A convention of republicans will be held at Bohanan's hall in Lincoln on May 20, 1890, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of consultation and to devise the heat method of wresting the control of the republican party from the hands of railroad corporations of this state. To prevent, if possible; a repetition of the outrages perpetrated by the railroad corporations at the Hastings convention last fall, in controlling the convention through the proxy system; and to transact such other business as may be found necessary to give effect to this object and benefit the masses of the state by providing a remedy for existing evils.

KEARNEY, Neb., May 13 .- [Special to THE BEE. | What action should the anti-monopoly republican conference, held at Lincoln May 30, take for the best interests of all concerned! In answer to this inquiry, the following is a series of interviews obtained from the leading republicans of the city, including the anti-monopoly element:

Hon. C. A. Connor-If I properly compre-hend the full import of your inquiry, I would The first action of the conference should be to formulate, and then express in concise but ular form the actual grievances of the peoe of Nebraska. The second action should be to strongly favor the free coinage of silver and to urge our delegation in congress to favor such measure without reserve.

The third action should be to provide ways and means for the general publication of the formulated expression of the conference, and the adoption of necessary means to secure the hearty co-operation of all republicans who favor such reforms.

Morris Brown—It seems to me that the farmers of Nebraska should be allowed to name the candidates and to dictate the platform of the republican party in this state this year. This is an agricultural state. The farmers compose, by a large majority, the population of the state and the republican party is great enough and should be generous enough to profer aid and assistance to the oppressed farmer element, which in justice de mands recognition and an opportunity, at least, to better its condition by controlling the politics and the offices of Nebraska.

Hon. H. C. Andrews: My opinion is that it would be for the best interests of all concerned if the members of the anti-monopol adjourn without taking any definite action-Tell them to go home and allow the dog to wag the tail instead of the tail trying to wag John H. Roe: The anti-monopoly delegates to the conference should go home, work for the best interests of the republican party and its nominees, allowing the Farmers alliance to take care of itself politically.

RED CLOUD, Neb., May 11.—[Special to THE BEE.]—The leading republicans of Red Cloud have expressed themselves as follows relative to the expected meeting of the republican anti-monopoly conference at Lincoln on the 20th inst. :

A. A. Pope. -Make reasonable concessions to the alliance people; have them represented in republican primaries, and try the plan of summoning a fair per centage of farmers to serve on the United States juries,

D. B. Spanogle-They should try to prevent railroads from controlling republican conventions or its nominations, and should pass resolutions asking alliance people to take part in republican primaries, A. H. Kaley—They should pass resolutions against United States marshals summoning parties to serve on United States juries who hold railroad passes.

S. Perkins—I am in favor of the alliances uniting with the republican party, working heartily for reform and the abolishment of

J. R. Wilcox-The masses are greatly alarmed and the time is at hand when the trust must go. Let the republican party take up the banner of reform in this matter, as it does in everything else, and carry it to the

L. P. Albright-United States marshals should select as jurymen men out of the control of any corporation, ring or monopoly. Farmers should be represented in our primaries, in our elections and in our legislature. I am fully in accord with the movement.
C. L. Colling—United States marshals should select as jurymen, men not obligated in any manner to the railroads, either by holding passes or otherwise.

Want the Monopoly Power Curbed. Long Pine, Neb., May 12 .- | Special to The BEE.]-Speaking to the leading republicans of this town and county regarding their views upon the anti-monopoly question and particularly what action the anti-monopoly republican conference should take for the best interest of all concerned, your correspondent finds this to be the substance of their views: They all think that considerable legislation is necessary for the purpose of curbing monopolistic power and influence, and bring them to a position in which they cannot control all legislation and the judiciary, and to regulate railroad rates so that there will be scarcely no discrimination. They are nearly all conservative in their views regarding this matter, and while they are in favor of strict legislation regulating railroads, they are not so radical as to try to deprive these monopoles from making a good fair interest on their capital invested, and are not desirous of passing sumptuary laws which would have a tendency to keep capital away from the state. They claim railroads have done a great amount of good for Nebraska. and if laws were passed which would allow them to make fair dividends and not such hoggish sums as have been made since the war, then the rich man would man such enormous poverty. They are desirous of passing laws which will cause comfort to the greatest number. They also ask such legislation as will not have a tint of ersecution connected with it, but to encou ge railroad building and cause them to scale their profits like the miners and iron men of Pennsylvania compel their employers to do, which would cause the rich man to lose a few millions, which they can very well stand, and the poor man may have a few more dollars. They want the greatest good for the greatest number. Cass County Republicans Speak. PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., May 12.-[Special to THE BEE.]-The sentiment in regard to the anti-monopoly republican conference seems to be divided in this community. One very prominent politician expressed himself as against such a move, as he thought it would end disastrously to the party throughout the state. He thought it would be best to wait until after the state convention and then let the anti-monopolists endorse the republican candidates. Others spoke in favor of such a move, and said it would be like being released from bondage. John A. Davies, for two years president of the Young Men's Re-publican club, quite a factor in local politics,

"I believe the conference will awaken one party to the necessity of making county and state nominations which will meet the upproval of the producing classes, and unless such nominations are made there is danger of a revolt which will imperil the success of our ticket. Certainly one of the most, if not the most important duty that will devolve upon coming county conventions will be the selec-tion of delegates to the state convention and all republicans interested in the success of the party and the nomination of the party's est men should commence their activity at primary elections and send only such men to primary elections and send only such men to the county conventions as represent their in-terests and who will vote for state delegates accordingly. I think the conference should recommend that delegates present in the next state convention cast the vote of their re-spective delegations and thus, if possible, relegate the proxy business to the columns of lost arts. The confrict statem is well lost arts. The political situation is well understood, and it is not probable that the people will be deceived by corporation candidates posing upon anti-corporation candidates. posing upon anti-corporation plat-

Judge S. M. Chapman, judge of the district court, said:
"Owing to the manner in which my time has been taken up I have paid very little attention to state politics and hardly know the object of the convention called for May 20 well enough to express an opinion. for the purpose of consultation by that por-tion of the republican party which objects to corporate abuses and interference with healthful legislation, I can see no objection to the meeting. At any rate, the men in charge of the movement cannot be accused of a secret connivance within the party to ac-complish a questionable end. They are not complish a questionable end. They are not going off into a dark corner to plot their treason, if treason it is, which I am quite sure it is not. If it is a scheme to foist some ambitious republicans of anti-monopoly tendency into office cans of anti-monopoly tendency into onice it will miscarry of its own weakness. If it is an honest conference of those who seek the welfare of the party and of the people no one ought to criticise it. There certainly is no good reason why the masses of the republican party of this state should not look after the coming legislature and secto it that representative men are sent to Lincoln next winter I believe in working out needed reforms within the party and where questions of great public moment have been duly agitated the republican party has always proved the party of progress. So, I conclude that the meeting of May 20 will not do any harm and may accomplish much good.

"Times are dull and prices for produce so low that agricultural pursuits are no longer remunerative; many causes contribute to bring about this state of affairs which the demagogue imagines he can always explain to the farmer; high rates of transportation are doubtless one cause, overproduction another, and mismanagement of private affairs another, and by no means the least. The opportunities for speculation and the amassing f wealth in this country breeds extravagance and the moment a man lives beyond his income hard times becomes his companion, then he is easy to make believe public affairs

The Custer County Sentiment.

BROKEN Bow, Neb., May 12.-[Special to THE BEE. |-The anti-monopoly republican conference to be held at Lincoln, May 20, is being quite freely discussed by republicans and alliance men there. Your correspondent interviewed representatives of the different parties on the subject.

G. R. Humphrey, republican central committeeman for Broken Bow, said: "The action taken by Leese, Dempster and the other fellows at Lincoln recently is all right. Straight republican anti-monopoly action is what we want. What some members of the farmers' alliance propose to accomplish by independent action can be accomplished by the republican party and will be accomplished much more readily than through a new party If the conference to be held at Lincoln the 20th is composed of republicans who are friendly to the true principles of the party, who will take definite but conservative action, much good will result to the party and interests of the people of the state.

Kirkpatrick-The movement is all right. The conference should be held and the anti-monopoly principles of the republican party set forth and carried out in the next campaign. We want no independent party action, as these principles will be carried out by the republicans. The step taken by Keckley, Leese and others in calling the conference is a wise one.

conty Attorney H. M. Sullivan—I have not given the matter much consideration of late, but the republican party is and always has been the party of anti-monopoly principles and the party should and will take action in this state in favor of these principles, and I am inclined to think the step taken by the boys at Lincoin the other day is all right.

Several other leading republicans were in-terviewed, all of whom gave views similar to Several Farmers' alliance men were interaction as proposed by Leese and others should be taken, they differ as to the best plan. The more level-headed and conservative men say "The desired results will be much more readily attained through the old party," while the more radical and hot-headed, and all the "sore-heads" maintain that indepen-dent party action is the better plan.

The farmers alliance is stronger in Custer county than in any other county in Nebraska, and their acconcerning this matter will unquestionably be felt. The majority of the members are honest farmers whose desire is to take the best plan to bring about needed legislation, while there are others, and as a rule the more active ones are the demagogues and "soreheads" from the old parties. Your cor-respondent is of the opinion that if the farmers were left to decide the matter uninfluenced and undeceived by these croakers there would be no independent party action, but the princples of anti-monopoly favorable to the masses would be carried out and that it would be done through the republican party.

Hamilton County. AURORA, NEB., May 12 .- [Special to THE BEE.]-The BEE correspondent called on a number of the leading republicans of this county, and asked them what action, in their judgment, the anti-monopoly republican conference, (to be held at Lincoln, May 20th.) should take, for the best interests of all concerned. He found Judge Stark surrounded by a stack of formidable looking tomes, and deeply immersed in looking up some abstruse deeply immersed in looking up some abstruse problem of law, or theology.

In answer to the query, the Judge said:

"I cannot say, because I shall not attend and believe that good and patriotic men will be there, and after a face to face talk, will volve something for the betterment of all.
"If in your question you mean the arrangement and method of political conventions, I am personally convinced that one of the greatest evils in this state is the admission of roxies, and if all that that meeting does is to nish proxies they will have done a great

"I tell you there is too much delegation of power in this country to suit me. Of course we have the representative system in our government, and with that I have no quarrel, but when we say that the sovereignty under our form of government is in the people it means that the ultimate sovereignty is in the people, they exercise it at the ballot box; under our form they are almost compelled to choose between two or three persons. "Let me illustrate: The two members of the legislature from Hamilton county and the senator from this district, have delegated to hem all the sovereignty of every citizen of Hamilton county to speak by legislative en-actment. Now it seems to me that the right of selecting the political candidate is as valu able as suffrage itself. Now if we go to a great deal of trouble to elect delegates to the conventions, thereby conferring on them the power to name the political candidate for whom we shall vete, wh not delegate to somebody else the right to cast our ballot at an election! There is as much reason in the one as in the other. I can see no reason why a common every day man cannot select directly his candidate at the primary election, as well as select the ticket for which his ballot is cast. The moment, lowever, that you attempt to change the convention plan, if comes within the remarks of friend Reed in the North American Review, that is that the objections to a new plan are all that the human mind can think of, while the objections to an established usage are only those which actually exist. It takes but ready made.' se men who meet at that convention ought to find same way by which the people can exercise more control in nominations than they do under our present system. It appears they do under our present system. It appears to me that our people are too much given to looking after details and lose sight of the great proposition which is underneath." General Delevan Bates replied with charac-teristic brevity: "Advise county conventions to instruct delegations, allow no proxies to state conventions, but let the delegates who are present cast the whole vote of the county from whence they came; let the ulatform be little intellect to put your foot in a track al-

from whence they came; let the platform be broad enough to hold everything but democrats. Superintendent of Schools, M. F. StanleyI believe that in the main the convention will have a tendency to consolidate and har-monize the dissatisfied elements of the republi-can party. If the republican party wins next fall, the state and congressional conventions must nominate men who have records un-tainted. I do not belive that the alliance members will support any candidate who is known as a machine politician, or railroad tool, neither do I believe that that they will tool, neither do I believe that that they will play the Brown-Sequard act, and inject new life into any old-broked down politicians. Hon, D. K. Scoville, representative for this county, said: "Whatever position the confer-ence takes, should be founded upon right and justice, and not for the purpose of currying favor with the alliance or any other organiza-tion.

While I do not believe there is a single republican in Nebraska who questions the legal attainments, or unimpeachable integrity of Judge Norval, the manner in which Judge Reese was displaced has awakened wide pread dissatisfaction with methods by which he known wish of a large majority people of this state was thwarted and ig-

That the farmers and laboring classes have just cause for being restive un sent condition of affairs cannot be ques-ned. I think the conference should use all its influence to assure the calling of an early convention, and if possible, do away with the proxy business. I favor the calling of an early convention, because I have such unbounded faith in the republican party that I believe the platform it will formulate and the men it will nominate can well afford to stand the test of a long and critically searching campaign.

"I think the conference ought to take action, and that in no uncertain way, in de-manding of our senators and representatives in congress legislation restricting the transfer of causes from the state to the federal courts for no other reason than that some attorney may squeeze a fee out of the unfortu-nate farmer who is destined not only to lose his home, but probably the labor of a life-Ex-Senator F. C. Putnam-I think the republicans must recognize the fact that there is a farm element throughout this state to which the party must accord the same privileges and representation as to other elemand interests, in proportion to their numbers, I don't claim it all for the farmer, neither do they want it all, but they must have their fair share of representation. Railroad rates are too high in this state; according to Leese's report, two or three times as high as in Iowa. That is not right, and I have always claimed that on through rates we ought to have, within a trifle, the same rates as Iowa, and I think action should be taken by the republican conference, looking to the remedying of these things. I believe if the republican party goes at it in a business way, and tries to enact something which would be fair and equitable to all sides, that much good would result. But I am confident that if the republican party holds its position in this state it must do it by acknowledging the alliance as an important factor in politics, and by giving it such recognition as it is en-Ex-Mayor A. N. Thomas did not care to express an opinion as to what action the conference should take. Personally he is in favor of national and state legislation on rail-roads. Railroads are the creatures and servants of the people, and should be controlled by the people. He is heartly in favor of uch action by the party, as looks in that

POLICE AND FIRE COMMISSION. Officer Graham and Fireman Hannan

Dismissed from the City's Employ. Promptly on time the members of the fire and police commission convened last night.

Detective Ellis was charged with being off duty on the night of May 10 without first having obtained a permit. Ellis pleaded guilty and said he went to Lincoln with a party of friends.

It had been reported that Special Officer Graham had interfered with Deputy United States Marshal Lyons while removing squatters from the bottoms. Mr. Lyons was called to testify, and swore that Graham did. not molest him. It was also charged that Graham was under the influence of liquot, which occasioned a fight when he was on duty. To this last charge Mr. Lyons swore the special man was drunk. Chief Seavey stated that the officer wore a star, but was not on the city pay-roll.

Officer Scott was called to the bar on the charge of having been off duty, since May 2 Graham was under the influence of liquor,

In mitigation the officer showed a certificate from the Several Farmers' alliance men were inter-viewed, and while all agree that some such of the time he was too sick to walk a beat. number of reports were read, showing that Scott had been drinking and was drink a greater portion of the time. This the officer denied and stated that he had not drank a drop, only as medicine. He further stated that during the time he was off duty he had frequently telephoned to the Central station to report that he was unable to appear.

Asst Chief Salter of the fire department reported that Mike Hannan of hook and hadder company No. 1 left the engine house at 4:30 in the afternoon, and when he returned at midnight he was drunk. This happened on the night of the 10th inst., and at once Mike's buttons were taken off and he was suspended. J. F. Dempsey of the Omaha house, on Harney street, was called in to be told that Sunday, April 30, he was charged with sell-ing liquor contrary to the ordinances of the eity. Dempsey said it was a lie, as he had never sold liquor on Sunday. John Anderson said that on the day named, early in the morning, he went down the alley and squeezed through Dempsey's back door. After he got inside he and some of his friends chipped in and bought a bottle of beer, which they drank. Anderson thought there were twenty persons in the room at the time and which he are his city. Dempsey said it was a lie, as he had in the room at the time, and while he and his friends were drinking bottled beer, the others were drinking book beer and whisky. John Bruner was acquainted with Dempsey's saloon, and on the Sunday named he went up through the alley, entered the back door of the saloon, and drank whisky and beer, which was brought to him and his friends while they sat on a bench.

Detective Haze passed the saloon on the Sunday named and saw a number of parties in the front room drinking. He stopped, tried the door, and as soon as the parties saw him the great was the parties of the saw that the same as the parties of the same as the parties him they went out the back door, Jallor Bebout was with Haze and testified

Dempsey, in his own behalf, stated that on that day he was in the north part of the city planting trees on a lot he owns. About 3 o'clock he returned, and opening the side door a number of men followed him. He also found a crowd of men in the saloon and told them to get out, as it was Sunday and he did not sell liquor on that day. The men went out and he then went outside to tell the officer who was standing at the door what had happened and to tell him also that if he had been a home it would not have occurred.

Prime and Rending Start on Their Six Day Bicycle Race.

THE GREATEST CONTEST ON RECORD.

Both Men Husbanding Their Strength and Show Little Inclination for Exhibition

Spurts.

The much talked of six-day bicycle race for $1,000 a side and the entire gate receipts between the old professional, Jack Prince, the winner of a hundred ruces, and Ned Reading, the phenomenal soldier rider, is now under full headway, and the excitement is intense. The start was made yesterday at 2:30

Previous to the race County Surveyor House made a new measurement of the track. Collowing is his official certificate:

To whom it may concern.—This is to certify hat I have accurately measured the track at he Collseum, Omaha, Neb., and that the disance is 524 feet, measured eighteen inches com the pole. Ten laps and forty feet make me mile.

J. E. House, County Surveyor. The official time and corrected regulator has also been placed opposite the reporters' stand by C. S. Raymond, who guarantees the correctness and reliability of the posted time. At 2 o'clock Reading and his trainer, Jack Kinneman, and Prince and his handler, Charlie Ashinger, made their appearance on the track, and the riders, after a half hour's preliminary work, were ordered to the scratch by the referee, the sporting editor of this paper, and promptly at the given time, in the presence of four hundred spectators, the pistol cracked and the two contestants started on their long pilrimage, with Prince setting a pace and Reading close upon his heels.

Prince was clad in dark blue tights, black shirt and regulation riding shoes, while Reading wore royal blue tights and a maroon jer-

The initial pace was a hot one, and the picture presented by the two riders was a study indeed. The grim lines of determination were strongly marked in each visage, and it was easy to see that neither would succumb until physical shall been exto sit on a wheel had been exhausted. Prince maintained the lead for four miles only, when the soldier shot ahead and stayed there for two straight hours. With no hange in the positions the afternoon wore

In the evening fully 1,500 people were or hand to watch the indomitable rivals. The barracks band was on hand and lent an additional charm to the occasion by a programme of select airs, well worth the price of admission alone. The riders are evidently rus banding their strength, and show but little inclination to amuse the audience by dangerous exhibition spurts. The race is for blood ous exhibition sports. The race is for blood, and neither dares to run any risk for the mere satisfaction of plaudits from the grand stand. There is fully $5,000 at stake, and, realizing this, both riders will use as much generalship as they are capable of, relying more upon strategic work to gain a vantage than by a superior barst of skill. They are evenly matched, and the race will not be won until the last lan is realest of.

intil the last lap is recled off. About 9 o'clock last night Reading seized a nomentary vantage and shot away from Prince in a way that elicited the wildest and most vociferous applause from the spectators. He gained fully a third of a lap, but seeing how impossible it was for him to accomplish more he moderated his speed to a sixteenmore he moderated his speed to a sixteenmile clip, and the energetic Englishman was shortly at his heels again.

From this on to the close the riders preserved the uniform tenor of their way, but just before the last quarter of a mile was reached the plucky soldler again bent hard over his steel horse, his sturdy legs pumping like pistons and his eyes gustening with the excitement his ambition had engendered.
Prince, too, redoubled his exertions, and for three laps their speed was tremendous, the three laps their speed was tremendous, the sturdy soldier having slightly the best of it, as he crossed the chalk line fully one aundred and fifty feet ahead of his adversary. The people stood up, and waving hats and handkerchiefs made the vast building fairly

This is one mile and three-quarters behind he world's record, but considering the shortess of the turns is even a greater accom The outcome of the struggle is exceedingly problematical. Prince realizes that he has stupendous task on hand and that to win he must exhaust his every resource of endur-ance, speed, nerve and resolution. Reading and the cast-iron look upon his face means little short of death or victory.

The race will be resumed at 2:30 sharp this afternoon.

AT THE COBDEN CLUB.

Gladstone Says Free Trade Has Lost Ground, but Will Yet Triumph. LONDON, May 12 .- Gladstone spoke at the Cobden club tonight. He said free traders must recognize with great disappointment how much ground had been lost by their doctrine within the last twenty-five years. Militarism, which lay like a vampire over Europe, was responsible for much of the mischief, but of for all, because free trade had receded in ountries where militarism did not prevail-in the United States and in the British clonies. Protection applied now in America not only to goods but to persons, as instanced by the treatment of the Chinese. The great republic never accepted the doctrines of free trade. At one time there had been qualified progress toward them, but this being checked opinion became actually retrogressive. Still the growing strength, activity and clearness of conviction of the free trade American party gave favorable promise of ultimate triumph at the polls. On looking over the world the prospects of free trade were certainly not encouraging. This state of opinion had emboldened the champions of protection, long lurking in their holes, to venture out and renew the struggle inder the name of free trade.

Regarding bimetallism, Gladstone said it vas a movement in the direction of Since the adoption of free tradwages of laboring men had improved 50 per cent. England was working out the great social and economic problem for the benefit of the world. He was confident that free trade, though temporarily discredited, was destined to become the universal charter of trade and to obtain general acceptance among civilized nations.

INVITED TO COME TO OMAHA

Steps Taken to Secure the American Medical Association Convention.

THE ACCOMMODATIONS ARE AMPLE.

A Movement Which Meets the Hearty Co-Operation of Physicians in All Parts of the

The Omaha Medical association met last vening in the cozy committee rooms of the Paxton hotel, with Dr. Milroy in the chair. After the usual routine business of the association had been transacted the question as to whether the American Medical association should be invited to Omaha was taken up.

The report of the committee appointed to ook into the matter of inviting the national association to hold its meeting of 1891 in Omaha was to the effect that the Omaha association would take great pleasure in entertaining the association; that it would be of great benefit to the profession and the city at large, and that the results of thorough investigation show that Omaha has hotel and other accommodations to entertain it.

The movement has met with the hearty co-operation of the medical profession in Omaha, ong whom are men who stand high in the councils of the American association.

Dr. Rosewater then read replies from eminent physicians from all over the union, ex-pressing their views with regard to the propriety of holding the meeting in Omaha. None were opposed to the movement with the exception of one from Cleveland, Ohio, which stated that they were heartily in favor of Omaha if they did not decide to favor of Omaha if they did not decide to work for it themselves. Dozens of other letters from medical societies from Minnesota to the gulf were read, all of which spoke eulogistically of Omaha as the place for the next meeting. Some of these letters were very flattering.

Dr. Moore was made a member of the association, and speaking of the matter of having the American association come to Omaha, said that he had been to their meet-

Omaha, said that he had been to their meet-ings for a number of years and feared that Omaha was taking an elephant upon her shoulders. The association numbered about fifteen hundred to two thousand men, who were used to living well, and that the hotels could not accommodate them, as the doctors were men who would want to go to good hotels and could not be quartered at private houses like ministers. "You must," he said, "have a hall large enough to hold them all in convention. If they were divided up and were compelled to find the various halls for helding the meet-ings, or session rooms they would become scattered and lose interest. There will no doubt be a movement to take the meeting either to the extreme east or to the extreme west. San Francisco wants it badly and if they make a decided effort they will no loubt meet with success.

The gentleman thought that the movement to get it to Omaha was rather prema-ture. There is no place about Omaha at which to entertain the visitors. Men who were accustomed to go to Long Branch would see very little in Manawa. In 1894, when the next meeting will be held, Omaha will have a grand depot, hotels, opera house and exposition building. If Omaha will let it go by for a few years it can be made a grand success, but if it is taken in hand now it cannot be done as Omaha should Dr. Gifford agreed with Dr. Moore and felt that every one would be more or less hard up, and that it would be well to hold off.

Dr. Gapen said that Dr. Moore did not know Omaha as well as he did, or at least did not know her resources.

The doctor doubts the hotel capacity of Omaha St. Paul, when the meeting of the association was held there, and which the doctor thought was splendid, did not have nearly the hotel accommodation of Omaha. Dr. Gapen did not think that it was necessary for all the members to go to the hotels. He knew that many of the members would pre-fer to go into lodgrings, but that those who wanted accommodations could get them. The meeting of the American association would do the city of Omaha a marvelous amount of good, and the main influence that would in-duce the people of the east to visit Omnha "You must have 40,000 inhabitants by this time," a sad commentary on the hustling abilities of Omaha. We want them here to show them our marvelous growth and carry the news from the eastern to the western coast of America. If we put our shoulders to the wheel," he concluded, "we can get them here, and we should have them." Dr. Moore then said the matter was one of expense, which would be about $10,000. At St. Paul they were given passes by the callroads and went all over the beautiful lake country and enjoyed themselves. The doctors will not come here if there is no recreation of

Dr. Gapen, in reply, said that the roads who gave passes to the doctors were new ones, who did it for an advertisement and that the expense of the St. Paul meeting was raised among sixty doctors. Twenty-five thousand dollars, the doctor said, would be about the cost of getting the national convention here. The chair then asked if there were any more suggestions to offer. There being none, he asked for a vote on the recommendation of the committee to invite the association to Omaha, which was unanimously adopted.

Some important routine business was trans-acted and the meeting adjourned. PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.
