The County Superintendent Alleges Overcharges by the Meat Contractor.

THE LATTER EXPLAINS THE DISCREPANCY.

Mahoney Wasn't Satisfied With Plain Contract Meats but Ordered Luxuries Which Were Accordingly Charged for.

The sensational battle of words that occurred between the superintendent of the county poor farm and Mrs. Schwab, who holds the contract for supplying the pensioners out there with bread, proved an eyeopener to the county commissioners, none of them having been informed of any attempt to palm off old bread upon the inmates as detailed in THE BEE yesterday. Mr. Berlin of the commissioner committee on poor house said :

"Superintendent Mahoney did just what the county is paying him for doing when he declined to accept anything but first class bread under the county's contract with Mrs. Schwab. If he attends to his business he will continue to refuse staff instead of the wholesome food contracted for. He did right and I hope he will continue to pursue just such a course, Mrs. Schwab will have to furnish a first, class article of bread or ner bondsmen will be called upon to make good

A Baz reporter discovered yesterday that trouble is brewing not only for the county baker but also for the county butcher. And the trouble with the latter is fully as serious, The contract for supplying the county poor house with meat is held by Van Gilder &

Co., whose shop is on St. Mary's avenue.

This firm's contract says that roastbeef shall be furnished for 5 cents a pound. Superintendent Mahoney recently discovered to his utter surprise that 15 cents was being charged. Vealand nutton was to have been furnished at 6 and 7 centsper pound. In their bill the firm charges 10 and 12 cents for these

Mr. Mahoney says he dropped to this when Van Gilder & Co. sent in their bill for June, amounting to $166. Before putting his "O. K," on it, he cut off $56. The firm took the voucher for $19, and then turned around and put in another bill for the $56, which, Mr. Mahoney says, it is safe to say the board will never pay.

The discovery of this state of affairs-that that the county was being overcharged to such an alarming extent—resulted in Ma-honey's quitting Van Gilder & Co. and purhoney's quitting Van Gilder & Co. and purchasing meat elsewhere. As a consequence, the boorhouse meat bill for July was $110, while the number of persons fed was exactly the same as during the previous month. "Our butcher, just as did our baker," said Mr. Mahoney, "took the contract at ridiculously low figures. I think that any good butcher in the city will tell you when shown Van Gilder & Co.'s bid that it is next thing to impossible for a person or firm to carry it out and come out whole. But these people, both butcher and baker, are experienced in their business, and it was clearly their own fault to take the contracts at the figures which they did." contracts at the figures which they did."

Van Gilder's Statement. Gilder & Co. were seen in regard to the above statement made by Mr. Mahoney and said "Yes, it is a fact that we have quit furnish ing meat to the county hospital. The last meat we sent out there was on July 11. July 8 we sent out fifty pounds of boiling meat. The next day Mahoney telephoned to us to come and take the meat away, as it was all bone and fat. The meat was of a good qual-ity and was as good as that furnished to our

"This was all the grades and kinds of meat we were bound to furnish.

wanted something extra fine. He ordered spring-chicken, extra-roasts, mutton-chops, extra-ribs, Porter-house, beef tongues, fish and veal-cutlets.
"These meats were not included in our contract with the county and consequently we charged them up at the same prices as we did to our other customers.

"The commissioners cut our bill from $166 to $110, but that does not end it. The county still owes us $51.65, and it will be paid. When the commissioners meet tomorrow we will be present and are prepared to show up Mr. Mahoney's methods of doing business as a public servant.

'The trouble with Mahoney is that he was mad because we secured the contract. He wanted it to go to one of his chums and because we knocked him out he tried to under-

"He never complained but once of my bread being poor, and that was last Saturday.

"That morning he telephoned in for 100 loaves of bread. I was baking and as soon as the bread was done I sent out sixty loaves of cold bread and forty loaves of warm bread. cold bread and forty loaves of warm bread. Of course, after the warm bread had been put into a wagon and jolted over the read a distance of four miles it would be heavy. This bread he accepted and my driver came home. The next day, Sunday, he came to town with the forty loaves of bread tied up in an old, dirty potato ack, and throwing the bundle into my bakery, exclaimed: 'If you can't furnish better bread than that I don't want any more.'

"That was the only bread he ever refused, and frequently when I would see him he would say: 'Mrs. Schwab, you bake such excellent bread. I don't see how you can furnish such good bread at 2½ cents per leaf.'

"His friend can have the bread contract from this time on, as tomorrow I shall appear before the commissioners and ask to be relieved from the further fulfilling of my con-"I can't do business with such a man and there is no use of trying."

SLAUGHTER OF RATES.

A Prospect Which it is Thought will Gladden Shippers' Hearts.

"They can fix up all of the freight and passenger agreements that they see fit," said a Union Pacific freight man in speaking of the general managers' meeting in Chicago, "and still they won't beable to prevent a great deal of trouble in the western railway busi ness. The Alton and the Rock Island are both in it for a big share of the business of the lines west of the Missouri and appear to be determined to get it even at the expense of the Chicago roads that have branches west of the Missouri. The Rock Island led in the cut by lowering the rate on wheat from Missouri river points to Chicago. They now propose to make a similar rate on barley and other mill stuff and the other fines are wild over the proposition. It places them in a bad box, especially just now when they are mak-ing an effort to have the order of the inter-state commerce commission for a reduction of rates modified. The roads seeking this modification have asked time until October 1 to present their claims and the request will robably be granted.

"Right on the heels of this action of the Rock Island in freight matters, comes the threat of the Alton to reduce passenger rates to 2 cents a mile. This would effect every road between Chicago and the Missouri river. The Alten is pretty apt to carry out its threat, and if it does we'll have music all dong the line. "Then there is still another disturbing feat ure. The Chicago, St Paul & Kansas City has recently made arrangements to extend its line to St. Joe, Atchison and Kansas City, and will soon be in the fight for western busi-ness in carnest. With a line touching Chi-cago, three Missouri river points, and St. Paul, with Duluth and lake connections, this road may prove even more troublesome than the Alton, which now is champion kicker of the western roads. All in all there is but litde chance for the western freight men to find any peace in this world much longer, and the hearts of shippers will probably frequently be gladdened by a slaughter of rates."

Hunt's Head Off.

The Union Pacific's axe has been at work gain and the basket now holds the official head of D. B. Hunt, who has been for a numper of years assistant auditor of the road. No reason has been assigned for Hunt's re noval and his place has not yet been filled. Mr. Hunthas been in the railroad business for twenty three years, most of the time in the employ of the Union Pacific. He is a telegraph operator, an engineer and a first-class accountant. He is at present considering an offer of a position from a Chicago road in the auditing department.

WERE SPOTTED BY A BLONDE. Iwo Street Railway Conductors are Summarily Discharged.

Five of the conductors on the street car lines of this city have been discharged and, as they claim, without cause. The officers of the union met with the officials of the road and were informed that the men had violated order No. 13, which was posted the first of last February.

The order provides that whenever a fare is collected, the conductor shall ring it down in front of and in the presence of the passenger. In other words, the officials in discharging the men for violating this order, intimate that the latter have been "holding out"

have never wrongfully taken a cent from the company.

The matter is now in the hands of the emergency committee of the Central labor union, and if the charges are found to be groundless, a request will be made that the men be reinstated at once.

In speaking of the trouble most of the conductors state that it has been occasioned by a female spotter who has been on the lines for several weeks, and, not discovering anything wrong, has taken this course to convince her employers that she is earning her salary.

"If we were inclined to knock down, do you think we would do so in her presence?" said a conductor yesterday. "The woman was not on the lines three days before every conductor knew her and knew her business. She was too fresh and the moment she got on a car she would not take ber eyes off the conductor until he had collected every fare in the car. She usually sat on a rear seat where she could count the passengers, and as the conductor passed her she would eye his bell punch so closely that his suspicion would be aroused and by the time two trips had been made through the car the fact that she was a spotter was settled in the conductor's mind."

The woman who it is said has made all this trouble is a good looking little blonde, about twenty years of age. She dresses in black, wears a black straw sailor's hat and nearly ilways carries a red plush hand bag.

Latter. The residence of Mr. Frank Atkinson of THE BEE, at 2218 Leavenworth street, was visited by burglars Thursday night. The midnight caller raised aladder to the window of a room occupied by Mr. Goodwyn Till of the B. & M. auditor's office and effected an ent rance by raising the screen and window, which he propped up with a stick.

The first that was known of the burglar's visit was when the family arose yesterday and discovered the ladder leaning against the side of the house. Mr. Till had not been disturbed and knew nothing of the unwel-come visit until he found his clothes lying upon the floor, and the indications that the room had been thoroughly overhauled while he slept. An investigation failed to discover the loss of anything. Some silver on the dresser was left untouched, as the burgiar apparently wanted nothing but money.

None of the other rooms in the house were visited. It is supposed that the burglar was frightened away when Mr. Atkinson returned home shortly after 2 o'clock, and that when the latter entered at the front door the crooked visitor slid out the rear window and down the ladder down the ladder.

The Burglars Fled.

Burglars attempted to enter the jewelry establishment of Joseph Frenzer, corner of Fifteenth and Dodge streets, about 10 o'clock Thursday night. They pried open the base-ment window under the show window and were attempting to loosen the bars when discovered by Officer Cullen. Two men were standing close together, ap-parently trying to shield from observation a third man, who was down schind them at third man, who was down behind them at work. The officer walked toward them to see what was going on, when the tro started to run and escaped before Calten fully real-ized what was going on. They would have effected an entrance in a few minutes longer.
