CASS, SARPY AND SAUNDERS.

ASHLAND, Neb., May 25.-[Special to Tag BEE. |- The people of Ashland have been looking forward with considerable interest to the meeting of the farmers of Cass, Sarpy and Saunders counties, which took place last Saturday. Hon. T. J. Picket and others of our business men had paid for the Sinington opera hall in which to hold their meeting. Before 9 o'clock the streets were almost crowded, about which time two cars heaping full came from Wahoo, and in marching from the depot the long line was led by Judge Turpening and Editor Smith, both of whom seem to be held in high esteem by the farmors: At 10 o'clock the alliances held a secret session and it is understood transacted some important business, though not yet made known. In the afternoon about 2 o'clock General Weaver delivered one of his characteristic strong speeches to all that could growd into Sinnnington's opera house-about six hundred-only a small per cent of the farmers and other mon in the city. General Weaver made the assertion that the farmers were affected with a money famine. The cause of so much clamoring on the part of agricultural districts is not over-production, but the present price of farm products which would ot enable them to pay debts contracted honestly, Political philosophers during campaign times had told the farmer that he had nothing to sell was the reason of such hard times, and at this the farmer set about raising a large crop last year. When he (the farmer) hauled his crop to market he was confronted with the scandalously low price. Thereupon he queried his political light as to the cause, and he told them it was "over production." "It is a farce, a scare-"over production." "It is a farce, a scare-crow," said General Weaver. He concluded that the cause was the inadequacy of the cur-rency. Consulting the official report of the year 1867 with that of this year, he found that in 1867, with a population of one-half the present population of the United States, there was double the number of dollars in circulation that there is now. He compared the government to a family. If in 1867, with only two in the family, would it not take less gioney to defray expenses contracted than it fill in 1800, after an increase of six or eight? So it is with Uncle Sam's family of 62,000,000. The money in circulation in the United State today is insufficient to the domand. Dur Dur ing the war money was gathered in the north which made more per capita than im-mediately preceding the war. Southern states rejected the money of the north be-cause they had money of their own, hence the cause of high corn and wheat. What the people now want is the unlimited coinage of silver; suppression of the national bunking super, suppression of the harmonia binning system and giving the moncy entrusted to the banks back to the people. He also em-phasized the bolicy of the alliance to nominate good, honest men. Men who, as congressmen, would not cancus with any party or clique. Men who consider the interests of their constituents first, and not party fealty or adherence. General Weaver ended his speech amidst a storm of applause, when he declared that he had learned two facts in his ublic life, viz: That he does not know it all. econd, that men of other parties are just as honest as he. It was interesting to listen to the groups of farmers talking on the streets. The princi-pal topic of discussion was the visiom of putting an alliance ticket in the field next fall. They appear to be much divided on this question. A large number who did the talking on the streets favored a separate and be more wise to make demands of the parties. A great many believe the republican party militer pentaries, and, indeed, our politicians offer to lend their aid to the farmers in makdoubt in regard to their being able to control every party. Most of them have very little ranfidence in the outside proffered help. They are, as a rule, a little suspicious of all but farmers. We noticed that the m elligent men, as a rule, do not go so far to the extreme, and, while accomplishing their ends work harmoniously with men of of other call ings in their party. Some are atraid of Governor Thayer, others of Attorney General Leese. In fact some one was ready to find fault with every man whose name was -men tioned. You will find that farmers, like other people, differ quite widely in their opinions Farmers have various views also regarding this special session. The line board is a farmers' organization closely allied to the Farmers' Alliance in its objects and operations. It seems to have its objects closely defined and its workings are less generally known. Its members usually refuse to speak of the growth of the order, or of its origin. Even the members are innocent in regard to the number of lodges. to two or three counties. Some of its guite bers are believers in counties. Some of its mem-bers are believers in countiestion and indeed at its bearly evident that it had its origin in the blavers the labor movement and some labor man may be at its head. It is educational. No attempt made to get large numbers into their lodges. From six to twelve is a sufficient number, as these are to form a class for study. The subjects for study are currenlabor, laws and political economy in general, From the views stated by one of its members it might be taken that its real object is to bring about equalization of liberty and property. From another stand point it is gathered that it is a boiled down Farmers' alliance, with a definite object of obtaining legislation for the farmer. You will find very few of them in favor of placing an alli-ance ticket in the field. They will work to control the two great parties. From numerous interviews your correspondent concludes that it is a very secret organiza-tion, that it has very definite ends in view, that it is young and not widespread, and that unless the alllance outlines her work and aim more definitely it will increase rapidly. There are some mysteries connected with it but perhaps those are to mislead outsiders. Detectives have been at work to learn their secret workings, which furnishes only amusement for the line board. But aside from the mysteries in regard to equality, the origin of the organization and its growth, it appears to be just the thing as one expressed it, having which the alliance has never had a real and definite object and a method of work reach the object, and while it is thought small it will have an influence on next fall's election. The alliance men realize that they are to derive good than harm from the line boards, so encourage the enterprise rather than discourage it. Many belong to both organizations.

A Silver Creek Opinion. SILVER CREEK, Neb., May 25.-[Special to THE BEE. |- The late anti-monopoly repubican conference did well in declaring for an early convention, though I doubt the wisdom of the instructions to the committee of fifteen to call a convention of their own in case of the failure of the state central committee to call the regular convention at an early date. If the farmers of the state were not largely epresented at the conference, it does not fol low that it was for lack of interest. If an early convention is called and candidates placed in the field whose records and charac-ters can stand the fire of a long compaign I believe our ticket will be triumphantly elected. Republican farmers, whether in the alliance or not, will, I believe, very generally ort such a ticket.

If the state central committee prefer party efeat to party success without the railroads hey will do well to disregard the wishes of conference:

I think there can be no doubt that the armers of the state desire the election of legislature that will enact a maximum freight law, and that therefore the resolution of the sonference on that point will meet with general approval.

President Powers at Ord.

ORD, Neb., May 25.-[Special to THE BEE.] -John H. Powers, president of the Nebraska State Farmers' alliance, gave the members of the Valley county alliance a stirring address Thursday afternoon. He mentioned a few of the objective points of the alliance movement. We must have lower railroad rates, or, said the speaker, the alliance will advoeate and work for government ownership and control of the railroads, and "we won't pay for water either." Another object was the uppression of trusts and the estab-ishment of co-operative stores for the sile of farm machinery, groceries, etc. The speaker did not advocate a farmers' party, but advised strong and united effort i the part of farmers in the parties to which icy now belong to secure in public office onest and capable representatives of the The alliance in Valley county has thirteen subordinate branches, with a membership of about five hundred. The farmers have not taken a great deal of interest in alliance affairs so far, but such addresses will doubtless develop interest in them.

Johnson County Alliance Opinion.

TECUMBER, Neb., May 25-(Special to THE Ban,]-The members of the Farmers' alliance of Johnson county speak very favorably of the action taken by the anti-republican conference at Lincoln and see no good reason why they won't support the nominces of the convention, if they are pledged to support the principles enunciated by the conference. If the conference had advocated the free coinare of silver and the abolition of the national banks a number of the members of the alliance in this county would have been better pleased.

Alliance Notes.

The Farmers' Business association of Lebanon has bought a stock of goods and started a co-operative alliance store at that place. A full representa-tion from every alliance in the county is de-sired, as there is some very important busi-Shelley. ness to be transacted. Each alliance will elect delegates in their regular meetings. A large gathering of farmers was held at the Truman school house near Genoa on the 19th to listen to addresses given by Messrs, Laghtner, Pugsley, Truman, Hyatt and Hodge, Mr. Henry Stevens, president of the Truman alliance and vice president of the Platte county alliance, presided, At a meeting of Blue Ridge alliance, No. 1051, York county, the following officers were elected for the next term: President, H. H. Miller; vice president, C. Winslow; secretary N. S. Michener; treasurer, H. A. Vanhoosen; lecturer, T. C. Thomas; chaplain, M. Hollis-ter; doorkeeper, G. L. Addison; assistant doorkeeper, Will Michener; sergeant-at-arms, I. H. Davis J. H. Davis. The regular meeting of the Holt county Farmers' alliance for the election of officers will be held in O'Neill, in McCafferty's hall, on Saturday, June 7, the meeting to be called at 10 o'clock a.m. Each sub-alliance in the county that has its quarterly and all back dues paid to that date will be allowed repre-sentation on the basis of one delegate for every ten members or fraction thereof. The secretary of each local alliance will see that its quarterly report is sent to the county sec-retary on or before that day. There will be an alliance picule and basket There win be an analyse pictic and basice dinner in Jacob's grove, three miles north of Edgar, on Wednesday, May 28, commencing at i0 a.m., by Garileid alliance, No, 800. The Edgar silver cor net band will furnish music. There will also be several alliance quartettes. Arra ments will be made for a large crewd. Arrange-rewd. No pains will be spared by Garffeld alliance to ings. make the affair a success. Hty; There are twenty sub-alliances regularly organized in Nuckolls county and having an average of twenty-five members each, says the Superior Journal. To say that such an organization will not cut a conspicuous swath in county and state politics, is of course utfor nonsense. That the organization will do this within the party lines to which the members belong, is, we learn, that which they wish to do, but if they do not succeed there, they will take separate party actions. That they can do it within the present party lines is sure, if all these thousands of real farmers through-Witt out the state will do that which they have always heretofore neglected to do-that is, attend the primary conventions and caucuses That is where the work is done. G. A. R. Posts Attend Church. Three of the Grand Army of the Repuelie posts of the city attended divine service at the First Presbyterian church last night in response to an invitation by Rev. W. J. He referred to the torrible struggio through which the country had passed, in which those present played such a prominent part. The bardships and sufferings, and the desolution of war were alluded to in eloquent words and the comrades were exhorted to remen-ber the struggle through which they had passed and endeavor to apply the lessons learned in that severe school to the affairs

Sr. PAUL, Minn, May 25.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE |- The St. Paul and Omaha teams played a game this afternoon on a ground that looked more like a lake than a ball field. The attendance was not more than 200, as it rained up to 3 o'clock. The Omaha men won the game as they liked, as the St. Paul team is little more than an aggregation of amateurs, which today was changed around a good deal. Abbey going to second, Farmer to third, Phillips to short, Burks to right field and Cantillion to the bench. The Nebraskans commenced hitting the ball at the start, and the locals put in their errors where they would do the visitors the most good. Farmer proved too slow at third, and in one nning overthrew first so badly that Walsh trotted around the bases in what should have been an out. Burke made two costly errors in rightfield and a stupid play by Murphy in the third linning aided the visitors in piling up the score. Mains pitched well throughout in spite of his discouraging support. The base running of the Nebraskans was remarkable, and their dash and spirit was in marked contrast with the listless work Those

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is wor, by your confidence. It is peculiar in that it strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. Give it a trial. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Francis Murphy's return to Omaha is eviney soon had a home and were prosperous dently appreciated, else the splendid recephe balance of their days. Mr. Merrill closed his discourse by saying tion given that gentleman by the 8,000 perthat the grace of God could save drunkards, but the saloons made ninety-nine drunkards sons who filled Boyd's opera house last night went for naught. while the people were saving one. He said the only subution of the people from this curse was to vote for prohibition, which he hoped everyone would do.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the handsome gray haired gentleman stepped upon the stage to bow to a round of hearty applause that greeted his appearance.

The meeting was opened by the members of Prof. Smith's chorus, who sang "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

As soon as the strains of music had died / away Mr. Murphy arose to his feet, and spying Judge Felker, Attorneys Dick and Townsend in the audience, he said : "Gentlemen, come up here on the stage, as I want all of m deacons with me."

Saturday afternoon, dead broke, Lynch arrived in the elty, coming from Sin Francisco, via the box car route. In his strolls about town he fell in with Charles O'Mally, who took pity on him, and The gentlemen responded to the invitation and as they stepped forward they were met. by the noted temperance orator, who we could each with a hearty hand shake, remarking, "Good boys, I am glad to see you and be with you again."

After prayer being offered by Roy. Charles W. Savidge, the chorus rendered another selection of music. Mr. Savidge, pastor of the People's church, then approached the front of the stage, remarking that again he was glad to be able to introduce Francis Murphy to the people of Omaha. Mr. Starr was the next speaker and in his remarks he said, "this is the gentleman who has come again to work out Omaha's sai vation, and he will be with us for ten days. Mr. Murphy arose and as he did so was the recipient of a greeting that caused the ga-lights to flicker. "I am glad to see you again. by dears," said the speaker. speech tonight and so I will introduce to ye ay friend, Judge Felker." In opening his speech the speaker arraigned the governor, because in calling the special session of the legislature he had not made some provision for passing laws that would mak-men sober. Said he: "Since May 9 I have not touched the a-cursed stuff that poisons and then kills, and, by the grace of God, I never will again." "That is the kind of testimony I like," responded Mr. Murphy. "Now I will tell you. Paul thought he could convert the world by killing people, but he changed his mind, and later on in life we found out the way to convert was by love. City Laundry vs Lincoln

The City Steam Laundry team and the Lincoln Giants met at the West park yesterday afternoon and the game they put up was one of the very finest seen in Omaha this season. The crowd in attendance was something like twelve hundred or thereabouts and their enthusiasm over the good work of both teams was unbounded.

The Lincoln Giants, as is probably generally known, is composed of colored men and it is safe to say there isn't a stronger amateur team in the whole western country. The battery work of Reeves and Maupins was especially fine, Maupins being one of the swiftest and most accurate throwers seen here this year.

In the City Steams Manager Bert Wilkins has an aggregation he may well feel proud of. Every one of them is a ball player, and Hart, who did the twirling yesterday. is the equal of two-thirds of the pitchers in the Western association. The big colored sluggers from the capital only managed to scratch out three little pearly hits off of him. His loose fielding in a measure marted his par-excellent work in the box. Linahan also played well behind the plate, and cyldently has the staff in him for a first class backstop. But the score will better tell the tale of the superb battle :
