line passenger conference today decided to quote transcontinental or through rates, based on the cuts made daily west of Chicago.

CROWDED THE CHAPLAIN. CHARLESTON, S. C., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—At Lincoln college today Prof. W. D. Treville (colored), co-edited J. N. Carsons, the colored chaplain of the institution. The affair caused great excitement and led to a riot, which was, however, suppressed by President Dutton.

SURVEYING CONTRACT LET. KEARNEY, Neb., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—The contract to survey the Kearney, Hutchinson & Gulf line from here to the Kansas line was let to George Coo, a civil engineer of this city. The surveying party will start out the first of next week.

Taubner's Condition Dangerous. WASHINGTON, March 4.—ex-Congressman Taubner, who was shot by Correspondent Kieacid Friday last, is now dangerously ill, his case having changed for the worse. His physicians said that Taubner's life was not despaired of, though his condition was critical.

Resigned for a Better Position. FAIRBURY, Neb., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—J. C. McClellan, for some years connected with the St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad as live stock agent, has resigned to accept a similar position with increased salary on the Rock Island. An shipment of ten car loads of fat cattle was yesterday made from here by him to Chicago.

THE DEATH ROLL. CLEVELAND, O., March 4.—Judge Daniel H. Tilden, aged eighty-four, died at his home this evening.

THE SLAYER OF JUDGE TERRY

Arguments in the Neagle Case Begin in the Supreme Court.

SPECTATORS FILL THE CHAMBER.

Counsel for Appellant Maintain That the Deputy's Instructions Were Contrary to the Constitution.

A Question of Jurisdiction.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The supreme court chamber was filled today with an audience that listened attentively to the arguments in the Neagle case, arising out of the shooting of David Terry last summer while in the act of committing an assault upon Judge Field of the supreme court.

All the justices were present except Justice Field. The argument was opened by Zach Montgomery in behalf of the appellant, Sheriff Cunningham, from whose jurisdiction Neagle was discharged on a writ of habeas corpus issued by the United States court on the ground that he was an officer of the United States, a deputy marshal appointed in the performance of his duties, protecting a justice of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Montgomery argued that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

Neagle's defense was supported by Montgomery's argument that the constitution of the state authorities that the sole question before the court was a jurisdictional one, and that therefore all questions of Neagle's guilt or innocence were irrelevant. He reviewed the leading points in the evidence. The chief feature of the review was Montgomery's charge that the sheriff Cunningham, Neagle's appointment to have him use his official authority to prevent a breach of the duty of the justice, was not a deputy marshal, but a deputy sheriff, and that therefore his arrest upon Justice Field's writ was not a breach of the United States supreme court, and could not be imprisoned by state authorities.

SEARCHING THE WELL

Sawelle's Probable Disposition of His Brother's Head.

ONE DAY WAS ENOUGH.

Captain Black Throws Up His Government Job in Disgrace.

A Bitter Feeling Against Colored People in Oklahoma.

HOSTILE TO NEGROES.

LONDON, March 4.—In the house of lords today Lord Salisbury, replying to a question asked by Lord Beauchamp, said: "As the report of the Parnell commission deals with important matters members of the house of commons should be satisfied that the report should deal with it first. As an act of courtesy we will allow the commons to take the report in the first instance, and then we will make any amendments."

A GREAT CARD. All Rome Turns Out to See Buffalo Bill's Performance. (Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.) Rome, March 4.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE HEE.]—All Rome is excited today over the trial of Buffalo Bill's company on wild horses furnished by the Duke of Sarmalese. For several days the Roman authorities have been superintending the erection of barriers to keep the savage steeds from reaching the audience. The animals came from the duke's famous herd on the Pontine marshes and he declared that no cowboy on earth could ride one. The cowboy caught at his head, and then the duke dared them to mount on one of six. Every man, woman and child in Rome expected that two or three men would be killed in the experiment. Over two thousand carriages were driven to the Prati de Castello and an audience of 20,000 people braved a driving rain, and Lord Dufferin and many other diplomats were present.

Among the crowd were the wife of Premier Crispien, Duc de Torlonia, Mme. Depretis, Princess Colonna, Countess Antonelli, Baroness de Rongis, Princess Bronzocci, Count Gianrotto, and the scions of all the noble houses. Two of the wild horses were driven into the arena. They had neither saddle nor bridle, but the duke had arranged that they would be contered in five minutes. The cowboys issued, saddled, bridled and mounted the horses. They leaped into the air, whirled, bucked and reared madly, all in vain. In five minutes they were ridden easily around, while the vast crowd, unmindful of the rain, roared and shrieked with delight. Buffalo Bill's own darlings are to ride the bucking bronchos.

AMERICANS IN PARIS. (Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.) Paris, March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—Many prominent Americans arrived in Paris today from Havre, having been passengers on the Gazelle. The voyage was most disagreeable and stormy. The first day out the ship was laid up five hours from leakage. After that it was seized by very rough weather.

HEALING WATER. BRATTLENE, Mass., March 4.—[Special Telegram to THE HEE.]—Bills for the construction of the new Gage county court house were passed by the board of supervisors this evening. There were thirteen bidders, representing Omaha, Lincoln, St. Joseph and Kansas City. The bids ran all the way from $20,000 to $100,000. The lowest bid was $20,000, and it was made by M. T. Murphy of Omaha for $20,500 and unconditionally. It is the lowest bid ever made in the city.

RECOGNIZING THE CUT RATES. NEW YORK, March 4.—The trunk line passenger conference today decided to