A large number of property holders were present, among them being the following:

ilmen Lowry and Morearty, Charles Connoyer, John Mathesen, Arthur Wakeley,

August Wieberg, Gottlieb Zimmermann, Lee

Estelle: John Christianson and several others.

Conneilman Lowry stated that the board of equalization appointed by the council had de-cided to levy $17,000 of the damages resulting from the construction of the viaduct on the property lying between the tracks and Bancroft street and between Ninth and Eleventh streets, at a rate varying with the distance from the viaduct. He said that he had issued the call in order to give the property holders an opportunity to discuss the matter and enter a protest if they thought they were unjustly assessed. He said he had argued from the start that the damages should be assessed on the city at large, but he had been informed by the city attorney that this could not be done. The meeting organized by electing John Mathesen chairman and Arthur Wakeley secretary. Charles Kaufmann said the viaduct was to be of general benefit to the city at large and the whole city ought to pay for it. If any one was to be assessed the property holders north of the viaduct should bear the bulk of the burden. The viaduct had not been asked for by the property holders south of the via duct, but had been demanded by the entire equalization.

A county scat war has been thrust upon Burt county. Oakland has spring the ques-tion and is making a vigorous effort to cap-ture the prize. Last week Oakland started nine teams into the country soliciting signa-tures to petitions praying of the commission-ers to submit a special election, and in two days had enough names to sforce a call. Oak-land will donate the court house, jail, etc., and feels confident of success in its undertak-ing. IT WAS AN OLD GAME.

But it Worked With Saloonkeeper Toft to the Tune of $13.

So exclaimed Chris Toft, proprietor of a saloon at 312 South Fifteenth street, when he re-entered his saloon last night, after serving a man in a buggy with a drink, and found his till and all the wealth contained therein, gone, thirty, clothed in black and driving a Croulnized holse, drove up before the front door of Toft's place and called loudly for a drink. Toft, who was alone, all unsuspectingly, hastened to supply his demands. The stranger drained his cup and drove away. Toft re-entered the saloon and found his till gone. He went to the back door and found it open. He stepped into the alley and found his till-empty. He sized up the situation and found himself $44 short, and then he exclaimed : "Toft, you are a sucker!" It was a clever trick, though an old one, but it worked with Toft. The man in the but it worked with Toft. The man in the buggy and he who purloined the till were evidently "pais." The thief stationed him-self in the alley onto which Toft's back door opened, and while his confederate occupied Toft's attention, entered and took the till in which there was $31 in cash and checks for $13 more, which will prob-ably be recovered. The white horse and its driver were traced as far north as the fair grounds by the mounted patrol, but there the

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal appeared last night in "The Iron Master," a French drama based on an interesting, well constructed story, in which every character is strongly outlined and the plot carefully sustained. If for no other reason, two situations in their performance will cause every one who witnessed them to remember these clever people as long as they live. Both occurred in the third act. One of these was the scene between Claire,

One of these was the scene between Claire, her mother, and her husband when he puts the birthday present about his wife's neck and at the marquise's request kisses her. The manner in which Mrs. Kendal en-acted her part at the supreme mo-ment was so realistic and so effective that it sent a thrill through the audience which called forth an enthusiastic outburst of amplause. The other notable event must have applause. The other notable event must have been the climax to that act when, in accept-ing De Bligny's challenge, Mr. Kendal as Phillippe Derbloy, replied, "Anything that my wife says or does is considered by me to be right," and rises giant-like to the situation and crights himself mendium the heeat

What Jay Gould Says.

In answer to a question asked by a Galves-ton News reporter, "Has the development of Texas been more rapid than you anticipated i" Jay Gould says:

"It has; but you have so much territory-the state being of imperial proportions-that it does not show as it would in a small compass. Texas is growing everywhere within its borders. Laredo has doubled since I first built the International and Great Northern.

All along the line I saw improvements, and I found the people well off and contented."

rarely if ever witnessed in an Ominia theater. In "A Scrap of Paper" Mr. and Mrs. Ken-dal were considered grand artists; in "The Iron Master" they surpassed all anticipation. That they should be admired and praised by Lee Estelle was called for and stated that he was of the opinion that the district was laid out in a peculiar manner. He could not see how it could be demonstrated that prop-erty nearly a mile south could be benefitted at the rate of 21 cents per front foot, while all lovers of the drama in this country is not to be marveled at. They are justly deserving at the rade of 21 cents per front foot, while property within four or five blocks of the via-duct, but not immediately south of it, was not assessed at all. Speaking of the Eleventh street viaduct the speaker said the people south of the Eleventh street viadent thought of it all. The performance throughout last night was very fine. Every character re-ceived treatment fully in accord with its bearing and importance. There was a marked increase in the attendance over Thursday they had been robbed by that assessment and night. this was a good time to get even. Mr. Estelle said that the theory on which the people had voted for the viaduet bonds had been that the whole thing would be paid liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They speedily cure billiousness, had taste, torpid liver, for by the city and he thought it unjust and inequitable to assess property which had already paid for one viaduct and had given i piles and constipation. than that, he thought that the business men of the city would derive as much or more benefit than the people south of the viaduct Mr. Lowry said he had tried to have the district extended farther north, but the idea of the board of equalization had been to levy as much of the benefits south of the viaduet
