

A DUEL BURGALAR.

Mr. Grimes of Des Moines Exchanges Shots with an Intruder.

BOTH MEN SERIOUSLY WOUNDED.

Close of the Grand Army Encampment—The Blue Grass League—Proceedings of the Legislature—Other Iowa News.

Des Moines, Ia., April 9.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—This morning at 10 o'clock the residence of George B. Grimes, on East Twelfth and Walker streets, was entered by a burglar, who cut a pane of glass from a front window, turned the catch, and climbing in, found the key in the pocket of a coat which he had ready for exit. He then went through the front parlor and sitting room and up a stairway in a narrow hall to the servant girl's room and ached her if she was awake. Receiving a reply, he told her she made a noise he would kill her, and inquired if there were any men in the house. She told him there were none. He then threw through the bureau drawers, scattering things about, but taking very little. While he was doing this, Mr. and Mrs. Grimes, who slept on the front parlor, awoke and discovered the burglar's doings. Mrs. Grimes arose, lit a lamp, and Mr. Grimes secured a revolver and they began looking about, though thinking the burglar had gone. Mr. Grimes then fired at the burglar, who had, looking into the hallway, and at the top of the stairs saw a man standing. She inquired about the burglar, and Mr. Grimes told her that the burglar was on the floor below and tried to push the door open, saying, "Put out that light!" meaning himself. He then went to the door and the door gave way and Mrs. Grimes and the lamp went to the floor. The lamp broke and the oil took fire, but Mrs. Grimes put this out with the door. Mrs. Grimes shot twice at the man. One of the bullets went into the carpet, and the other struck the burglar on the head. The burglar was Mr. Grimes and fired four shots at him. Two of them went into the wall and one into the window casing. The fourth struck Mr. Grimes in the forehead through the eye and lodged in the brain. He fell to the floor, overturning a stand, and the burglar ran out of the front door and down the stairs, carrying a bag full of money and a watch. The Chinese Census Enumeration Measure Also Taken Up But No Definite Action Results—House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Among the bills reported from committees and placed on the calendar were the following: The house bill for a public building at Galesburg, Ill.; the senate bill to amend the third section of the interstate commerce act. Mr. Wilson of Iowa offered a resolution, which was agreed to, instructing the committee on interstate commerce to inquire what additional legislation is necessary in respect to commutation and excursion tickets to prevent the abuses now existing in regard to individuals and localities. The house bill appropriating $75,000 to supply the deficiency occasioned by the Sillcott defalcation passed. The senate then resumed consideration of the Montana case. Mr. Prugh concluded his arguments in favor of the democratic claimants. Mr. Turpie presented an argument on the same side of the question. The canvassing board at Helena had no right to throw out the abstract of the returns at precinct 34. They had not dared to throw out the abstract for fear of a contempt proceeding. The canvassing board was a "triple act of address," consisting of the canvassing board, the clerk and the returning officer. Mr. Turpie presented an argument on the same side of the question. Carney Anxious for Another Go With McAuliffe—Chicago Heavy Weights Fight Fifty-Four Rounds—Tur Notes.

A large crowd assembled at the Grand opera house last evening to witness the ten-round meet between Harry Gilmore, the light-weight champion of Canada, and Jimmy Lindsay, the local fistic star. The contest was for scientific points, the winner to take 75 and the loser 25 per cent of the gate receipts. After several minor preliminary events big Jack Davis, who is to fight Joe Choywick, the wonder of the coast, before the Olympic club of France, May 21, and Jack Ryan, another big one of the eleven-monthers, gave a three round set to that, as usual, was a corker. These two good-natured pugilists are able to give the finest exhibition any artist in their line in the country, and they are very popular with the fancy of the city.

BROKE OUT OF THE BOARD.

An Exciting Incident of the New Deal on the Chicago Exchange.

CHICAGO, April 9.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—When the Chicago board of trade opened its session this morning the doors were locked so that no one could get out. This was done to prevent any communication with the outside world. The board was engaged in a discussion of the proposed amendments to the charter of the city of Chicago. The board was divided into two factions, one favoring the amendments and the other opposing them. The discussion was very heated and the board was in a state of confusion. The board was finally adjourned without any definite action.

AN EPIDEMIC OF BURGLARIES.

About a Dozen Omaha Residences Invaded Tuesday Night. OCCUPANTS COVERED WITH GUNS. One of the Raiders Being Seized, Fires a Parting Shot Into the House—No Arrests.

Two or more burglaries and nearly a dozen attempted ones were reported to the police yesterday forenoon, but the officers kept their mouths shut about them so far as reports were concerned. As usual, however, a man got a good scare. It was the southern district of the city which suffered, and a searching system of inquiries turned up the fact that between the hours of about 10:30 Tuesday night and 4 o'clock yesterday morning a dozen or more of the finest residences and several less pretentious ones were sensationally tampered with by dark-hooded marauders, who seemed to be out for a red letter occasion.

The Chicago Billiard Tournament.

CHICAGO, April 9.—At the matinee game in the billiard tournament between Catton and Hines, the latter was the victor in a brilliant shot was an exception and not the rule. The game was rather closely played throughout and at the end of the twenty-fifth inning each had 167 points. In the next two innings Catton, by magnificent playing, won the match, scoring 240, 230, 220, 210, 200, 190, 180, 170, 160, 150, 140, 130, 120, 110, 100, 90, 80, 70, 60, 50, 40, 30, 20, 10, 0.
