Two Sunday salconkeepers found their business this week and were yesterday required to contribute liberally for indulging in the forbidden pleasure. Colonel D. B. Dailey, the newly elected commanding officer of the Dodge Light Guards, attended the first regular drill of the company since his election, at the armory last evening, and gave the boys some pointers on what they didn't know. He is bound to have the crack company of the fifth regi-ment, and indications are that his efforts in that direction will be attended with success.

Alderman Lacy has the thanks of the rerespective of the daily papers for his thoughtful action of last evening in their behalf. In the past it has been the custom of the council chamber habitues to appropriate the chairs set apart for the newspaper men to their own use, and the scribes have been compelled to roost on the platform if they happened to get in late. They will appreciate the move to protect their rights in this direction.

A boy by the name of Roy Mason started for Manawa yesterday on a hunting trip, but when near the southern city limits an inquisitive dog began to inspect the workmanship displayed by the tailor on his trousers. T boy resented the familiarity with a charge buckshot which missed the dog and lodged in neighboring blucksmith. The blacksmith was not pleased with the result, and the result of his displeasure is that the youthful sportsman is now awaiting trial for discharging firearms inside limits.

Today work will be commenced on a dam ncross Mosquito creek near Manawa, to turn the waters of the creek into the lake. The water in Pelican lake is so low that the flume water in Felican lake is so low that the numer from that body of water to Manawa is use-less. It is desired to raise Manawa about two feet higher, and this can easily be done by turning the water of the creek. The work will not be expensive and will take very little time. There is enough water in the lake now for all practical purposes, but the steamboat men want more water over the bars.

A special train of Presbyterians came esterday afternoon over the Union Pacific ad left at 4 'clock over the Northwestern for Chicago. It consisted of eight sleepers, a day coach and a baggage car. There were 185 of the tourists on board. They were mostly from San Francisco, all being from the Pa-cific coast. They are en route east for a visit with friends, and got up the excursion to get reduced rates. About one hundred of them will go east of Chicago. The train is only chartered one way, and the tourists will return home as convenience may direct before the expiration of the limit of their tickets.

Carson for Congress. "Who will succeed Judge Carson on the district bench?" inquired THE BEE yesterday of a republican leader of the Second ward who is supposed to be an encyclopedia on political matters. "Walter I. Smith," was the positive reply. "There is no question but that he can have it if he wants it, and he has announced his willingness in that direction, Judges Deemer and Thornell will both be re-elected, Judge Macy holds over, and Judge Smith will complete the judicial quartette on the district bench."

Well, but what are you going to do with Oh, there will be a congressional vacancy this fall, and Judge Reed will not be a candidate for re-election."
"You don't think that Judge Carson will be successor, do you!"

I do think that very thing, and my opinion is based on very good grounds."

"But it has been supposed that there was no show whatever for a Pottawattamic county man in the congressional race this fall."

"I thought so myself until recently, but I have had reason to change my mind. I still believe that aside from Carson it will be impossible for a man from this county to secure the nomination, but I think he stands fully as good a chance as anybody who has been men-tioned in the district. Carson is a very popular man all over the district, and numbers his friends by the hundred. I understand that he proposes to enter the race, and if he does he will make it very entertaining for some of them. I believe he is the only man who can get a solid delegation from this county, and that means a great deal in the Ninth district convention. When it comes to the fight on the floor of the con-yention, Carson will also have a very heavy packing from outside and will have much backing from outside, and will have backing from outside, and will have much more than a good fighting chance. Of course, it is impossible to tell in advance just what a convention will do, but I am satisfied that Carson will make a very creditable showing.

"Oh, how I pity that poor fellow," exclaimed one of the Broadway corner ornaments yesterday afternoon as Patroiman Sandel passed along. "It was a downright shame to punish him that way, just because he let a couple of vags get away. If they had only given him a regular lay-off for a week or ten days it would have been all right, but they made him lay aside his uniform without any other restriction. That was a cruel, heartless thing to do. It is just like taking away a boy's Sunday pants when he fairly adores them, simply because of some little act of dis-obedience. Reformers at Work. Alderman Smith, chairman of the commit tee on police and health, was at the city building yesterday looking over the bills representing the expenses of his department for the past month. There was quite a stack of bills and he settled himself very comfortably for several hours' work, He examined them very carefully and at the bottom of each appended an official "O. K." over his signa-when he looked at it. The list of names sub-mitted was a lengthy one, and it would seem at the first glance that Council Bluffs had a mitted was a lengthy one, and it would seem at the first glance that Council Bluffs had a very good sized police force.

"What does this mean!" demanded the alderman from the Fourth ward. "We limited the force to eighteen men, and here are thirty-one names on this list who are to draw pay for police work during one month."

It was explained to him that the numerous changes made during the past few weeks accounted for the number of men, but that the size of the force had not been increased and the sum total of the pay roll had not been in-creased. Mr. Smith was still inclined to be suspicious and glancing at the footing at the bottom of the page, "$1.480.03," he muttered under his breath, and then seized a pencil and egan to figure.

Eighteen men at $70 a month would be 280, and $90 for the chief makes $1,350. Where does that extra $130 come in !"

"Did you count in the chief's cierk!" in-uired Auditor Lange. quired Anditor Lange.

"Chief's clerk be hanged. We never told him he could have a clerk," snorted the reform aldernan. "Cary is taking altogether too many liberties, and will have to be called down. Here is pay for two extra men on the list somewhere, and this bill won't go

"The mayor can put all the men on the force that he wants to, and we will have to pay 'em,' volunteered Alderman Casper, chairman of the fire committee, who was looking over another batch of bills in the auditor's office.

"Don't you believe it," replied Mr. Smith He can pick the men but we have the say of now many there shall be. If it was as you say, and we didn't have any say-so at all, the mayor could put on more men than there are on the Omaha force, and they could all draw on the Omana force, and they come an unit we their pay. You're away off on that, and we mustn't let this bill go through. Now then, when it is read tonight you just get up and ask whether the chairman of the police commission knows anything about it, and then I will tell the council what's the matter with

"Got up and tell it without waiting for somebody else to interfere. What do you want to shoulder all the responsibility off on some one clse for! I will have enough to attend to to look after the fire department without mixing up in what properly belongs to you. I want to know what is going to be done about buying a new hose wagon. If we don't have some-thing in that line I shall make a motion to abandon the new fire house on Lower Broadway. There are five men stationed there, and all they have is the old hook and ladder truck and a lumber wagon. The wagon is so rickety that it is unsafe to drive out of a walk, and the apparatus is, therefore, use-less. It don't do the city any good, and there is no need of paying out money for keeping

"We ought to have a hose wagon, and no mistake," admitted the representative of the mistake, and the honored Smith family. I am in favor of buying the one that is now on exhibition here, unless we can get one at home that will be just as good and for the same price. A Kansas City firm has put in a bid, and I understand that they are very low. I will help you out in your hose wagon business, even if you did go back on me a few minutes ago," and the magnanimous alder-man resumed his checking, and the silence that ensued was so thick that you could dissect it with a coal shovel.

City Council Proceedings.

There was an audience at the council meeting last night that filled all the seats, even those reserved for reporters. The award of bids for paving, grading, sidewalks, etc., was the cause for the unusual outpouring. The mayor and all the aldermen were present. Reports from the city weighmaster, poll tax collector and auditor were received and referred to the finance committee.

The auditor reported in favor of collecting $5,400 due from the motor and bridge company for paving between the tracks at intersections and the city attorney was instructed to proceed in collecting the same.
Attorney Haldano's injunction case restraining the collection of certain special assessments was referred to the city attorney. The committee on streets and alloys re-ported in favor of removing the sidewalks

"The gas company is about as nervy as you find 'em," said City Auditor Lange yesterday. They have been paid in general fund warrants, just the same as others who furnish anything to the city, but they are not satisfied. They almost bother my life out of me coming in here and kicking because they are not paid in cash. Warrants are good enough for everybody else—even the city officials are paid that way, but the gas company feels offended when they are not offered cash. It would be different if they were not making anything out of what they sell, but they get a big percentage of profit, and then insist on cash. I suppose they will tackle the council on that very thing tonight, but they ought to be called down. Our cash 'fund is very small, and we ought to keep it to pay the claims of outside parties and keep up the credit of the city. I like to see folks who know when they have a good thing, and not keep kicking because they can't have the Reporter Crawford Says the Ex-President Was Correctly Interviewed. NEW YORK, May 5.- Special Telegram to THE BEE. - Frederick C. Crawford, the reporter of the World who interviewed Grover Cleveland on Editor Dana, has written a letter to the editor of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, in which he impugns Cleveland's verncity and affirms the truthfulness of the interview as printed. Crawford's interview, at the dictation of powerful politicians, was repudiated by the World, which went back on its reporter and made a statement that its news was faked, all for the sake of helping Cleveland out of a tight place. The credit of this unusual, indeed almost unprecedented, action on the part of the paper is to be given ex-Secretary of the Navy Whitney, who brought his personal and business "pull" to bear on the World, and succeeded. The World had convicted itself of faking even when it knew that it had told but the truth. Crawford is a newspaper man of several years' experience and has done a large amount of interviewing, and says that this case is the first one in which his inter-views have been disputed.

Crawford speaks of Cleveland's repudiation of the interview, and uses these words near the beginning of his letter: "I assert, on my honor, that Mr. Cleveland was correctly reported in the interview in question. He was not misrepresented in any particular. I did not write out all that Mr. Cleveland said, but what I did write was a faithful and accurate report of his conversation. Much of what was omitted was simply unprintable in any respectable journal." Crawford tells very minutely the particu-lars of the interview. The city editor showed him the Washington story in the Sun, to the effect that Cleveland was gaining flesh at the rate of twenty-five pounds a month, and told him to go and interview Cleveland. He went to Cleveland's law office and sent in his card as reporter. They had a three-quarter of an hour's talk. Cleveland spoke freely and deliberately and seemed to be in a perfectly recovery. be in a perfectly normal condition. Craw-ford spoke of the Sun article. Cleveland said he had not seen it, had never read the Sun, and wouldn't touch it with tongs. Then Crawford gave him the gist of it, and Cleveland, straightening up, "made use of a pro-fane expression reflecting on the chastity of Mr. Dana's mother." Cleveland then launched into a vigorous denunciation of Dana, calling him a blackguard, vagabond and dastardly scoundrel. "He also characterized him as a senile old liar and thief," with the addition of a profane prefix. There was considerable profanity throughout the interview, but none of this was published. When the interview had lasted some time Cleveland asked how much of his talk Crawford was going to write up, and, taking up a pad, said: "I will write a little something to guide you." He then wrote a few lines, closing: "He (Dana) must be his own judge of social decencies and proprieties. I am not sure that he should at this time of life and in his apparently peculiar mental condition be molested in his amusement." Part of the inmolested in his amusement." Part of the interview Cleveland did no write, but spoke.

He alluded to his wife, and said Dana had not confined his attacks to himself. He made war on women as well as men. The attacks on Mrs. Cleveland had not been made openly or directly, but by Mr. Dana's favorite method—innuendo. "Cleveland said distinctly," says Crawford, "the — old thief, Dana, has not hesitated to drag my wife's Dana, has not hesitated to drag my wife's name into his scurrilous attacks. The man who makes war on women infamous. Cleveland spoke with considerable feeling in referring to the un-warranted use that had been made of Mrs. Cleveland infamous.' Cleveland's name by the malignant editor. If Dana was not in his dotage, with one foot In the grave, his scalle ravings would attract more attention. The public is disposed to look with some leniency on a man that has paresis. This was all that saved Dana from being head to a strict account for his atrocious conduct,

Crawford closes by saying that nothing was said to the effect that any portion of the Interview was private, and declares he could have no possible motive for misrepresenting the ex-president.

FREAKS OF THE TORNADO.

A Large Flock of Sheep Apparently Blown Out Into Space. Mr. G. W. Doyle of Smithfield, Henry

county, was in the city yesterday, and told of some remarkable freaks per-formed by the tornado in his neighborhood, for the truth of which he vouches aysothe Louisville Courier-Journal. About one mile west of Eminence lives Mr. James Drane, a prosperous farmer. His farm was directly in the path of the tornado. A Mr. Maddox and child, who lived on the place, were killed by a fai ing house, and Mr. Drane's residence was unroofed and his barns demolished! But the most singular occurrence was that a large flock of sheep on the farm was picked bodily up by the wind and blown away. The sheep were missed the day following the storm and diligent search was made for them all over the surrounding country, but no trace of the animals could be found. So thorough was the search that it left no doubt in the minds of those engaged in it that the sheep were actually blowr out of the neighborhood.

A few miles further on from the Drane farm a sink hole was found, into which the tornado had disgorged itself; but had evidently held on to its mutton, as none of the sheep were found in the Into this hole the tor-had dropped a large nado had quantity of aiticles, some which had certainly been brought a long distance, as they were unknown to the people of that locality. The article attracting most attention was a large,

elegantly carved pulpit,
None of the churches in that neighborhood had lost a pulpit, and among them all such a fine one could not have been found, even had the tornado gone around and selected the best. Beside the pulpit was a large quantity of bed clothing, mattresses, feather beds, pillows, comfortables, sheets, etc. The bulk was held down by a number of tin roofs, which also must have come a long way, as the roofs of that section were made of shingles.

HOUSEHOLD WORDS ALL OVER EUROPE.

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA

Now that its manufacturers are drawing the attention of the American public to this first and, ever since its invention, the best of all cocoas, it will soon be appreciated here as well as elsewhere all over the world. All that the manufacturers request is simply one trial, or, still better, a comparative test with whatever other cocoa it may be; then VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA itself will convince every one of its great superiority. It is because of this superiority that the English paper Health, says: "Once tried, always used."

To avoid the evil effects of Tea and Coffee, use constantly VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA, which is a STRENGTHENER of the NERVES and a refreshing and nourishing beverage. [54]
