The Lora Ziegler Case. The soldiers, Gaither and Cress, had the continuation of their examination on the charge of rape under the act of 1877 vesterday afternoon. It was understood that eviwas to be introduced, but when the case was called the counsel for the soldiers came forward with an act providing that only federal courts could deal with soldiers committing an courts could deal with soldiers committing an offense or crime on a government reservation. The crime was alleged to have been committed at Fort Omaha, a government reservation, and the prisoners were, with the consent of County Attorney Mahoney, committed to the care of the post authorities to be produced when demanded by the federal courts.

Daughters of the King.

A very delightful reception was given by the King's Daughters society of Trinity cathedral in the crypt of the cathedral last night to the members of the same order in other parishes of the city and Council Bluffs and South Omaha. From the last named places there were nearly one hundred guests riAt the beginning of the evening a few remarks were made by Dean Gardner, welcoming the visitors, followed by a more extended address by Rev. Mr. Mackay of Council Bluffs, commendatory of the work of the society.

After this vocal solos were rendered by Miss Clarkson, Mrs. George Gould and Mr. Archie Pratt, and later in the evening refreshments were served. The evening was one of the greatest pleasure to those who participated.

Counting the Mail. This premises to be a busy week with the clerks in the postoffice, as under recent instructions from the postmaster general, Postmaster Gallagher is instructed to make an accurate count of the number of pieces of mail matter that passes through the office. In addition to this the mail must be weighed, on account of the postage paid thereon, together with the class to which the mail belongs.

The count is similar to one that is being ade in all of the offices of the United States, and is made that the postmaster genera' may know the amount of buiness that each office

Coroner Jurors' Fees.

Chairman Berlin of the county commis-sioners' committee on judiciary received communication from County Attorney Mahoney in which the latter states his opinion as to the county paying coroner juror and witness fees, as given exclusively in THE BEE last week.

As previously stated, Mr. Mahoney says that the statutes make no provision for the payment of such fees and that they could not be collected in an action against the county The statutes do provide, however, that per sons summoned as jurors or witnesses by the coroner and who fall to attend can be attached for contempt. As such jurors and witnesses serve under compulsion, Mr. Ma-honey says that he believes the board has a discretionary power to pay them the same fees as are allowed in other inferior tribunals, viz., $1 per day.

Yiz., $1 per day.

Two or three members of the board have expressed themselves as, at first thought, being opposed to paying these fees, notwithstanding the opinion of Mr. Mahoney, though no formal action has been taken.

The Omaha Smelter Misrepresented by a Montana Writer.

An official of the Omaha smelter, to whom the dispatch in another column was shown, said that it evidently shielded the facts. "Somebody," he said, "wanted to make a stab at the railroads, and took this means of doing it. We have never had an advantage in rates or any-thing else over either of those smelters. The thing else over either of those smelters. The trouble with them has been that they never had the facilities to compete with centrally-located works. While we get lots of ore from Montana and do considerable business with these concerns, there has never been an agent of ours in that territory.

"Another trouble arises from the fact that two smelters were trying to live on just about enough business to support one. Furthermore, they were started as a speculation and or the purpose of creating a real estate

or the purpose of creating a real estate

This is plainly evident because there can no field for such plants in a coun-not located right for drawing siness from far away stations. We have big advantages here, because we get our raw material from Mexico and British Columbia as well as the western mountain regions bia as well as the western mountain regions.

"The Great Falls plant was backed by Congressman Abraham Hughitt of New York and his friends, They expected to build a large city out there, and boasted that they would sooner or later close up the Omaha and Grant smelters, When they talk about our having great advantages over them in the matter of rates and that our agents have underbidden theirs, there is absolutely no truth in the statement. I can show where-in the railroads have persistently favored them. The truth is they occupy a poor field, and can't get business."

THAT CHECK FOR $500.

It Draws Forth a Reply from Chairman Balcombe.

"Ernest Stuht's side of that $500 forfeited check story as it appears in the papers is simply no reply at all," remarked Mr. Balcombe, the board of public works, yesterday, "Mr. Stuht claims, I see, that the only contract he has for the work he has to do is one which was signed only by the secretary of the board, which has never been acted upon, although it was signed by himself and his bondsmen. Mr. Stuht or the newspaper men must have been dream-The fact is that the board, much less the secretary on his own book, never signed any contract whatever. The way all such contracts are signed is, first by the contractor, then his bondsmen, and lastly the contractor, then his bondsmen, and lastly by the board. This rule is held to very strictly, and the reason will be evident to every business man that knows anything at all about such matters. Where Mr. Stuht was at fault was that, evidently without being sure of the matter, he took it for granted that his contract was signed by the board. He is a very busy many, and, acting upon the assurance just mentioned, he weat along thinking he was on the safe side. Mr. Stuht failed to bring in the contract and to have the board sign it, and that's all there is to the matter. "Now as to the streets and alloys abutting upon the lots in Kountze, Hartman, Haw-thorne, Marsh, McCormick's and other addi-tions, having not yet been filled or graded. There isn't a particle of room for any talk or quibbling on that point and those who include quibbling on that point and those who intuited in it are seemingly wasting their breath. Ordinance No. 2236 provides that the owners of those lots must fill until the streets and alleys are brought to grade. Those who deny the authority of the city to order such filling and assert that if they are filled against their protest they will commence suit to set aside any assessment therefore, simply dis-play great ignorance regarding the existence of the ordinance just referred to. The only remedy I know of for these assertions about what the city can and can not do in certain matters, is for every property owner to sup-ply himself with a copy of the city ordinances particularly those passed more recently."

STILL AMONG US.

Burglars Continue to Pay Attention to Houses During the Night. E. D. Van Court, who lives at 1902 Wirt street, had a rather thrilling experience with a pair of burglars yesterday morning. About 3 o'clock he and his wife, whose apartment is downstairs, were awakened to gaze down the barrels of a pair of revolvers. They were informed by their unwelcome visitors that if they made a move their brains would be scattered over the pillows. They discreetly kept silent, and one of the burglars made a deliberate search of the room. This completed, the visitors departed from the house, and the door was closed and locked by dence showing that the girl was over fifteen | Mrs. Van Court, while Mr. Van Court made a search for a revolver which, when found, refused to revolve.

In the meantime, the burglars had started up the stairs, and met a sister of Mrs. Van Court, who was coming down to investigate the disturbance and doing her best to rouse the neighbors. They quietly advised her to go to bed and then left the house. The burglars secured a valise, the contents of which are not known, and two or three suits of clothes which were left in the yard.

The police were summoned but no trace of the scoundrelly visitors could be found, though the officers think they know where to look for them.

The residences of Messrs. Corby and D. C.
Dunbar were entered at about the same time, $2.75 being secured at the former place and $5 at the latter.

TWIXT TIME AND ETERNITY.

Bishop O'Connor Still Fighting

Against Death. Bishop O'Connor still lies in a very weak condition at his residence, Thirty-sixth and Burt streets. He is receiving the greatest care and attention, though he seems to make but little progress toward recovering his former strength. He is confined to his bed, and takes but little nourishment. There seems to be a gradual wasting of the frame which, it is not likely, medical skill will be able to arrest. Notwithstanding, the mind retains its cid-time brilliancy. The bishop recognizes his attendants and the few friends who drop in to pay him a call, which rarely lasts more than a moment.

Yesterday the bishop experienced a fainting spell which was considered dangerous by the attendants, and the worst was feared.

A few days are he was told of the days for the strength of the strength feared.

A few days ago he was told of the death of the late Rev. R. J. Boyle, pastor of St. Peter's church, a young man who stood high in his esteem. The announcement was a sad one and seemed indeed to have its effect upon the prestrate prelate. The latter, however, has made no effort to designate whom he desires to succeed to the pastorate. Father St. Lawrence, the late aspastorate. Father St. Lawrence, and Vicar General Choka says it is not likely that an appointment to the vacant place will be made for a couple of months.

Building Inspector Dwyer Dead. John Dwyer, South Omaha's building inspector, died at his home at Twenty fourth and Q streets Sunday night after a long and painful illness with dropsy. Mr. Dwyer was well known and universally liked in South Omaha. He was appointed to the position of building inspec-tor when Justice Breen relinquished the office January 1. The funeral will occur from the family residence this morning.

In Judge King's Court. There were fifteen prisoners in the police station yesterday whose cases had to be disposed of by Judge King. To a man up a tree it looked as though Sunday closing created more lawlessnes than if the saloons were open. The police were overly-zealous Sunday and arrested a good many vags and bums in the hope of securing some of the gang that is responsible for the murder of young Nistel in Omaha a week ago.

One of the amusing features was the case of Sarah Hughes, a colored prostitute. John Harris, a night watchman at Armours, was at home Sunday night and discovered that the Hughes woman was using his domicile as an assignation house. He raised a row and the woman's male companion jumped through a window bare naked and made his escape, leaving his clothing behind. They await an owner at the station. Sarah was fined $10.

There were only three or four drunks among the prisoner s and some of them were arrested early in the morning. There were few arrests attributable to drunkenness. City Notes and Personals.

Ole Bull's Independence. The late Ole Bull, the well known violinist, was perfectly fearless of consequences when his self-respect was touched, says Chambers' Journal. As an example of this: The grand duchess of Mecklenburg gave the musician a letter of commendation to her father, then king of Prussia, afterward the Emperor William. With this he went to Berlin, where, as directed, he called first on the superintendent of the Royal opera house, to whom he stated his mission. That gentleman was so patronizing that Bull could hardly stand it; but eventually an hour was fixed on the following day for another call at the opera house. The violinist, with his usual punctuality, presented himself at the hour, determined to stand no non-sense. "Where is your violin?" demanded the superintendent. "In the case," responded Ole Bull, coolly. "And case," responded Ole Bull, coolly. "An where is the case?" "At the hotel. But did not I tell you to play for me? "Excuse me, sir," was the answer; "I did not think you were in earnest. play either for money or honor, and in this case neither is in question." The man-ager was piqued, and he replied sharply ager was piqued, and he replied snarpity;
