He made some propositions to her which were cast aside, Later, it is alieged, he made light remarks about the young woman. When the queen of the Magic city heard what had been said about her she went to her uncle, John Audrid, a grocer at 1896 South Sixteenth, and told him what she had

The latter immediately sent for Wiedemann. As soon as the latter stepped into the store the girl met him with a cane in her hands and struck him with it several times on the head and shoulders.

Wiedemann attempted to get out of the store and away from the trate woman, but was held by the crowd until she had received satisfaction. When she had ceased because of exhaustion Uncle Audrid took a hand in the business and gave Wiedemann several punches, much to the amusement of the crowd present. There were no arrests.

A PARSIMONIOUS SPOUSE.

He Almost Starves His Wife to Death.

Susia Fickenscher has filed a petition in the district court in which she alleges that her hasband, Herman, is a star in the line of avarice and stinginess. He is worth, she aleges, about $25,000. She married him in February of last year. In May they went to St. Paul for a while, and Herman secured board for both of them at $25 a month in a cheap hashery. The provender was poor, Susie says, but she could have stood it if she had been given enough to eat. But Herman put her on an allowance that reduced her to a mere skeleton. She was finally com-pelled to leave him. She says that he has refused to contribute one cent toward her support and that she is in almost destitute circumstances. After she left him he coaxed her back and, under misrepresentations, induced her to sign away her property interests in his estate. She asks the court for a divorce and for alimony. Judge Doane is hearing the case of Frank Dougherty against the American water-works company. Dougherty claims that he drove his horse into an unprotected trench dug by the waterworks company on Sixteenth street near Lathrop in October, 1888, and sustained serious personal injuries. Henry Goodman has joined the army of squealers and kickers. He commenced suit in the district court yesterday against Shroeder & Dean, the stock brokers in the First National bank building. Goodman claims that the firm runs a gambling place or bucket shop, and instead of carrying on a legitimate business of buying and selling stocks, grain, etc., they wager with their dupes and "suckers" on the rise and fall of the market quotations, without any intention of actually buying or selling the com modity. He further alleges that the market prices purport to be received by telegraph by an employe of the firm and are posted on a blackboard by another employe, thereby giving ample opportunity for "doctoring" the quototions so as to freeze out any of the customers. Goodman charges that he dealt with the firm during the period between October, 1888, and March, 1890, and during that time the "doctoring" game was played on him, whereby he lost $7,000, for which amount he seeks to recover. The petition fails to state how much money the plaintiff how much money won during this period. Goodman also made affidavit for a writ of attachment on funds of the firm in the First National bank, and a writ of attachment was issued. The boat is the Libbie Conger, a thoroughly equipped boat now owned by St. Louis parties. It carries 700 passengers and draws but 30 inches of water. The boat is for sale at $15,000 and $5,000 of the stock is taken. It is proposed to organize a stock company for the purchase of the steamer, in which event it will be brought to Omaha and used as a pleasure excursion and passenger boat to ply between excursion and passenger boat to ply between Omaha, Sioux City, Nebraska City and Plattsmouth. INSPECTING ELEVATORS.

It is Proposed to Have It Done by the Boiler Inspector. The elevator inspection ordinance recently introduced in the city council is in the hands of Mr. Davis, a member of the committee on public property and buildings. The ordinance was prepared by the city attorney at Mr. Davis' suggestion. It makes it the duty of the inspector of boilers to regularly inspect all steam, hydraulic and hand elevators used for the purpose of carrying either passengers or freight, and to see that the same are in perfect working order. A record of all inspections shall be kept.

Owners and operators of elevators are required to cause an inspection of their ele-vators at least once in three months, except in case of hand elevators, which are to be inspected once in six months, and to have a certificate of inspection posted in a conspic-uous place near the elevator entrance. The the for each inspection shall be $1, to be paid by the inspector to the city treasury. Any one running an elevator without the required certificate shall be deemed guilty of a nisdemeanor and subject to a fine of from $10 to $100, and an additional fine for each day such inspection is neglected. The owners of elevators shall employ com petent persons not less than sixteen years of age to operate them. The inspector of boilers is authorized to employ a clerk to assist him in the discharge

Mr. Davis states that the ordinance was introduced to catch the death traps that are being operated as elevators in many of the buildings of the city. He will offer an amendment exempting buildings in which the elevators are insured and inspected at stated intervals by competent insurance inspec-tors who are required to report to the city boiler inspector. This exemption is made in regard to the inspection of boilers.

Mr. Davis will also report against the section of the ordinance authorizing the inspector to employ an assistant. A Positive Fact.

WHERE THE DANGER LIES.

The Mysteriousnand Sudden Ending of soManyLivesFully Accounted for The real danger from "Grippe" is in its after effects. Nine tenths of all the deaths resulting are from pneumonia. What is pneumonia? It is a sudden stoppageand filling up of the lungs. Thick, heavy, poisoners mucous gets into the air cells and prevents breatning. They clog up quickly and death ensues. The only salvation is to keep the lungs working and throw off this terrible mucous. There is only one way in which this can be done and that is by stimulatime them. Under the influence of a proper amount of pure whiskey, the lungs draw in deep, full breaths and throw out the poisonous air, each time it is exhaled. But while this is true and whiskey has saved more lives than any other known remedy if it is not pure whiskey, it is liable to have a bad effect. If it contains fusel oil, a headache or a foul tongue will be the result. On the otherhand, when an absolutely pure whiskey like Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey is used, no ill effects can by any possibility follow. Prof. Henry A. Mott says: "The purity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey (as simple analytical tests will readily convince) is absolute and should reommend it to the highest public favor," To all we unhesitatingly say, insist upon having Duf-fy's and do not be persuaded to take any other.
