A Railway Crossing.

In the district court yesterday Judge Decmer was listening to the case of the State of Iowa vs the Chicago, Milwaukce & St. Paul railway company. This suit is the outgrowth of a demand for an overhead crossing for a farm road near Bayard, in Guthrie county. The road crosses the rallway track in such a manner, it is claimed, as to be dangerous and inconvenient. The railway company refused ta construct the overhead crossing, and the matter was laid before the beard of railway commissioners, who decided against the company. The company refusing to follow out this decision, the case is brought in court. The state is represented by Attorney General Stone and his partner, Jacob Sims. Railway Commissioner Spencer Smith was also present as a witness. On the part of the company John W. Carry, the general counsellor of the Milwanker & St. Paul company, appeared, together with John N. Retail Merchants Organize

A large number of the retail merchants of Council Bluffs met in the board of trade rooms last evening and listened to an address by D E. Gleason, of the merchant's vetail commercial agency, 53 Dearbon street, Chicago, III. The system in use by this agency has for its purpose the protection of retail merchants. The legality, practicability and results of the system were fully explained. After consideration a motion was made that those present proceed to again organize the Council Bluffs by a unanimous vote. The following were by a manifest store. The following were chosen as officers: Charles Beno, president; J. H. Pace, vice president; D. E. Gleason, secretday; C. A. Tibbitts, treasurer, F. W. Spetman, A. N. Scribner, S. H. Foster, executions

This agency uses no dishonorable means to force collections or settlements, but the mer-chants propose to exercise their legal right to refuse credit to a person who gains the repu-tation of not treating a member of the agency

There is no law compelling merchants to sell their goods on credit. There is no law forbidding merchants refusing credit to any person they see fit, and when a merchant sells his goods on credit it is as an accommodation to the consumer, and if such accommodation to the consumer, and if such consumer has no appreciation of the favor ex-tended and wilfully neglects to make a rea-sonable and honorable adjustment of his in-debtedness, then he should be compelled to pay as he buys. It is better for him and much more profitable for the merchant. Many a poor worthy man has been refused credit for the necessities of life because of the merchant's unpleasant coverience with the merchant's unpleasant experience with bad debtors, but this system will tend to obviate all that, because the man who does respect his credit will be known and have espect his crean win or known and have a tanding among merchants, while he "dead beat" and others of his kind will also be known o the members of this agency and be absolutely refused credit; no matter if he moves to another town or state his reputation as poor pay will follow him and the merchants in such new place of residence will also refuse him credit. This agency issues a regular and legal abstract of unsettled accounts. Each member agrees to forfeit $20 to his branch as a penalty in case he extends credit to a person whose unsettled account appears in the abstract and no account can appear therein until the debter has had a full and fair opportunity to go to the merchant he owes and i some way arrange such indebtedness. Th man who can pay and won't pay and the man who cannot pay, but will not go to the mer-chant and state his condition and make effort chant and state his condition and make effort to arrange, is the person this agency is after. This agency does not interfere with the credit of men who deal henorably, no matter if they are slow; neither does it in any way regulate prices. Its sole object is to compel men to be honest with merchants or to pay spot cash for goods purchased. Something of this kind has been needed for a long time and this system will work. The combination and this system will work. "In combination there is strength." The members have the ecess or failure of this system in their own Wherever merchants have properly combined, the system has proven a great suc-cess. The west is being carefully covered by this agency, and the merchants in all small towns are visited and solicited to lon the county branch. D. E. GLESSON, Secretary of the Council Bluffs branch.

A Rank Peeler Uses His Authority to Commit an Outrage.

SOME OFFICIOUS BODY SNATCHERS

Attorney Sims Proves the Falsity of the Charges Against Him-Merchants Organize-A Railroad in Court.

One of the most shameful outrages ever perpetrated in this city was witnessed by a large crowd of justly indignant citizens about so'clock last evening at the corner of Willow avenue and Eighth street. The perpetrator was Patrolman Wageck, one of the senseless nonentities selected by Mayor Macrae to serve the city in the capacity of policeman, and the victim was ex-county clerk J. J. Shen. Mr. Shen and wife were just returning from a visit to the green house, and were driving down South Eighth street, when another team drove up behind and excited the horse, which is rather high spirited. It started off at an increased rate of peed but was not going more than twelve miles an hour when Officer Wagock ran inte the street and stopped it and placed the occu-pants of the burgy under arrest. Mr. Shea expostulated but it was of no avail. He then gred to be allowed to take his wife home by a few doors further down the street, and reed to return and accompany the officer to police station, but his captor was inexora-

By this time a large crowd had assembled, and they mercilessly guyed the officious perl-er, until he apparently became ashamed of himself, and Mr. Shea was allowed to pro-ceed. Mrs. Shea was taken home, and a lot of flowers which were in the buggy were un-loaded, after which Mr. Shea returned to where he had left the officer. He stopped his horse, and requested the officer to take a seat in the buggy and he would accompany him to the station or anywhere else that the officer had authority to take him. But the peeler had other plans, and caught horse by the bridle for the purpose leading it to a patrol box. Mr. Shea lected, and demanded that the highwayman in official clothes release his horse. Some words ensued, but the officer kept tugging away at the bridle, when Mr. Shea seized his buggy whip and struck him across the face. Still the star wearer tugged away, and Mr. Shea began to belabor him soundly. Finally officer drew his gun, and the occupant of the buggy had to wilt.

the buggy had to wilt.

The horse was was then led to the corner of Eighth street and First avenue, where a call was turned in for the patrol wagon. When it arrived Officer Sandelwas in charge, and the prisoner was turned over to him. To the credit of that officer be it said that he acted in a very gentlemanly manner, and readily acceded to Mr. Shea's request to drive to the station in his own buggy. A the station Marshal Templeton extended al the courtesies possible, and in a very short space of time Mr. Shea was released under bond to appear for trial at 5 o'clock this afternoon on the charges of fast driving and assaulting an The disgraceful affair was witnessed by a number of representative business men and the expressions of indignation heard on every side were limited neither as to quan-tity nor quality. It is certainly time that decisive steps were taken, and the attention of Mayor Macrae is called to the situation. It is not possible that he fully knows the character of the men in his employ or their services the first time that the city's livery has been disgraced during the past few weeks, and it is hoped such steps will be taken as will prevent another repetition of it for some time to Unreasoning Man-Grabbers. Cary's body-snatchers are nothing if not enterprising, and are evincing an earnest desire to build for themselves monumental reputations in short order. The success attending their efforts in this direction is more than fairly good, and they will undoubtedly have reputations a mile wide in a very limited space of time. Whether or not the reputa tions so suddenly acquired will prove satisfactory to their owners is, however, quite another thing. There are among the new men certain individuals who in time will no doubt make good and competent policemen, but this cannot be said of the majority, for of co many of them it must be said that "It

Some of them are almost total strangers in the city, and for this reason alone are utterly incompetent. One of them was asked only i day or two ago to direct a stranger to Wash ington avenue, and replied, "I can't tell you You see I'm almost a stranger here myself. Another was requested to point out the way to the Merriam block and was compelled to acknowledge that he did not know where that building was located. Yet these are the "reliable and well known citizens" who have been appointed to succeed all "unworthy men" on the Council Bluffs police force. The change in some individual cases—may be satisfactory, but taken as a whole, it is de cidedly the reverse, if the general expression in the street is a suitable criterion by which to judge. Some of the discharges as well as the appointments are difficult to analyze, and appear to be based on as slight a foundation as was to be based on as sight a foundation as was the discharge of a patrolinan last week be-cause he had a tooth pulled without permis-sion. Ridiculous as this may seem, yet it is a fact that it furnished the necessary grounds for a "layoff." The patrolman suffered ex-cruciating pain from a diseased molar, and finally in order to obtain relief dropped into a dentist's office on his beat, and had the aching lyory extracted. He was off his beat but is minute, but that made no difference, even under the circumstances, which scarcely called for a reprimund, and the unfortunate possessor of an aching jaw was given an in definite lay-off.

There is something wrong somewhere and the source should be ascertained. It is pass-ing strunge that the city of Council Bluffs cannot have an efficient pelice force when it is known that there is good material from which to make selections. Innsmuch as there are men now on the force who are not and never will be good policemen, it is strange that an attempt is not made to fill their places with men whose appointment would not tend to make the force the general laughing stock of the city. It looks very much as if the mayor appointed whoever came along as the easiest way of getting rid of them, blindly easiest way of getting rid of them, blindly trusting that they might turn out well or that the chief of police would speedily dis-cover their inefficiency and lay them on the shelf. If this is the plan now being pursued it may be perfectly satisfactory to the mayor as a way of disposing of his many applicants, but it is rather discouraging to the citizens who are eagerly watching for the long prom-ised metropolitan police force,

Sims Not a Saloon Man. Some time ago an attempt was made to parade before the public the claim that Jacob Sims, the attorney who has been so actively prosecuting saloons, was himself interested in a building which it was claimed was occupied as a saloon by a man named Beck. Judge Boulton, who has been badly worsted in several tilts against Sims, was very earnest in seeking to get the court to issue an injunction against Sims as the owner of the property, against Sims as the owner of the property, and Beck as the keeper. It was shown in the trial that the nearest approach which Sims had to ownership of the property was that one of his family at one time had an apparent interest in the property, but that this was long ago disposed of by a quit claim deed, there being nothing but a technical claim at the most. The case has been under advisement for a week or more. Yesterday Judge Deemer rendered his decision refusing to issue the prayed for injunction. Thus Judge Boulton goes down in another round. An Early Morning Chase.

Bang! Bang! Bang-bang! The citizens in the vicinity of the corner of Broadway and First street were startled from their slumbers about 3 o'clock yesterday morning by a number of pistol shots fired in rapid succession, and so warm was the fusilade that some of the hearers were inclined to get into their cellars as quickly as possible. It required but a very brief investigation to disclose what was the matter, as Sergeant Safely was discovered tearing up North First street at the top of his speed and blazing away with a miniature Gatling gun at an indistinct form that was scurrying out of sight in the darkness. It seems that there had been a row on "The Row." A grand jamberee was in progress at No. 119 when the patrolman on that beat, Officer McGili, felt called upon to interfere. gle handed, so he telephoned for assistance, and Sergeant Safely and Station Clerk Nicoll responded. When the trio arrived at the house the party had just broken up and the guests were leaving. The officers were not inclined to have their trip for nothing, so they levied on the first three who came alon escorted them to the patrol The prisoners were all young men, and are very respectably connected. The life that they have been leading of late entitles them to no more consideration than any other rounders, but for the sake of their relatives their names are withheld. Upon reaching the patrol box one of the officers proceeded to turn in a call for the wagon, and his prisoner took advantage of it and skipped out. The sergeant followed in close pursuit, and Clerk Nicoll was also induced to participate in the chase. Nicell, however, proved to be a first class quitter, for he stopped short as soon as the bullets began to fly

"Come on, Jim," called the sergeant.
"Not by a — sight," was the reply, "I

The fugitive was not captured, although The ingitive was not captured, although the sergeant emptied his gun twice. The other two were taken to the station and locked up, and yesterday morning pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace, and were fined $14.60. One of them had his fine paid by his and the other was allowed to languish behind the bars.

Early yesterday morning Officer Martin was sent out to capture the one who escaped and he was successful. The culprit refused to plead guilty, and will have his trial at 5 o'clock this afternoon. He sald he was not guilty and would rather have the whole truth known than try to hush t up by paying a fine.

Shortly after the two above referred to were locked up, another of the party appealed to Captain Clough to have them released. The captain suggested that they go to the station and see about it, and when they arrived there the much surprised youth was ordered locked up. He soon obtained bail, however, and was released. He will also have a hearing today, as well as a fifth member of the crowd who was nabbed about sunrise. The sixth es cancel arrest, as the officers were unable to

Mr. Candler of Massachusetts, moved, that

The house then went into committee of the whole (Mr. Payson of Illinois in the chair) on the legislative appropriation bill. Mr. Butler in a brief explanation of the bill, said that in some of the departments there was substantially a civil pension list. It consisted of a number of old persons who had faithfully served the government in the past, but who were no longer able to perform their duties. They were carried on the rolls, but were of no service to the government. The committee on appropriations had allowed an increase in the clerical force of the civil service commission substantially as re-quested by the commission.

Mr. Dockery criticised the increase. The bill provided for the appointment of 141 new officers at a cost of $161,500. Referring to the civil pension list he said that in the departments there were employed 397 persons who were wholly or partly inefficient, but who drew salaries amounting to $450,000. He be-lieved if there was new blood in the departments 1,500 clerks could be discharged, saying $1,500,000 a year.

Mr. Allen of Mississippi quoted from a speech delivered by Mr. Cannon, and used as a campaign document, declaring that the re-publican party was devoted to the country, and would, if it came into power, administer the government with greater economy, and would greatly reduce expenditures. He then quoted from the civil service plank in the re-publican party and from President Harrison's party and from President Harrison's letter of acceptance. But the republican party had gone back on its promises, and he wanted to call the attention of the country to the civil service pretensions of the administration. Mr. Allen recalled a story as showing a republican opinion of the administration. It was to the effect that meeting a republican and asking him what he thought of it he received the following reads. following reply:

Wanny runs the Sunday school; Levi runs the bar; Baby runs the white house; And d.——n'tt here we are. [Laughter.]

Mr. Bland addressed himself to a discussion of the monetary question. He had never regarded this question as a party one, but from the fact that the republicans were holding caucus after caucus it would seem they were going to make it one. Let a bill be brought in as any other business bill should be brought in, not under the gag-law of a caucus. He then proceeded to speak in favor of the unlimited coinage of silver and char acterized the Windom bill as a demonetizing bill. If the bill was not brought before a house let the responsibility rest where it be longed, on the secretary of the treasury, who assumed to frame a bill and to tell the country that unless his bill passed there should be no silver legislation.

Mr. Kerr suggested that when the democrats controlled the house in the Fiftieth congress, it had not passed an unlimited coinage

Mr. Cannon replied to Mr. Dockery's criti-cism. In view of the record of the last ad-ministration and of the last congress it seemed that the gentleman had swallowed a camel then and was now straining at gnat. In the Fiftieth congress there wer offices with an aggregate expendture of $1,164,000. The increase of salaries by the pending bill was only $50,000; the in crease made in the Fiftieth congress was $1,

Mr. Williams of Illinois criticized the republicans of the house for not bringing in a bill for the settlement of the silver avestiand thus relieving the oppressed people of the country.
Mr. Grosdenor said the anxiety manifested on the democratic side in regard to the popularity and success of the administration a good reason why republicans should be satisfied with the administration. Speaking of the civil service system, he said he could not believe the law and its administration was approved by one-fifth of the members of cither house of congress. He was told there were on the eligible list enough young men and women to fill the places for twenty-flye years to come, yet young men and women in his district were capited and urged to spend time and money in being examined, when the men who issued the invitations knew the chances were not one in a thousand that they would get a position.

Mr. Lodge defended the civil service law and resented its being characterized as a humbing and a fraud.

Without finishing the bill the committee rose and the house adjourned.

Senate.

Washington, April 22.--In the senate today Mr. Cockrell offered a resolution, which was agreed to, directing the superintendent of the census to communicate to the senate forms of the rules and regulations adopted by him for obtaining statistics as to farm mort-

Mr. Plumb's resolution heretofore offered for the increasing of the treasury purchase and coinage of silver was presented and Mr. Eustis moved as an addition to it a further resolution that the free coinage of silver is essential to a sound financial policy and was demanded by all the great interests of the country, and that therefore all laws limiting the column of silver ought to be repealed.

Mr. Plumb consented to let the resolution lie over for the present, so as to give Mr. Mitcheil an opportunity to address the senate.

Mr. Mitcheil addressed the senate in favor of the constitutional amendment proposed by him for the election of senators by popular Atready fifteen changes had made in the constitution and who could say any of them was not well advised. All of these amendments led up logically to the pending proposition. The present system of electing senators he declared unrepublican and vicious. It was a declared unrepublican and vicious, it was a declaration that for some reason it was unsafe to commit the election of senators to a vote of the people and a reflection on the honesty or capacity or both of the voting classes. Among other things Mr. Mitchell declared secret executive sessions no longer in harmony with the spirit of as no longer in harmony with the spirit of the age. It was a relic of monarch, and should find no recognition in a republic. At the conclusion of Mr. Mitchell's remarks the resolution was referred to the committee on The house amendment on the national zoological park bill was agreed to and the bill now roes to the president.

VANCE'S WAREHOUSE SCHEME. The National Farmers' Alliance Claims

it as its Own. Washington, April 22. The senate committee on agriculture and forestry had under consideration Senator Vance's bill to provide for a system of warehouses for farm produce throughout the country to be operated by the government, which is to issue its notes upon government, which is to issue its notes upon the deposits of grain therein.

Colonel Polk, president of the National Farmers' alliance, read a long argument in support of the measure, which he said was formulated by a committee for that purpose by a convention of the National Farmers' by a convention of the National Farmers Alliance and Industrial alliance, held in St. Louis, December 3, 1880. He sketched the decline in agricultural values in the face of the marvelous progress and development of other industries and interests during the past two decades, and insisted that something should be done for the farmer. He charged the fault upon the financial system of the government, which had resulted in high grices for money and low prices for products. He suggested that as a remedy silver be r stored to its place as a money metal, with al rights of coinage and all qualities of legal tender which gold possesses, the issue of sufficient amounts of currency direct to the people at a low rate of interest to meet the legitimate demands of the business of the ountry and which shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private, and to secure to such issues equal dignity with the money metals, by leasing it on real, tangible and Colonel Polic was followed by Dr. C. W. McCune, chairman of the national committee on legislation of the alliance, who addressed himself more particularly to the merits and details of the system of warehouses as out-lined in the bill. He asserted that merchandisc thus stored would not deteriorate in value, and that the system had proved feas-ible and practical in California, where the Grangers' bank in 1889 loaned $1,000,000 or cortificates issued to farmers on wheat de posited in warehouses and owned by them,

The Milwaukee Millionaire Seizes the Gothenburg Company's Property.

These facts have been fully established many times during the past fifteen years and may be depended upon
