ANNOUNCEMENTS.

In these days of realism on the stage there is nothing which caught the popular fancy so strongly as the new famous play, "The Still Alarm," and its success is deserved. The sensational episode of the steam fire engine and the real horses is of course a prominent feature of the performance, but the play possesses many elements to amuse and interest. Three performances of "The Still Alarm" will be given at the Boyd. The eastern press has been profuse in praise of this play, which is said to possess all the elements of a first class production. In its line, its equal is rarely seen.

A. M. Palmer's company, from the Madison Square theater, New York, will play a two nights and matinee engagement at Boyd's, commencing on Friday, September 12. This celebrated organization is now in Denver, playing at the Tabor to the capacity of the house at each performance. The company is the largest that Mr. Palmer ever sent out.

Not a Candidate.

OMAHA, Sept. 8.—To the Editor of THE BEE: The mention of my name in connection with the office of county attorney is not only unwarranted, but injurious to me, and prompted by the malice of some petty enemy. I never dreamed of being a candidate for the position, and would not have it, even if the salary were doubled; nor, indeed, under any circumstances, as the duties of prosecutor are not to my taste.

Will THE BEE kindly set me right with my friends and the public?

WINFIELD S. STRAWN.

Exceptions for Neal.

Mr. Estelle says the bill of exceptions in Neal's case is almost completed. It is one of the largest, if not the largest document of the kind ever prepared in Douglas county. There are about 1200 pages of typewritten matter in it. It will be finished today or tomorrow. Then the county attorney will have, according to the statutes, ten days in which to examine it, after which it will immediately be sent to the office of the clerk of the supreme court for filing.

The next move will be for the supreme bench to fix a date upon which the arguments will be heard.

His Latest Ticket.

Ikey Goldburger is the name given by a very diminutive eleven-year-old lad with a cork leg who applied to the county commissioners for assistance.

The little fellow said that he lived in Cleveland, O. When leaving there, last week, his brother paid $30 for a ticket for him to Denver. When he reached Omaha he says the conductor told him his ticket had run out and that he couldn't go any further, and so put him off the train.

The commissioners gave him an order for a ticket to Grand Island, that being their western charity limits.

Gunning and Its Consequences.

Fred Pieborn was arraigned in police court for threatening to kill "Frenchy" Vibbard. Both are disreputable characters, and quarreled about a fallen woman. Pieborn concluded that the most effectual way of disposing of his rival was with a gun. He accordingly provided himself with a revolver and shot-gun and started on Vibbard's trail. He was arrested before finding his man. Vibbard refused to prosecute, and a charge of carrying concealed weapons was filed. Pieborn pleaded not guilty, but the court ruled otherwise and assessed a fine of $20 and costs.

He was Located.

C. S. Rencon came to Omaha from the woolly wilds of Colorado. He was no tenderfoot and didn't propose to become the prey of any Omaha smooth worker, so he strapped on a big gun and shoved a pair of lead knuckles in his pocket when he started out to take in the town.

He looked like a bad man and an officer corralled him.

He told Judge Helsley that he always went loaded in Colorado, and that he needed a few double-acting self-protectors when he took charge of a carload of stock in Cheyenne county, Kansas, bound for the South Omaha market. He flashed his stock transportation on the court, and was surprised when he was informed that the limit would expire before he would have a chance to use it unless he could take together $20 and cost for the benefit of the city of Omaha. The judge said he could forgive him for carrying a gun, but that he was a sworn enemy of every man who carried a pair of "knuckles."

District Court.

Judge Doane was on the bench yesterday morning in the large criminal court room and listened to the conclusion of arguments in the case of A. J. Poppleton against Douglas county, to restrain the latter from moving certain county fences.

The result was a temporary injunction, to continue until the county attorney could find time to look further into the matter.

Judge Doane also granted Josephine Taylor an injunction restraining the county commissioners and others from grading West Farnam street near the city limits.

In the afternoon the Goldsborough baby case was on for hearing. The father, Frank H. Goldsborough, held the baby, while the mother sat near by and cried. She was there with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to gain possession of her babe, which was spirited away by the father. The court listened to the evidence and then issued an order that the child should be delivered into the custody of the mother, and that the father should be allowed to visit it once each week until further orders.

The only radical cure for rheumatism is to eliminate from the blood the acid that causes the disease. This is thoroughly effected by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Persist until cured. The process may be slow, but the result is sure.

WHO HOLDS THE DUPLICATES?

Commissioners Seeking Information Regarding the Jail Delivery.

County Commissioners O'Keeffe and Corrigan, a majority of the committee on court house and jail, called at Sheriff Boyd's office yesterday to consult with him regarding the important discovery made that outside parties held keys to some of the outer doors of the county jail. This matter was referred to the commissioners Saturday and published exclusively in THE BEE of that evening. The existence of these keys caused the sheriff to fear that they might be used to aid in a jail delivery of large proportions.

Messrs. O'Keeffe and Corrigan were informed that the sheriff had suddenly been taken ill and was confined to his home.

The commissioners informed THE BEE man that they should certainly call upon Sheriff Boyd the first time he was to be found at his office, and would learn definitely from him all the facts in the case.

The fact of the sheriff having voiced such grave suspicions regarding the county jail was the principal topic of conversation at the court house, and many long headed insinuations were made as to who was supposed to be in possession of the duplicate keys. It was also freely asserted that, since the aiding of a criminal to escape was a criminal offense, it was plainly the duty of the sheriff and the county commissioners to push the investigation to the uttermost limit.

While Commissioner O'Keeffe seems in earnest about having the sheriff tell him all he can about the matter, yet he says he doesn't quite understand how the board can proceed with an investigation involving the summoning of witnesses, etc. He believes that it is a matter which a grand jury should investigate, and the sooner the better.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

The Man Who Writes For it Liable to Severe Punishment.

A number of young gentlemen in this city have recently received "strictly confidential" circulars in which, among other things, appears the following: "If you have been unsuccessful in your business, I can supply you with goods with which you can pay off all your debts and start free and clear again."

The "goods" in this case are nothing more or less than counterfeit greenbacks. The receiver of the letter is admonished not to write to the sender of the circular, but to telegraph to T. P. Rice, Matawan Station, Matawan, N. J., the following sentence, "Send lowest estimate at once." The correspondent is cautioned against sending any night telegrams, and advised, if possible, to send messages in the morning between 8 and 12 o'clock.

Notwithstanding the fellow's admonitions, hundreds of young men write him and the letters go to the dead letter office. There is danger, however, attending the correspondence, because the guileless young man who hopes to become wealthy in a moment, and writes to the unknown, is liable to arrest. The first arrest of this kind was made in Lewiston, Talbot county, Md., on Thursday last, under the act of March 2, 1889, in which makes it a penal offense for any one to mail a letter ordering, as the counterfeits are termed, "green goods." The penalty is eighteen months in the penitentiary and $500 fine. Chief Inspector Rathbone of the postoffice department is making arrangements to continue these arrests, and has instructed the inspectors of this division to pay especial attention to this species of violation of the law. Speaking on the subject, one of the latter inspectors said yesterday, that several people in this city were suspected of dealing in these counterfeits and were under espionage.

"Don't Care to Eat."

It is with the greatest confidence that Hood's Sarsaparilla is recommended for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and similar troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes one "real hungry." Persons in delicate health, after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a few days, find themselves longing for and eating the plainest food with unexpected relish.

A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.

E. H. Williams and His Unlawful Partner Get into Trouble.

E. H. Williams, alias E. A. Mack, alias F. A. Sagmore, alias F. A. Williams, alias E. D. Williams, is held in custody as a fugitive from justice.

He skipped from Dayton, O., with a married woman, whose husband requested the authorities here to arrest him.

Williams and the woman came here four weeks ago and stopped at the Merchants. After running a $28 bill Williams left a gold watch and a lot of the woman's clothes as security.

He also stopped at the Metropolitan and Occidental hotels. The woman is now in a sporting house, and Williams was arrested yesterday morning by Detective Vaughn while trying to pawn an overcoat which he had stolen.

RAILTOPICS.

The Interest Centered in the Meeting of the Central Traffic Association.

The Central Traffic association will meet in St. Louis today and all the freight men in the country are heading in that direction.

The meeting will be a big one in all probability, as some of the questions that have been disturbing the freight people are to be considered and, if possible, settled.

The uniform bill of lading will be discussed and a memorial will probably be presented to the interstate commerce commission asking that body to modify its recent order for a reduction of freight rates.

The Pool to be Broken.

The pool on freight traffic upon which was based the advance in east bound Missouri river rates is destined to end within ninety days of agreed life. The Atchison management has declared that it will abide by the agreement only for the original term, which expires early in October and that after that date it will pocket its own earnings instead of dividing them with other roads as it is required to do under the existing agreement. The advance in rates, made on the strength of the pool, will be abandoned as soon as the agreement expires and a big break is inevitable in freight rates all along the line.

Notes and Personals.

The headquarters of the western division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul have been removed from Chillicothe, Mo., to Kansas City.

The Missouri Pacific has commenced work on a 225-mile branch extension into Arkansas.

"The entire defeat of the uniform bill of lading is now assured," said a freight man, "as the eastern bankers have decided to advance no money upon it, notwithstanding its negotiable character. All of the roads will now drop it."

The Order of Railway Conductors will meet in Toledo this week. Omaha will not send a representative. An effort will be made to have the headquarters removed to Los Angeles.

At a meeting of the employes held on the train, returning from Grand Island on Saturday, it was unanimously resolved that a vote of thanks be extended to the management of the Union Pacific railroad for courtesies extended to its employes in the way of transportation to and from the reunion.

Dr. W. B. Outten of St. Louis, the chief surgeon of the Missouri Pacific railway, has appointed Dr. P. Grossman to be surgeon of the road to succeed Dr. George B. Ayres, deceased. Dr. John B. Peabody will be the assistant surgeon. The appointments were both made to take effect September 1.

The St. Paul & Omaha has completed the replacing of the iron rails in its track between Wayne and Winside with sixty-five pound steel rails, and will commence work at once replacing that between Hoskins and Norfolk in the same manner.

Called to Account.

Peter Telander left his home in Nebraska City Saturday night and came to Omaha. In less than thirty minutes after he struck the town he was in jail. Sunday morning Mrs. Telander visited the station and told how her husband had deserted her, asking assistance to enable her to get to friends in Georgia.

She was told that her liege lord was in jail, but refused to believe it until she saw him.

She was on hand when the case was called in police court, and when Peter was released she fastened onto him with a grip tighter than that of the officer who arrested him. As she led him from the court room she forcibly imparted to him the information that she had a little case to settle with him that he would not get out of as easily as he had the one just dismissed.

WILL LOSE HIS PERQUISITES.

Mr. Wheeler Says Zimmer Will Draw no More City Money.

"The letter written by Mr. Broatch, when he was mayor, appointing Frank Zimmer city pharmacist, reads very plainly indeed. From that letter it is very clear to me that Zimmer's pay should have ceased when he left the place some time ago. The matter will certainly be brought up at the next meeting of the city council, and, I hope, will be settled, as I have intimated and as it should have been some time ago."

That was the way that D. H. Wheeler, chairman of the finance committee of the city council, talked yesterday, to a representative of THE BEE.

The manner in which Zimmer came to receive $83.33⅓ a month from the county for so soft a "snap" comprises a few interesting facts.

Zimmer was, first of all, deputy county clerk under Mike Roche. It is said by those in a position to know that Zimmer got the deputyship by grace of being a favorite of Commissioner Anderson and ex-Commissioner Mount, principally, however, through the former. The salary of deputy county clerk is $83.33⅓ per month.

Zimmer, it is claimed, didn't hold the clerkship long, however.

After things had jarred along for a short time, Zimmer was called upon to step out of the place, though it seems that his name still remained on the pay-rolls of the county.

Zimmer was subsequently relegated to an ordinary clerical position. Instead, however, of having his pay reduced to that paid clerks of the same order Zimmer was permitted by the commissioners to receive the snug sum of $83.33⅓, as is provided by the statutes to be the pay of a deputy county clerk.

Well, the simple clerical work gave out, after a short period. But Zimmer had to be kept at work and his mysterious hold on the county board continuing he also had to be kept at $83.33⅓. Then it was that the usually sluggish wits of the county board got a rustle on themselves, and hit upon the idea of establishing a county pharmacy. This "hit," it is said, was brought about by suggestions from Zimmer himself.

As everybody knows, a county drug shop was started, and Zimmer put in it as an excuse for earning that $83.33⅓.

After being started away down in the basement with a few pill boxes to keep in place, Zimmer found himself with a great lot of time on his hands. It was at that time, it is said, that he successfully hatched the scheme to have another $25 added to his salary by getting Broatch to appoint him "city pharmacist at the county court house." And, as revealed by THE BEE in its exposure of last Saturday, Zimmer, though he long ago left the court house, is still continuing to draw this $25 a month which Councilman Wheeler promises will be cut off at the next meeting of the board.

Sallow and leaden-hued complexions soon give place to the loveliest pink-and-white, when the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is persisted in, and cosmetics entirely abandoned. Nothing can counteract the rosy glow of perfect health, which blesses those who use this medicine.

AWAITING AN APPROPRIATION.

Uncertainty as to When the Missouri Rapping Will Be Renewed.

Engineer Potter, in charge of the improvement of the Missouri river at this point, says that work will not be resumed here unless congress makes an appropriation for the purpose. The bill for this purpose has been under consideration for some time but no action has been taken upon it. When it is acted upon the season may be so far advanced as to preclude the possibility of doing any more work until next spring.

The scows, barges, hydraulic graders and pile drivers still remain in the river so as to be ready to go to work at an hour's notice.

Mr. Potter has received several handsome photographs of the work superintended by him on the Missouri river at Sioux City nearly two years ago.

The river at that place was cutting badly into the banks and to save the latter, nine dykes were constructed, some of which extended into the bed of the river about nine hundred feet.

As a consequence, the river has since given the banks a wide berth, so to speak, and maintains a respectable channel in the middle of its bed. The work cost between $90,000 and $100,000.

WHITE IN KENTUCKY.

The Widely-Advertised Missing Plumber Heard from at Last.

L. D. White, the missing plumber, is not dead. Neither is he sleeping. He has at length concluded to make known his whereabouts, and has done so to Mr. P. J. Queeley. The latter was one of White's bondsmen, and it was to him that he committed the startling story that an attempt, two nights previously to his disappearance, had been made to both slug and rob him.

Like every other acquaintance of the missing lead-handler, Mr. Queeley was surprised at White's disappearance. He remained surprised until yesterday, when a letter came to him, written by White, some place in Kentucky. Mr. Queeley did not remember the name of the town at which the missive was penned, because, after hastily perusing it, had sent it to his wife.

White wrote that he had decided upon making the blue-grass region his future home and that so far as he was concerned everything was and would continue all right.

It was learned later that White had written to the United States wind engine and pump company from Lexington in the same state, offering an explanation for his conduct and remitting about $130 on his account with that concern.

FINED THE "DOCTORS."

The Medical Association Wins a Victory in the Police Court.

Judge Helsley rendered his decision in the alleged quack cases at noon, finding the defendants, Dr. J. J. Solomon, Dr. John Paegler and Dr. Nelson, the "Indian doctor," guilty of unlawfully practicing medicine and fining each $50 and costs.

Nelson paid his fine. The other cases were appealed. The ground on which the decision was based was that the registration was insufficient, being vague and indefinite, and did not constitute a legal registration.

I was also afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. These symptoms were much worse last spring, especially the trouble with my back.
