Last month the fines and licenses collected the city clerk reached the handsome sum I $3,000. The August fines and licenses so far only approximate about $1,500. The difference is occasioned by the efforts of the prohibitionists to enforce the liquorlaws. The saloonkeepers who were end during the month have refused to pay monthly fines or licenses and there will serious falling off in the police fund for the next month.

The work of dismantling the opera house of its ficial and horticultural treasures was completed yesterday, and the fruits and vegetables distributed among the charitable institutions of the city. The apple palace that adorned the east side of the stage was taken to the Christian home together with a bountiful supply from the gigantic horn of plenty that was so lavishly pouring its blessings upon the floor. The fruits and other stuff was equally divided and was delivered under the personal supervision of Mr. Raymend, and was a blessing thankfully received by the inmates of the institutions. The evest mother was taken to Eiseman's and will be kept on exhibition is some part of the dry goods Labace for the next few weeks.

The funeral of the late D. B. Webster yes-terday afternoon was largely attended by the members of the post to which he belonged. The services were conducted by Corporal Fisk, who were his Mexican war badge, Rev. Dr. Cooley and Henry DeLong. The inter-ment was made in Fairview. The deceased was a member of the Twenty-sixth Iowa and served throughout the war of the rebellion. He took part in many of the most notable enrie took par. bogus Kansas land, and Hiram Fox, the as-saliant of the little Elchmond girl.

A Split in the Board of Education Over the Principalship of the High School.

A NEW BRIDGE FOR CUT-OFF ISLAND.

The Farmers Off for Denver-Several Criminals Waive Examination-Arrested for a Grave Offense

The present school board is full of knots.

These knots have been the topic of talk for some weeks. Besides the knots in the board there has been a split lately, four members, Messrs. Hunter, Blaxsim, Stewart and Waite, being on one side and Messrs. Wells and Schoentgen on the other. The split was caused by a difference concerning the high school, of which Prof. Stevens has been the principal for a year past. At a meeting of the board some time ago the professor was offered the same position for snother year, but before a contract was made there was a cloud in the sky. Prof. Stevens is said to have been very anxious for the high school department to be given a distinct jurisdiction, and taken out from under the control of Su-of the entire school system of the city. To such a suggestion strong objections were at once raised, and the discussion developed the apparent animus of the move to be a desire on the part of Prof. Sievens to cut loose from Superintendent McNaughton on personal grounds. The two have been on formally friendly terms, but they were not falling on cach others necks in any very slobbering embraces of affection. Prof. Stevens quietly informed members of the board that he had discovered that the superintendent was not as well qualified for the position as he should for a comparative stranger to make when those who had known the superintend ent for years had been voting for his re-ention, and had watched with pride the ecognition given him in state and national gatherings of teachers. In the support of his position Prof. Stevens went so far as to write out specifications, among which was one that the superintendent was not even a good speller. He cited as illustrations some questions prepared for examination papers. There were some bad spells in these questions, but they were readily explained by the fact that they were mistakes of those copying them and not of the superintendent, who had hur and not of the superintendent, who had hur-riedly drafted the original questions, and in the rush of duties had not compared the copies, expecting that Prof. Stevens would look them over. The mistakes even of the copyists were not serious, and the charge when sitted was looked upon as too frivolous to warrant any seriou consideration. The professor claimed, too that the superintendent was too far behind in his methods of teaching, and in fact that he did not want to teach under such a man. On the other hand the superintendent's friends laughed at the idea of a young man coming here as a comparative stranger and assuming to pass judgment upon the choice of the sectool board, who relied upon their own knowledge of the superintendent's qualifications and his conceded rank among the teachers of the

The scheme for setting the high school apart from the school system of the city fell with a thud. It became evident that there would be a lack of harmony in the workings of the schools if Prof. Stevens was retained, absent. The action was unanimous so far a these four were concerned, but the absence were hot when they heard of it. They considered it unfair and discourteons. Mr. Wells claimed that Mr. Waite had agreed to claimed that Mr. Waite had agreed to stay away from the meeting and thus break the quoroum, so that no action would be taken until Mr. Wells should return to the city. Mr. Waite stoutly deuled any such agreement and so some bitterness sprang up. The resolutions of the board have been treated with silent contempt by Prof. Stevens, who has been waiting, relying on his friends to accure for him the uttimate justice which he pressure to get a modification of it. Two of the democratic members have been visited by promises and threats are said to have been presented in turn.

The meeting of the board last evening was attended by oil the members and enough citizens who had become interested in the conroversy to fill the room and occupy a string

It was the regular meeting, and demanded a good deal of preliminary work in conhection with the opening of the city schools.

A petition was presented for the establishment of another school in the Sixth ward.

The matter upon which all interest centered was brought up for discussion by the state-ment of Mr. Hunter that there were some members who complained that an unfair ad-wantage had been taken at the previous meeting and that it was desired by them to have the action then taken reconsidered and as parliamentary usages demanded that the motion to reconsider be made by some member who was present, he was willing to make the motion. Before it was seconded utes of the last meeting, and the secretary was directed to comply.

After he had finished Mr. Wells mose and explained that he was compelled to be absent at the time of the meeting, and that he had ne understanding with two members of the board that there should be no meeting, and he desired to have the people of Council Bluffs understand that he was not recreant to his duty and to understand, too, that the action taken by the members was unjust and took from him and his colleague on the teachers' committee, Mr.

Schoentgen, the opportunity to do their duty in conclusion he asked for the reconsideration of the action taken.

Mr. Waite responded with equal spirit and emphatically denied that he had made any agreement with Mr. Wells by which ne (waite) was to remain away for the purpose of breaking the quorum. He said he had simply promised to see the president of the board and advised Mr. Wells to see other members. The question, Mr. Waite said, had resolved itself into simply one of veracity between Wells and himself.

between Wells and himself.

Wells responded in a very excited manner by assuring the chair that he was perfectly willing to let the question of veracity rest before the board and the public, and vehemently asserted that there never was a time whe his word was rightfully questioned. The gentleman grew earnest and was interrupted by Waite and Blaxsim, and the chair called all the gentlemen to order. "Mr. Waite has charged that I have fabricated the story since I returned home," continued Wells. "I want to show that this charge is false. The case is not on record where my word has falled to produce whatever it promised. No obligation have I dishonored. No scrap of paper with my name——" But the chair again called Mr. Weils to order by contioning him to avoid personalities. Mr. Wells then made his motion to reconsider and it was seconded by Mr. Schoentgen.

Mr. Blaxsim thought that if Mr. Wells had been in the school board as leag as he had, and had been snubbed as often as he had, he would not feel so badly. The teachers' con mittee had no cause for complaint, Mr. Blax sim stated, on account of the finance com

Another effort was made to pass the motion of Mr. Wells, but it was a failure.
Wells then moved that the resolution calling for the resignation of Prof. Stevens be reconsidered. He knew of no reason why such an action should be taken. Mr. Waite said that Stevens was in open rebellion against the board. President Stewart said he thought some explanation was due from Prof. Stevens of his refusal to comply with the orders of the board. The vote on the motion was 4 to 2 against it.

The secretary read the following resolution, which was adopted after a bitter discussion.

Resolved. That the president and secretary of the board be and they are hereby instructed not to contract with Prof. Arthur Stevens as a teacher in any of the departments of our schools for the coming year; that any and all relations existing between the district and Arthur Stevens as a teacher in our schools be and are hereby canceled.

and are hereby canceled.

Mr. Wells said he was not present to champion Prof. Stevens. If what was whispered and charged against him on the street corners was true he wanted Prof. Stevens to go, but he demanded that the charges be formulated and put clearly before the board and Stevens be given an opportunity to defend himself. The president and Mr. Waite were willing to hear Prof. Stevens' explanation. Mr. Wells joined in the request and Prof. Stevens was brought before the board and the original resolution calling upon him to return all papers, etc. calling upon him to return all papers, etc., in his possession was read to him. In his explanation he chained to have transmitted to the superintendent a part of the papers demanded before the passage of the resolution, and the remainder of them he had given to the teachers' committee, who now had them. He was sharply catechised by Hunter, and the fact was elicited that he had not used the questions prepared by the superintendent and presented by the board for his examinations, and had acted upon the advice of the teachers' committee. In reply to interroga-tories by Wells, Stevens said the questions perintendent McNaughton, who has charge tories by Wells. Stevens said the questions as prepared by the superintendent were not fitted for the work of the pupils, and that there were errors in them that called forth the derision of the pupils.

In answer to questions asked by Mr. Scheentgen, Stevens said he had kept the questions and examination papers in his possession until he turned them over to the teachers' committee for the reason that he teachers' committee, for the reason that he feared he would be refused permission to see them. The fact was brought out that Stevens had circulated a petition and presented it to the teachers' committee, asking to have the high school taken from the charge of the superintendent, and the high school principal be given exclusive care and made responsible only to the board. In his petition the pro-fessor said the change desired was almost a universal custom. Letters were produced in contradiction of this assertion from nearly all the leading cities, showing that there was not a single city where such a custom pre-

After a very bitter discussion, during which the gentlemen had great difficulty in restraining their tempers, and during which it was shown that Prof. Stevens had withheld the examination papers on account of his belief that they constituted the only grounds to sustain his charges against Superintendent McNaughton, and did not consider them safe in the possession of the board, the resolution canceling Prof. Stevens' engagement was called for but was not acted upon. Instead, it was decided to postpone final action until 10 o'clock this morning, and the board ad-journed until that hour.

The Pontoon Bridge. The allusion in THE BEE yesterday to the presence in the city of an agent of a large bridge construction company in Ohio, has awakened a good deal of interest, and the project is being freely discussed on the streets. It was expected that Mr. Hudson, the representative of the Cleveland firm, would revisit the city yesterday for the purpose of a further conference with the leading nen who are anxious for cheaper transportation charges between the two cities, but they were disappointed. Since The Bre has made it generally known that the project is afoot again with some healthy promises of being carried out, a deep and general interest has been awakened, and when Mr. Hadson returns he will find a good deal of enthusiasm for his scheme, and if he can succeed in convincing local capitalists that his company means business he will have little missionary work to do to start the project going at a plan is to build a first class modern pontoon bridge that will answer the demand or all kinds of traffic, that will be owned jointly by the two cities and will be free for foot and team traffic. The location selected will be above the motor bridge and now since Cut-Off island has been annexed and gives promise of such great value as a part of the city, it is probable that the new structure will beused to unite these two portions of the city. If Council Bluffs is to retain possession of the island it will be necessary to have it united directly with the city by a bridge. It is not improbable that the property owners on the island would be willing to contribute liber-ally to the scheme and when once under way here is no doubt but that capital will pour in faster than it is wanted. The cost of the structure has not been ascertained, but it will not cost the amount previously estimated, $100,000. The Ne braska City and Sioux City pontoons were built for $15,000, and it is safe to estimate the cost of the structure demanded between the island and the Bluffs at $40,000. Such a structure would give a great impetus to that portion of Council Bluffs, and make another permanent bond between the twin cities. It is only a question of a few years when the Broadway bridge will be insufficient to ac-Broadway bridge will be insufficient to ac-commodate the traffic between the cities, and the building of the pontoon at the present will not be in erroneous anticipation of the demands.

Arrested for a Grave Offense. Chris Label, a lusty young fellow who has poised as a betrayer of female innocence a number of times in the past, was arraigned in Justice Schurz's court yesterday upon the charge of seduction preferred by a young Swede girl named Laura Hansen. The young girl whom he has wronged was present and was anxious to have him called to a full legal account of his perildy.

CHOKED OFF HIS WIND.

A Black Fiend Lynched at Lexing-LEXISOTOX, Mo., August 29.—Sherift Mitchell received a telegram from Mayview this morning stating that E. F. Parker, a merchant of that place, had been murdered. The sheriff and two deputies went to the ne of the crime and at Parker's store in Pool block, behind a counter, with his head nearly severed from his body, lay the dead man. The motive for the crime was evidently robbery, for the cash drawer was rifled. In the afternoon a negronamed William Walters was arrested by a constable for the murder of Parker. He confessed and a mob took him from the officer and hanged him to a tree.

City and will reach us by November.
"Right around Hill City are the Addle, Ex-celsion and the February Nos. 1, 2 and 3 tin mines, all of which have complete hoisting works. Southwest of us lie the Coats, Cowworks. Southwest of us he the Coats, Cow-boy, Gertie and others. Down nearer to Cus-ter is the Tenderfoot, an excellent mine, being thoroughly pushed to the front. Con-tracts have been made to have a mill at Hill City by January 1, next, with a capacity of 1,000 tons per day, sufficient to take care of the tin about as fast as the mines opened can put it out. The company is delaying developnent work some, awaiting the action of co gress upon the duty on tin. Should the increase in protection asked for in the McKinley bill become a law, the company will increase their operating capacity to a very great extent.

"The richness of those mines is simply wonderful, and one who has not been there can hardly believe it, but I state a fact when I tell you that there is enough tin on the dumps and in sight at those mines now to supply the United States for five years. As soon as the big mill is started at Hill City we shall then be able to ship the tin out in bars. The company intends to put up a pyramid of tin bars at the world's fair 40 feet high. Some of those mines have been pushed down 340 feet, and the deeper the richer The vein is eight feet thick and dips toward the east at an angle of about 45 degrees. Some of the mines average 27% per cent of metalic tin, and the whole ledge averages 10 per cent.

"Who are the capitalists interested up "They are mostly New York and English men. The larger part of the capital is furnished by New York men. H. C. Wicker, formerly of the Northwestern railroad, is one of the leading men, and Myron Willsie is chief engineer."

"What class of people have you at Hill "Well, we have the miners, of course, and a good many railroad men, but the miners are a very intelligent and well behaved class of men. While we have the rough element that characterizes all frontier towns about the time the railroad first reaches them, yet our population is rapidly changing for the better. We are building a fine new school house, and the Methodists and Presbyterians are building handsome churches."

"How does prohibition work in the Hills !" "We are thoroughly disgusted with it. I used to be a prohibitionist when I lived in Boone county, Nebraska, but since I have seen the effects of the law up there, I say by all that is good and great you people of Nebraska should hold on to the law you have now—your high license law. It is the best law for the regilation of the liquor traffic in the world, fore we had prohibition we had three salo in Hill City—now we have twelve, and they are the vilest dives that you could possibly imagine. Where we saw one drunken man before we had prohibition, we see ten now. Hill City gave a majority of twenty-seven for prohibition, but if there was a vote taken today nine-tenths of the people would vote for a return of the liceuse law." "Is there any effort being made to suppress

"Yes, but it is of no use. They close a saloon up for a few days and then it opens again. The boot-legger and hole-in-the-wali men are coming in, too, and the situation is just about as bad as it could possibly be. But Hill City is going to the front in a com-mercial and manufacturing way that will surprise everybody within a year. We will have a city of 20,000 people there within five years."

DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT. The Whereabouts of F. F. Marchn Un known to His Friends.

On August 12, F. F. Marchn of Chicago registered at the Merchants' hotel and had his baggage taken to room 77, which he contisued to occupy until Saturday last, when hedisappeared from the hotel without leaving any word as to where he was going, how long he intended to be away, or any thing of the kind. Mr. Marchn appeared to be very much of a gentleman, and there are parties in Omaha who know him and who say that he has cor tainly not meant to leave the city abruptly He has either forgotten to leave word with the clerk regarding his absence and his Intenthe cterk regarding his absence and as inter-tion to return, or he has been foully dealt with. He left all his baggage just as though he would be back in a few hours, and this fact gives the situation a singular and suspicious phase. The absent man is a merchant tailor by trade and seemed to be in seed suits and carried with him an to be in good spirits and carried with him an air of prosperity and businesslike self-respect that removes all suspicion of crookedness on his part. It is hoped that he may put in appearance or send some word to re-lieve the anxiety that is growing from day to day, and which will probably lead, before many days, to as investigation if he does not return or send some tidings. The Gamblers' Cases.

The cases of Hornberger and others, arrested for keeping gambling devices, came up in police court yesterday afternoon and was postponed until September 3 at 2 p. m. In arguing against the motion for a continuance Attorney Shea became quite ludicrously sar "I am opposed to this delay, your bener, said the assistant prosecutor, "for the mason that it will deprive these men of the use of their property for a week and will no doubt cause them to lose a good deal in the suspen-sion of business."

District Court. Sarah A. Ziegler has determined to have a divorce from her husband, George J. She filed her petition in the district court yesterday, and in it she alleges that for six years George has been addicted to the habit of tarrying over the wine cup, besides terri fying her and causing her great mental dis comfort. In addition to this, on the 30th day of June last, George, without just cause or provocation, went to Oregon, taking with him a woman other than his wife. The him a woman other than his wife. The Anton Grantner has commenced a suit in the district court to recover $4,106.80 from Fremont N. and Minnie L. Jaynes. The plaintiff alleges that on the 5th day of July, 1850, he recovered a judgment in the above amount and against the defendants; that an execution was issued and returned unsatis-execution was issued and returned unsatis-fied. He also alleges that since that date he has learned that the defendants have a large amount of property that is in the possession of the Rust-Owen lumber company and Marie L. Lanphear. This suit is brought for the purpose of showing that the transfers by the Jaynes to the Rust-Owen company and Lanphear are fraudulent.

Colpetzer & Guion have sued George As-telford to recover $35 which they allege is a balance due on a bill of lumber sold last April. Norman Kuhn, as trustee, has brought suit against C. R. Stacey to collect $204 and fore-close a mortgage on certain real estate.

Out the Price of a Ticket. Thomas & Roach sued Joseph Carey in Juslice Shaw's court, the dispute arising over the purchase of a return trip ticket by the plaintiffs and furnishing the same to the defendant that he might come to Omaha to make a real estate trade in which Thomas & Reach were interested. The plaintiffs claim that inasmuch as Carey failed to close the real estate deal with them he should refund the price of the ticket. This he refused to do, and the justice agreed with him and do, and the justice agreed with him and rendered a decision against the plaintiffs.
