

THE CITY. The Missouri Pacific pay car was in the city yesterday. The will of Chalmers D. Close, who resided in Iowa city, Ia., was admitted to probate in the Douglas county court. Charles J. Gunkle of Keosaupee was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Heflinger for selling liquor without a license. He gave bonds for his appearance at the next term of court. John Flanagan and Mike Dree used to be bosom companions. Flanagan suddenly departed with a gold watch belonging to Dree and he has been keeping himself in seclusion for a week or more. Detective Ellis found him at South Omaha yesterday and lodged him in jail. The watch was found on Flanagan's person. The members of the Omaha T. K. quartette have completed arrangements for making an extended tour through the state and Iowa. They will give concerts at Plattsmouth, Blair, Fremont, Weeping Water, Lincoln, York, David City, Second and Tekamah, Nel., and Claycock, Valisca, Creston and Atlantic Ia.

CLEANSING THE CITY. How the Work is Managed Under the New Regime. "Although the sanitary condition of the city is better now than it was four months ago, it is not yet what we intend to have," said Mr. Frank Morrissey, sanitary commissioner. This gentleman attributes the slowness of sanitary improvement to the citizens who in many cases have refused to confine their garbage to receptacles and have it removed by the proper officials. The city is divided into garbage districts as follows: The First, Second and Seventh wards comprise one district and have two teams; the Third and Fifth another, with three teams; the Fourth, with two teams; the Ninth, Eighth and Sixth, two teams; or in other words, one team to each ward. Each team is expected to remove the garbage twice a week from every house in its division. Persons are not allowed to live other than the appointed garbage men to remove their garbage, and 20 cents per barrel is charged for removal. There are two garbage dumps; one at the foot of Jones and another at the foot of Belmont and the city's accumulation of filth is washed away. Fifty loads of garbage and 250 or 300 loads of manure are daily dumped into the river at the foot of the river. This is washed down the river in the course of a day and without the expense to the city, which was formerly done at a cost of $1,000 a day, which was expended with about two years ago. Previously to that time, the wagons were drawn into the boat then taken out to the dump and dumped there, thereby causing a needless expense to the city. The dump at the foot of Belmont, just above the smelting works, disposes of about 200 tons of garbage and two loads of manure daily into the river. After dumping, the wagons are taken down to the river, scrubbed with kerosene and cleaned with a disinfectant, thereby causing a needless expense to the city. A contract was let Monday last for the building of a platform, over the river to make it more convenient for the washing of the wagons. Mr. Morrissey has recently had constructed a closed wagon for the removal of dead animals which are piled up on the streets. Some five cents a day is the price paid for the removal of a dead animal from any part of the city to the Missouri.

Dr. Sussdorf treats successfully all diseases of the kidney, bladder and rectum. 1844 Farmington street. ANOTHER ASPHALT SURFACE. Is About to Replace That on Douglas Street. A very important improvement was decided upon yesterday by the board of public works. It was to resurface Douglas street between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets, as well as a block on Twelfth between Douglas and Flanagan. This resurfacing comprehends taking up all the asphalt on the pavement except the concrete bed, and putting on a new covering. The cost of this improvement will be 8 cents per square yard, which is the same price as paid for paving. This decision on the part of the board is the result of a report made by the engineer. He stated that it is better to give the streets a general paving up at once than to continue making patchwork by keeping a big patch on one street and another in this line every three or four days. It is also stated that the pavement is too badly worn to warrant any more patching. Work will be begun on this improvement at once.

Dr. Betts & Betts, Physicians, Surgeons and Specialists. 1409 DOUGLAS STREET. OMAHA, NEB. A year behind. Why Was Not Taylor's Street Paved Last Year? Today Judge Wakeley will hear arguments in chambers in the case of William W. Marsh against the city. On his application, made August 15, the plaintiff secured an order from the court temporarily restraining the defendant from proceeding with the paving of Taylor's street. The contract was made in the year 1889, but that for the year 1890 the contract for that kind of pavement was for $1.35. By the terms of the contract which is held by J. E. Riley & Co., the work was to have been completed by December 1, 1890. It is alleged by the plaintiff that the work has not been completed by that date and that they did not begin until a few days ago. Judge Carlson, sitting in chambers, yesterday began hearing the case. Marsh alleges that he borrowed $200 of the defendants three years ago and that during that time he had paid over $400 interest on the debt. He brings the action to restrain the defendant from collecting an additional $125 interest which he says they are now trying to collect from him. Encouragement for the People. So long as the falling waters of vitality are capable of being replenished in the case of the young man, just so long there is hope for the old man, and the latter should be encouraged, therefore, to do his best in the case of his health, and to do so by the aid of the medicinal properties of the medicine known as Dr. Betts' Compound. This medicine has been used for many years and has been found to be of great benefit in the case of the aged and infirm. It is a simple and safe remedy and is well adapted to the needs of the people.
