IT REMAINS A DEATH TRAP.

The Red Tape and Cost of Repairing the Viaduct.

IT WILL BE FIXED UP "SOME DAY."

Bids for the Season's Public Works-A Youthful Blood-Letter-Dickenson's Ultimatum Refused-Other Local News.

The delay experienced in the repair of the Eleventh street viaduct is causing a great deal of harsh criticism in this city. The announcement of the defects which have been discovered in it drives wagons to Tenth street, the drivers being willing to risk the cars rather than a roadway with a not less dangerous floor.

It is held that the defect discovered affects the entire roadway, and that at least $5,000 will be required to remedy it. Mr. Balcombe's interview as reported below especially when it refers to an expert bridge man, would seem to indicate that there is something more serious required than the shoving back of some planks and "fastening them there." If there wasn't, people can't see why an expert should be employed.
"I don't know sir," said Mr. Balcombe,

"as this office has not yet received any in-structions whatever in the matter." 'Are you likely to get any such instruc-

"O, yes, sir. Quite likely, I consider."

"Well, all I know about it is just by here-Bay."
"What did you hear!"

"That the council passed a resolution the other night instructing this board and the city engineer to make the necessary repairs." When do you expect the official notice will

"Oh! well, that depends."

"On what?"
"On the swiftness of the routine through which it must go. I expect that the instruc-tions voted by the council are now in the hands of the mayor for his approval. Really,

"Have you examined the viaduct!"
"Have you examined the viaduct!"
"Yes sir I have, but I don't pretend to know anything about bridge building."
"What do you think about those anti-contract short planks!"

"I never enquired anything about how those short planks came to be put in; that happened under Mr. House's administration." "Do you think they will have to come out!" "Oh no. We can jack the business up, shove 'em back in place, fasten them there and I guess that's all that will be necessary." "Will all the paving have to come up?"
"No, guess not—only just a small portion

"Fact of it is," continued Mr. Balcombe. "I think we shall first of all-soon as the instructions come to us—employ an expert bridge man to make an examination and tell us just what is to be done, and then we'll go ahead and do what he says.

"When do you think that work will be fin-"Haven't any idea just when, but it won't be more than two weeks after it gets under way."

"How much will it cost?" "I have no idea at all." "Five thousand dollars?"

"No. It won't cost anything like that, though I wouldn't venture to name any figure simply because I can't."

Then the reporter went to the city clerk's office, and found that the council committee on railroads and viaduets, consisting of Cooper, Blumer and Shriver, to whom was referred the report of the city engineer say-ing the viaduet was in a bad condition and needed repairing immediately, offered the following resolution last Tuesday night, which

Your committee to whom was referred your engineer's report would recommend that the city beard of public works be authorized to employ suifable help and proceed at once to repair said viaduct and put same in good order as possible, and have the painting advertised for and let in the usual manner agreeable to the charter governing same.

WHERE THE TAXES GO.

Expensive Change in Removing the Police Headquarters and Jail.

When the city leased the exposition annex building in 1886 it was with the express understanding that the lease should terminate only with the completion of the new city hall. The rental was fixed at $300 a month, and over $7,000 was expended by the city in fitting up the annux for city purposes.

The removal of the police department farther up town is meeting with dissatisfaction in certain circles. The rental to satisfaction in certain circles. The rental to be paid for the Goos hotel is just the same as formerly paid, but the fire and police commission, the mayor and city coun-cil have rented quarters elsewhere at a total expense of $125 a month extra. In other words, the city is paying $425 in monthly rentals now for quarters which cost but $300 to the cost but $300 in the annex building. Besides this increase, it will cost the city all of $3,000 to fit up the new police quarters, jail and court room, making the change all around a most expen-sive one. It is also said that there will not be room enough in the Goos hotel to accommadate the city officials who have heretofore occupied the annex.

The alleged excuse for the desertion of the annex was the malcolorous condition of the prison cells and stable in the basement. This, it is claimed, must have been readily foreseen, and could have been as easily overcome by removal of the stables across the street and a complete renovation of the cells. vation of the cells.

Another point urged by those who criticize the costly change is the fact that immediate police protection will be partially withdrawn from the lower wards where it is most needed. These parties contend that sooner or later a police station must be established among the the haunts of the lawless element which will necessitate still greater expense.

THE STOCKMEN'S EXCURSION.

What the Cattle-Feeders Saw in the West.

Thursday evening a portion of the partic-Ipants in the Chevenne Stock Growers excursion, tendered by the B. & M. railroad, returned to this city. The excursion left Cheyenne, Wyoming, last Monday morning, at 9 o'clock, made up of Pullman palace cars and a diner. At Hastings A. B. Smith, assistant general freight agent, joined the train with a special car, accompainied by C N Deitz and a few other personal friends.

Governor Francis E Warren, who is one of the most extensive ranch owners in, as well as governor of Wyoming, and about thirty of the leading stockmen, made up the Cheyenne contingent. At Hastings and other Nebraska points a number of prominent cattle feeders fell in, thus giving opportunity for the men who grow and those who feed the festive range steer to study each other.

The excursion was the conception of John
A. Eyeler, the live stock agent of the B. &
M. system, and having the comfort of his guests as the leading thought there was to increase the pleasure of the party. There

Growing crops looked well and the grass promises abundant range for the thousands of cattle and horses on the prairie. At Crawford, Neb., the military band from Fort Robinson, three miles away, came to the depot and welcomed the party with soul-cheering music.

"There was an open air mass meeting in the afternoon and a free exchange of thought among visitors and citizens, Governor Warren addressing the multitude on the great possibilities of the place and the assured future thereof. In the evening a splendid banquet was spread and with feasting and speaking the sitting lasted until 2 o'clock in the morning. At that hour three cheers and a tiger went up for Newcastle, the infant wonder of the west, and the B. & M. railroad that had made such wonderful development possible.

"At 6 o'clock the next morning the visitors were transferred from the cars to coaches at Dudley and sent over the hills to the cele-brated Dakota hot springs. The ride over craggy peaks and through smiling valleys was a treat of the first magnitude. The scenery is beautiful almost beyond descrip-ter and is received at the coaches the continent tion and is worthy a ride across the continent to see. OTTO LOBECK.

A Tribute Paid to the Deceased by Rev. Charles W. Savidge. The following sermon was delivered by Rev. C. W. Savidge at the funeral of the late

Otto Lobeck, Thursday afternoon: Proverbs iv. 18: "But the faith of the just is as the shining light that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." This fourth chapter of Proverbs shows the great contrast between the righteous and the wicked. The path of the wicked is dark and gloomy and dangerous, culminating in eter-nal death, while the pathway of the righteous shines brighter and brighter until the coming of the perfect day down here on earth. Th good man walks at first in the twilight, but, walking with God, the road gets brighter, for waiking with God, the road gets brighter, to his eyes are on things eternal; and, when death comes, the shadows flee away and eter-nal glory is ushered in. The Christian's death is only the dawn of the perfect day. The life of Otto Lobeck is a demonstration of the truth taught in this text, "The path of the use; is as a shining light."

the just is as a shining light."
Otto Lobeck was born in Prussia, August
13, 1822. I wish we had time to follow that babe born in Germany in 1822, up through childhood and manhood and until the journey reached its close two days ago. The life of Otto Lobeck was a complete, rounded and beautiful one. Let us tarry here beside his coffin today to find out the secret of his suc-

I remark first of all he was a good man. He was a Christian. By godly parents he was early taught the great truths of our holy religion. In 1852 when he was thirty years of age, we see him uniting with the Swedish Methodist church and all through his life his faith in God was the Corinthian pillar in his character. His home was the home of the minister and the great men of the church were his personal friends. Dr. Hedstrom, Prof. Albert Erieson, John Linn, Dr. Bayless, and a host of others were associated with him in Christian work. He made money and his purse was always open to build up the work of God, both in the Swedish and American churches.

He was a Christian. Though stricken down suddenly, death did not surprise him, for he said "I am ready."

Then, too, he was a noble, true man in his home. He built, by the help of God, a beau-tiful home; sons and daughters came to bless it. Money was expended freely to beautify it but the pure and tender love of the husband and father was as fragrant as ointment poured forth.

He was greatly respected and honored in the business world. He had only been a resident of this city five years, yet he so per-fectly identified himself with the interests of the city that he soon gained a high place in the hearts of the people.

Although he did not bring great wealth here and though he had past the three-score milestone, yet he took a hand in business with younger men and outstripped the multitude. Do you ask the reason!

He had a fine mind, great common sense, clear judgment, honesty, industry, push and the blessing of God. We look upon his life as more than com-monly successful. When the last summons came his work was done, and he went away in great peace.

We commend the wife and loved-ones to the comforts of divine grace, and would advise you to remember that if you are faithful the separation will not be long, but you will soon "meet beyond the river." May we all walk in the path of the just and at last see the king in his beauty forever.

MORRISSEY DOOMED.

The Twenty-eighters Have Decreed It

-Their Jubilee Meeting. The Tammany brayes jubilated Thursday evening They had fit in the battle of South Omaha and victory perched on their banners. Their first campaign for the purification of elections had won. The five roustabouts who had been dispatched to South Omaha for missionary work had done faithful mercenary service, and yet there remained a small balance in the Tammany treasury. That $600 proved to be equal to the occasion. Had Omaha been very close and South Omaha had carried annexation the T. E.'s were on hand to play a crank or two with the returns. By the sagacious foresight of their leaders, the Tammany members of the coun-cil had procured the appointment of quite a number of the band as judges and clerks of election. But there was no need of monkey-ing with the returns in Omaha as the major-ity was to large too expression.

But they carried the day all the same, and it was a source of gratification that the very first dip in the political pool had shown the Tammanyites to be a power in the community.

Their success would enable them to tighten their grip on the city council combine, and to prevent the appointment or confirmation of an objectionable man as was the case with Jobst, the city hall inspection.

They had shut out the two prospective members of the council from "the New Tenth," who would have been nothing short of disturbing elements, and might have broken the combination whose leaders look to

The Twenty-eighters have taken care of several patriotic ward bums through the census supervisor, and before Con Gallagher knows it they will have his successor as postmaster named and installed.

A preliminary meeting of the inside seven Tammany braves took place yesterday at the New York Life, where the programme was mapped out before the common herd could get together at the club headquarters. It was ununimously ugreed then and there to change headquarters at once in order to keep The Bee's keyhole reporter out.

public works. The reporter on the other side of the partition did not hear all that was whispered, but the major, who talked a little louder than the general, insisted that Mor-rissey was a roustabout and his appointment would be unpopular. This was also Chaffee's idea, and the concensus of opinion was that the combine must stand by Birkhauser and bring pressure on Cushing to send his name in after Morrissey is rejected.

BIDS AT LAST.

Prospect Now That Public Works Will be Proceeded With. The board of public works met at 1:30 yesterday afternoon to open bids for paving material for 1890. The specifications call for asphalt, Sioux Falls granite, Colorado sandstone, Woodruff sandstone, wooden blocks on concrete and

There were ten paving and six curbing bids.

Chairman Balcombe announced that if any bidder present had in any way changed or supplied the wording of the printed forms his bid would be considered as informal and be bid would be considered as informal and be thrown out, though, before the board proceeded with opening the bids, such person might change his bid and make it formal by restoring the form to its original reading.

This announcement created quite a buzz among the anxious spectators. Two or three had put in "informal" bids, and immediately came forward, got them and rustled away to make them formal. The operation consumed a great deal of time, as two of the gentlemen had to go a distance of eight or ten blocks.

Mr. Riley's bid, by his own admission, was informal from the fact that it was accompanied by a check for $1,000, $500 on each bid, informal from the fact that it was accompanied by a check for $1,000, $500 on each bid, neither of which could have been applied, whereas it should have been accompanied by one for $2,000, as it was for both curbing and paving, and a check for $1,000 was necessary for a bid on each. Mr. Balcombe allowed him to go after the necessary check and correct his informality. The city attorney was also sent for to decide the question as to whether Riley's bid should be accepted. In the meantime the crowd perspired and waited for the city attorney. Major Balcombe returned finally and said that the attorney would be along in a short time.

would be along in a short time.

Mr. Poppleton finally arrived, and Major alcombe explained the controversy to him Balcombe explained the controversy to him and asladi his opinion on the matter. The chairman read the requirements of the bid for the legal gentleman's benefit, which were that bids must be presented before 1:30 in the day, and must be formal. Mr. Balcombe stated that Mr. Riley had stated that instead of bidding on the quality of vitrified brick specified, he had bid on a home brick of cheaper quality. The matter was brick of cheaper quality. The matter was discussed pro and con by the board and Mr. Riley. Mr. Poppleton wanted to know if any contractor objected to the bid, and Con Gallagher stated that he would have no objection to the acceptance of the bid if Mr. Riley had not changed the bid as originally offered. had not changed the bid as originally offered, merely erasing the informality and inserting the check necessary. Mr. Riley then arose and stated that he had made his bid on a house make of brick of the same standard as house make of brick of the same standard as Galesburg brick, which was just as good in quality, and on account of having no expense attached for freight. Mr. Gallagher said that he had predicted during the morning that Riley would bid on home brick, and that the only injustice the board could do the other contractors would be to accept the bid, as the other contractors were afraid to put in a bid other than that specified, as it would be informal.

Mr. Furay then declared himself and stated that after the bid had been sent to the board it became the property of the board, and it was not proper or just to the other contractors bidding to receive it back after it had been changed.

Mr. Poppleton said that it was an unwelcome duty for him to decide the question, but that it was his duty to protect the public, and in a comprehensive review of the case de-cided that the Riley bid under the circumstances was vitiated.

Con Gallagher wanted to know if all the other bids would be null if that of Riley was, and Mr. Poppleton advised the board to de-cide the other bids. Mr. McBean of the Garden City paving company suggested that none of the bids be received because the Riley bid was rejected, Then Hugh Murphy's bid was read and created a sensation. He offered Berea at $1, white Colorado at 90 cents, and red Colorado at 62 cents, the latter the lowest price at which it has ever been offered in this city.

C. D. Woolworth's bid on Berea was 68 cents, white Colorado 70 cents and red Colorado 70 cents.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:-

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief. I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilia. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa. Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast inbles with a delicately finvored beverage which may save us many heavy dectors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of suittle malaties are floa ng around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
