Parties wishing lots are requested to report their choice at once, as the season is at hand when decisions should be promptly made that work can be done without delay. Every one will see that long privileges cannot be given to interfere with the sale of lots. First come, first served. E. Harkness, Manager.

Complaint is again made of vandalism in Fairview cemetery. Tombstones are being used as targets for rifle practice, and several fine slabs have been sadly disfigured. Some of the descerated graves are those of old soldiers and the Grand Army of the Republic post proposes to make it warm for the wanton wretches who are the guilty parties. The authorities will heartily co-operate with them in meteing out punishment. The Dodge Light Guards will elect a captain next Saturday evening. The election was to have been held Monday evening, but owing to the fact that the rule requiring the posting of a notice in the armory six days be-fore the election had not been complied with, a postponement was necessary. It has been agreed upon that Colonel D. B. Daily will be elected to fill the vacancy that has existed since the resignation of Captain A. W. Cowles.

The articles of incorporation of the Royal Neighbors of America were filed yesterday with the county recorder. The members are those who have heretofore been known as the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Modern Woodmen of America. The object of the order is to bind the members more closely to-gether and to establish subordinate lodges in other cities and towns. The wives, mothers, daughters, sisters and widows of Woodmen are made eligible. The incorporators are Lillian J. Huff, Mary L. Kirkland, Missouri P. Hayden, Sallie P. Hennesy, Emma L. # He Tells What He Knows About Prohibitton in Iowa. KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 27 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: Having just returned from a two-months' trip through the northern and middle counties of Iowa, and having witnessed the workings of prohibition in a prohibition state, I was impressed with many facts of interest which it would be well for the people of Nebraska to consider before the question is presented to them to vote on at the coming election in November. Prohibition does not prohibit. It does not prevent the use of liquors as a beverage, nor never will so long as they are manufac tured. It simply inconveniences the people a little by compelling them to send for it either to a neighboring state, to get it from a drug store or a "joint," or through a "bootlegger." In all those cases vile compounds unfit for the stomach are paid for at exhorbitant prices. The procuring of it from an-other state means confiscation if discovered; from a drug store means lying and perjury; from a "joint," deception and trickery: from a "bootlegged," a premium on depravity. No town that I have visited was without those avenues of selection open to them, and the result is demoralization. Counties are put to have avenues in datacting and meyering heavy expense in detecting and preventing men from illegally selling it, and there is no compensating return for the outlay involved. In a prohibition town in Iowa you have seven days in the week to study up ways and means to get away, for so far as business en-terprise is concerned it is only a recollection of the past. Vacant buildings and depreciaof the past. Vacant buildings and depreda-tion of property is what is left in many places where once was a thriving, bustling, go-ahead community. The great majority of business men deplore the fact and many tell me they are only waiting a chance to sell what property they have and move from a state where they have lived many years, a state grand h its resources, and magnificent in its possi bilities Nebraska must not make the mistake of catering to the wishes of a few fanatics. She is recognized as having one of the best license laws that has yet been conceived by human minds and formed by human hands. All the safeguards of a stringent legislation are thrown around the seller, the consequence of a violation of which would be a repeal of his right to sell; and he is not going to jeopardize his position by headless it is not going to joint use his position by headless risks. Let Nebraska retain her present license laws; let her see that no disreputable person is given a license to sell; close up the low dives; in short let the matter be looked at from the broadest standpoint, and the result will be that this giant young state which has made such bounding progress in the past, will continue to advance in prosperity, and her people be saved the depression and retrogreson which exists all over the state of Iowa today. is to lay the sidewalk to a temporary or estab-lished grade. Unless the resolution as drafted and as passed by the city council conforms to the re-quirements of section 3 its publication will not justify the levy of the special tay to pay for sidewalks, and the resolution must be pub-lished as passed by the city council. No affect has power to laterfere with it after it has come from that body. All these resolutions in respect to sidewalks should really pass through the hands of the city engineer or the board of public works before being introduced in the council. Chairman Balcombe encloses this letter to the city council with the following pertinent remarks:

Tregard to state that since this board was required to direct and superintend this work a large number of the orders from your hon-orable body ordering repair or construction of walks have nothed the semblance of a com-pliance with the law as expounded by the city attorney, hence they have failed to accomplish the desired end because this office must fol-low the instructions of the city attorney. "This is intended as a reply to a resolution passed the last session of your honrahle body which, by implication, charges that this office is not prompt in performing its duties as to this subject matter and to respectfully stated that the above is the rightful explanation of all apparent delay. "Furthermore it should be remembered that this board has been in charge of the sidewalk officers for only about three weeks and that repairs of old walks or the construction of new ones cannot be ordered until after the expla-nation of the lawfully published fifteen days' notice to property owners and two weeks sub-sequent time given to the constructor to lay spacified walks.

The Vags Won't Work.

The chain gang is getting to be a rather expensive organization as it is at present maintained. There seems to be a disposition to make it a veritable chain gang, and make every member carry a ball and chain, and that is what causes the trouble. Under the old system, where the prisoner was not manacled in case he was willing to work, the irons were seldom used. They were kept for refractory individuals who were dispo-be sulky and make trouble. Even in sed to cases a half day was generally sufficient to bring the obstreperous prisoner to terms, and he was then willing to take a shovel or hoe and go to work. In this way the chain gang was operated with profit to the city, as the prisoners had to be fed, and the work performed by them amounted to much more than did the salary All this of the officer who worked them. however, is now changed, and all because there is a disposition to make every member wear a chain. The majority of the prisoners ould rather work than wear the chain, but if they must wear the chain anyway, they will not do any work. For the past two days three members of the gang have been in froms and have done nothing but stand around. Monday there was but one who worked, and there was but one who worked, and the other three stood watching him, flanked by the officer who has charge of the gang. Two of those in irons stated that they would gladly work if their irons were removed, but their manacles were not removed simply because it was were not removed simply because it was feared that they would get away from the officer. This officer is Mr. Wyatt, the detective who recently figured in such a variety of disguises, but who has since then dropped to patrolman and finally to municipal slave driver. The question very naturally arises whether it would not be a stroke of economy to put a man in charge of the gang who would be able to keep them without having them chained and weighted so that the city could derive some benefit from their work

As the vags are now worked it is simply adding the cost of a guard to the regular board bill, and the city is receiving no ade-quate return. Heretofore the city has man-aged to make the vags a source of profit, but if the ball and chain continues to figure so prominently the maintenance of the gang will be rather of the nature of a luxury.

be done to help the agricultural and laboring classes sooner or better than the free coinage of silver. John Thompson, the veteran banker of New York, and a man in favor of silver because it is the money for the people, Savs:

"It is wicked that the people shall be made to pay very nearly double the cost of contraction caused by the demonetization of silver. The people are fast learning that the money value of their property is shrinking because of that contraction."

This is the condition of the laboring and agricultural classes today. They have bought, and some of them on borrowed money, homes, stock, and all they possess, at times when geld and silver were at par, and now when our currency has been contracted one-half or more they are obliged to pay for them when money is worth double what it was at time of purchase, so that virtually they have to pay just twice the amount they contracted become prices. That is food for farmers to meditate upon Since the year 1873, when silver was demone-tized, eighteen years ago, the farmers have seen their property and surplus grow less in value year by year while the value of gold has grown greater in the same ratio. Right here I would like to say in regard to railroad rates, that we pay virtually the same rates that we did when money was plenty. Gold money is the railroad magnate's money and he will have no other. and demands that even the gold shall be coined since 1882 for fear of loss in weight. Since 1872 the value of their property has een increasing and with few exceptions farmers have been paying them the same rate since that date so that their value has remained the same, while the value of the pro-ducer have been going down until at the pres-ent time the price of the producers surplus has fallen so low that its value is not equal to the freight rates on it across the state; until ow in this bountiful year of 1890 the people have been compelled to cry for mercy through their governor.

Lord Beaconsfield in a speech before the house of lords said: "I attribute the great monetary disturbance which is now to a cer-tain extent acting injuriously to trade, to the great change which the governments of Eu-rope are making in reference to the standard of value. It is the greatest delusion in the world to attribute our commercial proponder-ance and prosperity to our having a gold stan-dard. Gold is every day appreciating in val-ue, and as it appreciates in value the lower become prices."

And in the face of all this the report of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy system gives a return of $26,778,000, and the larger proportion of this comes from the farmers any trouble then to tell where the pr the farm go, when the salaries of the high officers of the road exceed the pay roll of the laborers, leaving a sum of net earnings that n one year would rebuild all the public schools in Nebraska? But President Perkins thinks the people are unjust and niggardly toward the railroads and says the present returns do not encourage the investment of additional capital. In the face of all this will the farmers vote to send men to congress to further augment their trouble! I am positive they will not. While the money powers will use all the means within their reach to keep the sil ver from coming into power the voters will not support a class who are against them in this question of the adoption of a standard silver dollar of equal value with gold and free coinage the same as gold. This would swell the currency of the coun-

This would swell the currency of the coun-try until the people would not have to depend upon drafts, checks and letters of credit. The advantage to the farmers would be to raise the price of their surplus and other property until they could still benefit the railroads by doubling their shipments at the same ratio they pay now, and the benefits to the laborers would be very great by the increase of wages. For, the more men that have work the higher would the wages be. Thus can the alliance and labor parties attain their wants without in-jury to any party or corporation by demandinto parties attain their wants willout if jury to any party or corporation by demand-ing at the hands of their senators and con-gressmen an increase in the circulating me-dium of the country, the free coimage of sil-ver. A Philadelphia woman quotes Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes as saying that everybody in the United States writes everybody in the United States writes poetry, says the Boston Advertiser, "Every mail," he says, "brings to him volumes of verse, which he is expected to read and acknowledge." This is a reminder of an anecdote which Dr. Holmes once told the writer. "A man, said he, "once sent me a copy of some verses which he had written and asked my critical opinion of them. He was an
