Seamons Loses Heart.

Yesterday's Bee contained an account of the trouble between W. H. Shaffer and Dr. N. A. Seamons and the arrest of the former which followed. As before stated the whole difficulty was the outgrowth of a scene of domestic disagreements at the boarding house of Mrs. Martha Martin, No. 23 South Eighth street, where all of the interested parties resided. It was given to the following account, and yesterday's documents indicate that such is indeed the case, as Seamons visited the county jail where Shaffer was confined and arranged to pay the fine for his release, and leave the city. This Shaffer refused to do, and wanted Seamons to go ahead with his prosecution if he thought it advisable. Seamons stated in the presence of two witnesses that he had nothing against Shaffer, but that he wanted him to go away and pay no more attention to the following account. But Shaffer announced his intention of staying, and seeing the case through. Seamons evidently concluded that it would not help matters any to let the case go to trial, and accordingly paid the costs and dismissed the case. He paid the costs, amounting to $1.50, to Shaffer's brother, who settled with the court. There is now no further trouble, as Seamons' wife says she will sue for a divorce on the ground of drunkenness and cruel and inhuman treatment. Shaffer states that Seamons' drinking is responsible for the whole trouble, and this assertion is corroborated by Mrs. Seamons.

He stated that $10,000 had been contributed and $20,000 of the amount has been expended in the purchase of corn. After making some suggestions as to the manner of distribution Senator S. C. Sappelman of Potter county was chosen chairman of a committee of twenty-four, one from each county represented, to select the seed and feed committee of five appointed at the meeting held here in March was presented and followed by a general discussion.

The convention meets again tomorrow.

VIRGINIA'S INSPECTION LAW.

Its Constitutionality Being Tested in the Federal Courts.

NORFOLK, Va., April 1.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The legislature of Virginia, at its last session, passed a law requiring that all beef, veal and mutton butchered at any point 100 miles from the place it is offered for sale should be inspected. The fee is one cent per pound, one-half to go to the state and the remainder to the inspectors. The law has proven exceedingly unpopular, especially in cities, as it has had the effect of putting up the price of meat 2 or 3 cents, the advance coming out of the pockets of consumers. Today the constitutionality of the law was argued before the circuit court of the United States for the eastern district of Virginia, at Norfolk, Va. James Bell of Chicago and W. H. White of this city appeared for the petitioner, William Redman of Armour & Co., who had been arrested for refusal to comply with the law, and argued the case, holding that the law was void because violative of the clause of the United States constitution which gives to congress the power to regulate commerce between the states, and guarantees to the citizens of each state all the rights enjoyed by those of any other state. They claimed that the law interfered with the free trade of the state as represented by the attorney general and the inspectors by R. M. Hughes of Norfolk. These gentlemen defended the act as a valid inspection law, and that it was either a tax measure or designed to operate as a discrimination against those in the dressed meat business. They contended that the law of the act, which says nothing about meat from other states. The court stated that the law would be delivered next Monday at Richmond.

LAKE AND RAIL LINES.

The Next Important Subject That Confronts Western Roads.

CHICAGO, April 1.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Next to tomorrow's meeting for reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Railway association, the most important subject for the western roads is the matter of a New York meeting of the trunk lines and their settlement of rates between the lake and the rail lines. Chairman Blanchard of the Central Traffic association said:

"The matter now stands the northern lake routes are in a position to dictate terms, and unless an agreement is reached will take all the northern routes under their control. Should the rail lines attempt to meet the rate it will lead to a lowering of the present rate on the northwestern and western routes, and always hereafter be raised or lowered proportionately."

New appointments noted today are: E. Summerfield as general manager of the Kansas City, Wyandotte & Northwestern and W. W. Simmons as assistant to the president of the Monon.

Whose Fault Is It?

OMAHA, Wyo., April 1.—To the Editor of THE BEE: We are in the receipt of your mail service. It is almost an impossibility for us to get any mail through to this place. A small package sent from Omaha in August, 1889, reached here in February, 1890. It was directed all right. Of two letters from Chadron one was three and the other six months getting here. Both had been sent to Collins, Neb., and were stamped at Chadron, Neb. Out of a dozen letters sent from Lincoln and Omaha, written in February, four reached us all right. The balance went to Chadron, Neb., and were stamped at Chadron, Neb. S. D. Every letter was backed with a pen, and
