MUSIC, FLOWERS AND SPEECHES

A Fitting Celebration of the Third Anniversary of the Opening of this Popular Hotel.

Mr. Balch's Guests. The dining hall of the Barker hotel was a lower of beauty last night.

It was the third anniversary of the opening of the hotel, and the proprietor celebrated the occasion with a banquet to the Press club. In this hospitality, also, the Press club was born, and the evening was a manly commemorative of that occasion, about two years ago.

The tables were laid in T shape, and Manager Balch did himself proud in their decoration. Hyacinths, calla lilies and luxuriant foliage plants hung to the atmosphere the fragrance of the June-time.

A tasteful bouillabaisse at each table reminded the occupants that it was an honored guest. The silver and ornamented glassware glittered and gleamed under the light of the chandeliers and the ceiling rang with the laughter and merriment of the assembled guests.

The menu card was a work of art. On a background of delicate pink and pale blue was the figure of a little, fat, winged cherub bearing aloft that magic reminder of the occasion. The participants will not soon forget the impression produced when first ushered into the hall.

THE DOINGS IN THE BLUFFS.

Submitting the Arguments in the Helmick Murder Case.

PREPARING FOR FEDERAL COURT

A Normal School Needed in the Bluffs

Motor Trains Collide—The School Board Wrestles for a Quorum.

Closing the Helmick Case.

Yesterday the arguments began in the case of Rev. Mr. Helmick, charged with the killing of Palmer. County Attorney Organ opened with a mild-tempered address, delivered in a conversational manner. He reviewed the testimony clearly and sought to establish more firmly the claim of the prosecution, that Helmick was not justified in shooting Palmer. He claimed that Helmick must have recognized Palmer, even in the darkness, and that Helmick shot because of the ill-feeling between him and Palmer, and not because he was in peril, or was afraid of him.

The Manhattan sporting head's 418 B-way. He flumes on a quorum. The school board made another ineffectual attempt to secure a quorum last evening. Only two of the members, Messrs. Hunter and Blaxinn, were present. Mr. Lawson would gladly have been there, but the result of Monday's election was too much for him, and Mr. Blaxinn said that he was "sick."

The Federal Court. The March term of the United States court for the southern district of Iowa will open on the 21st inst. Justice Miller of the United States supreme court has issued an order for Judge Shiras of the northern Iowa district to attend this term, and he will be here to assist Judge Love. There is considerable business to be transacted at this term.

Elegant Decorating. Gillette & Freeman, the practical decorators, are doing some artistic work at the new residence of Dr. M. J. C. Brown on Bluff street, that will secure them a great deal of well earned praise. The work is something entirely new in this city, and ever done in residences in this city.

Curious Feat of the Wind. J. R. Love spent Sunday at his farm near Christiana, and it was there that the incident occurred during the night of the 11th inst. On Wednesday night, Feb. 12, says the Nashville American.

A Motor Collision. A collision between two motor trains occurred on the single track on the east approach to the bridge. A west bound train in charge of Conductor Purcell and Motor-man Hargreaves ran into the east bound train in charge of Conductor Grady and Motor-man Gannon.

The Leaders. Every creature has the kind of legs and feet best suited to it. Birds living in marshes have long, slender legs like the stilts and some of the are called "stilts birds," says the Detroit Free Press.

How the Mississippi was Made. As a possible theory of the origin of the Mississippi river, among the many that have at different times been brought forward by noted scientists, the most recent is the suggestion that its erosion was accomplished by means of a mighty cataract, which began to descend from the original mountain range by gradual retrogressing dug out the valley-like gorge. Says the St. Louis Republic, that this theory is tenable, may be inferred from the high, wall-like cliffs that are characteristic in the upper part of its course.

world, of course, necessarily leave high bluff walls on either side, which are well-known features of "the father of mounding streams." It would seem, according to this theory, that St. Anthony generally carried the remainder of what was once the most stupendous cataract in the world. It is estimated that it must have taken 400,000 years to carve out the mighty ditch.

Butter Show in Denmark. Denmark has organized a new system of state butter shows. The scheme includes a continuous butter show at the expense of the state during several months in each year, where fresh samples of butter will be received every fourteen days, the judges' decision to be given on the butter as received and its condition at the end of fourteen days.

One Cause of Agricultural Depression. There are no more free lands fit for general agriculture. In June, 1880, the government still had 17,800,000 acres of arable land, writes Prof. James Willis Good in the March Forum. In June, 1887, only 5,700,000 acres remained; and this has long since become private property. It is clear that, in a general way, land fit for agriculture can no longer be had from the general government.
