The Stockyards Coopers' Trouble Likely to be Made an International Affair-A Walkout in Denver.

CHICAGO, May 5 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-The great carpenters' strike is finally settled so far as the new bosses' association is concerned. Fully four thousand journeymen carpenters will go to work by Thursday.

The arbitration committee of the new bosses' association and the strikers met this evening and settled the last detail.

The journeymen achieved almost a sweeping victory. They made concessions on but two points.

The only disappointment was that the stub-bornness of the old Masters' association has left its members wholly out of the final deal.

The official statement of the terms of settlement will not be issued until tomorrow, but it is reliably stated that the document provides for an eight-hour day. Over-time is only to be allowed between certain stipulated hours at night.

The minimum rate of wages is fixed at 35 pents an hour up to August 1, and thereafter at 37% cents. Over-time will be rated at time and a half and Sunday time as double

In the matter of apprentices concessions were made by both sides. The employers agree to employ union men even for foremen. A strike among the flagmen stationed at A strike among the flagmen stationed at the crossings of the Fort Wayne and Western Indiana roads is contemplated. There are about forty employes in all and they receive 97 cents a day. Last week they presented a petition to the manager of the two lines named asking for an increase in wages. The demand has been ignored and I hence the talk of a strike. The men claim that the flagmen of other roads secure all the way from $1.25 to $1.50 per day. At a meeting of the Brotherhood of United Labor, today a com-Brotherhood of United Labor, today a com-mittee was appointed to communicate with John Burns, the English labor leader, and to request him to order the English long-shoremen not to handle any beef or other products shipped by Chicago houses. The men in an open letter say that by the terms of their agreement, signed after the great strike of 1856, they are sub-ject to discharge without warning, while in case of quitting they must give two weeks' notice or forfeit ten days' pay, which the employers withhold. Sometimes they say they are only given two or three days' work per week, but are compelled to remain or lose their forfeit money. They are compelled to

In form for a conference committee. I asked Chairman Morrill of the house committee todayhow much time would be required for the conference committee to complete its work. He said that after the conference committee once began business there would be little, if any, delay. He did not anticipate any pro-longed discussion of the matter, but expected the conferees on the part of the two houses to easily agree upon a bill which would meet the approval of the senate and house, and that, in his opinion, the president's signature will be attached to the bill within the next four or five weeks. A careful canvass of sev-eral other prominent members of the house pension committee developed the fact that they all expect to see an early agreement on the pension question and that not more than four or five weeks at the very farthest will be re-required to get the measure before the presi-dent for his approval. The Morrill bill as passed by the house, provides for an addi-tional expenditure above the regular pension appropriations of about $50,000,000 a year, while the senate bill only calls for an extra outlay of $38,000,000. The disagreement be-tween the two branches of congress is not, however, over the question of expenditure. Senator Davis, chairman of the committee, says that he expects to see in the pension

The effort is being made by citizens of Lincoln to have a pension agency established there so that the pensioners in Nebraska may draw their money from a local agency instead of receiving it from the agency at Des Moines. The proposition lacks the endorsement of cither the commissioner of pensions or the secretary of the interior, and it is not likely that a pension agency will be established there. There is an inclination to abolish pension agencies wherever it is possible and pension agencies wherever it is possible and let the drafts for pensions go out from the office in Washington direct.

The Inter-Ocean today commenting upon the case says: "The fellow has influential friends, it is said, and they are straining themselves to secure for him an acquittal when the case shall come up before the crimiirrigation of the arid plains of North and South Dakota, Montana and the northwest, and that the money will be used in boring artesian wells in what is supposed to be the artesian basin of that country. They say that North and South Dakota have already nal court today. Friends are useful or use less, according to the cause which they less, according to the cause which they exponse, and surely no one will have the hardihood to assume that Crow's friends can aid him in his extremity. His friends are the enemies of the public when they array themselves against the operation of justice. Crow comes from Omaba; so do his friends, and the rumor is that Crow's lawyer will set up the plea of insanity for his client. Up-holders of the law in Deadwood, when it was a vonneer town, and other places, have demonstrated a sufficient artesian power to make not only irrigation but the artesian process practicable, but that any quantity of power for manufac-turing purposes can be obtained by tapping the artesian basin. Senator Moody says that the people interested in the irrigation of the arid plains will not be content with a simple ario plans will not be content with a simple survey of the country to be irrigated, but will demand a sufficient amount of money to begin work on irrigation and will take a position which will make it next to an impossibility to a younger town, and other places, have strung up blackguards like Crow when they exhibited symptoms of insanity analagous to this recent adventure of his, and no one ques-tioned the righteousness of the penalty. But accomplish anything in congress unless the demand is granted. The conclusion of the sub-committee of the tioned the righteousness of the penalty. But in the more populous cities, bullies like Crow have need of the softening effects which the house committee on irrigation to accept Mr. Connell's proposition to withdraw from the market the basin lands which supply basin insanity dodge gives to their culpability, and it often serves the purpose of a stout defense. But Crow was not crazy. He was not crazy irrigation for the arid plains meets with general approval and there is very little doubt that it will take the form of a law. It is the when he stole the diamonds and had murder in his heart that he might successfully steal. He was not crazy when he pawned the diapurpose now of congress to protect settlers against corporations which secure the water supply of the country and make free irriganeeds and he was not crazy when he held a crowd of infuriated citizens at bay with the gnn with which he hadshot two police officers who attempted his capture. Mr. Pat Crow was not insune " tion an impossibility. The government in-tends to enter into the irrigation business itself and will hold the water basins for that was not insane.'

May Bangs Allowed Alimony, but Her Husband Says She "Worked" Him.

CHICAGO, May 5 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-The alimony claim of May Bangs of New York, the spiritualistic medium, against her alleged husband, Henry H. Graham, was decided today. Before the case is ended it is expected to develop some interesting features, not the least of which is an attack by Graham on the genuineness of Miss Bangs' mediumistic pretensions. Miss Bangs claims that Graham inveigled her into a wock marriage in New York, and that she did not find it was not a valid union until a year afterward. Then she made him marry her regularly in Racine, after which she said he treated her cruelly and she left him. Graham's side of the story is a denial that he ever engaged in a mock marriage and he said that he married Miss Bangs in Racine while he was intoxicated and charged that she drogged him. He claimed that she had worked on his grief for his first wife and had played the "spiritual" game on him, pre-tending to communicate with Mrs. Graham in spirit land. Graham characterized her as esting features, not the least of which is an in spirit land. Graham characterized her as an impostor. He introduced affidavits to show that Miss Graham was in no need what ever of alimony or solicitors' fees, being in possession of a competency of her own. He also charged her with infidelity with F. C. Morehead of New York. Judge Collins thought that Mrs. Graham had made a sufficient showing to entitle her to alimony he allowed her $5 a week for support and $50 solicitors' fees.

Motion Temporarily Denied.

CHICAGO, May 5 .- Judge Blodgett today denied temporarily the motion to make Maurice D. O'Connell a party complainant in the suit of M. K. Jessup, trustee, against the Illinois Central, Cedar Falls & Minnesota and the Dubuque & Sioux City railroad companies. The court, however, gave O'Connell leave to renew his motion when it is reached, for a hearing. The motion was based on the petition, which contains some serious allegations. Jessup some time ago began in his ca pacity of trustee proceedings to compel the Sionx City and the Illinois Central railroad to fulfill their contract on the leases made by the Cedar Falls & Minnesota road. The contracts provided that the lessees should keep the road beds in repair and the plants in operation. The suits are said to have never been prosecuted. O'Connell's pe-tition alleges that neglect is caused by Jessup being interested in the Dubuque road, which is affiliated with the Illinois central. O'Con nell is the trustee of a mortgage executed by the Cedar Falls & Minnesota road and claims to be ready and anxious to push the suits, adding that there is every reason to believe that the Illinois Central can be held responsible.

gram to THE BEE.]-Reports received today from Lander, in Fremont county, state that at the ferry on the Big Wind river last Friday H. M. Pierce shot and fatally wounded George B. Tate. Both were cowboys in the employ of large cattle companies. The trouble was on account of a saddle which Piorce claims Tate stole from him. St. Paul's Municipal Contest. ST. PAUL, Minn., May 5 .- [Special Tele-gram to THE BER.]-Tonight ended the bitterest fight in twenty years and tomorrow a large percentage of the 34,164 registered voters will express their wishes by the Australian system, its first trial on a large scale in Minnesota, though the law was enacted in February, 1889. The candidates for mayor are Robert A. Smith, the present democratic and Newton R. Frost, prohibition and law and order. The issues are purely local, and the campaign has been one of mud slinging from the outset. The Pioneer Press, the leading republican paper of the state, bolted Colonel Klefer and boldly charged him with being a liar and dishonest in his business methods, printing a long list of affidavits to prove its charges Mr. Kiefer bestirred himself and secured a committee of business men to examine the charges, and this body exonerated him. This set the tide of public feeling strongly in favor of Colonel Kiefer, and his chances of election are reported bright. The republican commit-tee made a careful estimate of the whole city by wards this afternoon and places Colonel Kiefer's majority at 1,000. This claim is based on the belief that the Germans and the labor element will stand pretty solidly by the colonel. At democratic headquarters there is
