The strain on Senator Stanford's brain in formulating his new money bill has evidently been too severe and he will recuperate in Europe.

The Sioux have decided not to take land in severalty and will still continue wards of the nation.

HAVING pigeon-holed the main issue upon which most of its members were elected, the Iowa legislature cannot adjourn too soon to suit the taxpayers of that state.

As a fruitful source of congressional agitation the Chinese is just now playing a leading role. In the words of Truthful James, "Is civilization a failure, and is the Caucasian played out?"

RECENT exploits of the police indicate an unending necessity for a series of forcefully instructive lessons on the duties of the "finest." Some of the force are not afflicted with a surplus of ordinary intelligence.

SITTING BELE still continues to be the leading advocate of the theory that women should be allowed to enter all associations open to men.

CANADIANS want the American hog, but the recent increase in the duty on pork will deprive them of the luxury.

The dispatches report a general uprising in consequence. Pigs may become a political issue with our northern neighbor.

THE "wage workers' alliance" has evolved a national banking scheme which has been formulated as a bill and introduced in the senate.

GOVERNOR THAYER isn't asking for favors in Washington. This fact surprised President Harrison, but it does not astonish Nebraskans.

ABUSING THE VETO POWER.

Mayor Sioane of South Omaha is represented as most decidedly opposed to annexation. This is what might have been expected, but the question is, why should Mayor Sioane refuse his sanction to the ordinance submitting the question of annexation to the voters of South Omaha? Why should he deny to a respectable minority even of the tax payers the privilege of voting upon the proposition?

THE OUTCOME IN IOWA.

The mountain has labored and brought forth a monster. When the political tornado that swept over Iowa last November had subsided the people of that state were assured that their revolt against enforced sobriety would bear immediate fruit through the legislature.

Wait and See.

Will Iowa have a hole-in-the-wall among other features of Iowa art and industry at the world's fair?

John Bull and His Bullion.

John Bull may have a thick head, but his purse is long, and he is still buying up the United States on the installment plan.

Can Afford to Philosophize.

Rev. Lyman Abbott, with his fat salary and his aristocratic congregation, is in a good position to philosophize hopefully concerning the condition of the poor.

Progressing Toward Civilization.

The death of the noble old man, Nowater, is truly to be regretted. With a little more civilization he would have made an excellent milkman.

Reform in the Indian Bureau.

Unless we are very much mistaken, reform and improvement in the affairs of the Indian bureau will be one of the most distinguishing characteristics in which the present administration will show itself superior to its predecessor.

Possibly.

I am glad to see that Mr. Astor proposes to give some brass doors to Trinity church at a cost of $100,000. If he would give $100,000 to some of the people who are begging for their daily bread on their knees inside the doors, it would be better, but this is better than nothing.

No Affinity for Parity.

Governor Hill's veto of the Saxton bill reform bill was simply Governor Hill's annual protest against parity of the ballot.

Congressional Eloquence.

It is asserted that the speakers of the country are better posted on the tariff question at the present time than at any period in the past.

Setting Mr. Noland Right.

Some of the papers overstate the amount of Treasurer Noland's default. It is only $22,000. When Mr. Noland had lost this much he made a small wailing and the other demagogues who were peering through his back had turned, jumped the game.

In Bad odor.

According to official accounts, the average senator of the United States uses up two and one-half cuspidors annually during the time spent in the senate chamber and is allowed only twelve cents' worth of "Pond Lily" penury per year, and yet he complains that it is the newspapers that have brought the senate "into bad odor."

A Pointer for Mayor Peck.

Editor Peck of Milwaukee saw two items of news in yesterday's papers which were of great interest to him. One informed him that he had been elected mayor of his city and another affirmed that a riot was feared in Munich because the price of beer had advanced 2 percent a schooner party.

Useless and Inefficient.

When the southern states were under the domination of republican carpet baggers there was a general outcry in the south against their rapacity and dishonesty.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Providence Journal. Colonel Elliott of New York would make more fun of a barrel of Coogan.

Cleveland Leader. Speaking after the manner of the times, Secretary Blaine has a "great head," and the results of the Democratic congress are likely to demonstrate him as the broadest statesmanship of the age in which we live.

Washington Post. Neal Dow has celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday. The indications are that he may yet outlive prohibition in Kansas and Iowa, if not the Maine variety.

Washington Post. The Cincinnati Enquirer tells of Ohio man who lived with a woman with a butter in his nose. What the country would like to know is how long an Ohio politician could manage to exist with a butter in his nose.

Minneapolis Tribune. There has been some talk to the effect that Susan B. Anthony contemplated moving to Wyoming and running for United States senator. The probability of this is not very great.

Frank Fleming of Bruno, who was reported to have committed suicide last Thursday by blowing his brains out, was shot by a man who has been named. But that somebody has blundered and that he is still in the land of the living. We will take Mr. Fleming's word for it, as doing so will be usually with such letters as the one he has had to tell denying the report. Frank is evidently no corpse and THE BEE regrets.

LOCAL ART NOTES.

Prof. G. W. Platt, a well known artist of Chicago, will lecture on "Illusions in Art" at the Linaiger gallery on Tuesday evening, April 8, at 8 p. m. This lecture is not only interesting but amusing and will be facilitated by the illustrations of the artist.

There have been some changes in the Paxton black painters corner. Mr. Albert Rothery has removed his studio from the sixth to the fifth floor to more desirable quarters.

Miss Melona Butterfield has moved her studio from the second floor to the fourth floor, where she has better quarters for fixing her ware and has altogether more desirable and commodious quarters.

Fred Knight, the clever painter of aqueducts, returned from Florida, bringing back with him a number of delightful studies in water color. Mr. Knight is, without doubt, the cleverest and most finished follower of that most diletant art in the west.

A number of the local artists are gathering up their sketching impediments and preparing to go forth and study nature in the open air.

There can be nothing so beneficial in the education of the young artist as these trips to the country in the summer.

A delightful outing can be accomplished by the artist in the vicinity of Omaha.

When means will not afford the continuous study of a carrying and sketching, the artist's trips to the country can be made by a party starting early in the morning and sketching its way along roads or river bank picking up bits, scenes and things, which cover the fancy is charmed with any particular feature of the landscape and returning at night with the sketches of the day's work.

Happily, however, there are fields and rivers, quaint old farm houses and other picturesque scenery to be seen in Nebraska, but unfortunately those more remote and harder to reach.

Many of the young artists of Chicago find many spots near home by lake and field in which to work, and it has become a habit of leaving the studio for a work of hours in summer.

A word to the wise, etc., and no earnest worker can afford to miss out of door study, especially under such skies as cover Nebraska.

A BRETLY STIFF KICK.

OMAHA, Neb., April 5.—To the Editor of THE BEE: I am a fireman, and I have been asked by a number of the boys to register a vigorous protest against the fire and police commission, which honorable board has over-reached itself when it lets a contract for uniforms to one firm and compels every fireman and every police officer to step up to the rack and pay his earnings for a suit, "unsight and unseen," before the commission.

IN THE ROTUNDA.

Mr. George W. Vroman, chairman of the general committee of the Union Pacific system for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was found at the Casey.

Mr. Vroman stands high in the estimation of the members of the brotherhood. At the national convention held at Denver last fall he was Chief Arthur's only competitor in the race for the highest office in the brotherhood, that being the first time, as a matter of fact, that Mr. Arthur ever had any competitor.

The delegates who had been affected by a "Q" strike and who were inclined to criticize what they chose to term Mr. Arthur's arbitrary methods and excessive conservatism, rallied under Mr. Vroman's standard, but they were too few and Mr. Vroman was defeated, all the eastern delegates refusing to vote for him on the ground that, in
