

PLEASURE MID JUNE ROSES.

The Heat Has an Unpleasant Effect Upon Social Entertainments.

MARRIAGES CHARACTERIZE THE WEEK.

Miss E. A. Pennell Leaves Omaha to Live Among the Heathen at Siam— Brilliant Marriage of Miss Minnie Rothschild.

Herzog-Rothschild.

In the presence of a brilliant gathering of friends and acquaintances which filled every seat of the auditorium and before an altar buried with stately foreign plants, Miss Minnie Rothschild, daughter of L. Rothschild, and Mr. Louis Herzog, a prominent merchant of Sioux City, were united.

At 8:30 Dr. Rosenau took his position and to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party entered the church. Four little, black-haired, white-robed flower girls stood at the head of the aisles waiting for the bride train. At the head of each aisle walked a handsome little boy in black velvet and white lace. Then the ushers in full dress and after them the bride on one side and the groom on the other followed by the parents and a bridesmaid and groomsmen on each side.

The groomsmen were L. Rothschild, a brother of the bride and H. Rosenstock, while Miss Annie Rothschild and Miss Dollie Pollock acted for the bride. The ushers were Messrs P. U. Ross and Samuel Oberfelder. Mr. and Mrs. A. Lofock acted in the place of the groom's parents who are in the old country.

Miss Rothschild was a typical bride in a beautiful costume of cream faille with gold brocade and point lace trimmings surmounted by a wreath of orange blossoms and the bridal veil. She carried a superb bouquet of white roses.

Miss Pollock's costume was the realization of simplicity and grace in white crepe, and Miss Emma Rothschild looked very charming in a costume of cream faille and gold brocade.

At the conclusion of the beautiful Jewish ceremony with its goblet of wine and ring symbolism the bride party and invited guests adjourned to the splendid ballroom where a farewell reception and dance were given.

The bride and groom sat in a bowler of palms, oleanders and smilax, in the southeast corner of the room to receive the congratulations of their many friends, and with his many fair features and the varied richness presented a most brilliant appearance. The musical union orchestra in full force occupied a platform almost buried with pots and plants and the excellent music for which they are noted.

The banqueting room below, where light and summer-like refreshments were served, was equally pretty.

In the middle of the room stood a large table draped in pure white, a lace of glass covered the top and four white doves perched on the sides. In the center of the miniature lake rose an island of beautiful foliage plants. From the sides of the table white ribbons stretched to a crystal chandelier in the ceiling, where the whole appearance of a milk-white ship. Festoons of smilax trailed everywhere.

At the conclusion of the reception and banquet the guests adjourned to the ballroom, where dancing was kept up till dawn peeped over the east.

The bridal couple, after an extended tour in the east, will reside in Sioux City.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. I. Oberfelder, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hollman, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. J. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Mortz Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cahn, Mr. and Mrs. L. Levy, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Robinson, Mr. D. Brandt, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brandt, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. George Heyn, Mr. and Mrs. F. Seligson, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stonehill, Mr. and Mrs. S. Bergman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mandelberg, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Dineen, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. and Mrs. S. Dineen, Mr. and Mrs. G. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. A. Haas, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Sloman and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, Addie and Tillie Newman, Clara Rittkopff, Annie Rothschild, Dollie and Mattie Pollock, Mabel Selman, Lillie Hollman, Hattie Oberfelder, H. Gieseler, Clara Gieseler, Adler, Ella Heller and Bessie Isaacs; Messrs: P. M. Rose, Simon Oberfelder, D. Silverstein, Charles Goldsmith, C. A. and G. L. Stonehill, J. Wechsler, J. H. and J. C. Gieseler, L. Rothschild, Joe Oberfelder, Fred Seligson, H. Rosenstock, Gus Dieches, Max Hildebrand, Julius Meyer, A. Zunder and Hugo Amberger.

Phraner-Pennell. At All Saints' church, on Twenty-fifth avenue, last Wednesday Miss Elizabeth Pennell and Mr. O. Phraner were united in marriage to Stanley Ketchum Phraner of Sing Sing, N. Y.

Miss Pennell is exceedingly popular in Omaha, and on the occasion of her wedding All Saints' church was filled with her friends.

The bridal party, consisting of the groom, accompanied by Mr. T. J. Pennell, and the bride, escorted by Mr. G. L. Woodruff and the bride's mother, Mrs. Lucy Pennell, entered the church, presided by the church choir and the officiating minister, Dr. Zahner, the choir singing a matrimonial hymn of the Episcopal service.

They passed through the broad, central aisle, which had been scattered with roses, and took their stand at the chancel rail under an arch of fragrant blossoms.

The bride appeared very charming in a simple gown of mousseline de soie, decorated with maiden-hair fern. In her hand she carried a white camellia prayer book. The groom wore a tuxedo of black cloth.

The ushers were Mr. H. H. Mealy and Mr. Lewis Bradford, Mr. Marshall organist. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Phraner left Omaha for New York, where they will arrive on August 1, where they will sail for Siam, where Mr. Phraner goes as a missionary of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Pennell accompanied him east.

Miss Pennell has been for eight years one of the sweet-voiced ladies of this city in both church and society. Through seemingly removed forever from this section of the country, she will long be favorably remembered by hosts of friends whom she has known in this vicinity.

The groom graduated this year from Princeton divinity school, and is also a graduate of Yale college. He has voluntarily resigned himself to an exile from his native land, and goes to Siam to preach the gospel.

Duncan-Colson. On Thursday evening, at the Park Avenue Presbyterian church and in the presence of many friends of the contracting parties, the marriage of Mr. E. H. Duncan of McCague's savings bank and Miss Josie Colson, formerly with Kelley, Stiger & Co., was celebrated. Miss Mary Wilson acted as bridesmaid and W. G. Hornum as best man. Miss Sophie French presided at the piano. J. A. Henderson performed the ceremony and at its conclusion tendered the wedded couple a reception in the parsonage, where they received the congratulations of their friends. The new home of the bridal pair is at 3423 Farnam.

A very pleasant evening was spent by the alumni of Brownell hall at the residence of Mrs. O. M. Carter, 3510 Farnam street. The handsome parlors were beautified with a profusion of roses and graceful wreaths of smilax. A collection of ices and cakes was served in the dining room, and the night sped swiftly with music, laughter and such conversation as only skillful entertainers can provoke. Two hundred and fifty guests participated in the enjoyment of the evening.

which formed a delightful finale to the school-year.

Five O'clock. Mrs. Henry Neely of Walnut Hill gave the event of the season in that section at the "Five o'clock" on Thursday last. Tables, sparkling with cut-glass and silver, were spread on the beautiful lawn, with dainty viands, fruits, and sparkling beverages, the delightful things that go toward making a successful entertainment. Conversation led by the hostess, music and games filled the time most happily until 8 o'clock. The guests: Mrs. Churchill Parker, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Charles N. Haley, Miss Minnie Seaver, Mrs. Epener, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Retter, Mrs. Seward, Mrs. Cotton, Miss Gorton, Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Doty, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. W. Wagner, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. L. F. ENGLISH LITERATURE.

Consideration of Representative Types in the Georgian and Victorian Eras.

The graduating class at Park place gave on last Monday its last literary entertainment. It was an exhaustive and interesting study of representative types in English literature through the Georgian and Victorian eras. The programme alone shows the broad field of study in which these diligent toilers have worked during the past ten months, and emphatically controverts the statement that the study of English literature for girls there is none in our part of the country.

pretty. She possesses $300,000 in bank stock in her own right.

Miss Winnie Davis will receive a novel bridal present from Atlanta. Major Sidney Ross is having an old-fashioned country gourd rimmed and braced with silver, and will forward it, to be used as a wall ornament on drinking.

At a recent dinner given by Mrs. Astor, the table cloth and napery were of ivory white silk and satin damask. Down the center of the cloth was a foot-wide panel of hand-wrought lace, which showed beneath its rose pink satin. The famous dinner service of silver was used.

Some society women carry little bouquets containing strictures on their neighbors. While it is understood that two of them will send a girl to kingdom come, one is a sure tonic with the bracing effect of a gin cocktail. Three a day is a doctor's unit, who prescribes them to relieve fatigue, and so, after over exertion in shopping, visiting or gadding, a woman opens her bouquet and takes a dose of strychnine instead of a stew.

Miss Stewart, a Scotch girl, of Cincinnati, was a few years ago superintendent of the restaurant department of the city. She changed at a small weekly salary. She and two sisters are now running a restaurant of their own in the Chamber of Commerce building. They have a staff of waitresses, who furnish but one meal a day, from 12 m to 3 p. m. It is a business man's lunch, and their dress shows the weakness of the average man for "home cooking," which is their specialty.

At last there is something new for idle hands to do—poker work. The revival of the ancient art of poker work, which is now known as poker work, the decorative and artistic effects which may be produced by this simple treatment of wood, has led to the invention of a portable, light, and easily transported outfit, requisite for the practice of this fascinating art. In the case of a simple lamp, bonfire and minor implements, together with printed instructions, so lucidly set forth that the merest tyro in the art can begin at once to make preliminary studies in the art.

Flower tubes are beginning to fall. After five or six wearings and half a many raindrops these multipetalous affairs take on the appearance of a raised pie of violets or roses. For all their beauty, they are not to be worn in the line of summer millinery to beat straw. All the smart women of Paris have taken to wearing black hats by order of the fashion who is so vivacious in making things do well enough for tall ladies, but the ebony shade is heavy and has a compressing effect on the head, and is not to be worn by a woman. Black is prime as a shoe or glove. It has a diminishing effect as a stocking or dress, but it is disastrous against the face.

The tailor-made girl becomes more masculine in attire every season. Just now the fancy runs to a suit of rough homespun or gray tweed, intricate of trimming, and depending for its characteristic smartness on the cut and fit. The suit is made in the fashion, with a little tail piece and a step-collar showing a dandy looking white Marcelline tie, pinned to the collar, and the skirt is fitted to the figure, and is either in this or either in front or at the side, but with a few plaits spreading out in graceful fan-like form at the hem, and a small tail piece at the bottom of the skirt. The popularity of this tailor-made dress is due in a measure to its exclusiveness, for there is not a woman outside of the tailor's shop who can cut, fit and press a suit of this kind.

The First Summer Afternoon Concert to be Given Today.

Today, under the auspices of the park commission, the first of a series of afternoon concerts to be given during the summer at Hanscom park, will take place. The music will be furnished by the Musical union orchestra, under the leadership of Harry Green, two of the leading members, having been selected from that organization for that purpose.

With this number the manager, Julius Meyer, will be enabled to furnish such music as has not been heard in this city, and to give to a few of their friends at their residence, No. 4012 Nicholas street.

General John I. Cutting of San Francisco, representing the Armour-Cuddey company, and Mrs. E. J. Williams, a brother-in-law of Congressman Cutler, were in the city last week.

Thursday evening about one hundred of Mrs. H. H. H. Park's friends visited "Happy Hollow" and enjoyed a delightful serenade from the Second infantry band.

Charles E. Sumner, president of the Schuyler National bank, has leased Mrs. R. C. Patterson's residence at 2513 Farnam street, and will soon remove to the city last week.

On Wednesday, the 25th inst., Miss Lillie Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Richardson of Yankton, will be married to Ralph E. Gieseler, a brother-in-law of Congressman Cutler, at the city last week.

The musical union orchestra will begin its series of summer concerts at Hanscom park on Monday, June 17, at 2 o'clock. The first will be given on Saturday afternoon from 4 till 7 and on Sunday from 2 till 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Dr. L. A. Morriam, accompanied by Miss Mary Richardson, will be in the city last Monday, departed for St. Paul and Minneapolis, where several weeks will be spent visiting friends, after which Mrs. Morriam will proceed to Salt Lake city, where she will remain a few weeks the guest of Mrs. Alexander L. Pollock, formerly of this city.

The marriage of D. B. Hendricks and Miss Minnie G. Kendrick, which occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, 134 North Eighteenth street Tuesday afternoon, was a very pleasant affair and was attended by a number of the friends of the young people. The couple left for the east on the afternoon train, where they will remain a few weeks at the fashionable pleasure resorts.

Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Thomas Miller of the Burlington system, gave a delightful coaching party to Mrs. Miller, where they spent the afternoon in the woods, returning to the city at 10 o'clock. The guests were Mrs. G. A. Harvey, Miss Fitz Barnard, Miss Duryea, Miss McCague, Miss Wald, Miss Chambers, Miss Dixon and Miss Miller, Messrs. Harvey, Heth, Tan, Fossbender, Downes, Maurice Duryea, Will Ward, Clarence Brown and others.

A more pleasant afternoon could not have been wished for than that which greeted the fifty little friends of Viola Cain, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cain, who gathered to celebrate the fifth birthday of that little miss. It would be difficult to find a happier throng than that which filled the lawn of her parents' residence on upper Farnam street, and the music of the sounds of children's voices which filled the air showed how much they enjoyed and appreciated the hospitality of their little hostess.

A large number of the members of "The Club" were present at the meeting held at Dean Gardner's residence last Monday evening, at which the subject "Evolution" was discussed. Mr. Richardson presented an interesting paper on the subject. During the evening light refreshments were served. Mrs. Gardner and her guest, Miss Johnson, presided at the coffee. The next meeting of the club this season will be held at the residence of Mr. Haller, Monday evening, June 23. The evening will be devoted to a discussion of Schubert's musical works. Miss Georgie Boulter will interpret his vocal works and Mrs. Muenfterfer his instrumental compositions.

HONEY FOR THE LADIES.

Knot rings are still much admired by school and society girls.

One of the incongruities of fashion is a lace or silk cause de coudre with a gold or silver seal, sable or monkey fur tightly buttoned about the neck.

The Merry Thought brooch is an English novelty, the design consisting of a bird's nest with a gold, with a tiny dove worked in diamonds perched on one arm.

An Atchison woman, who has two girls, will make the same dress do for both. It is on its way now for its second appearance.

Ladies' Inverness costume to be had in almost any colors and designs as the dress material. These garments are made of double-face mackintosh, cloth, and can be worn either side up or down.

Florence Pullman, the eldest daughter of the palace car millionaire, is a sensible young woman of twenty-one. She has brown hair and eyes and a majestic carriage and is rather pretty.

She possesses $300,000 in bank stock in her own right.

A MODEL CITY GOVERNMENT.

Remarkable Changes Brought About by Joseph Chamberlain in Birmingham.

RUN ON STRICT BUSINESS PRINCIPLES.

A Municipality Every Department of which is Conducted in the Interest of the Citizens—An Ideal Mayor.

Attention has been called to the youth of Birmingham in its relation as the best-governed city. There are many warm admirers of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain who associate his name and enterprise with the city's new birth. It is only measurably fair to do this, but certainly he deserves great credit for many important reforms and accomplishments.

Harper's Magazine for June. His appearance in public life in Birmingham, some time before he was mayor, was the occasion for the awakening of the best men of the town to an interest in the local government. The tavern coffee, that had taken a too forward part before that, now lost its influence. This was in 1871; Mr. Chamberlain, then in business as a manufacturer of wood screws, entered public life unostentatiously, but was soon elected mayor, and served three terms in that office. Under his bold and able administration the water-works and gas works were made public property, the health department was more than modernized, and the improvement scheme, which will be explained further on, was instituted.

But first as to the gas experiment. Birmingham is the home of the invention of gas-lighting, but the town did not adopt the system until 1817, after London had done so. In time two companies came to supply the city. It was in 1874 that Mayor Chamberlain moved the purchase of the gas works, and the taxpayers voted for the scheme. The same year, and the necessary parliamentary statute was enacted in July, 1875. In the same year the check of the Birmingham company for its property and rights; and in January, 1876, the sum of £103,845 ($619,225) was paid to the Staffordshire company for its interests. The systemization of the new undertaking was more or less complicated and costly, but all that is necessary to be stated here is that, as a result, the price of gas has been materially reduced to corporation of the city and its citizens, and the investment returns an annual profit of more than $100,000. The price of the electricity in 1890, was paid to the Birmingham company for its property and rights; and in January, 1876, the sum of £103,845 ($619,225) was paid to the Staffordshire company for its interests.
