DICKINSON'S SUCCESSOR TO KANSAS CITY.

The Importance of the Wyoming Shops and the Relation Those of Omaha Will Bear to Them.

A somewhat startling and unexpected sensation was developed in Union Pacific headquarters vesterday morning. It was occasioned by a notice, signed by Vice-President Holcomb and bearing President Adams' approval, announcing that "From and after July 1 the headquarters of the superintendent of motivepower and machinery will be at Cheyenne, Wyo."

This announcement will be a surprise to the people of Omaha, who have repeatedly been assured that the main shops would always be retained at this place. Since the company commenced operations at Cheyenne, its managing officials have frequently stated that the plant located at that place would be of small capacity and be used for light repair work only.

But it transpires—now that these shops are to be made the principal and most important of the entire Union Pacific system. It seems also that at that point will be massed the great force of employes, the car and locomotive buildings, planing and rolling mills, car wheel foundry and in fact everything for domestic the finest and heat work demanded by the ing the finest and best work demanded by the company.

It is stated, however, that the decision making this change was not reached finally until yesterday, though it had been under consideration for the past five weeks. The arguments made in support of such a move are that the principal shops of every railway ought to be as near the center of the system as possible and the excuse for locating Mr. Middleton at Cheyenne is that he can handle the business more easily and more satisfactorily. Having supervision over the smaller shops, at Omaha, Kansas City, Den-ver and Portland, it is claimed that his re-moval to Cheyenne is entirely in the interest

However, one of the leading officials said that he thought it very bad policy to remove the headquarters of such an important de-partment from the headquarters of the road, and predicted that it would create trouble It is claimed that it would create trouble.

It is claimed that the shops in this city will be maintained on their present scale, give employment to the number of men now employed and continue to do the same class of work and be under the personal charge of John Wilson as an assistant superintendent. Another man declared that this was the be ginning of an organized scheme to distribute the general offices. Mr. J. O. Brinkerhoff, who succeeds Mr. E. Dickinson as general manager of the Missouri river division, is to have his headquarters at Kansas City. Mr. Adams and Mr. Holcomb decided upon that point when they were in that city last week and the circular notice to that effect was issued vesterday. All the office documents, accounts and effects will be moved away from here on the first of July.

Vice President Holcomb was asked for an explanation of this sudden change in the management of Union Pacific affairs, but declined to talk. His reply was: "The president is here and you had better see him."

Mr. Adams asserted emphatically that Mr. Holcomb was the only man authorized to give out information about the matter. Said he, "It's something that belongs entirely to the local management. We have nothing to do with any disposition of the operations, in Boston. I presume, however, that this office is being transferred to Cheyenne for conven-ience. The company is building its great central shops there, consequently it is only nat-ural that the superintendent of motive power and machinery should be where those shops

Union Depot Meeting.

The union depot company held a meeting yesterday at which President Adams of the Union Pacific road and the architects Van Brunt & Howe, as well as Mr. Kimball, Vice President Holcomb and General Manager Indexes of the B. & M. were present. It was called for Mr. Adams' benefit. Before leaving for Boston that gentleman de-sired to ascertain what had been done regarding the depot.

It is understood that everything thus far was found to be satisfactory and met with the president's approval. Appraising Property.

The commission having in charge appraisement of property for union depot purposes met yesterday to appraise the St. James hotel and the ground upon which it stands. This property is owned by non-residents to whom legal notice had to be served.

The notice expired last Saturday but the commission did not meet until yesterday Another Summer Excursion.

Jim Stephenson has completed arrangements with the Union Pacific for a summer excursion west similar to that which he took out last season. It will leave Omaha July 26 and be gone one month. It is proposed to take in Yellowstone park, go north to Portland, swing around by Shoshone Falls, and come back by way of Salt Lake and Denver. Mr. Stephenson will take his tally-ho coaches along and make short excursions to various points of interest away off the railroad.

Davis and others.—Gentlemen: Your request has been duly considered. In answer, permit me to say that to become a candidate for governor involves a trust affecting every individual and every interest in the state. Such a posi-tion should not be sought for gain or political advancement. It is a responsibility which I naturally shrink to assume, but when requested by so large a number of my fellow citizens representing almost every avocation of our people it be-comes a duty, therefore, grateful for this mark of respect and esteem, I accept.

If nominated, every effort will be made to lead the party to triumphant success. If elected, the duty will be faithfully performed and the laws fearlessly but justly executed. I am, gentlemen, very respectfully, your bedient servant. S. D. Mercer.

Room This Last Day. Tom Cook, chief census man for Nebraska, arrived in the city last evening from Lincoln. He informed a representative of THE BEE that he would like to have the announcement made that he would be at the United States court room, on the second floor of the postoffice building all of today for the purpose of enumerating any and all persons who have escaped the notice of the regular enumerators.

Mr. Cook said that he would be prepared to handle any sized rush of people, however, great, and he hopes that no one will neglect this duty to call on him and give their names. When asked what reason he assigned for the fact of many people in this city having been overlooked by the enumerators Mr. Cook said that he could think of but two causes. First, that the persons were away from home when the enumerators called to of the men engaged in the work might have misunderstood some part of the boundary line of the territory assigned them. "The public," said he, "hasn't the slightest conception of the magnitude of the work of enumerat-ing a city the size of Omaha, and of doing it thoroughly and accurately. I know that I can say with all truthfulness that I never have tried quite so hard to do my full and complete duty and to the very best of in Nebraska. I don't suppose there ever has been a government census taken in the his-tory of the United States but that there were a thousand in this city, and several thousand in that, that were not enumerated. Nor do I suppose there ever was a census taken without some people thinking it was smart or bright to keep out of reach of the enumerator. But I shall feel within myself when this work tent of my ability to make the count just what it is." Not Enumerated.

Right Rev. M. F. Burke of Cheyenne Appointed Bishop of Omaha.

A SKETCH OF THE PRELATE'S LIFE.

The Reasons Advanced for Abandoning Cheyenne and the Territory Which the New Bishop Will Control.

News has at length been received in this city that Bishop Burke, late of the diocese of Cheyenne, has been appointed to succeed the late Rt. Rev. James O'Connor of Omaha. The news is coupled with the announcement that the diocese of Cheyenne has been united with that of Omaha, thus practically giving the new bishop nearly the same territory as that originally covered by Bishop O'Connor.

The announcement occasioned a great deal of surprise among the local Catholic clergy, few of whom thought the selection of Rome would fall upon the gentleman from Wyoming. A majority of the pricests of the diocese petitioned themse to appear in Bishop Seamlan of Sail Lake Rome to appoint Bishop Scanlan of Salt Lake City, and nearly all of them felt that the ap-pointee would be either that gentleman or Vicar-General Brady of St Louis. The latter gentleman visited this city on the occasion of Bishop O'Connor's funeral and made a favor-old invesselon upon the cleary who were able impression upon the clergy who were then present. It seems, however, that he has been preferred for honors nearer home been preferred for honors nearer home.

Right Rev. Maurice F. Burke was born in Ireland, May 5, 1845. His parents came to this country and settled in Chicago when he was a child four years old. At the age of eighteen he entered the old University of St. Mary's of the Lake in that city. He then went to the university Notre Dame, South Band Lad receiving these days of the same land.

Bend, Ind., remaining there five years, after which he was sent to Rome. where he spent nine years in the American college. He was ordained on May 22, 1875, by Cardinal Patrizi, and immediately after his return to this country was appointed pastor of St. Many's church, Chicago. He remained there for three years, when he was made pastor of St. Many's church Loller His chicago. tor of St. Mary's church, Joliet. His admin-istration has been quite successful and a convent in charge of the sisters of Loretto, two large parochial schools and one of the finest enurches in the country will attest.

About three years ago the diocese of Chey-enne was established and Rev. F. M. Burke was consecrated as its first bishop. The territory of which it was composed had formerly been under the care of Bishop O'Connor, but was cut off from the diocese of Omaha be-cause of the growing infirmity of Bishop O'Connor who was no longer able to traverse he immense district.

Bishop Burke was received with joy by the people of all religious creeds in Cheyenne and grow in their esteem and confidence accordngly as ne became more intimately acquainted with them.

Bishop Burke at once actively assumed the duties of his office and endeavored to build up the Catholic community. He had many difficulties to contend with; the district was sparsely settled, and the tide of immigration tended in other directions. There are only six priests in the entire diocese, and four counties have no resident priest whatever. The educational institutions of the diocese received a boom under the influence of the young and vigorous prelate, so that in the small Catholic community of 4,500, with only two academies and two parochial schools there is an attendance of 225 papils at the ormer and 200 in the latter. Recently, Bishop Burke became satisfied that the support of a bishopric was too much of a burden on his people, and thereupon went in person to Rome to place the matter before the propaganda, with the result as

LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. A. C. Wheeler (Nym Crinkle) has ust sold the right to publish his new new novel, "The Toltee Cup," to the Lew Vanderpoole publishing company for $10,000—the largest sum paid for any recent work of fiction. All of the action and incidents of this story are laid in about New York city.

Whittier, Holmes and Tennyson, the three illustrious "Octgenarian Poets," are discussed by George Makepeace Towle, in a charming literary paper, which leads off Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for July Some admirable traits and views illustrate it. Mrs. Isabella Hinton's article on "Clara Barton and the Red Cross Association in the United States" is made timely by the account given of the association's work at Johnstown, Pa., the first anniversary of the memorable disaster at that place having just passed. Quebec, one of the most picturesque fortress-cities in the world, is described with curious illustra-rions, by Elizabeth Taylor. It has been stated on excellent authority that Mr. Kenman's articles have been read by the ezar of Russia, though in

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper for the week ending June 14 contains the "Song of the Steeple," written expressly for its pages by Morroe H. Rosenfeld, nuthor of "With All Her Faults, I Love Her Still." This song is one of the most spirited and delightful which this popu-lar composer has produced and it will be sure to find a hearty welcome from all classes of people. The music is not difficult, but full of inspiration. The song is illustrated, and can only be obtained as now published in Frank Les-tury for May.

"Well Matched," a short story by Anne Fuller, a new writer of great prom-ise, will appear in the next number of Harper's Bazar. The same number will contain a striking poem by George Washington Coleman, called "The Tryst. Among the illustrated articles in Har-

C., and has spent several years in Texas. She was for a long time a regular contributor to the newspapers of Galveston, from which she began to write for northern magazines and papers. Brander Matthews in "Two Letters,"
