Minneapolis 5, Omaha 0. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 4.- [Special Telegram to THE BRE.]-Minneapolis shut out Omaha this afternoon. The contest, however, was a remarkably pretty one, neither side getting a tally for six innings. In the seventh, however, the Flour city men began batting the ball hard. Day fed off with a hit, stole second, and went to third on a wild throw. Carroll followed with a safe drive, stole second and third, and secred on a had throw to Cleveland. Then Joe Miller rapped the sphere over the fence and trotted around the sacks. In the eighth a double by Ryan, a single by Day, and Carroll's sacrifice netted one more. Twohey opened the next inning with a hit, went around to third on Dugdale's third strike at a wild ball, and tallied on Duke's sacrifice. The feature of the game was Duke's pitching, off which the Neraskans secured but one single, and fifteen f them struck out. Among the pretty work in the field were a fine stop and catches and throws by Willis and Cleveland. The score:

THE SPEED RING. Philadelphia Races.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Fifteen thousand persons were present at Belmont park to witness the attempt of the stallion Palo Alto and the trotting mare Sunol to lower their records. Neitherstallion or mare succeeded. the mare making a mile in 2:11%, an unfortunate break marring her performance, and Palo Alto trotting the distance in 2:13%. The trotter Alfred S, in a match race with Maggie B, made a mile to a wagon in 2:1654, coming within half a secand of Hopeful's wagon record of 2:16%. The racing commenced with a match race, best two in three between Alfred S and Maggie B, the former being to wagon and the latter to harness. The first heat was won by Alfred S in 2:21. Maggie Bbroke badly near the first quarter post in the second heat, and Alfred S won the heat in 2:16% and the race. Then Sunol's trial race against time was After scoring once the word was and the fast mare began her given She made the quarter in seconds, and maintained her speed antil near the halfmile post, when she her feet. She settled down again, when she reached the half mile post, and trotted the last half mile without askip. She was joined by a running horse at the half mile, which seemed to help her along. She made the half mile in 1:041, three-quarters in 1:38%, and mile in 2:11%.

Then the stallion Palo Alto was brought out on the track. After brought out on the track. After scoring three times the word was given to go. A running horse joined him at the start and ran with him to the finish. He made the mile in 2:12\frac{1}{2}, within a quarter of a second of his record, without a skip. The quarter was made in 32\frac{1}{2}, half in 1:05\frac{1}{2}, three-quarters in 1:38\frac{1}{2}, and the mile in 2:12\frac{1}{2}. Marvin, driver of Sunol and Palo Alto. snid the track was a trifle heavy, and what wind there was operated to his disadvantage. Marvin said he had calculated to make the half mile with Sunol in 1:08, which he would have done but for the unfortunate break. Pale Alto and Susol will probably be taken to Cincinnati on Saturday next, where they will trot exhibition miles.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

A Talk with Representative Hitt

Upon the Subject. Washington, Sept. 4.—[Special Telegram to The Bee. |-In a talk today with Representative Hitt, chairman of the house committee on foreign relations, he stated the present situation in Canada as to reciprocity and the general effect of adding the Sherman reciprocity amendment to the tariff bill, Mr. Hitt originally reported the Canadian reciprocity plan as a distinct measure, which his committee recommended favorably, and Mr. Sherman has now taken this Hitt proposition and offered it as an amendment to the pending tariff bill. In reto an inquiry as sponse the situation in Canada, Mr. Hitt said: "The present tory government of Canada is not favorably disposed toward the United States, nor toward enlarging the relations with the United States. The interference of the tory government prevented a settlement of the Behring sea question after an agree-ment had almost been reached. The liberal party, session after session, has pressed the question there called unrestricted reciprocity with the United States. It has been defeated in their parliament by a strictly party vote, every tory member following the lead of the government against it. This government has had what is called the standing offer of reciprocity, but it is limited to a list of agriculproducts which they export to the Canada, and this is frequently held up by the tory leaders to appease the impatience of tory voters who desire to trade with the United States, which Sir John MacDonald and his followers by this ingenious device can say that they offer and we refuse. There is reason to believe that an enormous body of Canadian farmers, artisans and people generally who have no relation to the office-holding class understand the immense business advantage that would come to everything in Canada by the opening of trade with the United States, but the tory government has adopted a strong tariff system, levying high duties upon everything from the United States. By our present tariff, and still more by the Mc-Kinley bill which will soon pass, high daties are levied upon Canada's products coming to his country. I have been in favor of remov ing all these duties on both sides. From the tone of their press it appears that most of their liberals have an entirely similar opinion. No Canadian has any right to com-plain of our government for leying high leying high duties on their products when their govern ment does the same thing and is continually elevating their duties, but an expression om our government, of which undoubtedly feeling of our people showing that the tariff question is purely a question of policy devoid of feeling and that our peo-ple are most kindly disposed and ready for untrammeled commercial intercourse, ought to do away with all prejudice or sentiment in Canada averse to us, and such a kindly expression would greatly strengthen the liberals in their efforts toward unrestricted reciprocity. I would speedily benefit business in our country and would no doubt enhance values and enliven business in Canada. We would probably sell them, with unrestricted re-ciprocity, $100,000,000 worth of our goods and roducts per annum and that trade would go on still increasing. We had fair reciprocity under the treaty of 1854, which was so un satisfactory that we terminated it, but even under that arrangement trade with Canada in creased by leaps and bounds. With reciprocity their tariff in the mean while standing against Europe, we would sell them within the nex five years nearly everything they get outside their own limits, that is, most of the imports of Canada would be drawn from the United States. On their side they would reap even greater advantages, entering upon a new prosperity like one of our western states." "Would not reciprocity have a tendency to bring about a settlement of the Behring sea and other international complications?"

"Yes, even the discussion would promote peace. The encouragement which reasonable men of Canada would receive by a friendly expression on our part toward re ciprocity would kindle a lively discussion everywhere spreading to each household. This question is one in which the merits and truth are all on the side of reciprocity, and the more it is discussed the better. As business relations between us become more ex-tensive and profitable the more strongly peace will be secured and the more quickly international difficulties will be settled Men of sense and business interests will at once oppose all irritating counsels. There is never a war when both sides are trying to arrange the difference. When each individual feels that his business would be injured by international disturbance there will be no sentiment or opportunity for war. In short, reciprocity will not only benefit our trade, but it will have a strong influence towards cementing friendly relations and putting an end to existing differences."

"What will be the effect of the McKinley tariff bill on this movement!"
"It ought to promote it. The duties im-posed are high on Canada as on other countries, but Canada cannot complain, as high tariff is the policy of the Canadian government, and I think there is a fair prospect now of having a Canadian re diprocity clause in the McKinley bill. Senator Sherman has taken the reciprocity reso lution which I reported from the committee on foreign affairs and moved it as a proviso amendment of the McKinley bill. This is better than to have it pass in the form of a resolution, as I proposed. It provides that whenever Canada proposes reciprocity we will send commissioners to meet those sent by them to discuss the terms. So the policy of mutual high duties by a tariff war between neighbors who ought to be friends and the policy of reciprocity for mutual profit will be sent out together. It ought not to take long for a Canadian who cares for individual or public good to decide. So I think this move ment is advancing."

The Tales Against Boulanger. Paris, Sept. 4.—[Special Cablegram to The Bre.]—M. Laguerre, the well-known Boulangist and member of the chamber of deputies, in an address to his constituents last night, admitted that General Boulanger had held relations with the count of Paris and Prince Jerome Napoleon. M. Laguerre also warmly thanked the Duchess Dhzes for spending 3,000,000 frames to advance the cause of General Boulanger. In an interview with a representative of the Siecle Genera. Democracy's Plan to Make a Clean Sweep of

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE'S WORK.

Prohibition and Alliance People to be Used as Dupes-The Candidates befine Their Positions.

The democratic state central committee met at the Paxton hotel music room last night and concected a plan for the capture of every vote in the state this fall. The plan may seem to embrace a very big contract, but there is no escape from it, according to the democratic programme, which, as arranged at last night's meeting, is simply to be all things to all men, prohibitionists in prohibition precincts, alliance men in alliance strongholds, tariff men in neutral districts, and democrats at the polls, pulling every string in sight.

The meeting was a large one. There were present representing the various districts: First-Robert Clegg, Falls City, by H. C.

Davis, proxy Second—M. T. Connor, Auburn.

W. C. Bullard, proxy.
Thirtieth—M. C. Leftwich, Lexington. Then there was a large number of the faithful from different parts of the state who were on hand to see what the managers of the fight had for them. Prominent in this outside contingent were the democratic editors. There were: Merhan of the Seward Democrat, Corcoran of the York Democrat, Hilderband of the St. Paul Press, Blendhorn of the Nebraska City Democrat, Sprague of the Rushville Sun, Wahiquist of the Hast-ings Democrat, Hurlburt of the Aurora Sun, Bradford of the Gretna Democrat, Chaslcy Poole of the Tecumseh Journal and Mott Gehring of the Piattsmouth Journal. They were all after inspiration and some of the emed determined: to have it in amounts, however small, just so it was forthcoming. Charles Ogden made his bow as chairman of the state central committee. He also made a speech. He said he had never known the prospects of success be so bright, and if all the members would only get out and work and whoop or up all along the line he thought hearly every member of the democratic ticket would be elected. "All of them, every one of them," piped Hildebrand from a rear seat. Mr. Ogden replied, that he meant all of them, and that the "nearly" was simply a slip of the tongue. He called upon the democratic editors to take an active part in the coming fight and gave them some friendly advice as to the course he thought they should pursue. There were some districts he said in which the prohibition sentiment was quite strong, and the editors could not well fight the sentiment. In those cases the democrats could talk tariff and like issues that were not hable to offend. Then in localities where the feeling was strong against prohibition, the hot shot could be poured in to the temperance camp with a Mr. Ogden then announced his standing committee as follows:

Executive Committee—John E. Shervin,
Dodge; J. E. North, Platte; William McLaughlin, Lancaster; A. W. Crites, Dawes;
George E. Pritchett, Julius Meyer, Douglas;

S. Campbell, Adams. Finance Committee-Robert Clegg, Richardson; J. D. Hubbell, Jefferson; Patrick Fahey, Holt; T. F. Memminger, Madison; R.

E. Dunphy, Seward.
Press Committee—J. G. P. Hildebrand,
Howard; G. T. Bleudorn, Otce; George T.
Corcoran, York; E. W. Huriburt, Hamilton; W. H. Leftuich, Dawson. George E. Pritchett was chosen secretary

pro tem in the absence of Mr. C. S. Mont-gomery, who is in New York. When the committees were announced Mr Hildebrand became anxious. He wanted to know if any member of the press committee was on the finance committee and asked for definite information as to what the duties of the finance committee were and in what manner direct and indirect the press commit-tee was or could be connected with the finance committee

This opened the question in which all seemed to take a live interest and a general discussion followed. The candidates for the various offices were present and were called apon for an expression of their hopes and

Mr. Boyd was the first to respond. He had never been a member of a state central committee, he said, but had been on the national committee, and it had been the custom in that body to allow he executive committee to manage the finances and all features of the campaign. Personally he did not know much about the conduct of a campaign except in the matter of furnishing funds, and he had had some hand in that, having helped raise the $5,000 that Nebraska gave to Cleveland's first campaign fund, and having personally given $1,950 of the $3,000 that was sent from Nebraska to the state of t braska to aid Grover in his losing fight in

This evidence of having a cheerful giver in their midst so pleased some of the members that one of them left his silk tile in Mr. Boyd's chair and had it badly wrecked at the conclusion of the ex-mayor's speech.

Dr. Bean of Norfolk, candidate for lieuten.

Dr. Bean of Norfolk, candidate for heuten-ant governor, thought it a little early to define a plan for the campaign. Up in his section, he said, the alliance people were making an active campaign and were pounding the repub-licans pretty lively. They were getting your from the republican ranks and should be encouraged in their good work. "The alliance," concluded the doctor, "will run out of the 'sinews of war' in about a month from now and then the democrats can step in and by proper use of the means at hand capture the gains made by the alliance from republican ranks." Mr. Cushing, who wants to be state treasurer, said he was not much of a speaker, but he was of the opinion that the hope of the party was pinned to the alliance ticket. "We must give the right medicine in the right cases," he said: "Where the prohibiright cases," he said: "Where the prohibi-tion sentiment is too strong to be antagonized we must go easy on that point. Where the alliance people can help us we must ally ourselves with them. We can do all this and still set our stakes so that when the polls close the work will count on our side."

Messrs. Wahiquist, Sprague and Rake straw, candidates respectively for auditor, secretary of state and superintendent of publie instruction, spoke briefly but had nothing

All of this talk was interesting as an indi cation of the trend of the democratic thought but it was not definite enough for one of but it was not definite enough for one of the members of the committee. This was J. C. Dolman of Chad-ron, who was present as A. W. Crites' proxy. Mr. Dolman is not an eloquent speaker. His words, though few, were models of democratic simplicity and were direct to the point. He rimply wanted to know how much cold cash could be sent to his part of the state. his part of the state.

As no one offered an answer to Mr. Dol As no one offered an answer to Mr. Dos-man's query he explained that he did not be-lieve in hiring high priced speakers. He thought more good could be accomplished by giving the stuff to the workers and letting them use it. He was anxious to know before he returned home just how much his locality could expect and whether what his constituents raised would be spent there or sent elsewhere.

"Can you raise enough for your own use up there!" queried Pro tem Secretary Pritchett. "Well, we might," replied Mr. Delman, "but we'd like awrul well to have a little help.

Resolutions were adopted dividing the ward into four polling districts, with dividing lines to be as follows: First, Chicago to Burt; Second, Burt to Grace; Third, Grace to Pinckney; Fourth, all that part north of Pinckney. A petition to the council asking that this division be made was ordered. Short speeches were made by Messrs. Shea, Shean and Dunn

Eleventh Ward Republicans. There were 100 republican voters of the Seventh ward at Toft's hall last night. The question of securing a hall was discussed, and Messrs, Chaffee, Sabin and Cloud were appointed a committee to confer with the owner of Toft's hall and secure a lease for the term of three months. The committee on resolutions reported a set of rules governing the conducting of primaries in the Seventh ward. The rules were adopted and recommended to the consideration of a mass meeting of the voters, which will be held tomorrow night. The Seventh ward cornet band serenaded the meeting and after several selections had been played, Lawyer Halligan was called for and responded in a speech of half an hour's duration. He urged the republicans to stand by their colors, after which he raked the prohibitionists fore and aft.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS. The Executive Committee of the League Issues an Address. Sanatoga, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The executive committee of the National League of Republican clubs held its semi-annual session today and adopted an address to the various state leagues. It states that there is much political prosperity throughout to renew courage, Since country Nashville meeting there been great growth in numbers. State leagues are admonished to keep up active work in off years. Referring to the tariff the address says: "We still adhere with firmness to the doctrine that a well arranged tariff law is the real protector of our country's prosperity. The theory of free trade is a heresy that calls upon us to lend a helping hand to complete its overthrow. In this di-rection the leagues of states can accomplish unmeasured good." The leagues are urged to uphold senators and congressmen in favoring an elections bill. These words were used: "It is not for us to say whether the present pending federal election bill shall pass in the manner in which it is drafted, but we do earnestly insist that it shall pass in its present form unsome better one shall be speedily de

Kansas Republicans. Toreka, Kan., Sept. 4-The republican state convention was called to order at 10:30 this morning and immediately began balloting for treasurer. On the fifth ballot S. C. Slover was nominated. The platform was then read. It favors the principle of protection "as expounded by the great leader of republican thought and policy, Hon. James G. Blaine, and its enforcement James C. Biame, and its enforcement to the extent of giving the American citizen advantage over the foreign producer, thus enabling him to maintain his industry and to make such fair profits as will induce others o embark in the same, believing that such olicy increases the wages of labor, creates good homes and results to the benefit of all good homes and results to the benefit of all classes. We want the same degree of pro-tection given agricultural products that is extended to all other inter-ests." It demands a service pension and deep water on the gulf of Mexico; endorses the administration of President Harrison and the official acts of Senators Ingalls and Plumb; endorses prohibition and recom-mends the passage of such additional acts as mends the passage of such additional acts as will make the prohibitory law more effective; lectares against alien ownership of lands The platform further says: "We believe it to be the highest dictate of the commercial policy of the country to cultivate the most intimate as well as the most extended commercial relations with our sister republics of the two American conti-nents and that it will be wise and expedient to adjust our tariff laws so as to promote this and at the same time adopt such a legislative policy as will compel all countries that have exercise a determined discrimination against American products to cease such hostility." The newly enacted silver law is commended as a good step in the right direc-tion and the free coinage of silver is de-manded. Such legislation is honored as may be necessary to insure an in-crease of the value of the curency adequate to the growing demands of trade. While not to the growing demands of trade. While not naming the Lodge bill the platform demands of congress the passage of a bill protecting the freedom and purity of the ballot box and securing congressional representation based upon the actual vote cast

Washington, Sept. 4 .- [Special Telegran to THE BEE. |-It will be remembered that some weeks ago Mr. Enloe of Tennessee made a complaint to the house because the doorkeeper attempted to prevent him from leaving the hall of the house while the speaker was endeavoring to get a quorum and the doors were supposed to be locked. The doorkeeper, in performance of his duty, attempted to restrain Mr. Enice from leaving the house, and he offered a resolution census the house, and he offered a resolution censur-ing that officer, which was referred to the committee on judiciary. This com-mittee has been endeavoring to consider the resolution ever since, but has failed to get a quorum. No demo-crat has appeared at any of the meetings erat has appeared at any of the meetings since, as they did not care to have the subject discussed or the resolution reported to the house. All the republicans are now in the city and they have agreed to hold a meeting tomorrow for the purpose of acting upon this resolution. They will undoubtedly report it back to the house with a substitute defining the authority of the doorkeeper and his righ to arrest disorderly members and carry out the orders of the speaker. This is just what the democrats do not want. Representative Sherman has come all the way from Utica to attend the meeting tomorrow and the full re publican strength will be present.

SACKVILLE'S LATEST BREAK.

The British Lord Gives Evidence of His Hatred of Americans.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE |-Seldom has an event of like character aroused a deeper feeling of resentment in public than the action of Lord Sackville as lord of the manor of Stratford-ou-Avon in making a claim to the town council for encroachment and rent in respect to the magnificent fountain and clock tower prosented as a memorial of Shakespeare by George W. Childs of this city. Mr. Childs' delicate sensibilities are evidently wounded by the incident,

"Indeed I hardly know what to say about it," he remarked today. "The thing has come upon me like a thunderbolt from a clear sky." "Do you suppose the action of the government in having demanded the recall of Lord Sackville as British minister to Washingto for having interfered in American politics by writing the Murchison letter had any influ-ence in governing his conduct in the matter?" "Indeed I don't know," replied Mr. Childs. "I am most surprised at the whole ing, especially in view of the fact that Lord de la Ward, who is the head of the family, was one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the matter. During the ceremonies attend-ing the fermal presentation of the gift, he even proposed a toast to the president of the United States."

It will be remembered that Lord Sackville. as Sir Lionel Sackville West, was the British minister at Washington when he was trapped into writing a letter commenting upon Presi dent Cleveland's administration. It was the subject of a scandal which resulted in his recall. Since that time he has cherished little love for the United States or its citizens,

Last night the Carleton opera company produced "Erminie" at the Boyd to the largest house of the week. The audience was enthusiastic to a degree, and gave abundant encouragement to the principals and chorus. Three members of the cast shone with brilliancy—Miss Lane as Erminie, Mr. Murray as Ravennes, and Mr. Bigelow as Cadeaux. Their performance was a pleasure to witness, but the rest of the cast were not up to their pre-vious efforts. Mr. Murray's singing of "Rose Marie," Milloy's pretty ballad, in the third act, was delightfully artistic, and showed him to be the possessor of a rich baritone of more than ordinary commass. The work of more than ordinary compass. The work of the chorus was not satisfying, nor was it as up to the standard of excellence which Mr. Carleton has heretofore exacted from previous companies with which he has appeared in the past five years. There seemed to be a trepidation in their movements, especially in the first act, which destroyed in a large measure the perfect ensemble aimed at by the well known manager and singer.

The Temporary School Question Again Discussed.

The members of the board of education who favor the temporary building on the high school grounds had the upper hand quite decidedly last night at the board meeting. Two efforts were made yesterday by the opposition, one to accept a proposition to lease ground and another to adjourn over for two weeks for the purpose of defeating the intentions of the temporary building advocates, but they failed to accomplish their purpose The treasurer's report was read, and showed the following balances in the treasury: General fund, $97,415.50; site and building fund, $14,038.70.

The following communication from Howard B. Smith created a heated discussion:

Gentlemen—Judging from the reports of your meetings in the newspapers, it would seem that the only reason for erecting temporary buildings on the high school grounds is that there exists, in the opinion of the board, a demand for more room for the use of the scholars of the Central school. I therefore make you this proposition: I will lense you lots 6 and 1 in block 2 of Reed's first addition for one year without charge. I will pay the taxes upon the real exists for that year myself, but you are to pay the taxes, if any, upon the buildings erected by you. You shall have the right to remove all improvements. While these lots may not be desirable for permanent use, it seems to me that they would answer well for temporary purposes. They are situated on Davenport street, only two and one-half blocks west of the high school grounds, face south, are 108x122 feet, are outside of the fire limits and have a considerable of the water main already made. This arrangement will enable you to submit to the people a proposition to yote bonds for an addition to the high school building in harmony with the original plan thereof, or to submit a proposition to vote bonds for a site and building for Central school scharate B. Smith created a heated discussion : In harmony with the original plan thereof, or to submit a proposition to vote bonds for a site and building for Central school separate from the high school grounds. In case you should accept my offer it would be, of course, with the understanding that temporary buildings should not be commenced or erected on the high school grounds during the life of the lease. This offer is open for acceptance during the month of september, 1800, only. Respectfully.
