

WHERE THE DAY WAS HONORED

THOUSANDS JOIN IN THE PARADES.

LABOR DID ITSELF PRIDE IN THE LEADING CITIES OF THE COUNTRY.
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The democratic administration of Chicago yesterday refused to go to court for failing to refuse the charges of conspiracy with members and law violators recently made by Edward Corcoran. This person has a bill filed in the circuit court restraining Mayor Croker from interfering with the west side tracks and charging the mayor and chief of police with receiving money from gambling dens, pool rooms and other lawless resorts of the city. A petition was granted when Judge Horton in open court today criticized the mayor for not refusing these serious charges.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Labor day was generally observed in this city. There were two parades this morning, one under the auspices of the trades and labor assembly, with about 2,000 men in line, and one by the Knights of Labor, who turned out with about 1,000 men.

AT PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 1.—Labor day was generally observed in this city and surrounding towns today. All the banks, factories and mills, and many business houses were closed. Nearly 10,000 workers, representing all trades in the city, took part in the parade.

THE VALPARAISO MOB.

Details of the Rioting During the Recent Strikes There.
PASADENA (New York), Sept. 1.—A letter from Valparaiso, Chile, gives a detailed account of the rioting that characterized the recent strikes there. It seems that the lunchmen and stevedores struck in the morning and soon compelled the workmen in the custom house to cease labor. The strikers demanded payment in coin and not in notes. This demand caused the doors of the custom house to be closed, a step which was promptly followed by most of the business houses throughout the city. The strikers then formed a mob and visited several manufacturing establishments, doing much damage. A number of citizens appealed to the authorities to act, but they remained inactive for several hours, during which time the rioting and the mob were going on. Finally, after a few minutes had been wasted and twelve killed, the authorities determined to send out military pickets and defend public offices. By this time the mob was divided into sections, was busy closing the stores in the streets and in the morning, compelling the workmen in all places to give up their work and go to work.

PADDUCK ON THE TARIFF.

The Nebraska Statesman Delivers a Speech Before the Senate.
He Favors a Reduction in Duties.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Senator Paddock's speech before the senate yesterday attracted great interest and universal commendation in the senate. Immediately after the morning hour the senator arose for an hour and a half held the attention of his associates and expounded what he believed to be the republican doctrine as held by his constituents in the state of Nebraska. A number of the democratic senators crowded around him as he was delivering his speech and the senate chamber itself was more than ordinarily filled during the progress of his argument. The senator spoke freely and clearly, and his views could be heard all the way to the gallery, and his argument was in favor of a reduction of tariff duties within the lines of protection and benefited that the west, which had prospered very largely in spite of the unfair division of the benefit of protection, now demanded that there should be a fairer division of the benefit of this policy. The speaker began by a general review of reciprocity, urging it as a means for securing more extended benefits for the western agriculturists. He recalled the attention of the senate and congress to the situation of the west and insisted that the western agriculturists, who had done so much to develop the country, should be benefited by a tariff that would give equality, which was out of balance, should be corrected.

A Lively Day in Des Moines.
Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 1.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The labor day celebration and the formal opening of the state fair combined made this a very lively day for Des Moines. The parade of workmen this morning was fully a mile long, and was estimated to contain 12,000 persons. The parade was a grand affair, with addresses made by local labor leaders. The formal opening of the state fair consisted of the annual address by Governor Beck, which was delivered by ex-Senator George G. Wright and Hon. J. B. Grinnell. There were over 10,000 entries on the books of all divisions and departments. The fair is expected to be a success. There are on the grounds 2,000 hogs, 300 sheep and 400 cattle in all divisions. The fair is expected to be a success.

Investigation of Raun.
The Special House Committee Resumes Its Session.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The special house committee investigating charges against Commissioner Raun resumed its session this morning. Cooper resumed the session by complaining that the record had been doctored and unwarranted corrections made by Commissioner Raun and much matter struck out. An instance he said, was in the commissioner's testimony to the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, in which he stated that the commissioner interpolated words to make his testimony conform to that given by General Boynton. The committee instructed the stenographer to call the record and the committee resumed its session.

AN INTERESTING ROMANCE.
CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Sept. 1.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—An interesting romance comes from the Crow Creek reservation. B. F. Baid, a badly crippled veteran of the civil war and now a settler on these lands, has just received intelligence that makes his heart glad. Some fourteen years ago, while living in Missouri, Mr. Baid's little girl, then only five years old, was stolen from her home by some unknown persons, and for many years, although much money was expended in the search, no trace of the child had been heard of. Mr. Baid had given up all hope of ever seeing his daughter again, until recently, when a communication from him to the authorities in Washington in regard to his pension, some way found its way into the newspaper and the daughter's eye, who was living in Texas. She at once recognized her father, and he, in turn, recognized her. They were reunited in the arms of their father and mother, which she wore at the time of her abduction, and in other ways, in which she recognized her father. The old man's gladness knew no bounds and he has happily contain himself until the arrival of his daughter, who is now on her way to him at his reservation home.

FOUND DEAD IN THE RIVER.
ATMONTON, Kan., Sept. 1.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—Fred Barnett, a prominent farmer of Washington township, Trego county, and an active member of the alliance, was found dead in the road with his neck broken Saturday morning. He had been attending a meeting of the alliance all day Friday and the cause of his death is not known. It is believed that he fell from his horse while on the way home. His horse was found loose in the stable Saturday morning.

HUNTING FOR A FRAUD.
ATMONTON, Kan., Sept. 1.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—W. L. Paulson is wanted at Republic City, Republic county, for fraud. He was formerly in business there and disappeared on Friday leaving sundry debts. Among other frauds he borrowed money on wheat and other commodities upon which he gave chattel mortgages and afterwards sold them to other parties, receiving the cash, and will amount to over $2,000. Advertisers in this paper are requested to be on their guard against any one named Paulson.
