THE PINKERTON OUTBAGES.

The employment of Pinkerton detecwho had agreeted him for shooting into B. CITCAVVO.

The force of janisaries at Albany was under the immediate charge of Robert then from the slums of New York city a day or two before and sent them out with the instruction that while they were not employed to kill people, they knew what to do if they believed themselves to be in danger. No plainer suggestion was needed by these ruffians, and they found early opportunity to act upon it. The experience is not new. Wherever these mertenaries have been employed they have made a record of outrage and violence. In Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Illinois, Nebrasknand elsewhere they have been guilty of abuses and crimes which no people olicitous of their rights should ! ever telerate. The history of the Pinkertou system of furnishing armed bands to spy upon and overawethe people is red with the blood of impoent persons Robert Pinkerton is said to have expressed serrow that insecent per sons had suffered, adding the cold-blooded observation that "it generally happened that way." How much longer will the American people tolerate a system that would not be permitted in any European nation, unless it be Russia. and which is pregnant with danger to their rights and liberties?

With regard to the outrages in Albany, there ought to be a severe accounting from somebody. It would seem to be a fair inference from what is reported to have been said by the chief of police of that city, that the New York Central officials made no demand on the municipal authorities for protection of the company's property. The chief states that he told the superintendent of the read that the company's property would be well guarded by the local police if no other forces were brought to Albany to influence the popular passions, but the railroad official was not disposed to rely upon the legally constituted authorities. He could have demanded protection not only from the police of Albany, but from whatever other forces authorized by the usual activity among the seal peachers. laws of New York might have been found necessary. He could have some moned an army to his service by showing that there was such danger to the property under his charge as to justify it. But he chose to guard this property with men recruited by a private detective agency, and we have the result. The Pinkertens who are in dealt with to the full extent of the law, but something more than this is demanded. There must be redress for the persons who were shot down by the hired ruffians. It may not be possible to make this adequate, and it will not be if any of the wounded die. but the enormously wealthy corporation which is distinctly responsible for these criminal outrages must not be allowed to escape a just penalty. Measuwhile the people of New York should arouse to such an indignant protest against this Pinkerton business as will compel the legislature at its next session to eract a law for its suppression. Every consideration of public security, and of the rights and welfare of the people, demands legislation to effectually destroy this anomalous and dangerous

SIL VER CONFERENCES.

It appears that there are members of both houses of congress who are disposed to urge a movement on the part of the government of the United States for an international congressin the interest of silver. They think the action taken by this country for remonetizing silver makes this an opportune time for another effort to induce European counries to enter into an agreement that vill bring them into line with the United States in the matter. It is sugrested that as a preliminary to his the president should send abroad, as was done several years ago, a competent person to represent the American case and ascertain the scatiment of European governments regarding silver. The president may appoint such an agent without specific authority or direction from congress, but it is not cnown whether he favors the propesal

The French government was insympathy with the object urged Pinkerlon, who had recruited most of by the United States, but the British government adhered firmly to its longmaintained monetery polley, while the German government deemed the cosable pre-requisite in any change.

During the past five years public sentiment in England and Germany has unquestionably been growing in favor of the remonetization of silver under an international agreement such as the United States have proposed. The report of the royal commission appointed by the British government in ISSC had a very decided induence favorable to silver in England, while the advocates of silver remonetization in Germany have gained many adherents. But there is really not much reason to believe that an international monetary conference at this time would have an essentially different result from the two heretofore

THE final footings of the population of Omaha and vicinity have been completed and forwarded to Washington. The revised schedules place the population within the corporate limits of Omahaat one hundred and thirty-nine thousand two hundred and forty-five, an increase of five thousand over the first estimate. It is not probable that any material change will be made in these figures, so that Omaha will go on record as a city of practically one hundred and forty thouand people. > In the flush of enthusiasm which followed the declaration of the Nebraska growth of chies in Kassas and lown. It is a democracy for the Australian election system, the rank and file lost sight of the fact that such distinguished party patriots as David IIIII and Boss Gorman denounced it as a detriment to democracy. The reason for repudinting the wishes of national wheelhorses is no longer a mystery. True, the republicans were the leaders in this reform, having put it into effect in sixteen states. In casting about for some like system, Alabama adopted the Australian plan in a modified form, and the first practical test of the law was sesatisfactory that the progressive members of the party were induced to enderse it. The fact that republican counties in Alabama returned startling democratic majorities explains the haste of the Nebraska democrats in making election reform a party

It is said that the object of Mr. Laws' visit to Nebuska at this time is to perfect arrangements to have himself appointed in the McCook land office. They fear to meet the issue squarely, and attempt to deny the prosperity of their own cities in order that they may not be compelled to answer the charge that their fad has retarded the small piece of business, and the ceasus department is justified in ignoring complaints made solely for political effect.

The Obstinate Canucks.

A cable dispatch from London states that the conclusion reached there from a review of the various scarces of opinion among Canadians as to commercial union with the United States is that Casadians are as unlayomble as ever to all such propositions. The educa tistal campaign of the Toronto Globe and that remarkable man, Erastus Wiman, does not appear to have accomplished much. Mr. Wiman would do himself great credit and relieve the country immensely if he would rest from his Canadian scheme and go back to Staten island and Dua & Co.'s business during the heated term, or at least, if he would contline his efforts to run the western hemisphere to the daytime, allowing Providence to take care of it at night.

Washington, D. C., August B. 1890.—Hen,
George B. Lane, Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Nebrasha, Lincola, Neb.—Sir: It is the prime purpose of the present administration of Indian affairs to bring the Indian schools into relation with supervision after the public schools as far as supervision after the public schools as far as in most of the states and territories where there are Indians, some of them are located along the white settlers, and white settlemong the white settlers, and white settlerments generally surround the reservations. I deem it extremely desirable that, whenever practicable, the children of Indians resaling on reservations or among the whites be indueed to attend the public scheels.

They will learn the ways of civilization, and acquire the language much more rapidly
if associated with white children in the public schools than in any other way.

In order especially that the Indians who break up their tribal relations and settle upon alloted lands may have opportunities of educating their children, and as an inducenent to white settlers to invite Indian children to their schools and assist them to ne-quire the radiments of an English education, I would be pleased to have you inform school officers and others interested that the Indian office is ready to enter into contracts with the school district officers or other properly qualified representatives of school districts for the tuition of Indian children at a rate of $10 per quarter, based upon the average at-tendance of Indian children during the quarter. Out of this $10 per quarter the school districts will be expected to supply accessary text-books to the Indian children. The school text-books to the Indian childras. The government contributes this $10 per quarter directly for the purpose of benefit-ing the children of the ladians, its words, for whose education the national govern-ment is responsible. The fact that this is likewise a benefit to school districts having Indian citizens or adjacent to Indian reservations must not be lost sight of.

I feel that the whites of such localities are as much interested in this plan of educating the Indian children as the Indians are themselves, not only because of the money re-ceived, but especially because the Indians thus brought into the public schools and into pleasant relationship with white children will the more readily become fitted for good citizenship.

WHERE THE BULLET WAS FOUND. When the little elght-year-obl somof Officer Bartram was accidentally shot in the breast by J. H. Johnsen, yesterday, a well-known physician was called to examine the injury and to extract the bullet. The doctor applied his probe to the wound and discovered that the leaden missile had struck a rib and fol lowed it clear around to the spinal column. There was a slight displacement of the flesh in the back and the physician knew the ball could not be very far away. He falled to lo-cate it, however, and gave it up. The boy was told to puton his clothes and while so doing discovered the bullet in the seat of his pantaleons where it had dropped after it had passed through him. JUDGING from crop reports so far in and the price of corn at the present time. there will be but little of the crop burned for fuel this year, yet the views of the Philadelphia Ledgeron the subject of corn for fuel are worthy of thought. That paper says that over production in an article that grows up In a few months and that can be used for heating purposes in the stove will never be a text for sentimental apostrophe. "It takes a tree twenty to thirty years, at least, to grow into useful size for cutting, and timber is wanted for many other purposes besides feeding the kitchen fires. Yet, of these political Jeremiahs who pity the farmer for burning his extra com crop, how many of them ever care when he burns up a tree that not the next season or many seasons can replace? If the western farmer's use of corn as fuel kept either mush or pone from his children's stemachs, then there would be occasion for lament. It costs too much, when corn is plenty, to convey his surplus crop to a market; so if he burns it to cook by and saves his trees thereby and his coal money, how can that be wasteful in a crop that will come again next year?" This thought is presented to some of the professional farmer's friends who are regretting that corn
