The ladies' aid society of the Bereau Baptist church gives a special entertainment this afternoon and evening. It is to be held at the residence of Mrs. T. F. Thickstan, 731 Willow avenue, between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:20 and 9:30 o'clock in the evening.

Jens Jensen and Stine Kelgore procured a Beense Sunday and were married quietly Saturday night at the Lutheran parsonage by ic pastor. The groom is an exemplary oung man who is employed in the electric elt establishment of Dr. C. B. Judd, and both are residents of this city.

Mr. L. M. Shubert, acting under the direction of Captain Hight, supervisor of the census, has made a count of the population of Cut-Off island and has found that there are 250 people residing there. The actual count exceeds largely the mayor's estimate and strengthens the demand for police protection and other city privileges.

The merchants of the city have agreed that on and after tonight their stores will not be closed in the evening at 6:30, but will be kept open for the evening trade. Many people come down town in the evening to see the decorations, and as it is necessary to keep the stores lighted up to show them up prep-erly, the merchants have concluded that it will be better for all concerned to keep open until the usual hour of closing.

The electric motor people are not going to be left in the matter of decorations. Yesterday all the motormen and conductors who could spare the time from their duties were engaged in gathering flags and sunflowers and festioning their trains in a very handsome manner. Some of them were embow ered in sunflowers and cat-tails and others were decorated exclusively with mammoth constalls. The effect was very pleasing.

People should not overlook the fact when choosing material to decorate that it is a crowd of farmers coming, and the articles that will attract the most favorable attention will be the grains, grasses and food plants produced here. However esthetic in themselves and beautiful ir combination, too many cat-tail flags and sunflowers might create the impression that such things are the chief product of our soil. There is noth-ing handsomer and cheaper than green cornstalks, and a building decorated with the mammeth product of the Pottawattamie fields will present a fine appearance and create a very favorable impression

Last Sunday John and William Tinnel and F. M. Phillips took a team and went fishing in the river south of the city. To enable them to reach the river they took a short cut fields of a farmer named John Coyle, and he alleges that for this purpose they tore up the posts and cut the wires in three wire fences on his premises. Yester-day he came to town and filed an information in Justice Barnett's court, charging John Tinnel, John Doe and Richard Roe with malicious trespass. The two latter much accused individuals were found to be the other two gentlemen named above. All were placed under arrest and the hearing continued.

Mr. W. L. Park, who has been for some ime a resident of Harrison street, will leave his pleasant home there and remove to North Platte in a few days. Mr. Park is one of the oldest conductors in the service of the Union Pacific railroad company, and although but thirty-one years of age, has seen sixteen years in the service of the company. He began as brakeman when he was fourteen years old, and after two years was advanced to the position of conductor in the passenger service, which he has held since. The com to the position of conductor in the passenger service, which he has held since. The company has recognized his faithfulness and ability by giving him another promotion and he goes to North Platte to take the position vacated by W. H. Burns. He made many friends while a resident of Council Bluffs, and they will rejoice in his prosperity.

William Metzger, a son-in-law of John Linder of this city, died Sunday in Burlington, Ia. Several months ago he was selzed with the grip at the time that everybody was sick with it. Others recovered, but Metzger did not, and finally he concluded he would travel and see if that would do him any good. He did so if that would do him any good. He did so and has been east, west, south and north, but without beneficial results. When he was seized with the disease he was a large, robust man and weighed two hundred pounds, and when he died he weighed seventy-five pounds. The case is a very sad and strange one. Mr. Metzger was in business in the Bluffs for several years and had many friends here. He was a brother of the junior mem-ber of the firm of Louie & Metzger. John

A Daring and Successful Burglary and a Desperate Struggle at Mrs. Metcalf's.

REED RETURNS FROM WASHINGTON.

Birchler Forgives His Erring Wife-A-Gold Mining Company Incorporated-General and Personal Notes.

Yesterday morning at 3:30 o'clock Mrs. J. E. Metcalf, who cans a well known resort a short distance beyond the city limits east of town known as the "Grove," was awakened by a slight noise in her room. When she coused up she was confronted by three men, with hats pulled down closely over their eyes and the remainder of their faces concealed by hundkerchiefs. Before she could speak one of the men advanced to her bedside and commanded her to hand over all the money she had in the house. Instead of complying with the demand she reached under her pillow, where she kept a revolver, and flashed the weapon in the f dlow's face. The shot missed him and he leaned forward and pressed his own pistol to her head, but before he could fire it she scized the muzzle with both hands. A desperate struggle ensued, during which the nye shots in the burglar's revolver were discharged, but none of them struck the woman. One plowed through her hair and made a slight wound on the sculp and two others went through her night

When the shooting commenced the other two men left the room apparently for the purpose of taking cars of any other of the inrates that were about the building. John Metcalf, the husband, is away from home, and it happened that besides Mrs. Metcall and one girl the only other person about the place was the woman's old father, a white-laired old man, very feeble and infirm. He haired old man, very feeble and influm. He was sleeping upstairs, and was awakened by the firing. He got up and came tottering down the steps, and in the hallway was met by one of the burghars, who opined fire upen him. Two shots were freed, and the old man fell to the floor. By this time Mrs. Metealf had been overcome and disarmed, and was placed under guard of one of the men while the others searched the house for valuables. Mrs. Metcalf was threatened a number of times with instant death if she did not reveal the hiding place of her money but with a masked rufflan bending over her and a re-volver pressed against her temple she stead-fastly refused to give up her wealth. The girl upstairs had locked the door of her room and was a willing prisoner, and the old man still lay where he had fallen. While the one burglar stood guard over Mrs. Metcalf the others broke open every drawer, trunk, box and secret place in the house and were re-warded by finding the money that was concealed. In one place they obtained $110 in $10 bills, in another $115 in $5 bills, and about $57 in gold and silver from another place. They then returned to Mrs. Metcalf's bed-room and searched the bed, and were rewarded by finding a little jewel casket con-taining some valuable diamonds, including a set of earrings and a breastpin and some un-

The burglar, who had reached under the woman's pillow and found the gems, was in-tently examining his prize and the pistol that had been held within a few inches of her face was lowered for an instant. The woman sprang at him and tore the mask from his face, obtaining a good look into his countenance before he could prevent it. She thinks she recognized him, but is not sure.

The men then left the house and Mrs. Metcalf arose and went to her father, whom supposed to have been killed or mortally wounded. The old man had only fainted and recovered consciousness as his daughter reached his side. As soon as a team could be hitched up Mrs. Metcalf and her father started to drive to town to report the matter to the police. They had only gone a short distance when they were fired upon by some persons con-cealed in the brush by the readside. Two shots were fired, but like all the others, went wide of the mark. The woman then returned to the house and waited until daylight. She reached town about 7 o'clock and told the above story to the poince with some variations which could be readily overlooked when the terrible experience of the night is taken into

The woman places her loss at about $400, outside of the diamonds, which she says are very valuable.

Immediately after acquainting the police of Council Bluffs with the facts of the robbery Mrs. Metcalf went over to Omahagand told Chief Seavey her story and also secured the assistance of a private detective. The job was evidently done by some one well acquainted with the premises, and the woman has put the police in possession of some facts which may be the means of identifying the baseless.

Judge Reed returned from Washington yes terday afternoon. When asked as to his intentions in regard to his renomination for congress he resumed his usual reticence, and would say little beyond the mere statement that he was going to look around a little before he would commit himself in any way. He did not want to be interviewed on the matter at all. "I will see you later about it, after I've had time to look about a bit. I have just got home, and I have had a matter of business to attend to this afternoon, so I've had no opportunity of talking with any one on the matter."

Pirchler Forgives His Erring Wife. The case of the state vs. Lizzie Birchier and Charles Young, for adultery, was called in Justice Hendrick's court yesterday morning. The county attorney and the attorney for the defease were present, so was the fortorn little wife and her coarse-faced paramour, but Birchler, the injured husband, could not leave his work in Hanscom park. Omaha, long enough to come over and prose-cute the case. The hour for hearing came and passed and the prosecuting witness did not show up, and the little woman confi-dently assured the court that he need not wait any longer, for Bea had forgiven her and would not come into court to testify against her; that as soon as the court would let her go she would shake her Charley, meet her hubby, be reconciled to him and lead a happy and virtuous life. Under the circumstances the court was compelled to entertain the median of the statement of the court was compelled to entertain the motion of the attorney for the defense for the dismissal of his clients. This is from ten to twenty feet above the grade of the company's yards and on account of this fact has been lying lille for years. The company has let a contract for the removal of this bank and work will be commenced at once. It will require the removal of about two hundred thousand cubic yards of earth and when completed the company will have a strip of valuable ground 150 feet in width added to the present yard. This will be uti-lized in afforcing room for the double track-ing of the Beit line and will also give the supany a more desirable location for its freight depot than it possesses at present.

The depot will probably be located at the corner of Sixteenth and Nicholas, a block west of the present site and will be enlarged to meet the demands of the company's inreasing teaffic.

An Important Meeting of the Second Ward Branch.

Robeff's hall at Twenty-sixth and Walnut streets was crowded with the Germans of the second ward personal rights league last President M. L. Roeder was absent, and in his stead the vice-president, J. H. Boonster, occupied the chair.

After the reading of the minutes Vice President Boonster stated that since the last meeting of the league nearly 16,000 of the voters of Nebraska had signed as members of various leagues throughout the state. He stated that new leagues had been organized in the most remote counties and a general interest. most remote countles, and a general interest was being manifested in the country precincts. "But," said he, "it remains for Omaha to put forth the strongest effort, as she is most directly interested, "We must she is most directly interested. "We must do something more than meet in this hall and talk the situation over. We want workers, men who will go out among their neighbors and see that they are on the right side of the question. The prohibitionists are not idle. They are importing speeches to your state and are flooding the mails with their circulars. They are leaving no stone unturned to destroy what has taken you years to asdestroy what has taken you years to ac-cumulate. Will you stand this? I think not, gentlemen. that the Germans are drunkards, simply be cause they take a glass of beer now and then. This alone should spur you on to work to refute these damnable lies and show these refute these damnable lies and show these pirates up in their true colors."

H. F. Harmon made a lengthy speech in which he urged upon the members of the league the necessity of visiting their neighbors and finding out if they had taken out their naturalization papers. Said he: "There are many Germans right here in Omaha who have never taken out their first papers, en-titling them to vote. This is an important matter and every member of this league should constitute himself a committee of one to see that every man in the ward is seen upon this matter."

CRUSHED BETWEEN THE CARS.

Terrible Death of Switchman F. C. Smith of the Burlington.

AN ALLEGED ATTEMPT AT ABOUCTION

A Supposed Plot to Get One of Rickard's Victims Out of the Way -An Operator Arrested-Other Lincoln News.

LINCOLN, Neb., August 25, - [Special to THE BEL. |- F. C. Smith, a switchman in the employ of the B. & M., met his death this morning by having his head crushed between two cars that he was coupling. The terrible acciient occurred at about 6 o'clock, while Smith was helping make up train No. 47 that leaves for Ravenna at 6:45. As the doomed man waited to couple the approaching car, unconscious of his coming fate, he did not notice that the lumber with which it was loaded had slipped forward and would not allow him room between it and the box car, to which he was about to couple it. The train, backing, was not going at a great rate of speed, but as the cars came together the projecting lumber crushed the switchman's head against the side of the box ear. The fact that he did not step out after coupling the cars aroused the fears of his fellow workmen, and on revoluting to the men and on repairing to the scene they found their recently joyous com rade mutilated beyond recognition. The sickening spectacle staggered even the rall road men for a few moments, and in their confusion one of them sent for Dr. Everett, the company surgeon. But the poor fellow was beyond all human aid and his remains were taken to the morgae.

The deceased formerly resided in Omaha, and was employed as a switchman in the lower yards there. He was a great favorite with all who knew him and was engaged to be married in a short time to Miss Carrie A. Etzler, 1115 Harney street, Omaha. Miss Etzler is at present visiting in Denver, and the sad news of the death of her betrothed has been telegraphed to her. Nothing is known concerning Smith's rela-tives, and a reply is awaited from Miss Etz-er as to whether he has any, and, if he has, where they are.

TRIED TO AUDUCT HER. Assistant County Attorney Strode has received a letter from a prominent citizen of DeWitt telling of what is believed to be a cunningly planned and attempted abduction of little Maud Ross, the fourteen-year-old girl, who caused the issuance of a warrant for the arrest on the charge of criminal as-sault of W. H. Rickard, the justice of the peace, who is lying in jail here for ruining pretty Mary Marford the suicide. It is beleved that an attempt is being made to get the girl out of the way.

Maud is a pretty girl of fourteen and claims to be an orphan. For some time she has been making a living by working in Crowe's hotel.

A day or two since a man of medium height and bush; black whiskers, and who gave the name of Eustis, came to DeWitt, accompanied by Rickard's attorney. Eustis claimed that the girl was his daughter, and that he had been looking for her for a long time. The astonished girl indignantly denied that the fellow was her father, and she declared that she had never seen him before. An attempt was made to force her to go with them, but she raised such a disturbance that friends inter-fered and released the frightened girl from the suspiciously acting fellows.

The event has created intense excitement in De Witt, as the girl had always borne a good reputation, and much sympathy has been expressed for her, and it is believed by many that the present move was nothing more than a villainous plot to get the unfor-tunate girl out of the way so that she could not testify against Rickard.

Eustis is said to live between Dorchester and Friend, in Saline county. His story would have looked more probable had he not appeared on the scene with Rickard's attorney. This alone is sufficient to awaken distrust while the persist-ence and suspicious actions of the fellows made the friends of the girl believe that she was the victim of a conspiracy. The people of DeWitt made it so hot for the precious pair that they were glad to get out

After the jailor passed the cell Jackson slipped out and his absence was not noticed for several hours. ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT. This morning Bradbury Williams appeared before County Judge Stewart and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Harry Smith, recentiy the manager of the Lincoln branch of the Postal Telegraph Cable company, but lat-er reduced to the rank of operator. Williams charges that on July 10, while Smith was the agent of the company here, he fraudulently and feloniously took and converted to his own use $335.91, the property of the Postal Telegraph Cable company. Shortly after the warrant was issued Smith was arrested and taken before Judge Stewart, where he was put under $500 bonds to appear for trial to answer the charge of em-bezzlement. HOW TO EXTERMINATE QUACKS A State Medical Board Must Be Created by Law. During the past six years, at each session of the state legislature there have been efforts made to enact more stringent laws governing the practice of medicine in Nebraska, but it is claimed the law is far from being satisfactory to the legitimate practitioners of the state and probably not strict enough for the protection of the public.

The recent prosecution of the so-called quack doctors in Omaha has naturally brought this question of a state law governing the practice of medicine prominently to the front and doubtless stimulates those who desire a more stringent law to prepare for the introduction of a bill for this purpose at the next session of the legislature. The law as it exists simply provides that all prac-ticing physicians shall register in the office of the county clerk of the county where they in tend to practice and give the name of the col-lege from which they have a certificate of diploma or any other testimentals or creden-tials which may show that they have a legal right to practice inelicine. It also provides a penalty in case the registration is false, but there is no provision made for an actual examination by any authorized person either of the alleged diplomas or certificates claimed by those registering or as to the actual ability of the parties. It is claimed by many of the best practitioners in the city that parties have registered in Omaha giving the names of colleges as their alma mater that do not and sever have existed, and yet the law does not make it the duty of any one in par-does not make it the duty of any one in par-ticular to expose this fraud.

In this particular, it is claimed by some of the best physicians of the city, that the laws of Nebraska are decidedly weak. A remody is suggested by the following interviews:

Dr. Ginn—I have not taken any part in the prescention of the so-called quick doctors of Omaha for the reason that I have not had any faith in that method of procedure. The present law is such that any efforts at the proscention of quicks and im-posters will simply amount to an advertise. Co.'s, 13th and Douglas.

Robert Burns and William Monahan are rairroad men and good citizens when they are forcement of the law and the driving out of quackery.

What would you suggest as the accessary gai regulation desirable for this state?"
"What we should have is a state board of edical examiners, before whom all medical medical examiners, before whom all medical practitioners must pass before being permitted to practice. Our present registration law amounts to bothing. A munity place his name on the * cand refer to any college in the country as it alma matter and who is to know whigher it is telling the truth or a falsehood. I would suggest a state board of medical examiners compressed of able men well known and whole composed of able men, well known and schol arry practitioners who would compel every man desiring to practice in Nebraska to pas a strict examination. When that is done the macks and humbugs will quit the business i Dr. Hanchett There is but one remedy for the present evil that I can suggest. That a state board of medical examiners.

have tried several times during the pas six years to have a bill passes authorizing the appointment of such a board but the efforts have been frustrated by the disagreement of the two schools of medicine as to the number of homocopathists that were to be upon the beard. The old school physicians have not been willing to grant u anything like an even division of the board and we have held that we should have a least three on a board of eight. I believ that there should be a board of eight with say, four alouthists, three home-opathist and one celectic. There are able then in all three schools and I believe that each school should decide upon the ability of the applicants of that percuasion. I would be absurd to have an allopath examine a homocopath in the materia medica or vi-versa. In surgery, obstetrics and such d partments the examination, of course, could be the same for all. We are working very har moniously here in Omaha now, and I have hopes that a satisfactory understanding made be reached this winter by which the representatives of the three schools may form late a bill that will pass the legislature become a law, giving us a state board of health or medical examiners. We have twenty-five homocopathic physicians in Orasha and four hundred in Nebrasia, and I think we have a right to demand a liberal representation on the board. Dr. Rosewater-I believe that what we seed is a state board of medical examiners before whom every practitioner in the state of Nebraska should pass at least once every This board is not merely neces sary for a first examination of noplicants, bu for subsequent examinations every five year as long as the man continues or desires t practice. The idea that because a man stands a good examination today he will be found as capable five or ten years hence is a mistake. There are new methods being discovered and utilized every year in the medical world and the man who settledown to a hundrum practice is liable to fall behind. It would be an excellent thing to have every man engaged in the practice of medicine brush up at least once in five years by attending a course of lectures at som first class medical college, where he would come in contact with the latest and bes thought of the day and the leading specialist in the different departments of medica-"Yes, I am very much in favor of the appointment of a board of medical examiners Here is the Minnesota law, for instance which is an excellent arrangement, and which is an excellent arrangement by the governor of a board of nine members, two o which are to be selected from the Honorepo thists. I would favor giving the Homosopa thists of Nebraska representation on the board in proportion to the number of physicans there are of that school. I believe ef forts will be made this winter to pass a bil for the appointment of a state board of medi-cal examiners. The present prosecution of the so-called quacks in Omaha will, I think, have one good effect. It will keep out many imposters who might come here if it was not for this agitation.
