Grand Island's Sugar Palace.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., August 30 .- [Special to THE BEE. ] - The Grand Island sugar palace, completed today, stands a monument to the energy and enterprise of Nebraska and Grand Island.

In connection with the panorama of the battle of Gettysburg it covers two blocks of ground.

In point of interest it surpasses that of any other palace ever erected, as representing an industry that is sure to revolutionize the agricultural industries of Nebraska and the whole west.

The exhibits in the palace are more varied than that of the Sioux City corn palace or any other. Maple sugar, beet sugar and the Caw sugar industries are represented. Exking corn enters in the exhibits, as do all the cereals and grasses grown in Nebraska.

At the right of the main entrance is a miniature beet sugar factory in full operation, showing the product in every stage of its manufacture. This will be very instructive and interesting. At the left is a case factory also in operation. Adjoining this is one of the prettiest and most realistic scenes in the place-a Ver-mont music sugar camp scene. Small maple trees have been planted in the soil, A shariy and cobbiestone fire-place and a race and four mill are in the back ground. Everything is covered with artificial show that requires the sense of touch to distinguish from the real. The white room, corn, cereal and grass ex-hibits are also very interesting. Besides these Mr. Christie has presented a half dozen large Nebraska landscapes, 10x30 feet. The more is decreated with core and beats peal. The roof is decorated with corn and beets. The panorama of the battle of Gettysburg, which will be exhibited in connection with the palace, Is the same size as those exhibited in Omaha and Denver and executed by the Ropresentative Dalzell Submits a Minority Report Opposing It.

THE ROCK ISLAND DIRECTORS MEET.

They Unanimously Endorse President Cable's Action in Obeying the Order Reducing Grain Rates-The Chicago & Atlantic.

WASHINGTON, August 30.-Representative Dalzell submitted to the house, in behalf of the minority of the house committee on Pacific railraids, a report in opposition to the bill refunding the debt of the Central and Union Pacific roads. It is signed by Mesars, Dalzell, Flick, Cooper of Indiana, O'Neil of Massachusetts and Reilly. The opposition of these representatives is based upon different reasons and they refrain, therefore, from setting forth at length their isdividual views, Some of them are of the opinion that this legislation is promature at this time, as seven years are to clapse before the maturity of the debt may bring forth any changes in the financial situation that may prove any action taken at this time unwise.

the fanding acts are eventually groven the proper method they can us wellbe passed hereafter, when the real relation be-tween the government and its delators at the time the debts mature, can be intelligently grasped.

The minority are unanimous in the opinion The minority are unanimous in the opinion that railway companies are not justified in asking any arrangement upon principles ex-cept upon the basis that they shall pay the uttermost fartiling of their dols. They are clearly of the opinion, as a plain business properition, that the bill reported by the ma-jority gives an unjust advantage to the dectors and fails to do not be the accurate and fails to do justice to the government.

CIIICAGO, August 30.-[Special Telegram to J THE BEE]-A local railway news bureau says: "The special meeting of the Rock Island directorate was tolay attended by eight members of the board. There were present Benjamin Brewster, H. R. Bishop, David Dows, jr., Alexander E. Orr of New York; Hugh Riddle, H. H. Porter and President Cable of Chicago and George G. Wright of Des Moines. At the close of the meeting President Cable said : "The meeting was called solely to consider the course the Rock Island should take relative to the order of the interstate commerce to the order of the interstate commerce commission reducing grain rates. The board unmaintensity approved my action in obeying the order. That was all we con-sidered. We did not take up any question of finances. In regard to the telegram sent out from New York, the comparison in figures is made between those of 1288 and 1800. It is consexuently mislending. In common with other westers roads we are having a senson of adversity, but there is no danger of a collapse." Four of the directors were seen and each reproduced the de-nial of President Cable regarding the consid-eration of any financial question. It is only fair to say, however, that ne railroad much in Chicago believes the Rock Island board was called together and that four of them came called together and that four of them came from New York for the sole consideration of a question which could be easily actual by telegraph or letter, and which all the direc-
