TOOK A HUSBAND ON TRIAL.

A California Girl's Plan of Matrimony -Binding Contracts.

Among the many handsome young ladies who promenade the principal streets of Fresno, none are trimmer, neater or prettier than Mary Wilson, says a Fresno, Cal., dispatch to the San Fran-cisco Chronicle. She has a splendid form, is about medium height, with large brown eyes, auburn hair, elastic step and vivacious manner. She is highly educated, being a clever performer on many musical instruments. Mary is in her twenty-second year. She is the daughter of a late wealthy rancher in Stanislaus county. When her father died he left her $10,000 in her own name. This handsome legacy did not make Mary flighty, as it would most girls, She said: "I will keep my property and add to it. I'm not above work," 'Mary became an apprentice to a dress maker in Modesto. She was apt with her needle. and soon mastered her trade. About a year ago she came to Fresno and went into the dressmaking business with Anna Kiernan, a worthy young lady now running a similar establishment in the Griffith building. The firm was Kiernan & Wilson. It did a thriving business. Mary was compelled to go back to Modesto, and the partnership was dissolved. This was early last summer. On the 14th of October Mary returned to Fresno and entered the employ of the Misses Kiernan, one of them being her former associate in business. She hat worked for them ever since up till lass night.

Some months ago Miss Wilson met Joseph Campbell, a young and prepos-sessing man, said to be a Sacramento farmer. He is a tall, handsome brunette. Joseph admired Mary, and sought her hand in marriage. Miss Wilson refused his offers, saying that she could take care of herself. Joseph persisted. The more Joseph pressed his suit the higher became Mary's admiration for him. She liked his perseverance. Her heart at last thawed, and she consented to beespecially drinking to excess, among all classes of the community. It is of course impossible to show by statistics any direct proof of the effect of the law on the general manners and morals of the people, except so far as the prison figures go in their bearing on the imbitually vicious or criminal population. But the testimony of those who are probably most competent to form an # opinion as to the extent of such vicesthe police magistrates and judges-is almost uniformly that there has been a marked change for the better. This is the judgment also of all those who have any opportunity of observing the con-vivial customs of the town and comparng them with the same kind of customs in former years. It is manifest that drunkenness has come to be regarded with more severity by public opinion; that it subjects its victim to more contempt, and that it has largely lost its character as a merely convivial dissi-pation. This is a most gratifying condition of things and the credit for it is due in a large degree to the Law and Order soclety. The diligence with which it has caused the law to be enforced has unquestionably had a salutary effect despite some of the indiscretions of its agents in dealing with the saloons. The society has made it dangerous for any one to incur the risk of selling drinks to boys and girls, or to men who are intoxicated, or to any one whom they are warned not to supply with liquor. A man who now allows himself to succumb to the influence of liquor knows that he will be liable to be treated in any saloon which he may enter, as an irresponsible person, and that he may suffer the contempt and ignominy of being told that he is drunk by the owner of a public house, and that he must get out of it lest. he bring it into discepute in the eye of the law. What will be the permanent effect of this change is still too early to tell. The high license system is still very far from perfect, and has not yet successfully passed all the stages of a thorough trial, but that it has in the last two years not only lessened, the extent of drunkenness, but has made it a disgraceful vice that must be avoided, is evident to any observer of the manners of the people here. The society and all who believe in its objects now need to take care that this reformation shall continue to go on in the right direction, that it shall be permanent, and that it shall not be merely a temporary reac-

It is a Success.

CHICAGO, April 2 .- The members of the board of trade are quite enthusiastic this afternoon over the result of the first day's trading with quotations dropped. They say the volume of business done has been larger than for any day for a month past. They attribute this to orders from men who have been dealing through bucketshops.

Not Downed Yet.

CHICAGO, April 2 .- Despite the efforts of the board of trade the bucketshops managed to secare quotations today with reasonable nptness and assert that their business was not diminished.

Got the Quotations.

KANSAS CITY, April 2.—Although Chicago grain quotations were not displayed on exchange today, every dealer and commission merchant was informed promptly as to the state of the market.

House. WASHINGTON, April 1 .- In the house today bills were passed for a bridge across the Missouri river between Iowa and Nebraska. A bill was passed amending the act to aid vessels wrecked or disabled in waters co-terminus to the United States and the Dominion of Canada. A bill authorizing the construction of a bridge and approaches at New York city across the Hudson river; to regulate commerce in and over such bridge between the states of New York and New Jersey and to establish such bridge as a military and post Thd house then proceeded to the discussion of the Idaho commission bill. The bill was passed continuing in force the act authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river at Forest River, The Idaho commission bill was taken up and Mr. Dorsey of Nebraska, in charge of the bill borsey of Activation, in Charge of the bill in its favor. The only opposition to the admission of Idaho, he said, came from the Mormons. They protested against the provision of the constitution which disfran-chised bigunists and polygamists and persons who were members of any association which ncourage bigamy. Mr. Mansur criticised the provision of the Idaho constitution disfranchising Mormon-mons voted the democratic ticket. Mr. Dubois carnestly advocated the ad-mission of Idaho. Criticising the minority report he said it proposed that bigamists and polygamists should vote in Idaho. What right had the members of the minority to im-mission bids conditions which means had se upon Idaho conditions which never be fore had been imposed upon any state coming into the union. There was, he said, in Idaho genus homo known as "Jack Mormons who, while denouncing polygamy, obeyed all the orders of the Mormon priests. There was a gentleman in Tilinois (Springer) who, if he ived in Idaho, would probably be known as a "Jack Mormon." He closed his discussion of the Mormon question by saying the issue was fairly joined here. "Would congress sus-tain this treasonable and laseivious instituion or would it hold up the hands of the brave ioneers who had settled Idaho, who on this proposition had abandoned all parties and united in saying 'we desire statehood, but we desire it for loyal American citizens,'''

Mr. Smith of Arizona earnestly denounced the action of the committee on territories in failing to report a bill for the admission of Arizona. His people had been unfairly treated. Arizona had every qualification for statehood, but the bill for her admission was to be smothered in committee simply because she had seen fit to send a democrat to this country. The territory of New Mexico with a population greater than Idaho Wyoming combined was also kept in in the background. Was it because poor Joseph, the delegate, had started wrong in his youth and had become democratic!

Mr. Chipman, while favoring the admission Mr. Compliant, while involving the admission of the territories, criticized the proposed con-stitution of Idaho as an invasion of sacred individual and religious rights. Polygamy was a crime which should not be tolerated, but this constitution closed to the accused he courts, the only asylums against passion nd corruption. Mr. Perkins spoke in favor of admission. and pending further debate the matter went over until tomorrow. Adjourned.
