State Lumbermen.

The Nebrasica lumber dealers held their preliminary meeting in room 110, Millard hotel, yesterday. Among those present were R. M. Barr of Hastings, chairman; I. Smith of Curtis, secretary: W. H. Buck of Gibbon; J. S. Hedges, Shelden; A. McKeltop, Tobias; J. H. Bell, Aurora; H. Dieres, Broken Bow; Mr. Clark, Albion; C. J. Bogardus, Brainard: J Engelhaup, Milford; J. C. Waugh, Oxford; Mr. Mason, Plain View; J. W. Beardsley, Weeping Water; L. K. Morse, Holdrege; J.hn A. Harry, Fairbury; William H. Hassett, Tekamah; Musselfman, Fairmont; A. Barnett, O'Neill. The object of this gathering has aiready been outlined in these columns. Retail dealers throughout the state complain that Omaha wholesalers are and have been injuring their business by quoting prices to every Tom, Dick and Harry and thus interfering seriously with the retail trade. These men want some kind of protection from this sort of thing. Just how to get it and at the same time maintain harmonious relations with lumbermen is the ques-tion. Whether it would be better to form a state orgation and take these follows in or state orgation and take these fellows in or-join the Northwestern association, which covers Minnesota, Wisconsin, Dakota and Iowa, recently organized at Minneapolis, is the most important motion under dis-cussion. E. L. Aroold, president, and M. F. Enher, secretary of the latter institution are here offering great inducements for Ne-brasica to lois them.

On this point the morning session seemed to be about equally divided. Chairman Barr was of the opinion that a state association would accomplish all the reforms desired, but Mr. Smith seriously doubted it. He advocated the advisability of going into the Minneapolis organization for the reason that they would then be able to hold a club over the heads of the Omaha dealers. However Mr. Smith stated that he had received let-ters from Gray, Deitz, Hoagland, the how-ell lumber company and one or two others, assuring him that any action taken by the retailers for their betterment would be heartly approved and coincided in by them.

A state organization, suggested Mr. Smith, that would affiliate with Minneapolis might be a good thing, "but we are not able," he continued, "to stand the expense of so many associations."

Mr. Rell of Aurora also took as active.

Mr. Bell of Aurora also took an active part in the discussion. He declared that the only objection to be removed was the practice Omaha jobbers have of quoting re-tail prices to any and everybody, and thought that might easily be done through a state organization.

"Yes," interrupted Mr. Barr, "and if they would only keep their noses out of the retail business and give us fellows a chance to advance prices a few cents, we might then be able to deal with them."

Mr. Smith struck a popular cord when he asserted his willingness to take chances with any one or any twenty men who would come to his town and invest their money in an established lumber yard. A resolution to the effect that Nebrasks

After the committee had retired Mr. Dern of Hosper stated that as there would be a great deal of business done which it would not be advisable to have generally known, he would move that all the reporters be excluded. He stated that a great many things would be done which they would not want the Farmers' alliance to get hold of. He was followed by Mr. Fried of Fremont, who advocated firing the reporters out for the same reason.

Some of the cool heads of the meeting, however, scouted the idea that the meeting had been called for the purpose of forming a trust or doing anything they were ashamed

A substitute was offered inviting the reporters to remain, and was carried. The chairman presented an invitation from the lumber dealers in the city to those in at-tendance, in uting them to a dinner at the Omaha club at 6 o'clock, and afterwards to attend one of the theaters. The invitation was accepted.

A very long and tedius discussion followed.
The trincipal point raised was the number of votes which should be allowed to those dealers who ling several yards. It was finally decided to allow each member of the association one vote. Where there are two or more members in a firm, as many as are members of the association shall be allowed to vote. The number of yards a firm may have will have no effect upon the number of votes allowed that firm. votes allowed that firm It was decided to assess a fine of $50 against each wholesaler who sells to a con-

THE DISPUTED TERRITORY.

City Attorney's Suggestion as to How it Can Be Determined.

The city attorney's opinion, giving to Omaha the disputed strip between Omaha and South Omaha, is exciting a great deal of discussion. The question is whether South Omaha was incorporated as a city when Omnha swallowed the disputed por tion by extending per limits. South Omahans claim that she had incorporated Mr. Populeton says that his opinion was based upon records giving full particulars of the extension of Omahu's boundaries but with only the date of the governor's proclamation declaring South Omaha a city of the second class, and he was of the opinion that that was the date when she actually became a fle thought it very desirable, however, that something should be done at once to settle the matter. The simplest way would be by an arrest in the territory by one of the cities and a writ of habeas corpus, which would bring the question before the courts.

It is said that he was in Grand Island when this call for assistance from Kearney was made; that he sat at the station operator's table and did the talking himself. Getting the Papers Ready. Attorney Kelley is at work preparing papers to commence condemnation proceedngs as soon as possible against property owners who are now delaying the Tenth street viaduct and union depot schemes. In the meantime the temporary depot is being pushed and will be ready for occupancy by May I. It is being built in sections at the shops, therefore by the time Contractor Stant has completed a foundation it will be ready to put together very quickly.

The Spring Medicine.

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has guined as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health-giving, blood-purifyng and appetite-restoring which every body seems to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

RAILBOADED THE JOB.

What is Thought of That Grand Rapids Desk Contract.

The criticism of The Baz on the action of the committee on buildings and property of the board of education, in contracting for $1,600 worth of desks, has attracted a great deal of attention. Mr. Rees said that he had not been able to attend the meetings of the board regularly for some time past because of pressure of unusual private business. He did not know all the circumstances of the case, yet beld all the circumstances of the case, yet beld that some of the teachers preferred the Grand Kapids desk. He was asked if he knew of an instance in which a committee of the board of education had ever closed a contract aggregating $1,500, and repited that he thought one had, but the amount decided upon he could not recall. On that point, the secretary, he thought, could give the needed information. The instance to which he referred was when the board which he referred was when the board sutherized the committee on text books to purchase a number of books before the contract which the board itself had entered into should expire. Up to the expiration of that time the board was entitled to purchase all the books it required at a certain price. Mr. Ries then admitted that in authorizing the committee to pur-chase a certain number of books at a certain price per book, it knew exactly what the cost of all was to be. This of course he said was not a parallel case. Mr. Rees further stated that, after the last rouble with the Grand Rapids company, in which it demonstrated to his satisfaction that Passer, the agent, had given $25 to Ball Morrow, who was then an employe of the board, the latter adopted a resolution to the ffect that no further transaction would be had by the board with that company until that monetary transaction could be satisfac-torily explained.

Dir. Rees said he could not say whether or not that explanation had been made but he knew that Passet had a written letter letter upon that or some other subject to the

the board, said that he was not a member o the committee on buildings and property which of course is pretty well understood With regard to the giving of authority to the committee in question to close a contract for the purchase of goods he said it was customary in such matters to grant such authority when it was of small import, such, for in-stance, as the purchase of a stove or something like that; but if the authority were granted to make the purchase of desks reerred to it was granted without an appre iation of the importance of the transaction. President Goodman was told of the ciremstances of the letting of the contract and asked whether that document would have to be signed by him as president of the board. He said that he thought it would because that was one of the duties of the position. He did one of the duties of the position. He did not know what the disks were to cost and thought that the other members were equally uninformed on the subject. When motions were made giving committees newer to act, he generally inquired what was the amount involved. In this case he had intended to make this inquiry, but had in the rush of business overlooked the mat-ter. He would not now sign the contract

ter. He would not now sign the contract because the amount of money involved was too large for any committee to contract for. Mr. Goodman then called up Secretary Piper and learned that the committee had been authorized to purchase the desks and been authorized to purchase the desis and sign the contract so that nothing was left for the president to do in the premises. Mr. Goodman was told that it had been alleged by some of the parties to the action of the committee that haste was required so that the schools in mind might be in readiness at a certain time for the accommodation f children. He replied that that was all nonsense because it was just as easy to call a special meeting of the board as it was of Mr. W. S. Poppleton, a member of the committee in question said:

"I was not at the meeting which handled the matter. I had heard that something of the sort was coming up, but was engaged at the district court that morning and could not attend. The law says that 'no expenditure greater than $200 shall be voted by the board except in accordance with the provision of a written contract, which, of course means signed by the president. I presume the contract was only accepted, to be signed

This opinion differs from that of the secretary, who, as above shown, holds that the president has nothing to do with the matter. After the committee had announced its agree-ment Agent Fassett invited Kelly, Wooley, Weherer and a junitor or two to a neighboring saloos where the company, it is alleged, had the pleasure of getting on the outside of a quantity of wet goods. Before Fassett got out of town in the evening he had what is familiarly termed a jag. The members of the committee refused to say no each time that Passet held up his finger and ordered the bar boy to "fill 'em up again."

Citizens' Primaries Today.

The primary elections for the purpose of electing delegates to the citizens' convention will be held this afternoon. The polls will be open at 12 noon and close at 7 o'clock p. m., at the following places: First ward, Jerry Dee's building on Twenty fifth street; Second ward, Judge Levy's office on Twenty-sixth street; Third ward, Howley's building; Fourth ward, Exchange building.

At a meeting of the citizens' executive committee, held Tuesday night, ten delegates from each ward were selected to be voted for at the primaries. The delegates are di-vided between the democrats and the republicans. They are as follows:

First Ward—James Carroli, J. W. Edgertoo, H. Heyman, T. B. Hatcher, C. T. Van

The Council.

It was deemed advisable to issue a special call Tuesday to accomplish a necessity in the way of a meeting of the city council to transact some business anent the city election. Councilmen Johnston, Burke, O'Rourke, Towle, McMillan and Melcher were together, and in the absence of Mayor Sloane President McMillan was in the chair.

The special call was for the purpose of appointing judges and clerks of election and receiving the deferred monthly reports of Police Judge King.

The following judges and clerks of elec-tion were named by Acting Mayor McMil-lan and confirmed by the council: First Ward-Judges, J. E. Hart, T. E. Hatcher, E. H. Doud; clerks, A. J. Bald-

After the reports had been read by the clerk Judge King asked the privilege of making a personal statement in regard to the management of his office. He stated that he held the city treasurer's receipts for all moneys collected by him except for the months of January and February. The Mayor on a Hunt.

Deputy Sheriff Palik came down from Omaha Tuesday to serve the papers on Mayor Sloane in the school election mandamus case brought by A. B. Haley, but arrived too late to secure personal service on the city's chief magistrate. The mayor had left on a duck hunting expedition an hour before that will cover three or four days.

The mayors action in absenting him-self from the city just at this time is commented on even by his strongest friends. While Mayor Sloane has had the trip in contemplation for a num-ber of days it is held that he might have postponed it for awhile in view of the fact that he was to be called into the courts on a question of vital interest to the taxpayers of outh Omaha. What effect his absence will have on the mundamus proceedings cannot be told now, Attorney Edgerton will defend the mayor's election call when the case is called, provid ing the court will allow him to do so with-out the presence of the mayor. There is no certainty, though that the permission will be granted.

A resolution was adopted making all those signing the articles of agreement drawn up at a previous meeting members of the association. A supplementary resolution was adopted providing that whereas the articles were signed by 250 citizens, and due notice had been given of the meeting, they were duly organized under the name of the Prospect Hill Cemetery association. Another resolution made the officers of the association a president, vice president, secretary treas-urer and three directors, the officers proper, to be directors.

Strange Discovery of a Nondescript and Weather Seaten Craft.

Fiction has told many tales of the sea that are less interesting than an actual adventure that befull the British steamship Caledonia, which arrived here this morning from Gibraltar, says the New York Commercial Advertiser.

When the Caledonia was fairly on her voyage to America, having passed northwest of the Maderia islands, she sighted in the dusk of the evening of abruary 26 a vessel of peculiar rig. She appeared to be neither ship, bark, brig nor schooner, and from one mast was discerned, with the aid of a marine glass, a signal of distress. The Caledonia shifted her course and

Her warks were partly gone, and in her forecastle could be seen a large hole with splintered edge, as if a cannon ball the had struck it. Her yards hung to the masts at all angles, and she was rigged apparently as chance and the means at hand permitted. When the boat's crew drew alongside they were greeted with the angry barkings of a gaunt-looking dog. The animal ran about the deck in a frenzy of excitement, snapping at objects that came in its way, and giving vent to sounds so terrible that the boat's crew concluded that the dog had gone mid. Finally the animal ran into the forecastle and the crew, leaping on the deck, locked it it.

Other sounds came from a small box forward of the deckhouse, which appeared to be the plaintive cries of an infant. The crew, upon investigation, found a little pig so weak from starva-tion that it could not stand. After feeding both of the famishing brutes, the crew, with frightened stops, went aft of the cabin fully expecting to find the crew of the ill-fated bark, dead or perhaps dying with hunger. The cabin was deserted. On the floors lay papers, books, clothing, chests and tobacco Among the papers was found a clew to the strange vessel's identity. The paper stated that she was the Norwegian bark Progress of Grimstead, 437 tons burden. thirteen years old, and bound from Monte de Cristo to Altona, near Hamburg, with a load of dye-wood. Only a hint of her voyage and the fate of her crew was given in an entry in her logbook, which said that on February 20 she was struck by a harricane which tore away her sails and top-masts and in an instant killed two seamen who were aloft at the time, also sweeping ner second officer and the man at the wheel into the sea.
